3 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

b The dangers are so great, that we can neither auenge this blasphemie, nor helpe our selues, no more then a woman in her trauaile.

4 If so be the Lord thy God hath heard all the wordes of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Asshur his master hath sent to raile on the living God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

c Meaning, for Ierusalem, which onely remained of all the cities of Iudah.

5 So the seruants of king Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

6 And Iſaiah said vnto them, So shall ye say to your master, Thus saith the Lord, Be not afraid of the wordes which thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Asshur haue blasphemed me.

d The Lord can with one blast blow away all the strength of man, and turne it into dust.

7 Behold, I will send a blast vpon him, and he shall heare a noise, and returne to his owne land: and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his owne land.

e That is, Sancherib.

8 So Rabshakeh returned and found the king of Asshur fighting against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish.

f Or, blacke Moors.

9 Hee heard also men say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: he therefore departed and sent other messengers vnto Hezekiah, saying,

f For the kings of Ethiopia and Egypt ioined together against the king of Assyria because of his oppression of other countreies.

10 Thus shal ye speake to Hezekiah king of Iudah, and say, Let not thy God deceiue thee in whom thou trustest, saying, Ierusalem shall not be deliuered into the hand of the king of Asshur.

g The more nere that the wicked are to their destruction, the more they blaspheme.

11 Beholde, thou hast heard what the kings of Asshur haue done to all lands, how they haue destroyed them: and shalt thou be deliuered?

12 Haue the gods of the heathen deliuered them which my fathers haue destroyed: as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeb, and the children of Eden, which were in Chelassar?

13 Where is the king of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the citie of Sepharuaim, Hena and Iuah?

14 So Hezekiah receiued the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went vp into the house of the Lord, and Hezekiah spred it before the Lord.

15 And Hezekiah prayed before the Lord, and saide, O Lord God of Israel, which dwellest betwene the Cherubims, thou art very God alone ouer all the kingdomes of the earth: thou hast made the heauen and the earth.

16 Lord, how downe thine ear, and heare: Lord open thine eyes and behold, and heare the wordes of Sancherib, who hath sent to blaspheme the living God.

17 Trueth it is, Lord, that the kings of Asshur haue destroyed the nations and their lands, 18 And haue set fire on their gods: for they were no gods, but the worke of mans hands, euen wood and stone: therefore they destroyed them.

19 Now therefore, O Lord our God, I beseech thee save thou vs out of his hand, that all the kingdomes of the earth may know, that thou, O Lord, art onely God.

20 Then Iſaiah the sonne of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I haue heard that which thou hast prayed me, concerning Sancherib king of Asshur.

21 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against him, O virgin, daughter of Zion, he hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorne, O daughter of Ierusalem, he hath shaken his head at thee.

22 Whom hast thou railled on? and whom hast thou blasphemed? and against whom hast thou exalted thy voyce, and lifted vp thine eyes on high? euen against the Holy one of Israel.

23 By thy messengers thou hast railled on the Lord, and said, By the multitude of my charrets I am come vp to the toppe of the mountaines, by the sides of Libanon, and will cut downe the high Cedars thereof, and the faire fere trees thereof, and I will goe into the lodging of his borders, and into the Forrest of his Carmel.

24 I haue digged and drunke the waters of others, and with the plant of my feet haue I dryed all the floodes closed in.

25 Hast thou not heard how I haue of old time made it, and haue formed it long agoe? and should I now bring it, that it should be destroyed, and laid on ruinous heapes, as cities defended?

26 Whose inhabitants haue small power, and are afraide, and confounded: they are like the grasse of the field, and greene herbe, or grasse on the house tops, or as corne blasted before it be grown.

27 I know thy dwelling, yea, thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy fury against me.

h Before the Arke of the covenant. i He sheweth what is the true refuge and succour in all dangers, to wit, to flee to the Lord by earnest prayer. k Shew by effect that thou wilt not suffer thy name to be blasphemed.

l By this title he discerneth God from all idoles and false gods.

m He sheweth for what end the faithful desire of God to be deliuered: to wit, that he may be glorified by their deliuerance.

n Because as yet Ierusalem had not bene taken by the enimie, therefore he calleth her virgin. o God counteth that iniury done to him and will reuenge it, which is done to any of his Saints.

p Meaning, Ierusalem, which Iſaiah calleth the height of his borders, to wit, of Iudah, Iſa. 37. 24.

q Or, pleasant country.

r Or, the waters of cities besieged.

g He declareth that forasmuch as he is fauour & beginning of his Church, he will neuer suffer it utterly to be destroyed as other cities and kingdomes.

r Thus he describeth the wicked, which for a time flourish and afterward fade and decay like flowers.

f I will bridle thy rage, and turne thee to and fro as pleaseth me. r God did not onely pro- uide him the victory, but giueth him a signe to confirme his fa- u. The Lord will multiply in great number that small remnant of Iudah: he is escaped. x The Iudeth that God beareth to- ward his Church shall overcome the counsels and enterprises of men.

a That his mind might not be troubled. b Meaning without all hypocrisie. c Not so much for his owne death as for feare that Iudah should be resto- red, which he had destroyed. d Gods name be dishonoured.

28 And because thou ragest against me, and thy enuie is come vp to mine yeares, I will put mine hook in thy nostrils, and my bridle in thy lips, and will bring thee backe againe the same way thou camest.

29 And this shall be a signe vnto thee, O Hezekiah, Thou shalt eate this yeere, such things as grow of themselves, and the next yeere such as grow without sowing, and the third yeere thou shalt eate and reape, and plant vine- yards, and eat the fruits thereof.

30 And the remnant that is escaped of the house of Iudah, shall againe take root downward, and beare fruit upward.

31 For out of Jerusalem shall goe a remnant, and some that shall escape out of mount Zion: the zeal of the Lord of hosts shall doe this.

32 Therefore thus saith the Lord concerning the King of Assur, He shall not enter into this citie, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor cast a mount against it:

33 But he shall returne the way he came, and shall not come into this citie, sayeth the Lord.

34 For I will defend this citie to saue it for mine owne sake, and for Dauid my ser- uants sake.

35 And the same night the Angel of the Lord went out and smote in the campe of Assur an hundred and fourscore and five thousand: so when they arose early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpses.

36 So Saneherib king of Assur depar- ted, and went his way, and returned, and dwelt in Ninueh.

37 And as he was in the Temple wor- shipping Asroch his god, Adramelech, and Saneherib his sonnes, slew him with the sword: and they escaped into the land of A- rarat, and Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XX.

1 Hezekiah is sicke, and receiveth the signe of his health. 2 He receiveth rewards of Berodach. 3. Sheweth his treasures, and is reprehended of Isaiah. 4 He dieth, and Manasse his sonne reigneth in his stead.

A Bout that time was Hezekiah sicke vnto death: and the Prophet Isaiah the sonne of Amoz came to him, and sayde vnto him, Thus saith the Lord, Put thine house in order: for thou shalt die, and not liue.

2 Then he turned his face to the wall and prayed to the Lord, saying,

3 I beseech thee, O Lord, remember now how I haue walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and haue done that which is good in thy sight: and Hezekiah wept sore.

4 And afore Isaiah was gone out into the middle of the court, the word of the Lord came to him, saying,

5 Turne againe, and tell Hezekiah the captain of my people, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, I haue heard thy prayer, and seene thy teares: behold, I haue healed thee, and the third day thou shalt goe vp to the house of the Lord.

6 And I will adde vnto thy dayes fifteen yeere, and will deliuer thee and this citie out of the hand of the king of Assur, and will defend this citie for mine owne sake, and for Dauid my seruants sake.

7 Then Isaiah said, Take a lump of dry figs. And they took it, and laid it on the boyle, and he recovered.

8 For Hezekiah had saide vnto Isaiah, What shall be the signe that the Lord will heale me, and that I shall goe vp into the house of the Lord the third day?

9 And Isaiah answered, This signe shalt thou haue of the Lord, that the Lord will doe that he hath spoken, Wilt thou that the shadow goe forward tenne degrees, or goe backe tenne degrees.

10 And Hezekiah answered, It is a light thing for the shadow to passe forward tenne degrees: not so then, but let the shadow goe backe tenne degrees.

11 And Isaiah the Prophet called vnto the Lord, and he brought againe the shadow tenne degrees backe by the degrees wherby it had gone downe in the diall of Ahaz.

12 The same season Berodach Baladan the sonne of Baladan king of Babel, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah: for he had heard how that Hezekiah was sicke.

13 And Hezekiah heard them, & shewed them all his treasure house, to wit, the silver and the golde, and the spices, and the precious oylment, and all the house of his armour, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, and in all his realme, that Hezekiah shewed them not.

14 Then Isaiah the Prophet came vnto king Hezekiah, and saide vnto him, What sayd these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Hezekiah saide, They be come from a farre countrey, even from Babel.

15 Then saide he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Hezekiah answered, Al that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures, that I haue not shewed them.

16 And Isaiah saide vnto Hezekiah, Where is the word of the Lord.

17 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and whatsoever thy fathers haue layd by in store vnto this day, shall be carryed into Babel: nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.

18 And of thy sonnes that shall procede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall be eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.

19 Then Hezekiah saide vnto Isaiah, The word of the Lord which thou hast spoken, is good: for said he, Shall it not be good, if my peace and truth be in my dayes?

20 Concerning the rest of the acts of Hezekiah and all his valiant deedes, and how he made a pool and a conduit, and brought water should haue had occasion to reioyce if the Church had decayed in his time, because he had restored religion.

d Because of his vnfeined repen- tance & prayer, God turned a- way his wrath. e To giue thanks for thy deliue- rance.

21 And Hezekiah slept with his fathers: and Manasseh his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXI.

3 King Manasseh restoreth idolatry, 16 And useth great cruelty 18 Hee dieth, and Amon his sonne succeedeth, 23 Who is killed of his owne servants. 26 After him reigneth Iosiah.

MAnasseh * was twelue yeere old when he began to reigne, and reigned fittie and siue yeere in Ierusalem: his mothers name also was Debbi-bah.

2 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord after the abomination of the heathen, whom the * Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For hee went backe, and built the high places, * which Hezekiah his father had destroyed: and hee erected by altars for Baal, and made a groue, as did Ahab king of Israel, and worshipped all the hoste of heauen and serued them.

4 Also he * built altars in the house of the Lord, of the which the Lord said, * In Ierusalem will I put my Name.

5 And hee built altars for all the hoste of the heauen in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 And hee caused his sonnes * to passe through the fire: and gaue himselfe to witchcraft and sorcerie, and he vied them that had familiar spirits, and were soothsayers, and did much euill in the sight of the Lord, to anger him.

7 And he set the image of the groue, that he had made, in the house, whereof the Lord had said to Dauid & to Salomon his sonne, * In this house, and in Ierusalem, which I haue chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for ever.

8 Neither will I make the feete of Israel mooue any more out of the land, which I gaue their fathers: so that they will obserue and doe all that I haue commanded them, and according to all the Law that my seruant Moyses commanded them.

9 Yet they obeyed not, but Manasseh led them out of the way, to doe more wickedly then did the heathen people, whom the Lord destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 Therefore the Lord spake by his seruants the Prophets, saying,

11 * Because that Manasseh king of Iudah hath done such abominations, and hath wrought more wickedly then all that the Amorites (which were before him) did, and hath made Iudah sinne also with his idoles,

12 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will bring an euill vpon Ierusalem and Iudah, that who so heareth of it, both his * eares shall tingle.

13 And I will stretch ouer Ierusalem the line of Samaria, and the plummet of the house of Ahab: and I will wipe Ierusalem, as a man wipeth a dish, which he wipeth, and turneth it upside downe.

14 And I will forsake the * remnant of mine inheritance, and deliuer them into the hand of their enemies, and they shall be robbed and spoiled of all their aduersaries, 15 Because they haue done euill in my sight, and haue prouoked mee to anger, since the time their fathers came out of Egypt vntill this day.

16 Moreover, Manasseh shed * innocent blood exceeding much, till he replenished Ierusalem from corner to corner, beside his sinne wherewith hee made Iudah to sinne, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord.

17 Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, and all that he did, and his sinne that hee sinned, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

18 And Manasseh slept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his owne house, euen in the garden of Azza: and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

19 * Amon was two and twenty yeere old, when hee began to reigne, and he reigned two yeere in Ierusalem: his mothers name also was Debbi-bah the daughter of Baruz of Iorab.

20 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, as his father Manasseh did.

21 For he walked in all the way that his father walked in, and serued the idoles that his father serued, and worshipped them.

22 And hee forooke the Lord God of his fathers, and walked not in the way of the Lord.

23 And the seruants of Amon conspired against him: and slew the king in his owne house.

24 And the people of the land slewe all them that had conspired against king Amon, and the people made Iosiah his sonne King in his stead.

25 Concerning the rest of the actes of Amon which hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

26 And // they buried him in his sepulchre in the garden of Azza: and Iosiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

Iosiah was * eight yeere old when he began to reigne, and hee reigned one and thirty yeere in Ierusalem. His mothers name also was Jedidah the daughter of Adaiab of Bozath.

2 And hee did vprightly in the sight of the Lord, and * walked in all the wayes of Dauid his father, and bowed neither to the right hand nor to the left.

3 And in the eighteenth yeere of King Iosiah, the King sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaiab, the sonne of Meshullam the chancellour, to the house of the Lord, saying,

4 See ye to Hilkiah the high Priest, that he may // summe the silver which is brought into the house of the Lord, which the keepers of the // doore haue gathered of the people.

¶ From the time of Iosiah for the space of 224. yeres, the Temple remained without reparation through the negligence of the priests. This declareth that they have a charge & execute it not ought to haue it taken from them. d. So God prouided him of faithful seruants, seeing he went about so zealously to set forth the worke of God, e. h The works of mans hand here signifie all that man inuenteth beside the word of God, which are abominable in Gods seruice.
i Meaning, that he did repent, as they that doe not repent, are said to harden their heart, Psal. 95. 8.

5 And let them deliuer it into the hand of them that doe the worke, and haue the oversight of the house of the Lord: let them giue it to them that worke in the house of the Lord, to repaire the decayed places of the house:

6 To wit, vnto the artificers and carpenters and masons, and to buy timber, and betwixt stone to repaire the house.

7 Howbeit let no reckoning bee made with them of the money, that is deliuered into their hand: for they deale faithfully.

8 And Wilkiah the high Priest said vnto Shaphan the chancellour, I haue found the booke of the Law in the house of the Lord: and Wilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan, and he read it.

9 So Shaphan the chancellour came to the king, and brought him word againe, and said, Thy seruants haue gathered the money, that was found in the house, and haue deliuered it into the hands of them that doe the worke, and haue the oversight of the house of the Lord.

10 Also Shaphan the chancellour shewed the King, saying, Wilkiah the Priest hath deliuered mee a booke. And Shaphan read it before the King.

11 And when the King had heard the wordes of the booke of the Law, he rent his clothes.

12 Therefore the King commanded Wilkiah the Priest, and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Achboi the sonne of Michaiyah, and Shaphan the chancellour, and Ashabiah the Kings seruant, saying,

13 Go ye, and enquire of the Lord for me, and for the people, and for all Iudah, concerning the wordes of this booke that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is kindled against vs, because our fathers haue not obeyed the wordes of this booke, to doe according to all that which is written therein for vs.

14 ¶ So Wilkiah the Priest, & Ahikam, and Achboi, and Shaphan, and Ashabiah went vnto Hulda the Prophetesse, the wife of Shallum, the sonne of Tikuiah, the sonne of Iarhas keeper of the wardrobe: (and she dwelt in Jerusalem in the Colledge) and they communed with her.

15 And she answered them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Tell the man that sent you to me,

16 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring euill vpon this place, and on the inhabitants thereof, even all the wordes of the booke which the King of Iudah hath read,

17 Because they haue forsaken mee, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, to anger mee with all the works of their hands: my wrath also shall be kindled against this place, and shall not be quenched.

18 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to enquire of the Lord, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, The wordes that thou hast heard, shall come to passe.

19 For because thine heart did melt, and thou hast humbled thy selfe before the Lord, when thou heardest what I spake against this place, and against the inhabitants of the same, to wit, that it should bee destroyed and accursed, and hast rent thy clothes, and wept before mee, I haue also heard it, sayth the Lord.

20 Behold therefore, I will gather thee to thy fathers, & thou shalt be put in thy graue in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill, which I will bring vpon this place. Thus they brought the King word againe.

CHAP. XXIII.

2 Iosiah readeth the Law before the people. 3 He maketh a covenant with the Lord. 4 He putteth downe the idoles after he had killed their priests. 23. He keepeth Passouer. 24. He destroyeth the conuersers. 29. Hee was killed in Megiddo. 30. And his sonne Ichoahaz reigneth in his stead. 33. After hee was taken, his sonne Iehoiakim was made King.

¶ Then the King sent, and there gathered vnto him all the Elders of Iudah and of Jerusalem.

2 And the King went vp into the house of the Lord, with all the men of Iudah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, and the Priests and Prophets, and all the people both small and great: and he read in their eares all the wordes of the booke of the Covenant, which was found in the house of the Lord.

3 And the King stood by the pillar, and made a covenant before the Lord, that they should walke after the Lord, and keepe his Commandements, and his testimonies, and his statutes with all their heart, and with all their soule, that they might accomplish the wordes of this Covenant written in this booke. And all the people stood to the Covenant.

4 ¶ Then the King commanded Wilkiah the high Priest and the Priests of the second order, and the keepers of the doore to bring out of the Temple of the Lord all the vessels that were made for Baal, and for the groue, and for all the hoste of heauen, and he burnt them without Jerusalem in the fields of Kedron, and caried the powder of them into Beth el.

5 And he put downe the Chemarims, whom the Kings of Iudah had founded to burne incense in the high places, and in the ties of Iudah and about Jerusalem, and also them that burnt incense vnto Baal, to the Sunne and to the Moone & to the planets, and to all the host of heauen.

6 And hee brought out the groue from the Temple of the Lord without Jerusalem vnto the valley Kedron, and burnt it in the valley Kedron, and stampit it to powder, and cast the dust thereof vpon the graues of the children of the people.

7 And he brake downe the houses of the Sodomitites, that were in the house of the Lord, where the women woue hangings for the groue.

8 Also hee brought all the Priests out of the Temple, contrary to the commandement of the Lord, Deut. 16. 21. or as some reade, the similitude of a groue which was hanged in the Temple in centre of the idoles, and reproch of them which had worshipped them in their liues.

the cities of Judah, & defiled the high places where the Priests had burnt incense, even from Geba to Beer-sheba, and destroyed the high places of the gates that were in the entering in of the gate of Joshua the gouernour of the citie, which was at the left hand of the gate of the citie.

9 Neuertheless, the Priests of the high places came not up to the altar of the Lord in Jerusalem, saue onely they did eate of the unleavened bread among their brethren.

10 He defiled also * Topheth, which was in the valley of the children of Hinnom, that no man should make his sonne or his daughter passe through the fire to Molech.

11 He put downe also the houses that the kings of Judah had giuen to the sun at the entering in of the house of the Lord, by the chamber of Bethan-melech pennuch, which was ruler of the suburbs, and burnt the charrets of the sunne with fire.

12 And the altars that were on the top of the chamber of Abaz, which the kings of Judah had made, and the altars which Manasse had made in the two courts of the house of the Lord, did the king breake down, and hasted thence, and cast the dust of them in the brooke Kedron.

13 Moreover the king defiled the high places that were before Jerusalem and on the right hand of the mount of corruption (which Salomon the king of Israel had built for Ashtoreth the idol of the Sidonians and for Chemosh the idol of the Moabites, and for Milcom the abomination of the children of Ammon)

14 And he brake the images in pieces, and cut downe the grooves, and filled their places with the bones of men.

15 Furthermore, the altar that was at Beth-el, and the high place made by Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat, which made Israel to sinne, both this altar, and also the high place brake hee downe, and burnt the high place, and stampit it to powder and burnt the groue.

16 And as Iosiah turned himselfe, he spied the graues that were in the mount, and sent and tooke the bones out of the graues, and burnt them vpon the altar, and polluted it, according to the word of the Lord that the man of God proclaimed which cryed the same words.

17 Then he said, What title is that which I see? And the men of the citie sayd vnto him, It is the sepulchre of the man of God, which came from Judah, and tolde these things that thou hast done to the altar of Beth-el.

18 Then said he, Let him alone: let none remoue his bones. So his bones were saued with the bones of the Prophet that came from Samaria.

19 Iosiah also tooke away all the houses of the high places, which were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to anger the Lord, and did to them according to all the facts that he had done in Beth-el.

20 And he sacrificed all the Priests of the high places, that were there, vpon the altars, and burnt mens bones vpon them, and returned to Jerusalem.

21 Then the king commanded all the people, saying, * Keepe the Passeouer vnto the Lord your God, as it is written in the booke of this couenant.

22 And there was no Passeouer holden like that from the daies of the Judges that Iudged Israel, nor in all the dayes of the Kings of Israel, and of the Kings of Judah.

23 And in the eighteenth yeere of King Iosiah was this Passeouer celebrated to the Lord in Jerusalem.

24 Iosiah also tooke away them that had familiar spirits, and the soothsayers, and the images, and the idoles, and all the abominations that were espyed in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, to performe the words of the * Law, which were written in the booke that Mikiah the Priest found in the house of the Lord.

25 Like vnto him there was no king before him, that turned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soule, and with all his might, according to all the Law of Moses, neither after him arose there any like him.

26 Notwithstanding the Lord turned not from the fiercenesse of his great wrath wherewith hee was angry against Iudah, because of all the pronocations wherewith Manasse had prouoked him.

27 Therefore the Lord sayd, I will put Iudah also out of my sight, as I haue put away Israel, and will cast off this citie Jerusalem, which I haue chosen, and the house whereof I sayd, * My Name shall bee there.

28 Concerning the rest of the acts of Iosiah, and all that he did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings of Iudah?

29 * In his dayes Pharaoh Nechoh king of Egypt went up against the king of Assur to the riuier Berath. And king Iosiah went against him, whom when Pharaoh saw, he slew him at Megiddo.

30 Then his seruants caried him dead from Megiddo, and brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his owne sepulchre. And the people of the land tooke Jehoahaz the sonne of Iosiah, and anoynted him, and made him king in his fathers stead.

31 Jehoahaz was three and twenty yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned three moneths in Jerusalem. His mothers name also was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremias of Libnah.

2 And the Lord sent against him bands of the Caldees, and bands of the Aramites, and bands of the Moabites, and bands of the Ammonites, and hee sent them against Iudah to destroy it,* according to the word of the Lord, which he spake by his seruants the Prophets.

3 Surely by the^b commandement of the Lord came this vpon Iudah, that he might put them out of his sight for the sinnes of Manasseh, according to all that hee did,

4 And for the innocent blood that hee shed, (for he filled Ierusalem with innocent blood) therefore the Lord would not pardon it.

5 Concerning the rest of the actes of Iehoiachim, and all that hee did, are they not written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings of Iudah?

6 So Iehoiachim slept with his fathers, and Iehoiachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

7 And the king of Egypt came no more out of his land: for the king of Babel had taken from the river of Egypt vnto the riuer || Berath, all that pertained to the king of Egypt.

8 Iehoiachin was eightene yeere olde when he began to reigne, and reigned in Ierusalem three moneths. His mothers name also was Zebudah, the daughter of Elnathan of Ierusalem.

9 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father had done.

10 In that time came the seruants of Nebuchad nezzar king of Babel vp against Ierusalem: so the citie was besieged.

11 And Nebuchad nezzar king of Babel came against the citie, and his seruants did besiege it.

12 Then Iehoiachin the King of Iudah came out against the king of Babel, hee and his mother, and his seruants, and his princes, and his eunuches: and the king of Babel tooke him in the eight yeere of his reigne.

13 And hee caried out thence all the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the Kings house, and brake all the vessels of golde, which Salomon King of Israel had made in the Temple of the Lord as the Lord had said.

14 And hee caried away all Ierusalem, and all the princes, and all the strong men of warre, even ten thousand into captiuitie, and all the workmen, and cunning men: so none remained sauing the poore people of the land.

15 And hee caried away Iehoiachin into Babel, and the kings mother, and the kings wiues, and his eunuches, and the mighty of the land caried hee away into captiuitie from Ierusalem to Babel.

16 And all the men of warre, even seven thousand, and carpenters, and locksmiths a thousand: all that were strong and apt for warre, did the king of Babel bring to Babel captiues.

17 And the king of Babel made Mataniah his vnckle king in his stead, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

18 Zedekiah was one and twenty yeeres old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Ierusalem. His mothers name was also Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

19 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiachim had done.

20 Therefore certainly the wrath of the Lord was against Ierusalem & Iudah vntill hee cast them out of his sight. And Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

8 ¶ And in the fifth moneth, and seventh day of the moneth, which was the nineteenth yere of King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, came Nebuzar-adan || chiefe steward and seruant of the king of Babel, to Jerusalem,

9 And burnt the house of the Lord, and the Kings house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

10 And all the armie of the Caldees that werewith the chiefe steward, brake downe the walles of Jerusalem round about.

11 And the rest of the people that were left in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen to the king of Babel with the remnant of the multitude, did Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward carry away captiue.

12 But the chiefe steward left of the poore of the land to dress the vines, and to till the land.

13 ¶ Also the pillars of brasie that were in the house of the Lord, and the bales, and the brasen Sea that was in the house of the Lord, did the Caldees breake, and caried the brasie of them to Babel.

14 The pots also and the besomes, and the instruments of musicke, and the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasie that they ministred in, tooke they away.

15 And the asse pannes, and the basens, and all that was of gold, and that was of silver, tooke the chiefe steward away.

16 With the two pillars, one Sea, and the bales, which Salomon had made for the house of the Lord: the brasie of all these vessels was without weight.

17 ¶ The height of the one pillar was eightene cubites, and the chapiter thereon was brasie, and the height of the chapiter was with networke three cubites, and pomegranates vpon the chapiter round about, all of brasie, and likewise was the second pillar with the networke.

18 And the chiefe steward tooke Seraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah the second Priest, and the three keepers of the doore.

19 And out of the citie hee tooke an Eunnuch that had the oversight of the men of warre, and five men of them that were in the Kings presence, which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoste, who mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land, that were found in the citie.

20 And Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward tooke them, and brought them to the king of Babel to Riblah.

21 And the king of Babel smote them: and slew them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was caried away captiue out of his owne land.

22 ¶ Howbeit there remained people in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel left, and made Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan ruler ouer them. Jer. 40. 5, 9.

23 Then when all the captaines of the hoste, and their men heard, that the king of Babel had made Gedaliah gouernour, they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, to wit, Ithmael the sonne of Nerthaniah, and Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanhumeth the Etrophachite, and Iazaniab the sonne of Maachabbi, they and their men.

24 And Gedaliah I sware to them, and to their men, and said vnto them, Feare not to be the seruants of the Caldees: dwell in the land, and serue the king of Babel, and ye shall be well. I That is, he did exhort them in the Name of the Lord, according to Ieremies counsell, to submit themselves to Nebuchad-nezzar, seeing it was the reucaled will of the Lord.

25 ¶ But in the seventh moneth Ithmael the sonne of Nerthaniah the sonne of Etthiama of the kings seede came, and tenne men with him, and smote Gedaliah, and he died, and so did hee the Jewes and the Caldees that were with him at Mizpah.

26 Then all the people both small and great, and the captaines of the armie arose, and came to Egypt: for they were afraid of the Caldees.

27 Notwithstanding in the seuen and thirtieth yere after Jehoiachin King of Judah was caried away, in the twelfth moneth and the seuen and twentieth day of the moneth, Cuil-merodach king of Babel in the yere that he began to reigne, did lift vp the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah out of the prison.

28 And spake kindly to him, and set his throne aboue the throne of the Kings that were with him in Babel, 29 And changed his prison garments: and hee did continually eate bread before him, all the dayes of his life.

30 And his portion was a continuall portion giuen him by the King, every day a certaine, all the dayes of his life.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Jewes comprehend both these bookes in one, which the Greeians, because of the length diuide into two: and they are called Chronicles, because they note briefly the histories from Adam to the returne from their captiuitie in Babylon. But these are not those bookes of Chronicles which are so often mentioned in the bookes of the Kings of Iudah and Israel, which did at large set forth the storie of both the Kingdomes, and afterward perished in the captiuitie: but an abridgement of the same, and were gathered by Ezra, as the Jewes write, after their returne from Babylon. This first first booke containeth a briefe rehearfall of the children of Adam vnto Abraham, Izhak, Iaakob, and the twelue Patriarkes, chiefly of Iudah and of the reignes of Dauid, because Christ came of him according to the flesh. And therefore it setteth forth more amply his acts, both concerning ciuill gouernement, and also the administration, and care of things concerning religion, for the good successe whereof he reioyceth, and giueth thanks to the Lord.

10 ¶ These also are the chiefe of the valiant men that were with Dauid, and toynded their force with him in his kingdom with all Israel, to make him king ouer Israel, according to the word of the Lord.

11 And this is the number of the valiant men whom Dauid had, Iashobeam the son of Hachmoni, the chiefe among thirty: hee lift vpon his speare against three hundred, whom he slew at one time.

12 And after him was Eleazar the sonne of Dodo the Ahohite, which was one of the three valiant men.

13 Hee was with Dauid at Bat-damim, and there the Philistims were gathered together to battel: and there was a parcell of ground full of barley, and the people fled before the Philistims.

14 And they stood in the midst of the field, and saved it, and slew the Philistims: so the Lord gaue a great victory.

15 ¶ And three of the thirtie captaines went to a rocke to Dauid, into the caue of Adullam. And the armie of the Philistims camped in the valley of Rephaim.

16 And when Dauid was in the hold, the Philistims garison was at Beth-lehem.

17 And Dauid longed, and sayd, * Oh, that one would giue me to drinke of the water of the well of Beth-lehem that is at the gate.

18 Then these three brake thorow the hostes of the Philistims, and drew water out of the well of Beth-lehem that was by the gate, and tooke it, and brought it to Dauid: but Dauid would not drinke of it, but powdered it for an oblation to the Lord.

19 And sayd, Let not my God suffer mee to do this: should I drinke the blood of these mens liues? for they haue brought it with the iopardie of their liues: therefore hee would not drinke it: these things did these three mightie men.

20 ¶ And Abishai the brother of Ioab, he was chiefe of the three, and hee lift vpon his speare against three hundred, & slew them, and had the name among the three.

21 Among the three he was more honorable then the two, and hee was their captaine: * but hee attained not vnto the first three.

1 Who they were that went with Dauid when he fled from Saul. 14 Their valiantnesse. 23 They that came vnto him vnto Hebron out of euery tribe to make him king.

These also are they that came to Dauid to ^a Ziklag, while he was yet kept close, because of Saul the sonne of Kish: and they were among the valiant and helpers of the battell.

2 They were weaponed with bowes, and could vse the right and the left hand with stones and with arrowes and with bowes, and were of Sauls ^b brethren, euen of Benjamin.

3 The chiefe were Abieser, and Joash the sonnes of Shemaah a Gibeathite, and Jeziel, and Belet the sonnes of Asmaueh, Berachah and Jehu the Antothite,

4 And Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a valiant man among thirtie, and aboue the thirtie, and Jeremiah, and Jehaziel, and Iohanan, and Ioshabad the Gederathite,

5 Eluzai, and Serimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite,

6 Elkanah, and Ithia, and Azariel, and Jozer, Jashobeam of Hokozehim,

7 And Joelah, and Zebadiah, the sonnes of Jeroham of ^c Gedor.

8 And of the Gadites there separated themselves some vnto Dauid into the holde of the wilderness, valiant men of warre, and men of armes, & apt for battell, which could handle ^d speare and shield, and their faces were like the faces of lions, and were like the roes in the mountaines in swiftnesse,

9 Ezer the chiefe, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third,

10 Ishmanah the fourth, Jeremiah the fift,

11 Attai the sixt, Eliel the seueneth,

12 Iohanan the eight, Elzabad the ninth,

13 Jeremiah the tenth, Bachannai the eleuenth.

14 These were the sonnes of Gad, Captaines of the holte: one of the least could resist an hundred, and the greatest a thousand.

15 These are they that went ouer Jordan in the ^e first moneth when hee had filled ouer all his bankes, and put to flight all them of the valley, toward the East and the West.

16 And there came of the children of Benjamin, and Iudah to the hold vnto Dauid.

17 And Dauid went out to meete them, and answered, and sayd vnto them, If yee bee come peaceably vnto mee to helpe mee, mine heart shall be knit vnto you, but if you come to betray me to mine aduersaries, seeing there is no wickednesse in mine hands, the God of our fathers beholde it, and rebuke it.

18 And the spirit came vpon Amasai, which was the chiefe of thirtie, and he said, Thine are wee, Dauid, and with thee, O sonne of Ithai. Peace, peace bee vnto thee, and peace bee vnto thine helpers: for thy God helpeth thee. Then Dauid receiued them, and made them Captaines of the garrison.

20 As he went to Ziklag, there fell to him of Manasseh, Adnah, and Jozabad, and Jediael, and Michae, and Jozabad, and Elihu, and Ziklai, heads of the thousands that were of Manasseh.

21 And they helped David against that band: for they were all valiant men, and were captaines in the hoste.

22 For at that time day by day there came to David to helpe him, untill it was a great hoste, like the hoste of God.

23 And these are the numbers of the captaines that were armed to battell, and came to David to Hebron to turne the kingdome of Saul to him, according to the word of the Lord.

24 The children of Judah that bare shield and || speare, were five thousand and eight hundred armed to the warre.

28 And Zadok a yong man very valiant, and of his fathers household, came two and twenty captaines.

29 And of the children of Benjamin the brethren of Saul three thousand: for a great part of them vnto that time kept the ward of the house of Saul.

30 And of the children of Ephraim twenty thousand, and eight hundred valiant men and famous men in the household of their fathers.

31 And of the halfe tribe of Manasse eighteen thousand, which were appointed by name to come and make David King.

32 And of the children of Issachar, which were men that had vnderstanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to doe: the heads of them were two hundred, and all their brethren were at their commandement.

33 Of Zabulon that went out to battell, expert in warre, and in all instruments of warre, fiftie thousand || which could set the battell in aray: they were not of a double heart.

35 And of Dan expert in battell, eight and twenty thousand and six hundred.

36 And of Asher that went out to the battell, and were trained in the warres, fourtie thousand.

37 And of the other side of Jordan of the Reubenites, and of the Gadites, and of the halfe tribe of Manasse with all instruments of warre to fight with, an hundred and twenty thousand.

38 All these men of warre || that could leade an armie, came with || vniuersall heart to Hebron to make David king ouer all Israel: and all the rest of Israel was of one accord to make David King.

39 And there they were with David three dayes, eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreover they that were neere them vntill Issachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali brought bread vpon asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, euen meat, flour, figges, and raisins, and wine and oyle, and beeries, and sheepe abundantly: for there was ioy in Israel.

7 The Arke is brought againe from Kiriath-iearim to Ierusalem. 9 Vzsa dieth because hee toucheth it.

AND David counsell'd with the captaines of thousands and of hundredes, and with all the gouernours.

2 And David said to all the Congregation of Israel, If it seeme good to you, and that it proceedeth of the Lord our God, wee will send to and fro vnto our brethren, that are left in all the land of Israel (for with them are the Priests and the Levites in the citie and their suburbs) that they may assemble themselves vnto vs.

3 And wee will bring againe the Arke of our God to vs: for we sought not vnto it in the dayes of Saul.

4 And all the Congregation answered, Let vs doe so: for the thing seemed good in the eyes of all the people.

5 So David gathered all Israel together from || Shihor in Egypt, euen vnto the entering of Hamath, to bring the Arke of God from Kiriath-iearim.

6 And David went vp and all Israel to || Baalath, in Kiriath-iearim, that was in Judah, to bring vp from thence the Arke of God the Lord that dwelleth betwene the Cherubims, where his Name is called on.

7 And they caried the Arke of God in a new cart out of the house of Abinadab: and Uzza and Ahio guided the cart.

8 And David and all Israel played before God with all their might, both with songs and with harpes, and with viols, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 And when they came vnto the threescore foure of Chidon, Uzza put forth his hand to holde the Arke, for the oxen did shake it.

10 But the wrath of the Lord was kindled against Uzza, and hee smote him, because he layd his hand vpon the Arke: so hee died there before God.

11 And David was angry, because the Lord had made a breach in Uzza, and hee called the name of that place Perez Uzza vnto this day.

12 And David feared God that day, saying, How shall I bring in to me the Arke of God?

David was annointed King over Israel, all the Philistims came up to seeke David. And when David heard, hee went out against

9 And the Philistims came and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

10 Then David asked counsell at God, saying, Shall I goe up against the Philistims, and wilt thou deliuer them into mine hand? And the Lord said vnto him, Goe up:
for I wil deliuer them into thine hand.

11 So they came up to Baal-perazim, and David smote them there: and David said, God hath diuided mine enemies with mine hand, as waters are diuided: therefore they called the name of that place, Baal-perazim.

enemies were themselves in the valley.

sell at God, God said to him, Thou shalt not goe up after them, but turne away from them, that thou mayest come vpon them ouer a-one going in the tops of the mulberry trees, then goe out to battell: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the hoste of the Philistims.

16 So David did as God had commanded him: and they smote the host of the Philistims from Gibeon euen to Gezer.

17 And the fame of David went out into all lands, and the Lord brought the feare of him vpon all nations.

1 David prepareth an house for the Arke.
4 The number and order of the Levites. 16 The fingers are chosen out among them. 25 They bring against the Arke with joy. 29 David dancing before it, is despised of his wife Michal.

And David made him houses in the citie of David, and prepared a place for the Arke of God, and pitched for it a tent.

2 Then David said, None ought to carrie the Arke of God but the Levites: for the Lord hath chosen them to beare the Arke of the Lord, and to minister vnto him for euer.

3 And David gathered all Israel together to Jerusalem to bring vp the Arke of the Lord vnto his place, which he had ordeined for it.

4 And David assembled the sonnes of Aaron, and the Levites.

5 Of the sonnes of Kohath, Ariel the chiefe, and his brethren six score.

6 Of the sonnes of Merari, Alalah the chiefe, and his brethren two hundred and 7 Of the sonnes of Gershom, Joel the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred and thirty.

8 Of the sonnes of Elizaphan, Shema-

9 Of the sonnes of Iehozabab, Eliel the chiefe, and his brethren fourescore.

10 Of the sonnes of Uzziel, Amminadab the chiefe, and his brethren an hundred and twelue.

11 And David called Zadok and Abiathar, the Priests, and of the Levites, Ariel, Alalah, and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab:

12 And hee said vnto them, We are the chiefe fathers of the Levites: sanctifie your selves, and your brethren, and bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel vnto the place that I haue prepared for it.

13 For because ye were not there at the first, the Lord our God made a breach among vs: for we sought him not after due order.

14 So the Priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring vp the Arke of the Lord God of Israel.

15 And the sonnes of the Levites bare the Arke of God vpon their shoulders with the barres, as Moyses had commanded, according to the word of the Lord.

16 And David spake to the chiefe of the Levites, that they should appoint certaine of their brethren to sing with instruments of musicke, with viols and harpes, and cymbals, that they might make a sound, and lift up their voice with joy.

17 So the Levites appointed Heman the sonne of Joel, and of his brethren Alaph the sonne of Berechiah, & of the sons of Merari their brethren, Ethan the sonne of Kuthiah.

18 And with them their brethren in the second degree, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel,

Eliab, and Benaiab, and Maaseiah, and 23 And Berechiah and Elkanah were porters for the Arke.

24 And Sheccaniah, and Jehoshaphat, and Bethaneel, and Amasai, and Sechariah, and Benatiah, and Eliezer the Priests did blow with trumpets before the Arke of God, and Obed Edom and Iziel were porters for the Arke.

25 So David and the Elders of Israel and the captains of thousands went to bring vp the Ark of the couenant of the Lord from the house of Obed Edom with ioy.

26 And because that God helped the Leuites that bare the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, they offered leuen bullocks and leuen rammes.

27 And David had on him a linnen garment, as all the Leuites that bare the Arke, and the singers, and Chenaniah that had the chiefe charge of the singers: and vpon David was a linnen Ephod.

28 Thus all Israel brought vp the Arke of the Lords couenant with shouting, and sound of cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbales, making a sound with viols and with harpes.

29 And when the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord came into the cite of Dauid, Michal the daughter of Saul looked out at a window, and saw king Dauid dancing and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The Arke being placed, they offer sacrifices. 4 David ordeineth Asaph and his brethren to minister before the Lord. 8 Hee appointeth a notable Psalm to be sung in praise of the Lord.

1 And they brought in the Arke of God, and set it in the mids of the Tabernacle that David had pitched for it, and they offered burnt offerings and peace offerings before God.

2 And when David had made an end of offering the burnt offering and the peace offerings, he blessed the people in the Name of the Lord.

3 And hee dealt to euery one of Israel both man and woman, to euery one a cake of bread, and a piece of flesh, and a bottell of wine.

4 And hee appointed certaine of the Leuites to minister before the Ark of the Lord, and to rehearse and to thanke and praise the Lord God of Israel.

5 Asaph the chiefe, and next vnto him Sechariah, Iziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benatiah, and Obed Edom, euen Iziel with instruments, viols and harpes, and Asaph to make a sound with cymbales.

6 And Benatiah and Tahaziel Drests, with trumpets continually before the Arke of the couenant of God.

7 Then at that time Dauid did appoint at the beginning to giue thanks to the Lord by the hand of Asaph and his brethren.

8 Praise ye the Lord, & call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people.

9 Sing vnto him, sing praise vnto him, and talke of all his wonderfull workes.

CHAP. XVII.

3 Dauid is forbidden to build an house vnto the Lord. 12 Christ is promised vnder the figure of Salomon. 18 Dauid giueth thanks, 23 and prayeth vnto God.

NOW * afterward when Dauid dwelt in his house, he said to Nathan the Prophet, Behold, I dwell in an house of cedar trees, but the Arke of the Lords couenant remaineth vnder curtains.

2 ¶ Then Nathan said to Dauid, Do all that is in thine hart: for God is with thee.

3 And the same night euen the word of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 ¶ See, and tell Dauid my seruant, Thus saith the Lord, Thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in:

5 For I haue dwelt in no house, since the day that I brought out the children of Israel vnto this day, but I haue bene from tent to tent, and from habitation to habitation.

6 ¶ Whereouer I haue walked with all Israel, I haue said to any of the Iudges of Israel (whom I commanded to feed my people) saying, Why haue yee not built me an house of Cedar trees?

7 ¶ Now therefore thus saith thou say vnto my seruant Dauid, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I tooke thee from the shep-coate, and I from following the sheepe, that thou shouldst bee a Prince ouer my people Israel.

8 And I haue bene with thee whithersoeuer thou hast walked, and haue destroyed all thine enemies out of thy sight, and haue made thee a name, like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 ¶ (Also I will appoynt a place for my people Israel, and will plant it, that they may dwell in their place, and moue no more: neither shall the wicked people breke them any more, as at the beginning,

10 And since the time that I commaunded Iudges ouer my people Israel.) And I will subdue all thine enemies: therefore I say vnto thee, that the Lord will build thee an house.

11 And when thy dayes shall be fulfilled, to goe with thy fathers, then will I raise vp thy seed after thee, which shall be of thy sons, and will establish his kingdom.

12 ¶ He shall build me an house, and I will stablish his throne for euer.

13 I will be his father, and hee shall be my sonne, and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I tooke it from him that was before thee.

14 But I will establish him in mine house, and in my kingdom for euer, and his throne shall be established for euer.

15 According to all these wordes, and according to all this vision. So Nathan spake to Dauid.

16 ¶ And Dauid the King went in, and sat before the Lord, and said, Who am I, O Lord God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought mee hitherto?

17 ¶ Yet thou esteeming this a small thing, O God, hast also spoken concerning the house of thy seruant for a great while, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of vile degree, O Lord God.

18 ¶ What can Dauid desire more of thee for the honor of thy seruant: for thou knowest thy seruant.

19 O Lord, for thy seruants sake, euen according to thine heart haue thou done all this great thing to declare all magnificence.

20 ¶ Lord, there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we heard with our eares.

22 ¶ For thou hast obtained thy people Israel to bee thine owne people for euer, and thou Lord art become their God.

23 ¶ Therefore now Lord, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy seruant and concerning his house, be confirmed for euer, and doe as thou hast said.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The battell of David against the Philistims,
2 and against Moab, 3 Zobah, 5 Aram, 12 and Edom.

And after this David smote the Philistims, and subdued them, and tooke Gath, and the villages thereof out of the hand of the Philistims.

2 And hee smote Hoab, and the Hoab-hites became Dauids seruants, & he brought giftes.

3 And David smote Hadarezer king of Zobah, vnto Hamath, as hee went to Nablis his border by the river Euphrates.

4 And David tooke from him a thousand charrets, and seuen thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen, and destroyed all the charrets, but hee reserved of them an hundred charrets.

5 Then came the Aramites of Damascus to succour Hadarezer king of Zobah but David slew of the Aramites two and twen-tie thousand.

6 And David put a garison in Aram of Damasus, and the Aramites became Dauids seruants, and brought gifts: and the Lord preferred David wheresoever he went.

7 And David tooke the shields of gold that were of the seruants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Ierusalem.

8 And from Tibhach, and from Chun (cities of Hadarezer) brought David exceeding much brasse, wherewith Salomon made the brazen sea, and the pillars and the vessels of brasse.

9 Then Tou king of Hamath heard how David had smitten all the hoste of Ha-darezer king of Zobah:

10 Therefore hee sent Hadram his sonne to king David to salute him, and to reioyce with him, because hee had fought against Hadarezer, and beaten him (for Tou had warre with Hadarezer) who brought all vessels of gold, and silver, and brasse.

11 And King David did dedicate them vnto the Lord with silver and gold that hee brought from all the nations, from Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistims, and from Amalek.

12 And Abihai the sonne of Neriah smote of Edom in the salt valley eightene thousand:

13 And he put a garison in Edom, and all the Edomites became Dauids seruants: and the Lord preferred David wheresoever he went.

14 So David reigned ouer all Israel, and executed iudgement and iustice to all his people.

15 And Joab the sonne of Seruiab was ouer the hoste, and Jehoshaphat the sonne of Ahilud Recorder.

16 And Zadok the sonne of Abitub, and Abimelech the sonne of Abiathar were the Priests, and Shauha the Seer.

17 And Benaiab the sonne of Jehoiada was ouer the Cherethites and the Peltites: and the sonnes of David were chiefe about the king.

CHAP. XIX.

4 Hannu king of the children of Ammon doeth great iniuries to the seruants of David. 6 He pre-pareth an armie against David, 15 and is overcome.

After this also Nabath the king of the children of Ammon died, and his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And David said, I will shew kindnesse vnto Hanun the sonne of Nabath, because his father shewed kindnesse vnto me. And David sent messengers to comfort him for his father. So the seruants of David came into the land of the children of Ammon to Hanun to comfort him.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanun, Thinkest thou that Da-uid doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters vnto thee? Are not his seruants come to thee to search, to seeke, and to spie out the land?

4 Wherefore Hanun tooke Dauids ser-uants, and shaued them, and cut off their garments by the halfe vnto the buttocks, and sent them away.

5 And there went certaine and told Da-uid concerning the men: and hee sent to meete them (for the men were exceedingly ashamed) and the King sayd, Tarry at Jericho vntill your beards be growen: then returne.

6 When the children of Ammon saw that they stank in the sight of David, then sent Hanun and the children of Ammon a thousand talents of silver to hire them charets and horsemen out of Aram Nabaraim, and out of Aram Maachab, and out of Zobah.

7 And they hired them two and thirtie thousand charrets, and the king of Maachab and his people which came and pitched before Medeba: and the children of Ammon gathered themselves together from their cities, and came to the battell.

8 And when David heard, he sent Joab and all the hoste of the valiant men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and set their battell in aray at the gate of the cite, and the kings that were come, were by themselves in the field.

10 When Joab saw that the front of the battell was against him before and behind, then hee chose out of all the chiefe of Israel, and set himselfe in aray to meete the Ara-mites.

15 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Aramites fled, they fled also before Abisai his brother, and entered into the citie: so Joab came to Jerusalem.

16 And when the Aramites saw that they were discomfited before Israel, they sent messengers & caused the Aramites to come forth that were beyond the river: and Shophach the captaine of the hoste of Hadarezer went before them.

17 And when it was shewed David, hee gathered all Israel, and went over Jordan, and came unto them, and put himselfe in array against them: and when David had put himselfe in battell array to meete the Aramites, they fought with him.

18 But the Aramites fled before Israel, and David destroyed of the Aramites seven thousand chariots, and fortie thousand footmen, and killed Shophach the captaine of the hoste.

19 And when the servants of Hadarezer saw that they fell before Israel, they made peace with David, and served him. And the Aramites would no more succour the children of Ammon.

7 And when he reniled Israel, Jehenathan the sonne of Shimea Davids brother did slay him.

CHAP. XXI.

1 David causeth the people to bee numbred, 14. and there die seuentie thousand men of the people.

And Satan stood by against Israel, and provoked David to number Israel.

2 Therefore David said to Joab, and to the rulers of the people, Goe, and number Israel from Beer-sheba even to Dan, and bring it to me, that I may know the number of them.

3 And Joab answered, The Lord encrease his people an hundred times so many as they be, O my lord the king: are they not all my lords servants? wherefore doeth my lord require this thing? why should he be a cause of trespass to Israel?

4 Neuertheless the kings word prevailed against Joab. And Joab departed and went thorow all Israel, and returned to Jerusalem.

5 And Joab gave the number and summe of the people unto David: and all Israel were eleuen hundredth thousand men that drew sword: and Judah was foure hundredth and seuentie thousand men that drew sword.

6 But the Levites and Benjamin counted he not among them: for the kings word was abominable to Joab.

7 And God was displeased with this thing: therefore he smote Israel.

8 Then David said unto God, I have sinned greatly, because I have done this thing: but now I beseech thee, remooue the iniquitie of thy servant: for I have done verily foolishly.

9 And the Lord spake unto Gad Davids seer, saying,

10 Goe and tell David, saying, Thus sayth the Lord, I offer thee three things: chuse thee one of them, that I may doe it unto thee.

11 So Gad came to David, and said unto him, Thus saith the Lord, Take to thee

12 Either three yeeres famine, or three moneths to be destroyed before thine adversaries, and the sword of thine enemies

13 to take thee, or else the sword of the Lord and pestilence, in the lande

e In Samuel is mention of thirtie thousand more: which was either by ioyning to them some of the Beniamites, which were mixed with Judah, or as the Ebrewes write, here the chiefe and princes are left out.

13. And David said unto Gad, I am in a wonderfull strair: let mee now fall into the hand of the Lord: for his mercies are exceeding great, and let me not fall into the hand of man.

14. So the Lord sent a pestilence in Israel, and there fell of Israel seven-tie thousand men.

15. ¶ And God sent the Angel into Jerusalem to destroy it. And as he was destroying, the Lord beheld, and repented of the evil, and said to the Angel that destroyed, It is now enough, let thine hand cease. Then the Angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floore of Ornan the Jebusite.

16. And David lift up his eyes, and saw the Angel of the Lord stand betweene the earth and the heauen with his sword drawn in his hand, and stretched out toward Jerusalem. Then David and the Elders of Israel, which were clothed in sacke, fell vpon their faces.

17. And David said vnto God, Is it not I that commanded to number the people? It is euen I that haue sinned and haue committed euill, but these sheepe, what haue they done? O Lord my God, I beseech thee; let thine hand be on mee, and on my fathers house, and not on thy people for their destruction.

18. ¶ Then the Angel of the Lord commanded Gad to say to David, that David should goe up, and set vp an altar vnto the Lord in the threshing floore of Ornan the Jebusite.

19. So David went vp according to the saying of Gad, which hee had spoken in the Name of the Lord.

20. And Ornan turned about, and saw the Angel, and his four sonnes that were with him, hid themselves, and Ornan threshed wheate.

21. And as David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw David, and went out of the threshing floore, and bowed himselfe to David with his face to the ground.

22. And David said to Ornan, Giue mee the place of thy threshing floore, that I may build an altar therein vnto the Lord: giue it me for sufficient money, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23. Then Ornan said vnto David, Take it to thee, and let my lord the king doe that which seemeth him good: for, I giue thee bullockes for burnt offerings, and threshing instruments for wood, and wheat for meate offering, I giue it all.

24. And king David said to Ornan, Not for this will I buy it for sufficient money: yet to haue taken the Lord, nor offer burnt offerings without cost.

25. So David gaue to Ornan for that place five hundred shekels of gold by weight.

26. And David built there an altar vnto the Lord, & offered burnt offerings & peace offerings, and called vpon the Lord and hee answered him by fire from heauen vpon the altar of burnt offering.

27. And when the Lord had spoken to the Angel, hee put vp his sword againe into his sheath.

28. At that time, when David saw that the Lord had heard him in the threshing floore of Ornan the Jebusite, then he sacrificed there.

29. ¶ But the tabernacle of the Lord which Moses had made in the wilderness, and the altar of burnt offering were at that season in the hie place at Gibeon.

30. And David could not goe before it to aske counsell at God: for hee was afraid of the sword of the Angel of the Lord.

2. David prepareth things necessary for the building of the Temple. 6. Hee commandeth his sonne Salomon to build the Temple of the Lord, which thing he himselfe was forbidden to doe. 9. Vnder the figure of Salomon Christ is promised.

And David said, This is the house of the Lord God, and this is the altar for the burnt offering of Israel.

2. And David commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the land of Israel, and he set masons to hew and polish stones to build the house of God.

3. David also prepared much yron for the nailes of the doores and of the gates, and for the toynings, and abundance of brasse passing weight.

4. And cedar trees without number: for the Sidonians and they of Tyrus brought much cedar wood to David.

5. And David sayd, Salomon my sonne is young and tender, and we must build an house for the Lord, magnificent, excellent, and of great fame and dignitie thorowout all countreys. I will therefore now prepare for him. So David prepared very much before his death.

6. Then hee called Salomon his sonne, and charged him to build an house for the Lord God of Israel.

7. And David sayd to Salomon, My sonne, I purposed with my selfe to build an house to the Name of the Lord my God.

8. But the word of the Lord came to me, saying, Thou hast shedde much blood, and hast made great battels: thou shalt not build an house vnto my Name: for thou hast shed much blood vpon the earth in my sight.

9. Beholde, a sonne is borne to thee, which shall be a man of rest: for I will giue him rest from all his enemies round about: therefore his name is Salomon: and I will send peace and quietnesse vpon Israel in his dayes.

10. ¶ He shall build an house for the Name of the Lord, and he shall be my sonne, and I will be his Father, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom vpon Israel for euer.

12 Only the Lord giue thee wisdom, and vnderstanding, and giue thee charge ouer Israel, euen to keepe the Lawe of the Lord thy God.

13 Then thou shalt prosper, if thou take heede to obserue the statutes and the iudgements which the Lord commanded Moyses for Israel: be strong and of good courage: feare not, neither be afraid.

14 For behold, according to my speeche haue I prepared for the house of the Lord an hundred thousand talents of gold, and a thousand thousand talents of silver, and of brasse and of yron passing weight: for there was abundance: I haue also prepared timber and stone, and thou mayest yrouine more thereto.

15 Moreover, thou hast workemen with thee enow, hewers of stone, and workemen for timber, and all men expert in euery worke.

16 Of gold, of silver, and of brasse, and of yron, there is no number: therefore, and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee.

17 Dauid also commaunded all the princes of Israel to helpe Salomon his sonne, saying,

18 Is not the Lord your God with you, and hath giuen you rest on euery side? for he hath giuen the inhabitants of the land into mine hand, and the land is subdued before the Lord, and before his people.

19 Now let your hearts and your soules to seeke the Lord your God, and arise, and build the Sanctuarie of the Lord God, to bring the Arke of the couenant of the Lord, and the holy vessels of God into the house built for the name of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Dauid being olde, ordeineth Salomon King. 3 Hee assigneth the Leuites to be numbred. 4 and assigneth them to their offices: 13 Aaron and his sonnes are for the high Priest. 14 The sonnes of Moyses.

1. King. 1. 30.

SD When Dauid was old, and ful of dayes, he made Salomon his sonne King ouer Israel.

2 And he gathered together all the princes of Israel with the Priests and the Leuites.

3 And the Leuites were numbred from the age of thirtie yeere and aboue, and their number according to their summe, was eight and thirtie thousand men.

4 Of these, foure and twenty thousand were set to aduance the worke of the house of the Lord, and six thousand were ouerseers and Iudges.

5 And foure thousand were porters, and foure thousand praised the Lord with instruments which he made to praise the Lord.

6 So Dauid diuided officers vnto them, to wit, to the sonnes of Leui, to Gerson, Kohath, and Merari.

7 Of the Gersonites were Laadan and Shimei.

8 The sonnes of Laadan, the chiefe was Jehiel, and Jerham, and Joel, three.

9 The sonnes of Shimei, Shelomith and Haziel, and Haram, three: these were the chiefe fathers of Laadan.

10 Also the sonnes of Shimei were Jahath, Zina, Jeush, and Beriah: these foure were the sonnes of Shimei.

11 And Jahath was the chiefe, and Zina the second, but Jeush and Beriah had not many sonnes: therefore they were in the families of their father, counted but as one.

12 The sonnes of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, foure.

13 The sonnes of Amram, Aaron and Moyses: and Aaron was separated to sanctifie the most holy place, hee and his sonnes for euer to burne incense before the Lord, to minister to him, and to blesse in his name for euer.

14 Moyses also the man of God, and his children were named with the tribe of Leui.

15 The sonnes of Moyses were Gershom, and Eliezer.

16 Of the sonnes of Gershom was Shebuel the chiefe.

17 And the sonne of Eliezer was Rehabiah the chiefe: for Eliezer had none other sonnes: but the sonnes of Rehabiah were very many.

18 The sonne of Izhar was Shelomith the chiefe.

19 The sonnes of Hebron were Jeriah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekamiam the fourth.

20 The sonnes of Uzziel were Michah the first, and Jithiah the second.

21 The sonnes of Merari were Gabbai and Ousi. The sonnes of Gabbai, Eleazar and Kish.

22 And Eleazar died, and had no sonnes, but daughters, & their brethren the sonnes of Kish tooke them.

23 The sons of Ousi were Gabbai, and Eder, and Jerimoth, three.

24 These were the sonnes of Leui according to the house of their fathers, euen the chiefe fathers according to their offices, according to the number of names and their summe that did the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord from the age of thirtie yeeres and aboue.

25 For Dauid sayd, The Lord God of Israel hath giuen rest vnto his people, that they may dwell in Ierusalem for euer.

26 And also the Leuites shall no more beare the Tabernacle and all the vessels for the seruice thereof.

27 Therefore according to the last words of Dauid, the Leuites were numbred from thirtie yeere and aboue.

28 And their office was vnder the hand of the sonnes of Aaron, for the seruice of the house of the Lord in the courts, and chambers, & in the purifying of all holy things, and in the worke of the seruice of the house of God.

29 Both for the shewbread, and for the fine flour, for the meate offering and for the unleauened cakes, and for the froyed things, and for that which was roasted, and for all measures and sise,

32 And that they should keepe the charge of the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and the charge of the holy place, and the charge of the sonnes of Aaron their brethren in the seruice of the house of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIIII.

David assigneth offices vnto the sonnes of Aaron.

These are also the diuisions of the sonnes of Aaron. The sonnes of Aaron were Nadab, and Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.

2 But Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the Priests office.

4 And there were found moe of the sons of Eleazar by the number of men, then of the sonnes of Ithamar, and they diuided them, to wit, among the sonnes of Eleazar, sixteene heads, according to the household of their fathers, and among the sonnes of Ithamar, according to the household of their fathers, eight.

5 Thus they distributed them by lot the one from the other, and so the rulers of the Sanctuary, and the rulers of the house of God, were of the sonnes of Eleazar, and of the sonnes of Ithamar.

6 And Shemaiah the sonne of Netheaneel the scribe of the Leuites, wrote them before the King & the Princes, and Zadok the Priest, and Ahimelech the sonne of Abiathar, and before the chiefe fathers of the Priests, and of the Leuites, one family being reserved for Eleazar, and another reserved for Ithamar.

20 And of the sonnes of Leui that remained of the sonnes of Amram, was Shubael of the sonnes of Shubael, Jedetab.

23 And his sonnes Jertah the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Ikameam the fourth.

24 The sonne of Uzziel was Michah, the sonne of Michah was Shamir, 25 The brother of Michah, was Ishitah, the sonne of Ishitah, Zechariah, 26 The sonnes of Merari were Dabli, and Gushi, the sonne of Maaziah, was Beno.

27 The sonnes of Merari, of Jahaziah were Beno, and Shoham, and Zaccur, and Ithi.

28 Of Dabli came Eleazar, which had no sonnes.

29 Of Kish, the sonne of Kish was Jerahmiel,

30 And the sonnes of Gushi were Dabli, and Eder, and Jertinoth: these were sonnes of the Leuites after the household of their fathers.

31 And these also cast lots with their brethren the sonnes of Aaron before King David, and Zadok and Ahimelech and the chiefe fathers of the Priests, and of the Leuites, euen the chiefe of the families against their yonger brethren.

CHAP. XXV.

CHAP. XXVIII.

3 Because Dauid was forbidden to build the Temple, he willeth Salomon and the people to performe it, 9 exhorting him to feare the Lord.

NOW Dauid assembled all the princes of Israel: the princes of the tribes, and the captaines of the bands that serued the king, and the captaines of thousands, and the captaines of hundreds, and the rulers of all the substance & possession of the king, and of his sonnes, with the seruantes, and the mighty, and all the men of power, vnto Ierusalem.

2 And king Dauid stood vpon his feet, and said, Heare ye me, my brethren & my people: I purposed to haue built an house of rest for the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord, and for a footstool of our God, and haue made ready for the building.

3 But God sayd vnto me, Thou shalt not build an house for my Name, because thou hast bene a man of warre, and hast shed blood.

4 Yet as the Lord God of Israel chose me before all the house of my father, to bee king ouer Israel for euer (for in Iudah would he chuse a prince, and of the house of Iudah is the house of my father, and among the sons of my father he delighted in me to make me king ouer all Israel)

5 So of all my sonnes (for the Lord hath giuen me many sonnes) hee hath enen chosen Salomon my sonne to sit vpon the throne of the kingdome of the Lord ouer Israel.

6 And he sayd vnto mee, Salomon thy sonne, he shall build mine house & my courts: for I haue chosen him to be my sonne, and I will be his father.

7 I will stablish therefore his kingdome for euer, if hee endeouour himselfe to doe my commandements, and my iudgements, as this day.

8 Now therefore in the sight of all Israel the Congregation of the Lord, and in the audience of our God, keepe and seeke for all the commandements of the Lord your God, that ye may possesse this good land, & leaue it for an inheritance for your children after you for euer.

9 And thou, Salomon my sonne, know thou the God of thy father, and serue him with a perfect heart, & with a willing mind: For the Lord searcheth all hearts, & understandeth all the imaginations of thoughts: if thou seeke him, he will be found of thee: but if thou forsake him, he will cast thee off for euer.

10 Take heed now, for the Lord hath chosen thee to build the house of the sanctuary: be strong therefore and doe it.

11 Then Dauid gaue to Salomon his sonne the paterne of the porch, and of the houses thereof, and of the closets thereof, and of the galleries thereof, and of the chambers thereof that are within, and of the house of the Mercysseate,

12 And the paterne of all that he had in his mind for the courts of the house of the Lord, and for all the chambers round about, for the treasures of the house of God, and for the treasures of the dedicate things, 13 And for the courses of the priests, and of the Leuites, and for all the worke for the seruice of the house of the Lord, and for all the vessels of the ministerie of the house of the Lord.

CHAP. XXIX.

2 The offering of David and of the princes for the building of the Temple. 10 David giveth thanks to the Lord. 20 He exhorteth the people to do the same. 22 Salomon is created king. 23 David dieth, and Salomon his sonne reigneth in his stead.

Moreover David the King said unto all the Congregation, God hath chosen Salomon mine only sonne yong and tender, and the worke is great: for this house is not for man, but for the Lord God.

2 Nowe I have prepared with all my power for the house of my God, gold for vessels of gold, and silver for them of silver, and brasle for things of brasle, yron for things of yron, and wood for things of wood, and Onix stones, and stones to be set, and carbuncle stones, and of divers colours, and all precious stones, and marble stones in abundance.

3 Moreover, because I have delight in the house of my God, I have of mine owne golde and silver, which I have given to the house of my God, beside all that I have prepared for the house of the Sanctuary.

4 Even three thousand talents of gold of the gold of Ophir, and seven thousand talents of fined silver to outclay the wals of the houses.

5 The gold for the things of gold, and the silver for things of silver, and for all the worke by the hands of artificers: and who is willing to fill his hand to day unto the Lord?

6 So the princes of the families, and the princes of the tribes of Israel, and the capitaines of thousands, and of hundredths, with the rulers of the Kings worke, offered willingly.

7 And they gave for the service of the house of God five thousand talents of gold, and ten thousand pieces, and ten thousand talents of silver, and eightene thousand talents of brasle, and one hundred thousand talents of yron.

8 And they with whom precious stones were found, gave them to the treasure of the house of the Lord, by the hand of Nehiel the Gershunnite.

9 And the people rejoyced when they offered willingly: for they offered willingly unto the Lord with a perfect heart. And David the King also rejoyced with great joy.

10 Therefore David blessed the Lord before all the Congregation, and David said, Blessed be thou, O Lord God of Israel our Father for ever and ever.

11 Thine, O Lord, is greatnesse, and power, and glory, and victory, and praise: for all that is in heaven and in earth is thine: thine is the kingdome, O Lord, and thou excellest as head over all.

12 Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all, and in thine hand is power and strength, & in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all.

13 Now therefore our God, wee thanke thee, and praise thy glorious Name.

14 But who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to offer willingly after this sort: for all things come of thee: and of thine owne hand we have given thee.

15 For we are strangers before thee, and sojourners, like all our fathers: our dayes are like the shadow upon the earth, and there is none abiding.

16 O Lord our God, all this abundance that we have prepared to build thee an house for thine holy Name, is of thine hand, and all is thine.

17 I know also my God, that thou triest the heart, and hast pleasure in righteousness: I have offered willingly in the uprightness of mine heart all these things: now also have I sent my people which are found here, to offer unto thee willingly with joy.

18 O Lord God of Abraham, Izhak and Israel our fathers, keepe this for ever in the purpose, and the thoughts of the heart of thy people, and prepare their hearts unto thee.

19 And give unto Salomon my sonne a perfect heart to keepe thy commandments, thy testimonies and thy statutes, and to doe all things, & to build the house which I have prepared.

20 And David said to all the Congregation, Nowe bless the Lord your God. And all the Congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed downe their heads, and worshipped the Lord, and the King.

21 And they offered sacrifices unto the Lord, and on the morrowe after that day, they offered burnt offerings unto the Lord, even a thousand young bullocks, a thousand rammes, and a thousand sheepe, with their drink offerings, and sacrifices in abundance for all Israel.

22 And they did eate and drinke before the Lord the same day with great joy, and they made Salomon the sonne of David King the second time, and annoynted him Prince before the Lord, and Zadok for the high Priest.

23 So Salomon sat on the throne of the Lord as King in stead of David his father, and prospered: and all Israel obeyed him.

24 And all the princes and men of power, and all the sonnes of King David submitted themselves vnder king Salomon.

25 And the Lord magnified Salomon in dignity, in the sight of all Israel, and gave him so glorious a kingdome, as no king had before him in Israel.

26 Thus David the sonne of Ithai reigned over all Israel.

27 And the space that hee reigned over Israel, was forty yere: seven yere reigned hee in Hebron, and three and thirty yere reigned

THE ARGUMENT.

THis second booke conteineth briefly in effect that, which is comprehended in the two bookes of the Kings: that is, from the reigne of Salomon to the destruction of Ierusalem, and the carrying away of the people captiue into Babylon. In this story are certaine things declared & set forth more copiously then in the bookes of the Kings, and therefore serue greatly to the vnderstandig of the Prophets. But three things are here chiefly to be considered: First, that the godly Kings, when they saw the plagues of God prepared against their countrey for sinne, had recourse to the Lord, and by earnest prayer were heard, and the plagues remooued. The second, how it is a thing that greatly offendeth God, that such as feare him and professe his Religion, should ioine in anity with the wicked. And thirdly, how the good rulers euer loued the Prophets of God, and were very zealous to set forth his Religion throughout all their dominions, and contrariwise the wicked hated his ministers, depouled them, and for the true religion and word of God, set vp idolatry, and serued God according to the fantasie of men. Thus haue we hitherto the chiefe acts from the beginning of the world to the building againe of Ierusalem, which was the two and thirtieth yere of Darius, and containe in the whole, three thousand five hundred threescore and eighteene yeeres, and sixe moneths.

CHAP. I.

6 The offering of Salomon at Gibeon. 8 Hee prayeth vnto God to giue him Wisdom: 11 Which hee giueth him and more. 14 The number of his charrets and horsemen. 15 And of his riches.

for thou hast made mee King ouer a great people, like to the dust of the earth.

10 Giue mee now wisdom and knowledge, that I may goe out and goe in before this people: for who can iudge this thy great people?

11 And God said to Salomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, treasures, nor honour, nor the s liues of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life, but hast asked for thee wisdom and knowledge, that thou mightest iudge my people, ouer whom I haue made thee King.

12 Wisdom and knowledge is granted vnto thee, and I will giue thee riches, and treasures and honour, so that there hath not bene the like among the kings which were before thee, neither after thee shall there bee the like.

13 Then Salomon came from the high place that was at Gibeon, to Ierusalem from before the tabernacle of the Congregation, and reigned ouer Israel.

14 And Salomon gathered the charrets and horsemen: and hee had a thousand and foure hundred charrets, and twelue thousand horsemen, whome hee placed in the charret cities, and with the King at Ierusalem.

15 And the King gaue silver and gold at Ierusalem as stones, and gaue cedar trees as the wilde figge trees, that are abundantly in the plaine.

16 Also Salomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and Assaelmen: the Kings merchants receiued the fine linnen for a price.

17 They came hy also and brought out of Egypt some charret, worth sixe hundred shekel of silver, that is, an hoxie for an hoxie: and Assaelmen and this they brought horses to all the kings of the Hittites, and to the kings of Aram by their meanes.

3 So Salomon and all the Congregation with him went to the high place that was at Gibeon: for there was the Tabernacle of the Congregation of God which Moses the seruant of the Lord had made in the wilderness.

4 But the Arke of God had Dauid brought vp from Kirjath-bearim: when Dauid had made preparation for it: for hee had pitched a tent for it in Ierusalem.

5 Moreover the brazen Altar that Bezaleel the sonne of Uri, the sonne of Hur had made, did he set before the Tabernacle of the Lord: and Salomon and the Congregation sought it.

6 And Salomon offered there before the Lord vpon the brazen Altar that was in the Tabernacle of the Congregation: euen a thousand burnt offerings offered he vpon it.

7 The same night did God appeare vnto Salomon, and said vnto him, Aske what I shall giue thee.

8 And Salomon sayd vnto God, Thou hast shewed great mercy vnto Dauid my father, and hast made mee to reigne in his stead.

¹² Huram said moreover, Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, which made the beautie and the earth, & that hath giuen vnto David the king a wise sonne, that hath discretion, prudence and vnderstanding to builde an house for the Lord, and a palace for his kingdome.

¹⁶ And we will cut wood in Lebanon as much as thou shalt need, & will bring it to thee in raftes by the sea, to Japho, so thou mayest carry them to Ierusalem.

¹⁷ And Salomon numbred all the strangers that were in the land of Israel, after the numbring that his father David had numbred them: and they were found an hundred and thre and fiftie thousand, and sixe hundred.

¹⁸ And he set seventy thousand of them to the burden, and fourescore thousand to hew stones in the mountain, and thre thousand and six hundred ouerseers to cause the people to worke.

CHAP. III.

¹ The Temple of the Lord, and the porch are builded, with other things thereto belonging.

Salomon began to build the house of the Lord in Ierusalem, in mount Moriah which had bene declared vnto David his father, in the place that David prepared in the threshing floore of Ornan the Iebusite.

² And he began to builde in the second moneth & the second day, in the fourth yere of his reigne.

⁵ And the greater house hee filled with firre tree which hee ouerlaid with gold, and graued thereon palme trees and chaires.

⁶ And he ouerlaid the house with precious stone for beautie: and the golde was gold of Paruaim.

5 And they caried vp the Arke, and the Tabernacle of the Congregation: and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, those did the Priests and Leuites bring vp.

6 And King Salomon and all the Congregation of Israel that were assembled vnto him, were before the Arke, offering sheepe and bullockes, which could not bee told nor numbered for multitude.

7 So the Priests brought the Arke of the Couenant of the Lord vnto his place, into the Oracle of the house, into the most holy place, euen vnder the wings of the Cherubims,

8 For the Cherubims stretched out their wings ouer the place of the Arke, and the Cherubims covered the Ark, and the barres thereof aboue.

9 And they drew out the barres, that the ends of the barres might be seene out of the Arke before the Oracle, but they were not seene without: and there they are vnto this day.

10 Nothing was in the Arke, save the two Tables, which Moses gaue at Horeb, where the Lord made a Couenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt.

11 And when the Priests were come out of the Sanctuary (for all the Priests that were present, were sanctified and did not wait by course).

12 And the Leuites the singers of all sorts, as of Alaph, of Verman, of Jeduthun, and of their sonnes and of their brethren, being clad in fine linnen, stood with cymbals, and with viols and harpes at the East end of the altar, and with them an hundred and twenty Priests blowing with trumpets:

13 And they were as one blowing trumpets, and singing, and made one sound to bee heard in praising and thanking the Lord, and when they lift vp their voice with trumpets and with cymbals, and with instruments of musick, and when they praised the Lord, singing, for he is good, because his mercy lasteth for euer: then the house, euen the house of the Lord was filled with a cloud, 14 So that the Priests could not stand to minister, because of the cloud: for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of God.

CHAP. VI.

3 Salomon blest the people. 4 Hee praiseth the Lord. 14 He prayeth vnto God for those that shall pray in the Temple.

Then Salomon said, The Lord hath said, that hee would dwell in the darke cloud:

2 And I haue built thee an house to dwell in, an habitation for thee to dwell in for euer.

3 And the king turned his face, and blessed all the Congregation of Israel, (for all the Congregation of Israel stood there)

4 And he said, Blessed bee the Lord God of Israel, who spake with his mouth vnto

Dauid my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it, saying,

5 Since the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no citie of all the tribes of Israel to build an house, that my Name might be there, neither chose I any man to bee a ruler ouer my people Israel:

6 But I haue chosen Jerusalem, that my Name might be there, and haue chosen Dauid to be ouer my people Israel.

7 And it was in the heart of Dauid my father to build an house vnto the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

8 But the Lord said to Dauid my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house vnto my Name, thou diddest well that thou wast so minded.

9 Notwithstanding thou shalt not build the house, but thy sonne which shall come out of thy loynes, he shall build an house vnto my Name.

10 And the Lord hath performed his word that he spake: for I am risen vp in the roume of Dauid my father, and am set on the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised, and haue built an house to the Name of the Lord God of Israel.

11 And I haue set the Arke there, wherein is the Couenant of the Lord, that hee made with the children of Israel.

12 And the king stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands,

13 (For Salomon had made a brasen scaffold, and set it in the mids of the court, of five cubites long, and five cubites broad, and three cubites of height, and vpon it he stood, and kneeled downe vpon his knees before all the Congregation of Israel, and stretched out his hands toward heauen)

14 And said, O Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in heauen nor in earth, which keepest couenant, and merite vnto thy seruants, that walke before thee with all their heart,

15 Thou that hast kept with thy servant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him: for thou spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as appeareth this day.

16 Therefore now Lord God of Israel, keepe with thy seruant Dauid my father, that thou hast promised him, saying, Thou shalt not want a man in my sight, that shall sit vpon the throne of Israel: so that thy sonnes take heed to their waies, to walke in my Lawe, as thou hast walked before mee.

17 And now, O Lord God of Israel, let thy word be verified, which thou spakest vnto thy servant Dauid.

18 Is it true in deed that God will dwell with man on earth? Behold, the heauens, and the heauens of heauens are not able to containe thee: how much more vnable is this house, which I haue built?

21 Heare thou therefore the supplication of thy seruant, & of thy people Israel, which they pray in this place, and heare thou in the place of thine habitation, euen in heauen, and when thou hearest, be mercifull.

23 Then heare thou in heauen, and doe, and iudge thy seruants in recompensing the wicked to bring his way & vpon his head, and in iustifying the righteous, to giue him according to his righteousness.

24 ¶ And when thy people Israel shall bee ouerthrowen before the enemy, because they haue sinned against thee, and turne againe and I confesse thy name, and pray, and make supplication before thee in this house,

25 Then heare thou in heauen, and bee mercifull vnto the sinne of thy people Israel, and bring them againe vnto the land, which thou gauest to them and to their fathers.

26 When heauen shall be shut vp, and there shall be no raine, because they haue sinned against thee, and shall pray in this place, and confesse thy name, and I turne from their sinne when thou dost afflict them,

27 Then heare thou in heauen, and pardon the sinne of thy seruants and of thy people Israel, (when thou hast taught them the good way wherein they may walke) and giue raine vpon thy land which thou hast giuen vnto thy people for an inheritance.

32 Moreover, as touching the stranger which is not of thy people Israel, who shall come out of a farre countrey for thy great names sake, and thy mighty hand, and thy stretched out arme: when they shall come and pray in this house,

33 Heare thou in heauen thy dwelling place, and doe according to all that the stranger calleth for vnto thee: that all the people of the earth may know thy name, and feare thee, like thy people Israel: and that they may know that thy name is called vpon in this house which I haue built.

34 ¶ When thy people shall goe out to battell against their enemies by the way that thou shalt send them, and they pray to thee, I in the way toward this cite, which thou hast cholen, euen toward the house which I haue built to thy name, 35 Then heare thou in heauen their prayer and their supplication, and iudge their cause.

36 If they sinne against thee (* for there is no man that sinneth not) and thou be angry with them, and deliuer them vnto their enemies, and they take them and carry them away captiue vnto a land farre or neere,

37 If they turne againe to their heart in the land whither they bee carried in captiues, and turne and pray vnto thee in the land of their captivity, saying, We haue sinned, wee haue transgressed, and haue done wickedly,

38 If they turne againe vnto thee with all their heart, and with all their soule in the land of their captivity, whither they haue carried their captiues, and pray toward their land, which thou gauest vnto their fathers, and toward the cite which thou hast cholen, and toward the house which I haue built for thy name,

2 So that the priests could not enter into the house of the Lord, because the glory of the Lord had filled the Lords house.

3 And when all the children of Israel saw the fire, and the glory of the Lord come downe vpon the house, they bowed themselves with their faces to the earth vpon the pavement, and worshipped, and praised the Lord, saying, For he is good, because his mercie lasteth for ever.

Sacrifices before the Lord.

5 And King Salomon offered a sacrifice of two and twenty thousand bullockes, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheep. So the King and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 And the Priests waited on their offices, and the Levites with the instruments of musick of the Lord, which king David had made to praise the Lord. Because his mercy lasteth for ever: when David praised God: by them, the Priests also blew trumpets over against them: and all they of Israel stood by.

7 Moreover, Salomon halowed the middle of the court that was before the house of the Lord: for there hee had prepared burnt offerings, and the fat of the peace offerings, because the brasen altar which Salomon had made, was not able to receive the burnt offering and the meate offering and the fat.

8 And Salomon made a feast at that time of seven daies, and all Israel with him, a very great congregation, from the entering in of Hamath, unto the river of Egypt.

9 And in the eighth day they made a solemn assembly: for they had made the dedication of the altar seven daies, and the feast seven daies.

10 And the three and twentieth day of the seventh month, he sent the people away into their tents, joyous and with glad heart, because of the goodness that the Lord had done for David and for Salomon, and for Israel his people.

11 So Salomon finished the house of the Lord, and the kings house, and all that came into Salomons heart, to make in the house of the Lord: and he prospered in his house.

12 And the Lord appeared to Salomon by night, and said to him, I have heard thy prayer, and have chosen this place for my selfe, to be an house of sacrifice.

13 If I shut the heaven that there be no raine, or if I commaund the grasshopper to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people,

14 If my people among whom my Name is called upon, doe humble themselves and pray, and seeke my presence, and turne from their wicked waies, then will I heare in heaven, and be mercifull to their sinne, and will heale their land:

15 Then mine eyes shall be open, and mine eares attent unto the prayer made in this place.

16 For I have now chosen and sanctified this house, that my Name may be there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

17 And if thou wilt walke before me, as David thy father walked, to doe according unto all that I have commanded thee, and shalt observe my statutes, and my judgments,

18 Then will I stablish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I made the covenant with David thy father, saying, Thou shalt not want a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 But if ye turne away, and forsake my statutes and my commandments which I have set before you, and shall goe and serve other gods, and worship them, 20 Then will I plucke them by out of my land which I have given them, and this house which I have sanctified for my Name will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a proverbe and a common talke among all people.

21 And this house which is most hie, shall be an astonishment to every one that passeth by it, so that hee shall say, Why hath the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house?

22 And they shall answer, Because they forsooke the Lord God of their fathers, which brought them out of the land of Egypt, and have taken hold on other gods, and have worshipped them, and served them, therefore hath he brought all this evil upon them.

And after twenty yeere, when Salomon had built the house of the Lord, and his owne house,

2 Then Salomon built the cities that Huram gave to Salomon, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.

3 And Salomon went to Hamath Zobah, and overcame it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderness, and repaired all the cities of Asor which he built in Hamath.

5 And he built Beth-horon the upper, and Beth-horon the nether, cities defended with walles, gates and barres:

6 Also Baalath, and all the cities of Asor that Salomon had, and all the charret cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and every pleasant place that Salomon had a minde to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion,

7 And all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which were not of Israel,

8 But of their children which were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel had not consumed, even them did Salomon make tributaries untill this day.

9 But of the children of Israel did Salomon make no servants for his worke: for they were men of warre, and his chiefe princes, and the captaines of his charrets and of his horsemen.

10 So these were the chiefe of the officers which Salomon had, even two hundred and fiftie that bare rule over the people.

11 Then Salomon brought up the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of David, into the house that he had built for her: for he said, My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel: for it is holy, because that the Arke of the Lord came unto it.

CHAP. IX.

1. 9. The Queene of Sheba cometh to see Salomon, and bringeth gifts. 13 His yearly renewes. 30 The time of his reigne. 31 His death.

A^d when the Queene of Sheba heard of the fame of Salomon, she came to ^aprooue Salomon with hard questions at Jerusalem, with a very great traine, and camels that bare sweet odours, and much golde, and precious stones: and when she came to Salomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.2 And Salomon declared her all her questions, and there was ^b nothing hid from Salomon, which he declared not vnto her.

3 Then the Queene of Sheba sawe the wisdom of Salomon, and the house that he had built,

4 And the meat of his table, and the sitting of his seruants, and the order of his waiters, and their apparell, and his butlers, and their apparell, and his burnt offerings, which hee offered in the house of the Lord, and she was ^c greatly astonished.

5 And she said to the King, it was a true word which I heard in mine owne land of thy sayings, and of thy wisdom:

6 Howbeit I beleued not their report, vntill I came, and mine eyes had seene it: and behold, the one halfe of thy great wisdom was not told mee: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, and happie are these thy seruants which stand before thee alway and heare thy wisdom.

8 Blessed bee the Lord thy God, which loued thee, to set thee on his throne as King, in the stead of the Lord thy God: because thy God loueth Israel, to establish it for euer, therefore hath hee made thee King ouer them, to execute iudgement and iustice.

9 Then shee gaue the King sixscore talents of gold, and of sweet odours exceeding much, and pretious stones: neither was there such sweet odours since, as the Queene of Sheba gaue vnto king Salomon.

10 And the seruants also of Huram, and the seruantes of Salomon which brought gold from Ophir, brought ^d Algummin wood and precious stones.11 And the king made of the Algummin wood ^e staires in the house of the Lord, and in the Kings house, and harpes and viols for singers, and there was no such scene before in the land of Iudah.12 And King Salomon gaue to the Queene of Sheba, euery pleasant thing that shee asked, ^f besides for that which shee had brought vnto the king: so shee returned and went to her owne countrey, both she, and her seruants.

13 ¶ Also the weight of gold that came to Salomon in one yeere, was sixe hundred, threescore and sixe talents of gold,

14 Besides that which chapmen & merchants brought: and all the kings of Arabia, and the princes of the countrey brought gold and siluer to Salomon.

15 And king Salomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold, and ^g sixe hundred shekels of beaten golde went to one target.16 And three hundred shields of beaten gold: three hundred ^h shekels of gold went to one shield, and the King put them in the house of the wood of Lebanon.

17 And the king made a great throne of puoy, and overlaid it with pure gold.

18 And the throne had sixe steppes, with a footstool of gold: ⁱ fastened to the throne, and stales on either side on the place of the seate, and two Lions standing by the ^k stales.

19 And twelue Lyons stood there on the sixe steps on either side: there was not the like made in any kingdom.

20 And all King Salomons drinking vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the wood of Lebanon were of pure gold: for siluer was nothing esteemed in the dayes of Salomon.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the seruants of Huram, euery three yeere once came the ships of ^l Tarshish, and brought gold, and siluer, puoy, and apes, and peacocks.

22 So King Salomon excelled all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Salomon, to heare his wisdom: that God had put in his heart.

24 And they brought euery man his present, vessels of siluer, and vessels of gold, and raiment, armour, and sweete odours, horses, and mules from yeere to yeere.

hee had fled from the presence of Salomon the king) he returned out of Egypt.

3 And they sent and called him: so came Jeroboam and all Israel, and communed with Rehoboam, saying,

4 Thy father ^c made our yoke grieuous:
now therefore make thou the grieuous seruiput vpon vs, lighter, and we will serue thee.

5 And hee said to them, Depart yet thre people departed.

6 And king Rehoboam tooke counsell

What counsell giue ye that I may answer

7 And they spake vnto him, saying, If thou be kind to this people, and please them you with rodde, but I will correct you with scourges.

12 ^f Then Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam the third day, as the King had appointed, saying, Come againe to me the third day.

13 And the king answered them sharply:
and king Rehoboam left the counsell of the ancient men,

14 And spake to them after the counsel of the yong men, saying, My father made your yoke grieuous, but I will increase it: my father chastised you with rods, but I will correct you with scourges.

15 So the king hearkened not vnto the people: for it was the ordinance of God, that the Lord might performe his saying, which he had spoken ^g by Ahijah the Shilo-nite to Jeroboam the sonne of Nebat.

16 So when all Israel saw that the king would not heare them, the people answered the king, saying, ^h What porti-ⁱ n haue we in David? for wee haue no inheritance in the sonne of Ithai. O Israel, euery man to your tents: now see to thine owne house, David.
So all Israel departed to their tents.

17 Howbeit Jeroboam reigned ouer the children of Israel, that dwelt in the cities of Judah.

18 Then king Rehoboam sent Hadad that was Iouer the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died: then king Rehoboam ^j made speede to get him vp to his charret, to flee to Jerusalem.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of David vnto this day.

the inconstancie
of the people,

2 Therefore in the fift yere of king Re-

^o At the eighteenth yere of king Ieroboam,
I began Abitah to reigne ouer Iudah.

^p He reigned three yeres in Ierusalem: (his mothers name also was Michah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeon) and there was warre betwene Abitah and Ieroboam.

^q And Abitah set the battell in aray with the army of valiant men of warre, euen foure hundred thousand chosen men. Ieroboam also set the battell in aray against him with eight hundred thousand chosen men, which were strong and valiant.

^r And Abitah stood by vpon mount Ze-mraim, which is in mount Ephraim, & said,
O Ieroboam, and all Israel, heare you me.

^s Dought you not to know that the Lord
God of Israel hath giuen the kingdome ouer Israel to Dauid for euer, euen to him and to his sonnes by a couenant of salt?

^t And Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat the seruant of Salomon the sonne of Dauid is risen by, & hath rebelled against his lord:

^u And there are gathered to him vaine men and wicked, & made themselves strong against Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon: for Rehoboam was but a childe and tender hearted, and could not resist them.

^v Now therefore thinke ye that ye bee able to resist against the kingdome of the Lord which is in the hands of the sons of Dauid, and ye be a great multitude, and the golden calues are with you which Ieroboam made you for gods.

^w Vane ye not driuen away the Priests of the Lord the sonnes of Aaron and the Le-uites, and haue made you priests like the people of other countreys: whosoever commeth to consecrate with a young bullocke and seven rammes, the same may bee a priest of them that are no gods.

^x But we belong vnto the Lord our God, and haue not forsaken him, and the Priests
the sonnes of Aaron minister vnto the Lord, and the Leuites in their office.

^y And they burne vnto the Lord euery morning and euery euening burnt offerings and sweet incense, and the bread is set in order vpon the pure table, and the candlesticke of golde with the lampes thereof, to burne euery euening: for wee keepe the watch of the Lord our God: but ye haue forsaken him.

^z And behold, this God is with vs as a captaine, and his Priests with the sounding trumpets, to cry an alarme against you. O ye children of Israel, fight not against the Lord God of your fathers: for ye shall not prosper.

^{aa} But Ieroboam caused an ambusment to compass, and come behind them, when they were before Iudah, and the ambusment behind them.

^{ab} Then Iudah looked, and behold, the battel was before and behind them, and they cried vnto the Lord, and the Priests blew with the trumpets.

^{ac} And the men of Iudah gaue a shout:
and euen as the men of Iudah shouted, God smote Ieroboam and also Israel before Abitah and Iudah.

^{ad} And the children of Israel fled before Iudah, & God deliuered them into their hand.

^{ae} And Abitah & his people slew a great slaughter of them, so that there fell downe wounded of Israel foure hundred thousand chosen men.

^{af} So the children of Israel were brought vnder at that time: and the children of Judah preuailed, because they stayed vpon the Lord God of their fathers.

^{ag} And Abitah pursued after Ieroboam, and tooke cities from him, euen Bethel, and the villages thereof, and Teshanah with her villages, and Ephron with her villages.

^{ah} And Ieroboam recovered no strength again in the dayes of Abitah, but the Lord plagued him, and he dyed.

^{ai} So Abitah waxed mighty, and married foureteeen wiues, and begate two and twenty sonnes, and sixteeen daughters.

maners, and his sayings are writtten in the ing to the Law and the commandement.

of Iudah the hie places, & the images: therefore the kingdome was quiet before him.

^{as} Vee built also strong cities in Iudah, because the land was in rest, and hee had no warre in those yeres: for the Lord had gi-uen him rest.

^{at} Therefore hee said to Iudah, Let vs build these cities & make walles about, and towers, gates, and barres, whiles the land is before vs: because wee haue sought the Lord our God, we haue sought him, and he hath giuen vs rest on euery side: so they built bare shields & speares, three hundred thou-drew bowes, two hundred & fourscore thou-

^{av} And there came out against them

13 And Asa and the people that was with him, pursued them vnto Gerar. And the Ethiopians holste was ouerthrowen, so that there was no life in them: for they were destroyed before the Lord, and before his holste: and they caried away a mighty great spoyle.

¶ When the Spirit of God came vpon ^a Azariah the sonne of Obed.

2 And he went out to meet Asa, and said vnto him, O Asa, and all Judah, and Benjamin, heare ye mee. The Lord is with you, while ye be with him: and if ye forsake him, he will forsake you.

3 Now for a long season Israel hath bene without the true God, and without Priest to teach, and without Law.

4 But whosoever returned in his affliction to the Lord God of Israel, and sought him, he was found of them.

5 And in that time there was no peace to him that did goe out and goe in: but great troubles were to all the inhabitants of the earth.

6 For nation was destroyed of nation, and citie of citie: for God troubled them with all aduersitie.

7 Be ye strong therefore, and let not your hands be weak: for your worke shall haue a reward.

8 ¶ And when Asa heard these wordes, and the prophcie of Obed the Prophet, hee was encouraged, and tooke away all the abominations out of all the land of Judah, and Benjamin, and out of the cities which hee had taken of mount Ephraim, and he renued the altar of the Lord, that was before the porch of the Lord.

9 And he gathered all Judah & Benjamin, & the strangers wth them out of Ephraim, and Manasse, and out of Simeon: for there fell many to him out of Israel, when they saw that the Lord his God was wth him.

10 So they assembled to Ierusalem in the third moneth, in the fifteenth yeere of the reigne of Asa.

11 And they offered vnto the Lord the same time of the spoile, which they had brought, even seven hundred bullocks, and seven thousand sheepe.

12 And they made a couenant to seeke the Lord God of their fathers, with all their heart and with all their soule.

13 And whosoever will not seeke the Lord God of Israel, shall be slaine, whether he were small or great, man or woman.

14 And they sware vnto the Lord with a loude voyce, and with shouting and with trumpets, and with cornets.

¶ In the five and thirtie yeere of the reigne of Asa came ^a Baasha king of Israel vpon against Iudah, and built ^b Ramah to let none passe out or goe in to Asa king of Iudah.

2 Then Asa brought out siluer and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the kings house, and sent to Benhadad king of Aram that dwelt at Damascus, saying,

3 There is a couenant betwene me and thee, and betwene my father, and thy father: behold, I haue sent thee siluer and gold: come, breake thy league with Baasha king of Israel, that hee may depart from mee.

4 And Benhadad hearkened vnto king Asa, and sent the captaynes of the armies which hee had, against the cities of Israel. And they smote Iion, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the store cities of Naphtali.

5 And when Baasha heard it, hee left building of Ramah, and let his worke cease.

12 And Asa in the nine and thirtieth yeere of his reigne was diseased in his knees, and his disease was extreme: yet he sought not the Lord in his disease, but to the Physicians.

13 So Asa slept with his fathers, and dyed in the one and fourtieth yeere of his reigne.

14 And they buried him in one of his sepulchres, which he had made for himselfe in the cite of Dauid, and layd him in the bed, which they had filled with sweete odours and diuers kindes of spices made by the arte of the Apothecary: and they burnt odours for him with an exceeding great fire.

CHAP. XVII.

5 Iehoshaphat trusting in the Lord, prospereth in riches and honour. 6 Hee aboliseth idolatry, 7 and causeth the people to be taught. 11 Hee receiveth tribute of strangers. 13 His munition, and men of warre.

And Iehoshaphat his sonne reigned in his stead, and preuailed against Israel.

2 And hee put garisons in all the strong cities of Iudah, and set bands in the land of Iudah, and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.

3 And the Lord was with Iehoshaphat, because he walked in the first wayes of his father Dauid, and sought not Baalim.

4 But sought the Lord God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and not after the trade of Israel.

5 Therefore the Lord stablished the kingdom in his hand, and all Iudah brought presents to Iehoshaphat, so that hee had of riches and honour in abundance.

6 And hee lift up his heart vnto the wayes of the Lord, and hee tooke away moreouer the hie places and the groues out of Iudah.

7 And in the third yeere of his reigne he sent his princes, Ben-hail, and Obadiah, and Zechariah, and Bethaneel, and Michabab, that they should teach in the cities of Iudah,

8 And with them Leuites, Shemaiab, and Bethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Abiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehonathan, and Adonissah, and Tobiah, a Tob-adonissah, Leuites, and with them Elithama and Jehozam Priests.

9 And they taught in Iudah, and had the booke of the law of the Lord with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Iudah, and taught the people.

10 And the feare of the Lord fell vpon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Iudah, and they fought not against Iehoshaphat.

11 And some of the Philistines brought Iehoshaphat gifts, and tribute siluer, & the Arabians brought him flockes, seuen thousand and seuen hundred rammes, and seuen thousand and seuen hundred hee goates.

12 So Iehoshaphat prospered and grew vp on hie: and hee built in Iudah palaces and cities of store.

13 And he had great workes in the cities of Iudah, and men of warre, and ballant men in Jerusalem.

14 And these are the numbers of them after the house of their fathers. In Iudah were captaines of thousands, Adnah the captaine, and with him of ballant men thre hundred thousand.

15 And at his hand Iehohanan a captaine, and with him two hundred & fourescore thousand.

16 And at his hand Amaziah the sonne of Sichai, which willingly offered himselfe vnto the Lord, and with him two hundred thousand ballant men.

17 And of Benjamin, Elitah a ballant man, and with him armed men with bow and shield two hundred thousand.

18 And at his hand Iehozabab, and with him an hundred and fourescore thousand armed to the warre.

19 These waited on the King, besides those which the king put in the strong cities throughout all Iudah.

And Iehoshaphat had riches and honour in abundance, but hee was ioyned in affinitie with Ahab.

2 And after certaine yeeres hee went downe to Ahab to Samaria: & Ahab slew sheepe & oxen for him in great number, and for the people that he had with him, and entertained him to goe vnto Ramoth Gilead.

4 And Jehoshaphat sayd vnto the king of Israel, Aske counsell, I pray thee, at the word of the Lord this day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered of Prophets foure hundred men, and sayd vnto them, Shall we goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease? And they sayd, Goe by: for God shall deliuer it into the kings hand.

6 But Jehoshaphat said, Is there here newer a Prophet more of the Lord that wee might inquire of him?

7 And the king of Israel sayd vnto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whom wee may aske counsell of the Lord, but I hate him: for he doeth not prophesie good vnto me, but alway euill: it is Michaiab the sonne of Imia. Then Jehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called an Eu-nuch, and said, Call quickly Michaiab the sonne of Imia.

9 And the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat king of Iudah sate either of them on his throne clothed in their apparell: they sate euen in the threshing floore at the entring in of the gate of Samaria: and all the prophets prophesied before them.

10 And Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah made him hornes of yron, and sayd, Thus sayth the Lord, With these shalt thou push the Aramites, vntill thou hast consumed them.

11 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Goe by to Ramoth Gilead, and prosper: for the Lord shall deliuer it into the hand of the king.

12 And the messenger that went to call Michaiab, spake to him, saying, Behold, the wordes of the Prophets declare good to the king with one accord: let thy word therefore, I pray thee, bee like one of theirs, and speake thou good.

13 And Michaiab sayd, As the Lord li-ueth, whatsoeuer my God saith, that will I speake.

14 And so hee came to the King, and the King sayd vnto him, Michaiab, shall wee goe to Ramoth Gilead to battell, or shall I cease off? And he sayd, Goe yee by, and prosper, and they shall be deliuered into your hand.

15 And the king sayd to him, How oft shalt I charge thee, that thou tell me nothing but the truth in the Name of the Lord.

16 Then he sayd, I saw all Israel scattered in the mountaines, as sheepe that haue no shepheard: And the Lord sayd, These haue no master: let them returne euery man to his house in peace.

17 And the king of Israel sayd to Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee that he would not prophesie good vnto me, but euill?

18 Again he said, Therefore heare ye the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sit vpon his throne, and all the hoste of heauen standing at his right hand, and at his left.

19 And the Lord sayd, (Who shall per-swade Ahab king of Israel, that hee may goe by and fall at Ramoth Gilead? And one spake and sayd thus, and another sayd that.

20 Then there came forth a spirit, and stood before the Lord, and sayd, I will per-swade him. And the Lord said vnto him, Wherein?

21 And he sayd, I will goe out, and be a false spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.
And hee sayd, Thou shalt perswade, and shalt also preuaile: goe forth and doe so.

22 Now therefore behold, the Lord hath put a false spirit in the mouth of these thy prophets, and the Lord hath determined euill against thee.

23 Then Zidkiah the sonne of Chenaanah came neere, and smote Michaiab vpon the cheek, and sayd, By what way went the spirit of the Lord from mee, to speake with thee?

24 And Michaiab sayd, Behold, thou shalt see that day, when thou shalt goe from chamber to chamber to hide thee.

25 And the king of Israel sayd, Take ye Michaiab, and carry him to Amon the go-uernour of the citie, and to Joash the kings sonne,

26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this man in the prison house, and feede him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, vntill I returne in peace.

27 And Michaiab said, If thou returne in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by mee.
And hee said, Heare all ye people.

28 So the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat the king of Iudah went vp to Ramoth Gilead.

29 And the king of Israel sayd vnto Jehoshaphat, I will change my selfe, and enter into the battell: but put thou on thine apparell. So the king of Israel changed himselfe, and they went into the battell.

30 And the king of Aram had commanded the captaines of the charrets that were with him, saying, Fight you not with small nor great, but against the king of Israel onely.

31 And when the captaines of the charets saw Jehoshaphat, they sayd, It is the king of Israel: and they compassed about him to fight. But Jehoshaphat cryed, and the Lord helped him, and moued them to depart from him.

32 For when the captaines of the charrets saw that he was not the king of Israel, they turned backe from him.

33 Then a certaine man drew a bowe & mightily, and smote the king of Israel betwene the ioynts of his brigandine:
therefore he said to his charetman, Turne thine hand, and carry me out of the host: for I am hurt.

34 And the battell increased that day:
and the king of Israel stood still in his cha-ret against the Aramites vntill euen, and died at the time of the sunne going downe.

AND Iehoshaphat the King of Iudah re-

2 And Iehu the sonne of Hanani the Seer went out to meet him, and said to king Iehoshaphat, Wouldest thou helpe the wicked, and loue them that hate the Lord? therefore for this thing the wrath of the Lord is vpon thee.

3 Neuertheless, good things are found in thee, because thou hast taken away the grones out of the land, & hast prepared thine heart to seeke God.

4 So Iehoshaphat dwelt at Ierusalem, and returned and went thorow the people from Beer-sheba to mount Ephraim, and brought them again vnto the Lord God of their fathers.

5 And he set iudges in the land thorowout all the strong cities of Iudah, citie by citie,

6 And sayd to the Iudges, Take heede what ye do: for ye execute not the iudgments of man, but of the Lord, and he will be with you in the cause and iudgement.

7 Wherefore now let the feare of the Lord be vpon you: take heed, and do it: for there is no iniquitie with the Lord our God, neither respect of persons, nor receiuing of reward.

8 Moreover, in Ierusalem did Iehoshaphat set of the Leuites, and of the Priestes, and of the chiefe of the families of Israel, for the iudgement and cause of the Lord: and they returned to Ierusalem.

9 And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the feare of the Lord faithfully, and with a perfitt heart.

10 And in euery cause that shall come to you of your brethren that dwell in their cities, betweene blood and blood, betweene ye shall iudge them, and admonish them that they trespasse not against the Lord, that

 Lord shalbe with the good.

4 And Iudah gathered themselves togeeuen out of all the cities of Iudah to inquire of the Lord.

5 And Iehoshaphat stood in the congre-of the Lord before the new court,

6 And said, O Lord God of our fathers, art not thou God in heauen? & reignest not thou on all the kingdomes of the heauen?
 and in thine hand is power and might, and none is able to withstand thee.

7 Diddest not thou, our God, cast out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gavest it to the seed of Abra-

8 And they dwelt therein, and haue built thee a sanctuary therein for thy Name, saying,

9 If euill come vpon vs, as the sword of iudgement, or pestilence, or famine, wee will stand before this house, and in thy presence, (for thy Name is in this house) and will cry vnto thee in our tribulation, and thou wilt heare and helpe.

10 And now behold, the children of Am-thou wouldest not let Israel goe, when they came out of the land of Egypt: but they turnot:

11 Behold, I say, they reward vs, in com-which thou hast caused vs to inherite.

12 O our God, wilt thou not iudge them?
 for there is no strength in vs to stand before this great multitude that commeth against vs, neither doe wee know what to doe: but our eyes are toward thee.

s King. 23.43.

18 ¶ Then Iehoshaphat bowed downe with his face to the earth, and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell downe before the Lord, worshipping the Lord.

19 And the Leuites of the children of the Kohathites, and of the children of the Gersonites stood by to praise the Lord God of Israel with a loud voyce on high.

20 And when they arose early in the morning, they went forth to the wilderness of Tekoa: and as they departed, Iehoshaphat stood and said, Heare ye mee, O Iudah, and yee inhabitants of Ierusalem: put your trust in the Lord your God, and yee shall be assured: beleue his Prophets, and ye shall prosper.

21 And when he had consulted with the people, and appointed singers vnto the Lord, and them that should praise him that is in the beautifull Sanctuarie, in going forth before the men of armes, and saying, Praise ye the Lord, for his mercy lasteth for euer.

22 And when they began to shout and to praise, the Lord layed ambushments against the children of Ammon, Moab, and mount Seir, which were come against Iudah, and they slew one another.

23 For the children of Ammon, & Moab rose against the inhabitants of mount Seir, to slay and to destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, euerie one helped to destroy another.

24 And when Iudah came toward Mizpah in the wilderness, they looked vnto the multitude: and behold, the carkeises were fallen to the earth, and none escaped.

25 And when Iehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoile of them, they found among them in abundance both of substance and also of bodie laden with precious Iewels, which they tooke for themselves, till they could carie no more: they were three dayes in gathering of the spoile: for it was much.

26 And in the fourth day they assembled themselves in the valley of Berachah: for there they blessed the Lord: therefore they called the name of that place, The valley of Berachah vnto this day.

27 Then euerie man of Iudah and Ierusalem, returned with Iehoshaphat their head, to goe againe to Ierusalem with ioy: for the Lord had made them to reioyce ouer their enemies.

28 And they came to Ierusalem with viols, and with harpes, and with trumpets, euen vnto the house of the Lord.

29 And the feare of God was vpon all the kingdomes of the earth, when they had heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel.

30 So the kingdome of Iehoshaphat was quiet, and his God gaue him rest on euery side.

31 ¶ And Iehoshaphat reigned ouer Iudah, and was siue and thirtie yeere olde. when he began to reigne: and reigned siue and twenty yeere in Ierusalem, And his mothers name was Azubab the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the way of Asa his father, and departed not therefrom, doing that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

33 Howbeit the high places were not taken away: for the people had not yet prepared their hearts vnto the God of their fathers.

34 Concerning the rest of the acts of Iehoshaphat first and last, beholde, they are written in the Booke of Iehu the sonne of Hanani, which is mentioned in the booke of the kings of Israel.

35 ¶ Yet after this did Iehoshaphat king of Iudah ioyne himselfe with Ahaziah king of Israel, who was giuen to doe euill.

36 And he ioynd with him to make ships to goe to Tarshish: and they made the ships in Ezion Gaber.

37 Then Eliezer the son of Dodonah of Marehab prophesied against Iehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast ioynd thy selfe with Ahaziah, the Lord hath broken thy works: and the ships were broken, that they were not able to goe to Tarshish.

10 But Edom rebelled from under the hand of Iudah vnto this day. Then did Elifha rebell at the same time from under his hand, because hee had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers.

11 ¶ Moreover, he made his places in the mountaines of Iudah, and caused the inhabitants of Ierusalem to commit fornication, and compelled Iudah thereto.

12 And there came a writing to him from Elifha the Prophet, saying, Thus saith the Lord God of Dauid thy father, Because thou hast not walked in the wayes of Jehoshaphat thy father, nor in the wayes of Asa King of Iudah,

13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Iudah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem to goe a whoring, as the house of Ahab went a whoring, and hast also slaine thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better then thou,

14 Behold, with a great plague will the Lord smite thy people, and thy children, and thy wives, and all thy substance,

15 And thou shalt be in great diseases in the disease of thy bowels vntill thy bowels fall out for the disease, day by day.

16 ¶ So the Lord stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistims, and the Arabians that were belide the Ethiopians.

17 And they came up into Iudah, and brake into it, and caried away all the substance that was found in the Kings house, and his sonnes also, and his wives, so that there was not a sonne left him, saue Jehorah the yongest of his sonnes.

18 And after all this the Lord smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And in processe of time, euen after the end of two yeeres, his guts fell out with his disease: so hee died of sore diseases: and his people made no burning for him like the burning of his fathers.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ahaziah reigneth after Iehoram. 9 Iehu king of Israel killeth Ahaziah. 10 Athaliah putteth to death all the kinges lineage. 11 Iosb escapeth.

¶ And the inhabitants of Ierusalem made Ahaziah his yongest sonne king in his stead: for the armie that came with the Arabians to the campe, had slaine all the eldest: therefore Ahaziah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iudah reigned.

2 Two and fortie yeere olde was Ahaziah when he began to reigne, and hee reigned one yeere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Athaliah the daughter of Omri.

3 Hee walked also in the wayes of the house of Ahab: for his mother counselled him to doe wickedly.

4 Therefore hee did still in the sight of the Lord, like the house of Ahab: for they were his counsellors after the death of his father to his destruction.

5 And he walked after their counsel, and went with Jehoram the sonne of Ahab king of Israel to fight against Hazael king of Aram at Ramoth Gilead: and the Aramites smote Ioram.

6 ¶ And he returned to be healed in Izeel, because of the wounds wherewith they had wounded him at Ramah, when hee fought with Hazael king of Aram. Now Azariah the sonne of Jehoram king of Iudah went downe to see Jehoram the sonne of Ahab at Izeel, because he was diseased.

7 And the destruction of Ahaziah came of God in that he went to Ioram: for when he was come, he went forth with Jehoram against Iehu the sonne of Nimshi, whom the Lord had appointed to destroy the house of Ahab.

8 Therefore when Iehu executed iudgement vpon the house of Ahab, and found the princes of Iudah and the sonnes of the brethren of Ahaziah that waited on Ahaziah, he slew them also.

9 And hee sought Ahaziah, and they caught him where he was hid in Samaria, and brought him to Iehu, and slew him, and buried him, because, said they, hee is the sonne of Jehoshaphat, which sought the Lord with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah was not able to retaine the kingdom.

10 ¶ Therefore when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saws that her sonne was dead, she arose and destroyed all the kings seed of the house of Iudah.

11 But Jehoshabeath the daughter of the king, toke Iosb the sonne of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the Kings sonnes, that should bee slaine, and put him and his nurse in the bed chamber: so Jehoshabeath the daughter of king Jehoram the wife of Jehoiada the Priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah: so she slew him not.

12 And hee was with them hidde in the house of God six yeeres, whiles Athaliah reigned ouer the land.

2 And they went about in Iudah, and gathered the Leuites out of all the citie of Iudah and Benjamin, and the chiefe fathers of Israel: and they came to Ierusalem.

sonne must reigne, * as the Lord hath said of the sonnes of David.

4 This is it that ye shall doe, The third part of you that come on the Sabbath of the Priests and the Levites, shall bee porters of the doores.

5 And another third part toward the Kings house, and another third part at * the gate of the foundation, and all the people shalbe in the courts of the house of the Lord.

6 But let none come into the house of the Lord saue the Priests, and the Levites that minister: they shall goe in, for they are holy:
but all the people shall keepe the watch of the Lord.

7 And the Levites shall compasse the King round about, and euery man with his weapon in his hand, and he that entred into the house shall bee slaine, and be you with the King, when he commeth in, and when he

8 So the Levites and all Judah did according to all things that Jehoiada the Priest had commaunded, and tooke euery man his men that came on the Sabbath, with them that went out on the Sabbath:
for Jehoiada the Priest did not discharge the courtes.

9 And Jehoiada the Priest deliuered to the captaines of hundredes, speares, and shields, and bucklers which had bene King Dauids, and were in the house of God.

10 And hee caused all the people to stand (euery man with his weapon in his hand) from the right side of the house, to the left side of the house by the Altar & by the house round about the King.

11 Then they brought out the kings son, and put vpon him the crowne, and gaue him the Testimonie, and made him King. And Jehoiada and his sonnes anointed him, and said, God saue the King.

12 But when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, shee came to the people into the house of the Lord.

13 And when she looked, behold, the king stood by his pillar at the entring in, and the princes and the trumpets by the King, and all the people of the land reioyced, and blew the trumpets, and the singers were with instruments of musicke, and they that could sing praise: then Athaliah rent her clothes, and said, Treason, treason.

14 Then Jehoiada the Priest brought out the captaines of hundredes that were gouernours of the host, and said vnto them, Haue her forth of the ranges, and hee that followeth her, let him die by the sword: for the Priest had said, Slay her not in the house of the Lord.

15 So they laid hands on her: and when she was come to the entring of the houle gate by the Kings house, they slew her there.

16 And Jehoiada made a couenant betwene him, and all the people, and the King, that they would be the Lords people.

17 And all the people went to the house of Baal, and destroyed it, and brake his altars and his images, and stowe Martan

the priest of Baal before the altars.

18 And Jehoiada appointed officers for the house of the Lord, vnder the hands of the Priests, and Levites, whom David had distributed for the house of the Lord, to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord, * as it is written in the Lawe of Moses, with reioycing and singing by the appointment of David.

19 And he set porters by the gates of the house of the Lord, that none that was vncleane in any thing, should enter in.

20 And hee tooke the captaines of hundreds, and the noble men, and the gouer-nours of the people, and all the people of the land, and he caused the King to come downe out of the house of the Lord, and they went through the high gate of the Kings house, and set the king vpon the throne of the kingdome.

21 Then all the people of the land reioy-ced, and the citie was quiet, * after that they had slaine Athaliah with the sword.

3 And Jehoiada * tooke him two wiues, the Levites halted not.

thou not required of the Levites to bring in Moses the seruant of the Lord, and of the Congregation of Israel, for the Taberna-

7 For * wicked Athaliah, and her chil-

Iudah and Ierusalem, to bring vnto the Lord the care of Moses the seruant of God,

13 So the workemen wrought, and the worke amended through their hands: and they restored the house of God to his state, and strengthened it.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the silver before the king and Jehoiada, and he made thereof vessels for the house of the Lord, even vessels to minister, both morters and incense cups, and vessels of gold and of silver: and they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord continually all the dayes of Jehoiada.

16 And they buried him in the city of David with the kings, because he had done good in Israel, and toward God and his house.

17 And after the death of Jehoiada, came the princes of Judah, and did reuerence to the king, and the king hardened unto them.

18 And they left the house of the Lord God of their fathers, and serued groues and idoles: and wrath came vpon Judah and Ierusalem, because of this their trespass.

19 And God sent Prophets among them, to bring them again vnto the Lord: and they made protestation among them, but they would not heare.

20 And the Spirit of God came vpon Zechariah the sonne of Jehoiada the Priest, which stood above the people, and said vnto them, Thus saith God, Why transgresse yee the commandments of the Lord? surely yee shall not prosper: because yee haue forsaken the Lord, he also hath forsaken you.

21 Then they conspired against him, and stoned him with stones at the commandment of the king, in the court of the house of the Lord.

22 Thus Ioash the king remembered not the kinde which Jehoiada his father had done to him, but slew his sonne. And when he dyed, hee saide, The Lord looke vpon it, and require it.

23 And when the yeere was out, the host of Aram came vp against him, and they came against Judah and Ierusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people, and sent all the people of them vnto the king of Damascus.

24 Though the armie of Aram came with a small company of men, yet the Lord deliuered a very great army into their hand, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers, and they gaue sentence against Ioash.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases) his owne seruants conspired against him for the blood of the children of Jehoiada the Priest, and slew him on his bed, and he died, and they buried him in the citie of David: but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the kings.

26 And these are they that conspired against him, Zabad the sonne of Shumrath an Ammonitisse, and Jehozabad the sonne of Shimrith a Moabitisse.

27 But his sonnes, and the summe of the tale gathered by him, and the foundation of the house of God, behold, they are written in the story of the booke of the Kings. And Amaziah his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXV.

3 Amaziah putteth them to death which slew his father. 10 He sendeth backe them of Israel. 11 Hee ouercometh the Edomites. 14 He falleth to idolatry, 17 And Ioash king of Israel ouercometh Amaziah. 27 He was slaine by a conspiracie.

Amaziah was slaine and twenty yeere old, when he began to reigne, and hee reigned nine and twenty yeere in Ierusalem: and his mothers name was Jehoaddan, of Ierusalem.

2 And he did wisely in the eyes of the Lord, but not with a perfect heart.

3 And when the kingdome was established vnto him, he slew his seruants that had slaine the king his father.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the Law, and in the booke of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying, The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but every man shall die for his owne sinne.

5 And Amaziah assembled Judah, and made them captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreds, according to the houses of their fathers, thowout all Judah and Benjamin: and he numbred them from twenty yeere old and aboue, and found among them three hundred thousand chosen men to goe forth to the warre, and to handle speare and shield.

6 Hee hired also an hundred thousand valiant men out of Israel for an hundred talents of silver.

7 But a man of God came to him, saying, O king, let not the armie of Israel goe with thee: for the Lord is not with Israel, neither with all the house of Ephraim.

8 If not, goe thou on, doe it, make thy selfe strong to the battel, but God shall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath power to helpe, and to cast downe.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, What shall wee doe then for the hundred talents, which I haue giuen to the hoste

p That is, let vs trie the matter hand to hand: for he was offended that the armie of the Israelites, whom he had in wages, and dismissed by the counsell of the Prophet, had destroyed certaine of the cities of Iudah, 2. of Israel? Then the man of God answered, The Lord is able to giue thee more then this.

10 So Amaziah separated them, to wit, the armie that was come to him out of Ephraim, to returne to their place: wherefore their wrath was greatly kindled against Iudah, and they returned to their places with great anger.

11 Then Amaziah was encouraged, and led forth his people, and went to the salt valley, and smote of the children of Seir ten thousand.

12 And other ten thousand did the children of Iudah take aliue, and caried them to the top of a rocke, and cast them downe from the top of the rocke, and they all burst to peeces.

13 But the men of the armie, which Amaziah sent away, that they should not goe with his people to battel, fell vpon the cities of Iudah from Samaria vnto Beth-horon, and smote three thousand of them, and toke much spoyle.

14 Now after that Amaziah was come from the slaughter of the Edomites, hee brought the gods of the children of Seir, & set them vp to be his gods, and worshipped them, and burned incense vnto them.

15 Wherefore the Lord was wroth with Amaziah, and sent vnto him a Prophet, which saide vnto him, why hast thou sought the gods of the people, which were not able to deliuer their owne people out of thine hand?

16 And as he talked with him, he saide vnto him, Waite they made thee the kings counsellour: cease thou: why should they smite thee? And the Prophet ceased, but saide, I know that God hath determined to destroy thee, because thou hast done this, and hast not obeyed my counsel.

17 Then Amaziah king of Iudah took counsell, and sent to Ioash the sonne of Jehoahaz, the sonne of Jehu king of Israel, saying, Come, let vs see one another in the face.

18 But Ioash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Iudah, saying, The child that is in Lebanon, sent to the Cedar that is in Lebanon, saying, Giue thy daughter to my sonne to wife: and the wild beast that was in Lebanon, went and trode downe the child.

19 Thou thinkest: loe, thou hast smitten Edom, and thine heart lifteth thee vp to bragge: abide now at home: why doest thou prouoke to thine hurt, that thou shouldest fall, and Iudah with thee?

20 But Amaziah would not heare: for it was of God, that he might deliuer them into his hand, because they had sought the gods of Edom.

21 So Ioash the king of Israel, went by:

and he, & Amaziah king of Iudah saw one another in the face at Beth-herneth, which is in Iudah.

22 And Iudah was put to the worse before Israel, and they fled euery man to his tents.

23 But Ioash the king of Israel toke Amaziah king of Iudah, the sonne of Ioash, the sonne of Jehoahaz in Beth-herneth, and brought him to Jerusalem, and brake downe the wall of Jerusalem, from the gate of Ephraim vnto the corner gate, foure hundred cubites.

24 And he tooke all the gold and the silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of God with Obed Edom, and in the treasures of the Kings house, and the children that were in hostage, and returned to Samaria.

25 And Amaziah the sonne of Ioash king of Iudah liued after the death of Ioash sonne of Jehoahaz king of Israel, sixteene yeere.

26 Concerning the rest of the acts of Amaziah first and last, are they not written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel?

27 Now after the time that Amaziah did turne away from the Lord, they wrought treason against him in Jerusalem: & when he was fled to Lachish, they sent to Lachish after him, and slew him there.

28 And they brought him vpon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the cite of Iudah.

10 And hee built towers in the wilderness, and digged many cisternes: for he had much cattel both in the valleys and plaines, plowmen and dressers of vines in the mountaines, and in Carmel: for hee loved husbandry.

11 Uzziab had also an hoste of fighting men that went out to war by bands, according to the count of their number under the hand of Isebel the Scribe, and Baasiah the ruler, and under the hand of Pananiah, one of the Kings captaines.

12 The whole number of the chiefe of the families of the valiant men were two thousand and five hundred.

13 And under their hand was the armie for war, three hundred and seven thousand, and five hundred that fought valiantly to helpe the king against the enemy.

14 And Uzziab prepared them thorowout all the hoste, shields, and speares, and helmets, and brigandines, and bowes, and stones to sling.

15 He made also very artificiall engines in Jerusalem, to be vpon the towers and vpon the corners, to shote arrowes and great stones: and his name spread farre abroad, because God did helpe him maruclously, till he was mighty.

16 But when he was strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction: for hee transgressed against the Lord his God, and went into the Temple of the Lord to burne incense vpon the altar of incense.

17 And Azariah the Priest went in after him, and with him fourscore Priests of the Lord, valiant men.

18 And they withstood Uzziab the king, and said vnto him, * It pertaineth not to thee, Uzziab, to burne incense vnto the Lord, but to the Priests, the sonnes of Aaron, that are consecrated for to offer incense: go forth of the Sanctuary: for thou hast transgressed, and thou shalt haue none honour of the Lord God.

19 Then Uzziab was wroth, and had incense in his hand to burne it: and while he was wroth with the Priests, the leprosie rose vpon his forehead before the Priests in the house of the Lord beside the incense Altar.

20 And when Azariah the chiefe Priest with all the Priests looked vpon him, behold he was leprous in his forehead, and they caused him hastily to depart thence: and he was euen compelled to goe out, because the Lord had smitten him.

21 And Uzziab the king was a leper vnto the day of his death, and dwelt as a leper in an house apart, because he was cut off from the house of the Lord: and Iotham his sonne ruled ouer the kings house, and iudged the people of the land.

22 Concerning the rest of the acts of Uzziab, first and last, did Isebel the Prophet the sonne of Amoz write.

23 So Uzziab slept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the buriall, which pertained to the kings: for they sayd, He is a leper. And Iotham his sonne reigned in his stead.

2 And hee did uprightly in the sight of the Lord, according to all that his father Uzziab did, save that hee entred not into the Temple of the Lord, and the people did yet corrupt their wayes.

3 Hee built the high gate of the house of the Lord, and hee built very much on the wall of the castle.

4 Moreover, hee built cities in the mountaines of Iudah, and in the Forrests hee built palaces and towers.

5 And hee fought with the king of the children of Ammon, and preuailed against them. And the children of Ammon gaue him the same yere an hundred talents of silver, and ten thousand measures of wheate, and ten thousand of barley: this did the children of Ammon giue him both in the second yere and the third.

6 So Iotham became mighty, because hee directed his way before the Lord his God.

his, & many prisoners, and brought them to Damascus: and hee was also deliuered into the hand of the king of Israel, which smote him with a great slaughter.

6 For Pekah the son of Remaliah slew in Iudah sixscore thousand in one day, all & valiant men, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers.

7 And Zichri a mighty man of Ephraim slew Maaseiah the kings son, and Azrikam the gouernour of the house, and Elkanah the second after the king.

8 And the children of Israel tooke prisoners of their brethren, & two hundred thousand of women, sonnes, and daughters, and carried away much spoile of them, & brought the spoile to Samaria.

9 But there was a Prophet of the Lords, (whose name was Obed) and he went out before the hoste that came to Samaria, and says vnto them, Beholde, because the Lord God of your fathers is wroth with Iudah, he hath deliuered them into your hand, and yee haue slaine them in a rage, that reacheth vp to heauen.

10 And now yee purpose to keepe vnder the children of Iudah and Ierusalem as seruants, and handmaids vnto you: but are not you such, that sinnes are with you before the Lord your God?

11 Now therefore heare me, and deliuer the captiues againe, which yee haue taken prisoners of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is toward you.

12 Wherefore certaine of the chiefe of the children of Ephraim, Azariah the sonne of Iehohanan, Berechiah the sonne of Meshillemoth, and Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the sonne of Hadlat, stood vp against them, that came from the warre.

13 And sayd vnto them, Bring not in the captiues hither: for this shalbe a sinne vpon vs against the Lord: ye intend to adde moze to our sinnes and to our trespasses, though our trespasses be great and the fierce wrath of God is against Israel.

14 So the army left the captiues and the spoile before the princes and all the Congregation.

15 And the men that were named by name, rose vp and tooke the prisoners, and with the spoile clothed all that were naked among them, and arrayed them, and shodde them, and gaue them meate and gaue them drinke, and anoynted them, and carried all that were feeble of them vpon asses, and brought them to Iericho the citie of palme trees to their brethren: so they returned to Samaria.

16 At that time did king Ahaz send vnto the kings of Assyria to helpe him.

17 For the Edomites came mozeouer, and slew of Iudah, & carried away captiues.

18 The Philistines also invaded the cities in the low countrey, and toward the South of Iudah, and took Beth-hemech, and Aialon, and Gederoth, and Shobcho, with the villages thereof, and Timnah, with her villages, and Gimza with her villages: and they dwelt there.

19 For the Lord had humbled Iudah, because of Ahaz King of Israel: for hee had brought vengeance vpon Iudah, and had grievously transgressed against the Lord.

20 And Tilgath Pilneser king of Assyria came vnto him, who troubled him, and did not strengthen him.

21 For Ahaz & tooke a portion out of the house of the Lord, and out of the kings house and of the princes, and gaue vnto the king of Assyria: yet it helped him not.

22 And in the time of his tribulation did he yet trespass more against the Lord, (this is king Ahaz)

23 For he sacrificed vnto the gods of Damascus, which plagued him, and hee sayd, Because the gods of the kings of Aram helped them, I will sacrifice vnto them, & they will helpe me: yet they were his ruine, and of all Israel.

24 And Ahaz gathered the vessels of the house of God, and brake the vessels of the house of God, and shut vp the doores of the house of the Lord, and made him altars in euery corner of Ierusalem.

25 And in euery citie of Iudah hee made his places to burne incense vnto other gods, and prouoked to anger the Lord God of his fathers.

26 Concerning the rest of his actes, and all his wayes first and last, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Iudah and Israel.

27 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of Ierusalem, but brought him not vnto the sepulchres of the kings of Israel: and Hezekiah his sonne reigned in his stead.

15 And they gathered their brethren, and sanctified themselves, and came according to the commandment of the king, and by the words of the Lord, for to cleanse the house of the Lord.

16 And the Priests went into the inner parts of the house of the Lord, to cleanse it, and brought out all the uncleanness that they found in the Temple of the Lord, into the court of the house of the Lord: and the Leuites took it, to carrie it out vnto the brooke Kidron.

17 They began the first day of the first moneth to sanctifie it, and the eight day of the moneth came they to the porch of the Lord: so they sanctified the house of the Lord in eight daies, and in the sixteenth day of the first moneth they made an end.

18 ¶ Then they went in to Hezekiah the King, and sayd, Wee haue cleansed all the house of the Lord, and the altar of burnt offering, with all the vessels thereof, and the shewbread table, with all the vessels thereof:

19 And all the vessels which king Ahaz had cast aside when hee reigned, and transgressed, haue wee prepared and sanctified: and behold, they are before the Altar of the Lord.

20 ¶ And Hezekiah the king rose early and gathered the Princes of the citie, and went vp to the house of the Lord.

21 And they brought seven bullockes, and seven rammes, and seven lambes, and seven hee goats, for a sinne offering for the kingdome, and for the Sanctuary, and for Judah. And hee commanded the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord.

22 So they slew the bullockes, and the Priests receiued the blood, and sprinkled it vpon the altar: they slew also the rammes, and sprinkled the blood vpon the altar, and they slew the lambes, and they sprinkled the blood vpon the altar.

23 Then they brought the hee goats for the sinne offering before the King and the Congregation, and they layd their hands vpon them,

24 And the Priests slew them, and with the blood of them they cleansed the altar to reconcile all Israel: for the King had commanded for all Israel the burnt offering and the sinne offering.

25 Wee appointed also the Leuites in the house of the Lord with cymbales, with viols, and with harpes, according to the commandment of Dauid, and Gad the Kings Seer, and Nathan the Prophet: for the commandment was by the hand of the Lord, and by the hand of his Prophets.

26 And the Leuites stood with the instruments of Dauid, and the Priests with the trumpets.

27 And Hezekiah commanded to offer the burnt offering vpon the Altar: and when the burnt offering began, the long of the Lord beganne with the trumpets, and the instruments of Dauid King of Israel.

28 And all the Congregation worshipped, singing a song, and they blew the trumpets: all this continued vntill the burnt offering was finished.

29 And when they had made an ende of offering, the king and all that were present with him, bowed themselves and worshipped.

30 ¶ Then Hezekiah the King and the Princes commanded the Leuites to praye the Lord with the words of Dauid, and of Asaph the Seer: so they prayed with joy, and they bowed themselves and worshipped.

31 And Hezekiah spake, and sayd, Now ye haue consecrated your selues to the Lord: come nere and bring the sacrifices and offerings of praise into the house of the Lord. And the Congregation brought sacrifices, and offerings of prayles, and every man that was willing in heart, offered burnt offerings.

32 And the number of the burnt offerings, which the Congregation brought, was seuentie bullockes, an hundred rammes, and two hundred lambes: all these were for a burnt offering to the Lord:

33 And for sanctification seue hundred bullockes, and three thousand sheepe.

34 But the Priests were too fewe, and were not able to slay all the burnt offerings, therefore their brethren the Leuites did help them, till they had ended the worke, and vntill other Priests were sanctified: for the Leuites were more vpright in heart to sanctifie themselves, then the Priests.

25 And also the burnt offerings were many with the fat of the peace offerings, and the drinke offerings for the burnt offering: so the service of the house of the Lord was set in order.

And Hezekiah sent to all Israel, and Judah, and also wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, that they should come to the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, to keepe the Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel.

2 And the king and his princes, and all the Congregation had taken counsel in Jerusalem to keepe the Passouer in the second moneth.

3 For they could not keepe it at this time, because there were not Priestes enow sanctified, neither was the people gathered to Jerusalem.

4 And the thing pleased the King, and all the Congregation.

5 And they decreed to make proclamation thorowout all Israel from Beer-Sheba euen to Dan, that they should come to keepe the Passouer vnto the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem: for they had not done it of a great time, as it was written.

6 So the postes went with letters by the commission of the king and his princes, thorowout all Israel and Judah, and with the commandement of the king, saying, Pee children of Israel, turne againe vnto the Lord God of Abraham, Izhak, and Irael, and he will turne to the remnant that are escaped of you out of the hands of the kings of Asshur.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, & like your brethren, which trespassed against the Lord God of their fathers: and therefore he made them desolate as ye see.

8 Be not yee now stiffnecked like your fathers, but giue the hand to the Lord, and come into his Sanctuary, which hee hath sanctified for ever, and serue the Lord your God, and the fiercenesse of his wrath shall turne away from you.

9 For if yee returne vnto the Lord, your brethren and your children shall finde mercie before them that led them captiues, and they shall returne vnto this land: for the Lord your God is gracious & mercifull, and will not turne away his face from you, if yee conuert vnto him.

10 So the posts went from city to city thorow the land of Ephraim & Manasseh, euen vnto Zebulun: but they laughed them to scorn, and mocked them.

11 Reuertebesse, diuers of Asher, and Manasseh, and of Zebulun submitted themselves, and came to Jerusalem.

12 And the hand of God was in Judah, so that hee gaue them one heart to doe the commandement of the king, and of the rulers, according to the word of the Lord.

13 And there assembled to Jerusalem much people, to keepe the feast of the unleavened bread in the second moneth, a very great assembly.

14 And they arose, and tooke away the altars that were in Jerusalem: & all those for incense tooke they away, and cast them into the brooke Kidron.

15 Afterward they slewe the Passouer the foureteenth day of the second moneth: and the Priestes and Levites were ashammed, and sanctified themselves, and brought the burnt offerings into the House of the Lord.

16 And they stood in their place after their manner, according to the Law of Moses the man of God: and the Priests sprinkled the blood, received of the handes of the Levites.

17 Because there were many in the Congregation that were not sanctified, therefore the Levites had the charge of the killing of the Passouer for all that were not cleane, to sanctifie it to the Lord.

18 For a multitude of the people, euen a multitude of Ephraim, and Manasseh, Issachar and Zebulun had not cleansed themselves, yet did eat the Passouer, but not as it was written: wherfore Hezekiah praied for them, saying, The good Lord be mercifull toward him, 19 That prepareth his whole heart to seeke the Lord God, the God of his fathers, though hee bee not cleansed, according to the purification of the Sanctuary.

20 And the Lord heard Hezekiah, and healed the people.

21 And the children of Israel that were present at Jerusalem, kept the feast of the unleavened bread, seuen dayes with great ioy, and the Levites, and the Priestes praised the Lord day by day, singing with loude instruments vnto the Lord.

22 And Hezekiah spake comfortably vnto all the Levites that had good knowledge to sing vnto the Lord: and they did eat in that feast seuen dayes, and offered peace offerings, and praised the Lord God of their fathers.

23 And the whole assembly tooke counsel to keepe it other seuen dayes. So they kept it seuen dayes with ioy.

24 For Hezekiah king of Iudah had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullocks, and seuen thousand sheepe. And the princes had giuen to the Congregation a thousand bullocks, and ten thousand sheepe: and many Priests were sanctified.

25 And all the Congregation of Iudah reioyced with the Priestes and the Levites, and all the Congregation that came out of Israel, & the strangers that came out of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Judah.

26 So there was great ioy in Jerusalem: for since the time of Salomon the sonne of David king of Israel, there was not the like thing in Jerusalem.

27 Then the Priests and the Levites arose, and blessed the people, and their voice was heard, and their prayer came vp vnto heauen, to his holy habitation.

4 Hee commaunded also the people that dwelt in Ierusalem, to giue a part to the Priests, and Levites, that they might bee encouraged in the Law of the Lord.

5 And when the commandement was spread, the children of Israel brought abundance of first fruits of corne, wine, and oyle, and hony, and of all the increase of the field, and the tithes of all things brought they abundantly.

6 And the children of Israel and Iudah that dwelt in the cities of Iudah, they also brought the tithes of bullockes and sheepe, and the holy tithes which were consecrate vnto the Lord their God, and laid them on many heapes.

7 In the third moneth they began to lay the foundation of the heapes, and finished them in the seuenth moneth.

8 And when Hezekiah and the Priests came and saw the heapes, they blessed the Lord and his people Israel.

9 And Hezekiah questioned with the Priests and the Levites concerning the heapes.

10 And Azariah the chiefe Priest of the house of Zadok answered him, and sayd, Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the Lord, we haue eaten and haue bene satisfied, and there is left in abundance: for the Lord hath blessed his people, and this abundance that is left.

11 And Hezekiah commaunded to prepare chambers in the house of the Lord: and they prepared them,

12 And caried in the first fruites, and the tithes, and the dedicate things faithfully, and ouer them was Conaniah the Leuite, the chiefe, and Shimei his brother the second.

14 And Rose the sonne of Immah the Leuite, porter toward the East, was ouer the things that were willingly offered vnto God, to distribute the oblations of the Lord, and the holy things that were consecrate.

15 And at his hand were Eden, & Mithamin, and Ieshua, and Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shechaniah, in the cities of the Priests, to distribute with fidelitie to their brethren by courses both to the great and small,

16 Their dayly portion: beside their generation being males from thre yere old and aboue, euen to all that entered into the house of the Lord to their office in their charge, according to their courses:

17 Both to the generation of the Priests after the house of their fathers, and to the Levites, from twentie yere old and aboue, according to their charge in their courses:

18 And to the generation of all their children, their wiues, and their sonnes and their daughters throughout all the Congregation: for by their fidelitie are they partakers of the holy things.

19 Also to the sonnes of Aaron, the Priests, which were in the fields and suburbs of their cities, in euery cite the men that were appointed by names, should giue portions to all the males of the Priests, and to all the generation of the Levites.

20 And thus did Hezekiah thorowout all Iudah, and did well and vprightly, and truly before the Lord his God.

21 And in all the workes that hee began for the seruice of the house of God, both in the Law and in the Commandements, to seeke his God, hee did it with all his heart, and prospered.

6 And he set captaines of warre ouer the people, and assembled them to him in the broad place of the gate of the citie, and ‡ spake comfortably vnto them, saying,

8 With him is an ^d arme of flesh, but with vs is the ^e Lord our God for to helpe vs, and to fight our battels. Then the people were confirmed by the wordes of Hezekiah king of Iudah.

9 ^{*} After this did Saneherib king of Asshur send his seruants to Ierusalem (while he was ^f against Lachish, and all his dominion with him) vnto Hezekiah king of Iudah, and vnto all Iudah that were at Ierusalem, saying,

10 Thus sayth Saneherib the King of Asshur, Wherein doe ye truit, that ye will remaine in Ierusalem, during the siege?

11 Dost thou not Hezekiah entlice you to giue ouer your selues vnto death by famine and by thirst, saying, The Lord our God shall deliuer vs out of the hand of the king of Asshur?

12 Hath not the same Hezekiah taken away his high places & his ^g altars, and commanded Iudah and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall worship before one altar, and burne incense vpon it?

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers haue done vnto all the people of other countreyes? Were the gods of the nations of other lands able to deliuer their land out of mine hand?

14 Who is hee of all the ^h gods of those nations (that my fathers haue destroyed) that could deliuer his people out of mine hand, that your God should be able to deliuer you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceiue you, nor seduce you after this sort, neither beseeue ye him: for none of all the gods of any nation or kingdome was able to deliuer his people out of ⁱ mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much lesse shall your gods deliuer you out of mine hand?

16 And his seruants spake yet moze against the Lord God, and against his ^{*} seruant Hezekiah.

17 Hee wrote also letters, blaspheming the Lord God of Israel, and speaking against him, saying, As the gods of the nations of other countreyes could not deliuer their people out of mine hand, so shall not the God of Hezekiah deliuer his people out of mine hand.

18 Then they ^l cryed with a loude voyce in the Iewes speech vnto the people of Ierusalem that were on the wall, to feare them and to astonish them, that they might take the citie.

19 Thus they spake against the God of Ierusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, euen the ^m workes of mans hands.

20 But Hezekiah the king, and the Prophet Ishaiah the sonne of Amoz ⁿ prayed against this, and cryed to heauen.

21 And the Lord sent an Angel which destroyed all the valiant men, and the princes and ^o captaines of the hoste of the King of Asshur: so hee returned ^p with shame to his owne land. And when hee was come into the house of his god, they that came forth of his ^q owne bowels, slew him there with the sword.

22 So the Lord saued Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Ierusalem from the hand of Saneherib King of Asshur, and from the hand of all other, and ^r maintained them on euery side.

23 And many brought offerings vnto the Lord to Ierusalem, and presents to Hezekiah king of Iudah, so that he was ^s magnified in the sight of al nations from thenceforth.

24 ^{*} In those dayes Hezekiah was sicke vnto the death, and prayed vnto the Lord, who spake vnto him, and gaue him ^t a signe.

25 But Hezekiah did not render according to the reward bestowed vpon him: for his heart ^u was lift vp, and wrath came vpon him, and vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

26 Notwithstanding Hezekiah humbled himselfe (after that his heart was lifted vp) hee and the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and the wrath of the Lord came not vpon them in the dayes of Hezekiah.

27 Hezekiah also had exceeding much riches and honour, and hee gate him treasures of silver and golde, and of precious stones, and of sweete odours, and of shields, and of all pleasant vessels:

28 And of storehouses for the increase of wheate and wine, and oyle, and stables for all beasts, and ^v rowes for the ^w stables.

29 And he made him cities, and had possession of sheepe and oren in abundance: for God had giuen him substance exceeding much.

30 This same Hezekiah also stopped the vpper water springs of ^x Gibon, and ledde them straight vnderneath toward the citie of Dauid Westward. So Hezekiah prospered in all his workes.

31 But because of the ambassadours of the princes of Babel, which sent vnto him to enquire of the wonder that was done in the land, God left him to ^y try him, and to know all that was in his heart.

23 So Hezekiah slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the highest sepulchre of the sonnes of David: and all Iudah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did him honour at his death: and Manasseh his sonne reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 Manasseh an idolater. 9 He causeth Iudah to erre. 11 He is led away prisoner into Babylon. 12 He prayeth to the Lord and is deliuered. 14 Hee aboliseth idolatry. 16 and setteth up true religion. 20 Hee dieth, and Amon his sonne succeedeth. 24 whom his owne seruants slay.

Manasseh was twelue yeere old, * when he began to reigne, and he reigned nine and fifty yeere in Jerusalem:

2 And he did euill in the sight of the Lord, like the abominations of the heathen, * whom the Lord had cast out before the children of Israel.

3 For hee went backe and built the high places, * which Hezekiah his father had broken down: * and he set up altars for Baalim, and made groues, & worshipped all the hoste of the heauen, and serued them.

4 Also he built altars in the house of the Lord, whereof the Lord had said, * In Jerusalem shall my Name be for euer.

5 And he built altars for all the hoste of the heauen, in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6 * And he caused his sonnes to passe thorow the fire in the valley of Ben hinom: he gaue himselfe to witchcraft, and to charming, and to sozcery, and hee vsed them that had familiar spirits, and soothsayers: he did very much euill in the sight of the Lord to anger him.

7 He put also the carued image, which he had made, in the house of God, whereof God had said to David, & so Salomon his sonne, * In this house, and in Jerusalem which I haue chosen before all the tribes of Israel, will I put my Name for euer.

8 Neither will I * make the foote of Israel to remooue any more out of the land which I haue appointed for your fathers, so that they take heed, and doe all that I haue commaunded them, according to the Lawe and statutes, and iudgements by the hand of Moyses.

9 So Manasseh made Iudah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to erre, and to doe worse then the heathen, whom the Lord had destroyed before the children of Israel.

10 * And the Lord spake * to Manasseh and to his people, but they would not regard.

11 Therefore the Lord brought vpon them the captiues of the hoste of the king of Assur, which tooke Manasseh, and put him in fetters, and bound him in chaines, and caried him to Babel.

12 And when hee was in tribulation, hee prayed to the Lord his God, & humbled himselfe greatly before the God of his fathers:

13 And prayed vnto him: and God was * intreated of him, and heard his prayer, and brought him againe to Jerusalem into his kingdom: then Manasseh knew that the Lord was God.

14 Now after this, he built a wall without the citie of David, on the West side of * Oihon in the valley, euen at the entry of the fish gate, and compassed about * Ophel, and raised it very high, and put captiues of warre in all the strong citie of Iudah.

15 And hee tooke away the strange gods, and the image out of the house of the Lord, and all the altars that hee had built in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Jerusalem, and cast them out of the citie.

16 Also hee prepared the altar of the Lord, and sacrificed thereon peace offerings and of thankes, and commanded Iudah to serue the Lord God of Israel.

17 Neuerthelesse, the people did sacrifice still in the high places, but vnto the * Lord their God.

18 * Concerning the rest of the actes of Manasseh, & his * prayer vnto his God, and the words of the Seers, that spake to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel, behold, they are written in the booke of the kings of Israel.

19 And his prayer, and how God was intreated of him, and all his sinne, and his trespass, and the places wherein hee built his places, and set groues and images (before he was humbled) behold, they are written in the booke of the * Seers.

20 So Manasseh slept with his fathers, and they buried him in his owne * house, and Amon his sonne reigned in his stead.

21 * Amon was two and twentie yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned two yeere in Jerusalem.

22 But hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, as did Manasseh his father: for Amon sacrificed to all the images, which Manasseh his father had made, & serued them.

23 And hee humbled not himselfe before the Lord, as Manasseh his father had humbled himselfe: but this Amon trespassed more and more.

24 And his seruants * conspired against him, and slew him in his owne house.

25 But the people of the land slew all them that had conspired against king Amon: and the people of the land made Iosiah his sonne king in his stead.

(when he was yet a child) he beganne to seeke after the God of David his father, and in the twelfth yere he began to purge Iudah and Ierusalem from the high places and the groues, and the carued images and molten images,

4 And they brake downe in his sight the altars of Baalim, and he caused to cut downe the images that were on high upon them: he brake also the groues, and the carued images, and the molten images, and stampd them to powder, and drawed it upon the graves of them that had sacrificed unto them.

5 Also he burnt the bones of the priests upon their altars, and purged Iudah and Ierusalem.

6 And in the cities of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and Simeon, even unto Naphtali, with their maules they brake all round about.

7 And when he had destroyed the altars and the groues, and had broken and stampd to powder the images, and had cut down all the idoles throughout all the land of Israel, he returned to Ierusalem.

8 Then in the eighteenth yere of his reigne when he had purged the land and the Temple, he sent Shaphan the sonne of Azaliah, and Maasiah the Governour of the city, and Joah the sonne of Joabaz the Recorder, to repaire the house of the Lord his God.

9 And when they came to Hilkiah the high Priest, they deliuered the money that was brought into the house of God, which the Levites that kept the doore had gathered at the hand of Manasseh, and Ephraim, and all the residue of Israel, and of all Iudah and Benjamin, and of the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 And they put it in the hands of them that should doe the worke, and had the oversight in the house of the Lord: and they gaue it to the workmen that wrought in the house of the Lord, to repaire and amend the house.

11 Even to the workmen and to the builders gave they it, to buy hewed stone and timber for complexes and for beames of the houses, which the kings of Iudah had destroyed.

12 And the men did the worke faithfully, and the overseers of them were Jahath and Obadiah the Levites, of the children of Merari, and Sechariah, and Meshullam, of the children of the Kohathites to set it forward: and of the Levites, all that could skill of instruments of musike.

13 And they were over the bearers of burdens, & them that set forward all the workmen in euery worke: and of the Levites were scribes, and officers, and porters.

14 And when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the Priest found the booke of the Law of the Lord given by the hand of Moses.

15 Therefore Hilkiah answered, and said to Shaphan the chancellour, I haue found the booke of the Law in the house of the Lord: and Hilkiah gaue the booke to Shaphan.

16 And Shaphan carried the booke to the king, and brought the king word againe, saying, All that is committed to the hand of thy seruants, that doe they.

17 For they haue gathered the money that was found in the house of the Lord, & haue deliuered it into the hands of the overseers, and to the hands of the workmen.

18 Also Shaphan the chancellour declared to the king, saying, Hilkiah the Priest hath giuen me a booke: and Shaphan read it before the king.

19 And when the king had heard the words of the Law, he tare his clothes.

20 And the king commanded Hilkiah and Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Abdon the sonne of Micah, and Shaphan the chancellour, and Aiaiah the kings seruant, saying,

21 Go and enquire of the Lord for me, and for the rest in Israel and Iudah, concerning the words of this booke, that is found: for great is the wrath of the Lord that is fallen upon vs, because our fathers haue not kept the word of the Lord, to doe after all that is written in this booke.

22 Then Hilkiah and they that the king had appoynted, went to Huldah the Prophetesse the wife of Shallum, the son of Tokhath, the sonne of Hachabai keeper of the wardrobe (and she dwelt in Ierusalem within the college) and they communed herewith her.

23 And she answered them, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, Tell yee the man that sent you to me.

24 Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will bring euill upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the curses that are written in the booke which they haue read before the king of Iudah:

25 Because they haue forsaken mee, and burnt incense unto other gods, to anger mee with all the works of their hands, therefore shall my wrath fall upon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 But to the King of Iudah, who sent you to inquire of the Lord, so shall ye say vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord God of Israel, The words which thou hast heard, that come to passe.

27 But because thine heart did melt, and thou didst humble thy selfe before God, when thou heardest his words against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, & humbledst thy selfe before mee, and tarest thy clothes, and weptest before mee, I haue also heard it, saith the Lord.

28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be put in thy grave in peace, and thine eyes shall not see all the euill which I will bring upon this place, and upon the inhabitants of the same. Thus they brought the king word againe.

q This declareth what is the end of Gods threatenings, to call his to repentance, & to assure & vntrepentment of their destruction.

r To may appeare that very few were touched with true repentance, seeing that God spared them for a time, onely for the kings sake.

f Forasmuch as neither yong nor old could be exempted from the curses contained therein, if they did transgresse, he knew it appertained to all, & was his dutie to see it read to all sorts, that euery one might learne to auoide those punishments by seruing God aright. e Because he had charge ouer al, & must answere for euery one y perished, he thought it his dutie to see that all should make profession to receiue the word of God.

32 And hee caused all that were found in Jerusalem and Benjamin to stand to it: and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of God, euen the God of their fathers.

33 So Josiah tooke away all the abominations out of all the countreys that pertained to the children of Israel, and compelled all that were found in Israel, to serue the Lord their God: so all his dayes they turned not backe from the Lord God of their fathers.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Josiah keepeth the Passouer. 2 Hee setteth forth Gods seruice. 20 Hee fighteth against the king of Egypt, and dieth. 34 The people bewaile him.

Meouer Josiah kept a Passouer vnto the Lord in Jerusalem, and they slew the Passouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth.

2 And he appointed the Priests to their charges, and encouraged them to the seruice of the house of the Lord.

3 And hee sayd vnto the Leuites that he taught all Israel, and were sanctified vnto the Lord, But the holy Arke in the house which Salomon the sonne of David king of Israel did build: it shall be no more a burden vpon your shoulders: serue now the Lord your God and his people Israel.

4 And prepare your selues by the houses of your fathers according to your courses, as David the King of Israel hath written, and according to the writing of Solomon his sonne.

5 And stand in the Sanctuary according to the diuision of the families of your brethren // the children of the people, and after the diuision of the family of the Leuites:

6 So kil the Passouer, and sanctifie your selues, and prepare your brethren that they may doe according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.

7 Josiah also gaue to the people sheepe, lambs, and kids, all for the Passouer, euen to all that were present, to the number of thirtie thousand, and three thousand bullockes: these were of the kings substance.

8 And his Princes offered willingly vnto the people, to the Priests, and to the Leuites: Bilgiah, and Zebariah, and Iehiel, rulers of the house of God, gaue vnto the Priests for y Passouer, euen two thousand and five hundred sheepe, and three hundred bullockes.

9 Conaniah also and Shemajah and Meshanai his brethren, and Hashabiah and Joel, and Joabab, chiefe of the Leuites gaue vnto the Leuites for the Passouer, five thousand sheepe, and five hundred bullockes.

10 Thus the seruice was prepared, and the Priests stood in their places, also the Leuites in their orders, according to the Kings commandment:

11 And they slew the Passouer, and the Priests sprinkled the blood with their hands, and the Leuites slayed them.

12 And they tooke away from the burnt offering to giue it according to the diuisions of the families of the children of the people to offer vnto the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moses, and so of the bullockes.

13 And they roasted the Passouer with fire, according to the custome, but the sanctified things they sod in pots, pans, and caldrons, and distributed them quickly to all the people.

14 Afterward also they prepared for themselves and for the Priests: for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron were occupied in offering of burnt offerings, and the fatte vntill night: therefore the Leuites prepared for themselves, and for the Priests the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the singers the sonnes of Asaph stood in their standing according to the commandment of David and Asaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun the Kings Ser: and the porters at euery gate, who might not depart from their seruice: therefore their brethren the Leuites prepared for them.

16 So all the seruice of the Lord was prepared the same day to keepe the Passouer, and to offer burnt offerings vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of King Josiah.

17 And the children of Israel that were present, kept the Passouer the same time, and the feast of the vnleavened bread seuen dayes.

18 And there was no Passouer kept like that in Israel, from the dayes of Samuel the Prophet: neither did all the Kings of Israel keepe such a Passouer as Josiah kept, and the Priests and the Leuites, and all Judah and Israel that were present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

19 This Passouer was kept in the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Josiah.

20 After all this, when Josiah had prepared the Temple, Necho king of Egypt came vp to fight against Carchemish by Perath, and Josiah went out against him.

21 But hee sent messengers to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, thou king of Iudah? I come not against thee this day, but against the house of mine enemy, and God commanded mee to make haste: I leave off to come against God, which is with me, lest he destroy thee.

22 But Josiah would not turne his face from him, but changed his apparell to fight with him, and hearkened not to the words of Necho, which were of the mouth of God: but came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

24 So his seruants tooke him out of that charet, and put him in the second charet which hee had, and when they had brought him to Ierusalem, hee died, and was buried in the sepulchres of his fathers: and all Iudah and Ierusalem mourned for Iosiah.

Then the people of the land tooke Jehoahaz the sonne of Iosiah, and made him king in his fathers stead in Ierusalem.

2 Jehoahaz was three and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned three moneths in Ierusalem.

3 And the King of Egypt tooke him away at Ierusalem, and condemned the land in an hundred talents of siluer, and a talent of gold.

4 And the king of Egypt made Eltahim his brother King over Iudah and Ierusalem, and turned his name to Jehoachin: and Necho tooke Jehoahaz his brother, and caried him to Egypt.

5 Jehoachin was fine and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord his God.

6 Against him came vp Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel, and bound him with chaines to carie him to Babel.

7 Nebuchad-nezzar also caried of the vessels of the house of the Lord to Babel, and put them in his Temple at Babel.

8 Concerning the rest of the actes of Jehoachin, and his abominations which hee did, and that which was found vpon him, behold, they are written in the booke of the Kings of Israel and Iudah: and Jehoachin his sonne reigned in his stead.

9 Jehoachin was eight yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and hee reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and did euill in the sight of the Lord.

10 And when the yeere was out, King Nebuchad-nezzar sent and brought him to Babel, with the precious vessels of the house of the Lord, and he made Zedekiah his brother king over Iudah and Ierusalem.

11 Zedekiah was one and twentie yeere olde when hee began to reigne, and reigned eleuen yeere in Ierusalem.

12 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord his God, and humbled not himselfe before Ieremiah the Prophet at the commandment of the Lord.

13 But he rebelled moreover against Nebuchad-nezzar, which had caused him to sweare by God: and hee hardened his necke and made his heart obstinate that he might not returne to the Lord God of Israel.

14 All the chiefe of the Priests also, and of the people trespassed wonderfully, according to all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the Lord which he had sanctified in Ierusalem.

15 Therefore the Lord God of their fathers sent to them by his messengers, rising early and sending: for he had compassion on his people, and on his habitation.

16 But they mocked the messengers of God, and despised his words, and misused his Prophets, until the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and till there was no remedie.

17 For hee brought vpon them the King of the Chaldeans, who slew their young men with the sword in the house of their Sanctuary, and spared neither young man, nor virgin, ancient, nor aged: God gaue all into his hand.

18 And all the vessels of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king, and of his princes: all these caried hee to Babel.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake downe the wall of Ierusalem, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fire, and all the precious vessels thereof to destroy all.

20 And they that were left by the sword, caried he away to Babel, and they were seruants to him and to his sonnes, untill the kingdome of the Persians had rule.

22 But in the first yeere of Cyrus king of Persia (when the word of the Lord spoken by the mouth of Ieremiah, was finished) the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and hee made a Proclamation thow all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

23 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, All the kingdomes of the earth hath the Lord God of heauen giuen me, and he hath commanded mee to build him an house in Ierusalem, that is in Iudah. Who is among you of all his people, with whom the Lord his God is? let him goe by.

The prayer of Manasseh king of the Iewes.

This prayer is not in the Hebrew, but is translated out of the Greeke.

Lord Almighty, God of our fathers Abraham, Izhak, and Iaakob, and of their righteous seede, which hast made heauen and earth with all their ornament, which hast bound the sea by the word of thy commandement, which hast shut vp the deepe, and sealed it by thy terrible and glorious name, whom all doe feare, and tremble before thy power: for the maiestie of thy glory cannot be borne, and thine angrie threatening toward sinners is importable, but thy mercifull promise is unmeasurable and vnsearchable. For thou art the most high Lord, of great compassion, long suffering, and most mercifull, and repentest for mans miseries. Thou, O Lord, according to thy great goodnesse hast promised repentance and forgiveness to them that sinne against thee, and for thine infinite mercies hast appointed repentance vnto sinners, that they may be saued. Thou therefore, O Lord, that art the God of the iust, hast not appointed repentance to the iust, as to Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob, which haue not sinned against thee, but thou hast appointed repentance vnto mee, that am a sinner: for I haue sinned about the number of the sand of the sea. My transgressions, O Lord, are multiplied: my transgressions are exceeding many: and I am not worthy to behold and see the height of the heauens, for the multitude of mine vnrightheousnesse. I am bowed downe with many yron bands, that I cannot lift vp mine head, neither haue any release. For I haue prouoked thy wrath, and done euill before thee. I did not thy will, neither kept I thy commandements, I haue set vp abominations, and haue multiplied offences. Now therefore I bow the knee of mine heart, beseeching thee of grace. I haue sinned, O Lord, I haue sinned, and I acknowledge my transgressions: but I humbly beseech thee, forgive me, O Lord, forgive me, and destroy me not with my transgressions. Be not angry with mee for ever by reseruing euill for me, neither condemne me into the lower parts of the earth. For thou art the God, even the God of them that repent: and in me thou wilt shew all thy goodnesse: for thou wilt saue me that am unworthy, according thy great mercie: therefore I will praise thee for ever all the dayes of my life. For all the powers of the heauens praise thee, and thine is the glory for ever and ever. Amen.

^a Thou hast promised that repentance shalbe the way for them to returne to thee.
^b He speaketh this in comparison of himselfe, and these holy Fathers which haue their commendation in the Scriptures, so that in respect of himselfe he calleth their sinnes nothing, but attributeth vnto them righteousnesse.

Ezra.

THE ARGUMENT.

AS the Lord is euer mercifull vnto his Church, and doeth not punish them, but to the intent they should see their owne miseries, and be exercised vnder the crosse, that they might contemne the world, and aspire vnto the heauens: so after that he had visited the Iewes, & kept them now in bondage seuentie yeeres in a strange countrey, among infidels and idolaters, he remembered his tender mercies and their infirmities, and therefore for his owne sake raised them vp a Deliuerer, and moued both the heart of the chiefe ruler to pitie them, and also by him punish such, which had kept them in seruitude. Notwithstanding lest they should grow into a contempt of Gods great benefite, he keepeth them still in exercise, and raiseth domesticall enemies, which endeavour as much as they can to hinder their most worthy enterprises: yet by the exhortation of the Prophets thy went forward by little and little till their worke was finished. The author of this booke was Ezra, who was Priest and Scribe of the Law, as Chap. 7. 6. Hee returned to Ierusalem the sixt yeere of Darius, who succeeded Cyrus, that is, about fiftie yeeres after the returns of the first vnder Zerubbabel, when the Temple was built. Hee brought with him a great company, and much treasures, with letters to the kings officers for all such things as should be necessary for the Temple: and at his coming hee redressed that which was amisse, and set the things in good order.

IN the first yeere of Cyrus king of Persia (that the word of the Lord, spoken by the mouth of Ieremiah, might bee accomplished) the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia, and he made a proclamation thow all his kingdome, and also by writing, saying,

² Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The Lord God of heauen hath giuen me all

And when the seventh moneth was come, and the children of Israel were in their cities, the people assembled themelues as one man vnto Jerusalem.

2 Then stood by Ieshua the sonne of Jozadak, and his brethren the Priests, and Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and his brethren, and builded the Altar of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is written in the Law of Moles, the man of God.

3 And they set the Altar vpon his bases (for feare was among them, because of the people of those countreys) therefore they offered burnt offerings thereon vnto the Lord, euen burnt offerings in the morning, and at euen.

4 They kept also the feast of the Tabernacles, as it is written, & the burnt offering daily, by number according to the custome day by day.

5 And afterward the continuall burnt offering, both in the new moneths and in all the feast daies that were consecrate vnto the Lord, and in all the oblations willingly offered vnto the Lord.

6 From the first day of the seventh moneth began they to offer burnt offerings vnto the Lord: but the foundation of the Temple of the Lord was not layd.

7 They gaue money also vnto the masons, and to the workemen, and meate and drinke and oyle vnto them of Zidon and of Tyrys, to bring them Cedar wood from Lebanon to the sea vnto Iapho, according to the grant that they had of Tyrys king of Persia.

8 And in the second yeere of their coming vnto the house of God in Jerusalem in the second moneth, began Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Ieshua the sonne of Jozadak, and the remnant of their brethren the Priests and the Leuites, and all they that were come out of the captiuitie vnto Jerusalem, and appointed the Leuites from twentie yeere old and aboue, to set forward the worke of the house of the Lord.

9 And Ieshua stood with his sonnes, and his brethren, and Kadmiel with his sonnes, and the sonnes of Judah together to set forward the workemen in the house of God, and the sonnes of Benadad with their sonnes, and their brethren the Leuites.

10 And when the builders layd the foundation of the Temple of the Lord, they appointed the Priests in their apparell with Trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Alaph with Cymbals, to praise the Lord, after the ordinance of Dauid King of Israel.

11 Thus they sang when they gaue praise, and when they gaue thanks vnto the Lord, For he is good, for his mercie endureth for euer toward Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, when they praised the Lord, because the foundation of the house of the Lord was layd.

^B At the aduersaries of Iudah and Benjamin heard, that the children of the captivity builded the Temple vnto the Lord God of Israel.

² And they came to Zerubbabel, and to the chiefe fathers, and said vnto them, We will build with you: for we seeke the Lord your God, as ye doe, and we haue sacrificed vnto him, since the time of Elar Haddon king of Assur, which brought vs vp hither.

³ Then Zerubbabel, and Ieshua, and the rest of the chiefe fathers of Israel, said vnto them, It is not for you, but for vs to build the house vnto our God: for wee our selues together will build it vnto the Lord God of Israel, as King Cyrus the King of Persia hath commanded vs.

⁴ Therefore the people of the land & discouraged the people of Iudah, and troubled them in building.

⁵ And they hired counsellors against them, to hinder their deuite; all the dayes of Cyrins king of Persia, even vntill the reigne of Darius king of Persia.

⁶ And in the reigne of Abasueros (in the beginning of his reigne) wrote they an accusation against the inhabitants of Iudah and Ierusalem.

⁷ And in the dayes of Artahasthe, Withredath, Tabeel, and the rest of their companions wrote when it was peace, vnto Artahasthe King of Persia, & the writing of the letter was the Aramites writing, and the thing declared was in the language of the Aramites.

⁸ Rehun the Chancellor, and Shimsai the Scribe wrote a letter against Ierusalem to Artahasthe the king in this sort.

¹⁸ The letter which yee sent vnto vs, hath bene openly read before me,

¹⁹ And I haue commanded and they haue searched, and found, that this citie of olde time hath made insurrection against kings, and hath rebelled, and rebellion hath bene committed therein.

²¹ Make ye now a decree, that those men may cease, and that the citie be not built till I haue giuen another commandement.

²² Take heede now that yee faile not to doe this: why should damage grow to hurt the king?

²⁴ Then ceased the worke of the house of God which was in Ierusalem, and did stay vnto the second yee of Darius king of Persia.

arose, and began to build the house of God at Jerusalem, and with them were the Prophets of God, which helped them.

3 At the same time came to them Tatnai, which was captaine beyond the river, and Shether-boznai and their companions, and said thus vnto them, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundations of these wals?

4 Then said wee vnto them after this manner, What are the names of the men that build this building?

5 But the eye of their God was vpon the Elders of the Jewes, that they could not cause them to cease, till the matter came to Darius: and then they answered by letters therunto.

6 The copie of the letter, that Tatnai captaine beyond the River, and Shether-boznai and his companions, Apharhache, (which were beyond the River) sent vnto king Darius.

7 They sent a letter vnto him, wherein it was written thus, VNTO DARIUS the king, all peace.

8 Be it knowen vnto the king, that wee went into the prouince of Judea, to the house of the great God, which is builded with great stones, and beames are layde in the walles, and this worke is wrought speedily, and prospereth in their hands.

9 Then asked we those Elders, and said vnto them thus, Who hath giuen you commandement to build this house, and to lay the foundation of these wals?

10 We asked their names also, that we might certifie thee, and that we might write the names of the men that were their rulers.

11 But they answered vs thus, and said, Wee are the seruants of the God of heauen and earth, and builde the house that was build of olde and many yeeres agoe, which a great king of Israel builded, and founded it.

12 But after that our fathers had prouoked the God of heauen vnto wrath,* he gaue them ouer into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel the Caldean, and he destroyed this house, and caried the people away captiue vnto Babel.

13 But in the first yeere of Cyrus king of Babel, king Cyrus made a decree to build this house of God.

14 And the vessels of gold and siluer of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke out of the Temple that was in Jerusalem, and brought them into the temple of Babel, those did Cyrus the king take out of the temple of Babel, and they gaue them vnto one Sheshbazzar by his name, whom hee had made captaine.

15 And he said vnto him, Take these vessels and goe thy way, and put them in the Temple that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be built in his place.

16 Then came the same Sheshbazzar, and laid the foundation of the house of God, which is in Jerusalem, and since that time euen vntill now, hath it bene in building, yet is it not finished.

17 Now therefore if it please the king, let there bee search made in the house of the kings treasures, which is there in Babel, whether a decree hath bene made by king Cyrus, to build this house of God in Jerusalem, and let the king send his minde concerning this.

CHAP. VI.

At the commandement of Darius King of Persia, after the Temple was builded and dedicate, the children of Israel keepe the feast of Vnleavened bread.

Then king Darius gaue commandement, and they made search in the library of the treasures, which were there layd vp in Babel.

2 And there was found in a cofler (in the palace that was in the prouince of the Medes) a volume, and therein was it thus written as a memorie.

3 IN THE FIRST yeere of king Cyrus, king Cyrus made a decree for the house of God in Jerusalem, Let the house be built, euen the place where they offered sacrifices, and let the walles thereof bee ioyned together: let the height thereof be threescore cubites, and the breadth thereof threescore cubites.

4 Thre orders of great stones, and one order of timber, and let the expences be giuen of the kings house.

5 And also let them render the vessels of the house of God, (of gold and siluer, which Nebuchadnezzar tooke out of the Temple which was in Jerusalem, and brought vnto Babel) and let him goe into the Temple that is in Jerusalem to his place, and put them in the house of God.

6 Therefore Tatnai captaine beyond the river, and Shether-boznai, (and their companions Apharhache, which are beyond the river) be ye farre from thence.

7 Suffer yee the worke of this house of God, that the captaine of the Jewes, and the Elders of the Jewes may builde this house of God in his place.

8 For I haue giuen a commandement what yee shall doe to the Elders of these Jewes for the building of this house of God, that of the reuenues of the king, which is of the tribute beyond the river, there be continually expences giuen vnto these men that they cease not.

9 And that which they shall haue neede of, let it bee giuen vnto them day by day, whether it bee yong bullockes, or raimmes, or lambes for the burnt offerings of the God of heauen, wheate, salt, wine and oyle, according to the appointment of the Priestes that are in Jerusalem, that there bee no fault.

10 That they may haue to offer sweet odours vnto the God of heauen, and pray for the Kings life, and for his sonnes.

8 And he came to Jerusalem in the fifth moneth, which was in the seventh yeere of the King.

9 For vpon the first day of the first moneth began he to goe vp from Babel, and on the first day of the fifth moneth, came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God, that was vpon him.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart to seeke the Law of the Lord, and to doe it, and to teach the precepts and iudgements in Israel.

13 I haue giuen commaundement, that euery one that is willing in my kingdom of the people of Israel and of the Priests, and Leuites to goe to Jerusalem with thee, shall goe.

14 Therefore art thou sent of the King and his leuen counsellers, to enquire in Iudah and Jerusalem, according to the Law of thy God, which is in thine hand,

15 And to cary the siluer and the gold, which the King and his counsellers willingly offer vnto the God of Israel (whose habitation is in Jerusalem)

16 And all the siluer and gold that thou canst finde in all the prouince of Babel, with the free offering of the people, and that which the Priests offer willingly to the house of their God which is in Jerusalem,

17 That thou mayest buy speedily with this siluer, bullocks, rammes, lambes, with their meate offerings, and their drinke offerings, and thou shalt offer them vpon the altar of the house of your God, which is in Jerusalem.

18 And whatsoever it please thee and thy brethren to doe with the rest of the siluer and gold, doe yee it according to the will of your God.

19 And the vessels that are giuen thee for the seruice of the house of thy God, those deliver thou before God in Jerusalem.

20 And the residue that shall be needfull for the house of thy God, which shall be meet for thee to bestow, thou shalt bestow it out of the Kings treasure house.

14 And of the sonnes of Bignai, Uchai, and Zabbud, and with them seuentie males.

15 And I gathered them to the River that goeth toward Ahava, and there abode wee three dayes: then I viewed the people, and the Priests, and found there none of the sonnes of Leui.

16 Therefore sent I to Eliezer, to Artel, to Shemeiah, and to Elmathan, and to Iarib, and to Elmathan, and to Nathan, and to Zechariah, and to Meshullam the chiefe, and to Jocharib, and to Elmathan, men of vnderstanding, 18 So by the good hand of our God, which was vpon vs, they brought vs a man of vnderstanding of the sonnes of Mahali the sonne of Leui the sonne of Israel, and Sherebiah with his sonnes and his brethren, euen eightene.

20 And of the Reuerendes, whom Dauid had set, and the Princes for the seruice of the Leuites, two hundred and twentie of the Reuerendes, which all were named by name.

21 And there at the River, by Ahava, I proclaimed a fast, that wee might humble our selues before our God, and seeke of him a right way for vs, and for our children, and for all our substance.

22 For I was ashamed to require of the king an armie and horsemen, to helpe vs against the enemy in the way, because we had spoken to the king, saying, The hand of our God is vpon all them that seeke him in godnesse, but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.

23 So we fasted, and besought our God for this: and he was intreated of vs.

CHAP. IX.

1 Ezra complaineth on the people that had turned themselves from God, and married with the Gentiles. 5 He prayeth vnto God.

W^Hen* as these things were done, the rulers came to mee, saying. The people of Israel, and the Priests and the Le-uites are not separated from the people of the lands (as touching their abominations) to wit, of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the A-mozites.

2 For they haue taken their daughters to themselves, and to their sonnes, and they haue mixed the holy seed with the people of the lands; and the hand of the princes and rulers haue bene chiefe in this trespass.

3 But when I heard this saying, I rent my clothes and my garment, and pluckt off the haire of mine head, and of my beard, and fate downe astonished.

4 And there assembled vnto mee all that feared the wordes of the God of Israel, because of the transgression of them of the cap-tiuitie. And I fate downe astonished vntil the evening sacrifice.

5 And at the evening sacrifice I rose vp from mine heavinesse, and when I had rent my clothes and my garment, I fell vpon my knees, and spread out mine handes vnto the Lord my God.

6 And said, O my God, I am confounded and ashamed to lift vp mine eyes vnto thee, my God: for our iniquities are increased ouer our head, and our trespasses is growen vp vnto the heauen.

7 From the dayes of our fathers haue we bene in a great trespass vnto this day, and for our iniquities haue wee, our kings, and our priests bene deliuered into the hand of the kings of the lands, vnto the sword, into captiuitie, into a spoile, and into confusion of face, as appeareth this day.

8 And now for a little space, grace hath bene shewed from the Lord our God, in causing a remnant to escape, and in giuing vs a balle in his holy place, that our God may light our eyes, and giue vs a little reuiuing in our seruitude.

9 For though we were bondmen, yet our God hath not forsaken vs in our bondage;
but hath inclined mercy vnto vs in the sight of the Kings of Persia, to giue vs life, and to erect the house of our God, and to redresse the desolate places thereof, and to giue vs a wall in Iudah and in Jerusalem.

10 And now, our God, what shall we say after this? for we haue forsaken thy Com-mandements,

11 Which thou hast commanded by thy seruants the Prophets, saying, * The land wherunto ye go to possesse it, is an uncleane land, because of the filthinesse of the people of the lands, which by their abominations, and by their uncleannesse haue filled it from corner to corner.

12 Now therefore shall ye not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor seeke their peace nor wealth for ever, that ye may bee strong and eate the goodnesse of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your sonnes for ever.

13 And after all that is come vpon vs for our euill deeds, and for our great trespasses, (seeing that thou our God hast stated vs from being beneath: for our iniquities, and hast giuen vs such deliuerance)

14 Should we returne to breake thy com-mandements, and ioyne in affinitie with the people of such abominations? wouldst not thou be angry toward vs till thou hadst consumed vs, so that there should be no remnant nor any escaping?

5 Then arose Ezra, and caused the chiefe Priests, the Leuites, and all Israel to swear, that they would doe according to this word. So they swore.

6 And Ezra rose vp from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Iohanan the sonne of Eliashib: hee went euen thither, but hee did eate neither bread, nor drinke water: for hee mourned because of the transgression of them of the captivity.

12 And all the Congregation answered, and said with a loud voyce, So will we doe according to thy words vnto vs.

13 But the people are many, and it is a rairie weather, and we are not able to stand without, neither is it the worke of one day or two: for we are many that haue offended in this thing.

14 Let our rulers stand therefore before all the Congregation, and let all them which haue taken strange wiues in our cities, come at the time appointed, and with them the Elders of euery citie, and the Iudges thereof, till the fierce wrath of our God for this matter turne away from vs.

15 Then were appointed Jonathan the sonne of Abiath, and Tabaijah the sonne of Elnah over this matter; and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Leuites helped them.

THE ARGUMENT.

God doeth in all ages and at all times set vp worthy persons for the commoditie and profit of his Church, as now within the compasse of seuentie yeeres he raised vp diuers excellent men for the preseruacion of his people, after their returne from Babylon: as Zerubbabel, Ezra, and Nehemiah. Whereof the first was their capitaine to bring them home, and provided that the Temple was builded: the second reformed their manners, and planted religion: and the third builded vp the walls, deliuered the people from oppression, and provided that the Law of God was put in execution among them. He was a godly man and in great authoritie with the King, so that the King fauoured him greatly, and gaue him most ample letters for the accomplishment of all things which he could desire. This booke is also called of the Latines the second of Ezra, because he was the writer thereof.

CHAP. I.

4 Nehemiah bewaileth the calamitie of Ierusalem. 5 Hee confesseth the sinnes of the people, and prayeth God for them.

He wordes of Nehemiah, the sonne of Machabai. In the moneth Chislen, in the twentieth yeere, as I was in the palace of Shushan,

2 Came Hanani one of my brethren, hee and the men of Iudah: and I asked them concerning the Iewes that were deliuered, which were of the residue of the captiuitie, and concerning Ierusalem.

3 And they said vnto mee, The residue that are left of the captiuitie there in the prouince, are in great affliction and in reproch, and the wall of Ierusalem is broken downe, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I heard these wordes, I sate downe and wept, and mourned certaine dayes, and I fasted and prayed before the God of heauen,

5 And said, O Lord God of heauen, the great and terrible God, that keepeth councell and mercy for them that loue him, and obserue his Commandements,

6 I pray thee, let thine eares be attent, and thine eyes open, to heare the prayer of thy seruant, which I pray before thee dayly, day and night for the children of Israel thy seruants, and confesse the sinnes of the children of Israel, which we haue sinned against thee, both I and my fathers house haue sinned:

7 Wee haue grievously sinned against thee, & haue not kept the commandements, nor the statutes, nor the iudgements which thou commandedst thy seruant Moyses,

8 I beseech thee remember the word that thou commandedst thy seruant Moyses, saying, We will transgresse, and I will scatter you abroad among the people.

9 But if ye turne vnto me, and keepe my commandements, and doe them, though your scattering were to the uttermost part of the heauen, yet will I gather you from thence, and will bring you vnto the place that I haue chosen to place my Name there.

10 Now these are thy seruants and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy mighty hand.

11 O Lord, I beseech thee, let thine eares now hearken to the prayer of thy seruant, and to the prayer of thy seruants who desire to feare thy Name, and I pray thee, cause thy seruant to prosper this day, and giue him fauour in the presence of this man: for I was the kings butler.

CHAP. II.
 1 After Nehemiah had obtained letters of Artaxerxes, 11 Hee came to Ierusalem, 17 And builded the walles.

Now in the moneth Nisan, in the twentieth yeere of King Artahastate, the wine stood before him, and I tooke vp the wine, and gaue it vnto the King. Now I was not before him sad in his presence.

2 And the king said vnto me, Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou art not sicke: this is nothing but sorrow of heart. Then was I sore afraid.

3 And I said to the King, God saue the King for euer: why should not my countenance be sad, when the city and house of the sepulchres of my fathers lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are deuoured with fire?

4 And the king said vnto mee, For what thing dost thou require? Then I prayed to the God of heauen,

5 And said vnto the King, If it please the king, and if thy seruant haue found fauour in thy sight, I desire that thou wouldest send me to Iudah vnto the citie of the sepulchres of my fathers, that I may build it.

6 And the king said vnto me, (the Queene also sitting by him) How long shall thy iourney bee? and when wilt thou come againe? So it pleased the king, and he sent mee, and I set him a time.

7 After, I said vnto the king, If it please the king, let them giue me letters to the capitaines beyond the River, that they may conuey me ouer, till I come into Iudah,

9 ¶ Then came I to the capitaines beyond the river, and gaue them the kings letters. And the King had sent capitaines of the army and horsemen with me.

10 But Sanballat the Hozonite, and Tobiah a seruant an Ammonite heard it, and it grieved the soe, that there was come a man which sought the wealth of the children of Israel.

11 So I came to Jerusalem, and was there three dayes.

12 And I arose in the night, I, and a few men with mee: for I tolde no man what God had put in my heart to doe at Jerusalem, and there was not a beast with me, save the beast whereon I rode.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and came befoze the Dragon well, and to the dung port, and viewed the walles of Jerusalem, how they were broken downe, and the ports thereof deuoured with the fire.

14 Then I went forth vnto the gate of the fountain, vnto the kings fishpoole, and there was no roume for the beast that was vnder me, to passe.

15 Then went I vp in the night by the broke, and viewed the wall, and turned backe, and coming backe, I entered by the gate of the valley and returned.

16 And the rulers knew not whether I was gone, nor what I did, neither did I as yet tel it vnto the Iewes, nor to the Priests, nor to the noble men, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that laboured in the worke.

17 Afterward I said vnto them, See see the misery that we are in, how Jerusalem lyeth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come and let vs build the wall of Jerusalem, that we be no more a reproch.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God (which was good ouer mee) and also of the Kings wordes, that he had spoken vnto mee. And they sayde, Let vs rise, and build. So they strengthened their hand to god.

19 But when Sanballat the Hozonite, and Tobiah the seruant an Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian heard it, they mocked vs, and despised vs, and saide, What a thing is this that ye doe? Will ye rebell against the King?

20 Then answered I them, and sayde to them, The God of heauen, he will prosper vs, and wee his seruants will rise vp and build: but as for you, ye haue no portion nor right, nor memoriall in Jerusalem.

The number of them that builded the walles.

Then arose Elashib the high Priest with his brethren the Priests, and they built the shepegate: they repayzed it, and set vpon the doores thereof: euen vnto the towze of Sheah repaired they it, and vnto the towze of Wananeel.

2 And next vnto him builded the men of Jericho, and beside him Zaccur the sonne of Imri.

3 But the fishpoole did the sonnes of Se-naah build, which also layde the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, the locks thereof, and the barres thereof.

4 And next vnto them fortified Meremoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Hakkoz: and next vnto them fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Meshazabel: and next vnto them fortified Zadok, the sonne of Baana:

5 And next vnto them fortified the Tekoites: but the great men of them put not their neckes to the worke of their lordes.

6 And the gate of the olde fishpoole fortified Jehoiadab the sonne of Paseah, and Meshullam the sonne of Besodaiab: they laide the beames thereof, and set on the doores thereof, and the locks thereof, and the barres thereof.

7 Next vnto them also fortified Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Jadon the Meronothite, men of Gibeon, and of Mishpah, vnto the throne of the Duke, which was beyond the River.

8 Next vnto him fortified Uzziel the sonne of Haroshiah of the goldsmithes: next vnto him also fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Harakkham, and they repaired Jerusalem vnto the broad wall.

9 Also next vnto them fortified Rephaiah, the sonne of Hur, the ruler of the halfe part of Jerusalem.

10 And next vnto him fortified Jedajah the sonne of Harumaph, euen ouer against his house: and next vnto him fortified Jathuth, the sonne of Hashabniah.

11 Malchiah the sonne of Harim, and Hashub the sonne of Pahath Moab, fortified the second portion, and the towze of the fornares.

12 Next vnto him also fortified Shallum the sonne of Hallaish, the ruler of the halfe part of Jerusalem, he, and his daughters.

13 The valley gate fortified Hanan, and the inhabitants of Januah: they buile it, and set on the doores thereof, the locks thereof, and the barres thereof, euen a thousand cubites on the wall vnto the dung port.

14 But the dung port fortified Malchiah, the sonne of Rechab, the ruler of the fourth part of Beth-haccarem: hee built it, and set on the doores thereof, the locks thereof, and the barres thereof.

15 But the gate of the fountain fortified Shallum, the sonne of Col-hozeb, the ruler of the fourth part of Mishpah: he builded it, and couered it, and set on the doores thereof, the locks thereof, and the barres thereof, and the wall vnto the fishpoole of Shelah by the kings garden, and vnto the steps that goe downe from the citie of David.

18 After him fortified their brethren: Banai the sonne of Benadad the ruler of the halfe part of Keilah:

19 And next unto him fortified Ezer, the sonne of Jeshua the ruler of Mizpah, the other portion over against the going up to the ^d corner of the armour.

20 After him was earnest Baruch the sonne of Zaccbai, and fortified another portion from the corner unto the doore of the house of Eliahib the high Priest.

21 After him fortified Merimoth, the sonne of Uriah, the sonne of Wakkoz, another portion from the doore of the house of Eliahib, even as long as the house of Eliahib extended.

22 After him also fortified the Priests, the men of ^e the plaine.

23 After them fortified Benjamin, and Balthub over against their house: after him fortified Azariah the sonne of Maaseiah, the sonne of Ananiah, by his house.

27 After him fortified the Tekoites another portion over against the great tower, that lieth out, even unto the wall of the fortress.

29 After them fortified Zadok the sonne of Immer over against his house: and after him fortified Shematah, the sonne of Shechaniah the keeper of the East gate.

30 After him fortified Hananiah, the sonne of Shelemiah, and Hamun, the sonne of Salaph, the ^g first, another portion: after him fortified Meshullam, the sonne of Berechiah over against his chamber.

31 After him fortified Malchiah the goldsmiths sonne, untill the house of the Perchimims, and of the merchants over against the gate ^h Meshphad, and to the chamber in the corner.

32 And betwene the chamber of the corner unto the shepegate, fortified the goldsmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. IIII.

7 The building of Jerusalem is hindered. 15 But God breaketh their enterprise. 17 The Jews build with one hand, and hold their weapons in the other.

At when Sanballat heard that we builded the wall, then was he wroth and sore grieved, and mocked the Jewes,

2 And said before his brethren and the armie of Samaria, thus he said, What doe these ^a weake Jewes? will they fortifie themselves? will they sacrifice? will they finish it in a day? will they make the stones whole againe out of the heapes of dust, seeing they are burnt?

3 And Tobiah the Ammonite was beside him, and said, Although they build, yet if a force goe up, he shall even breake downe their stone wall.

4 Weare, O our God, (for we are despised) and turne their shame upon their owne head, and gine them unto a pray ^b in the land of their captivitie,

5 And cover not their iniquitie, neither let their sinne be put out in thy presence: for they have provoked vs before the builders.

6 So we built the wall, and all the wall was toynd unto the ^c halfe thereof, and the heart of the people was to worke.

7 ¶ But when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodims heard that the walles of Jerusalem were repaired, (for the breathes began to be stopped) then they were very wroth,

8 And conspired all together to come and to fight against Jerusalem, and to hinder them.

9 Then we prayed unto our God, and set watchmen by them day & night, because of them.

10 And Judah said, The strength of the bearers is weakened, and there is much earth, so that wee are not able to build the wall.

11 Also our aduersaries had said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come into the middes of them, and slay them, and cause the worke to cease.

12 But when the Jewes (which dwell beside them) came, they told vs ten times, from all places whence ye shall returne, they will be upon vs.

13 Therefore let I in the lower places behind the wall upon the tops of the stones, and placed the people by their families with their swords, their speares and their bowes.

14 Then I beheld, and rose up, and said unto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, Be not afraid of them: remember the great Lord and fearefull, and fight for your brethren, your sonnes, and your daughters, your wives, and your houses.

15 And when our enemies heard that it was knowne unto vs, then God brought their counsell to nought, and we turned all againe to the wall, every one unto his worke.

16 And from that day, halfe of the yong men did the labour, and the other halfe part of them held the speares, and shields, and bowes, and habergins: and the rulers stood behind all the house of Judah.

17 They that builded on the wall, & they that that bare burdens, and they that laded, did the worke with one hand, and with the other held the sword.

18 For every one of the builders had his sword girt on his loynes, and so builded: and he that blew the trumpet was beside me.

19 Then sayd I vnto the Princes, and to the rulers, and to the rest of the people, The worke is great and large, and we are separated vpon the wall, one farre from another.

20 In what place therefore yee heare the sound of the trumpet, resort ye thither vnto vs: our God shall fight for vs.

21 So we laboured in the worke, and halfe of them held the speares from the appearing of the morning, till the starres came forth.

22 And at the same time sayd I vnto the people, Let every one with his seruant lodge within Jerusalem, that they may be a watch for vs in the night, and labour in the day.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my seruants, nor the men of y ward, (which folloved mee) none of vs did put off our clothes, saue euery one put them off for washing.

CHAP. V.

1 The people are oppressed and in necessitie. 6 Nehemiah remedieeth it. 14 He tooke not the portion of others that had ruled before, lest hee should grieve the people.

Now there was a great crye of the people and of their wiues against their brethren the Iewes.

2 For there were that said, Wee our sons and our daughters are many, therefore we take by coine, that wee may eate and liue.

3 And there were that sayd, Wee must gage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houses, and take by coine for the famine.

4 There were also that sayd, Wee haue borrowed money for the kings tribute vpon our lands and our vineyards.

5 And now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren, and our sonnes as their sonnes and loe, we bring into subiection our sonnes, and our daughters, as seruants, and there be of our daughters now in subiection, and there is no power in our hands: for other men haue our lands and our vineyards.

6 Then was I very angry when I heard their cry and these words.

7 And I thought in my minde, and I rebuked the Princes, and the rulers, and sayd vnto them, Poulay burdens euery one vpon his brethren: and I set a great assembly against them.

8 And I sayd vnto them, Wee (according to our ability) haue redeemed our brethren the Iewes, which were solde vnto the heathen: and will you sell your brethren againe, or shall they be solde vnto vs? Then held they their peace, and could not answer.

9 I sayd also, That which yee doe, is not good. Dought ye not to walke in the feare of our God, for the reproch of the heathen our enemies?

10 For euen I, my brethren, and my seruants doe lend them money and coine: I pray you, let vs leaue off this burden.

11 Restore, I pray you, vnto them this day their landes, their vineyardes, their olives and their houses, and remit the hundredth part of the siluer and of the coine, of the wine, and of the oyle that yee exact of them.

12 Then said they, We wil restore it, and will noe require it of them: wee will doe as thou hast sayd. Then I called the Iudices, and caused them to sweare that they should doe according to this promise.

13 So I shooke my lap, and said, So let God shake out euery man that will not performe this promise, from his house, and from his labour: euen thus let him be shaken out and emptied. And all the congregation said, Amen, and praised the Lord: and the people did according to this promise.

14 And from the time that the king gaue mee charge to be gouernour in the land of Iudah from the twentieth yeere, euen vnto the two and thirtieth yeere of king Artahastate, that is, twelue yeere, I, and my brethren haue not eaten the bread of the gouernour.

15 For the former gouernours that were before mee, had berne chargeable vnto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, beside fourtie shekels of siluer: yea, and their seruants bare rule over the people, but so did not I, because of the feare of God.

16 But rather I fortified a portion in the worke of this wall, and wee bought no land, and all my seruants came thither together vnto the worke.

17 Moreover, there were at my table an hundred and fiftie of the Iewes, and rulers which came vnto vs from among the heathen that are about vs.

18 And there was prepared dayly an ore and sixe cholen sheepe, and birds were prepared for me, and within ten dayes wine for all in abundance. Yet for all this I required not the bread of the gouernour: for the bondage was grieuous vnto this people.

19 Remember mee, O my God, in goodnesse, according vnto all that I haue done for this people.

8. Nehemiah answereth with great wisdom and zeale to his aduersarie. 18 Hee is not discouraged by the false prophets.

And when Sanballat and Tolsiah, and Geshem the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there were no more breaches therein (though at that time I had not set vp the doores vpon the gates.)

g Very griefe caused him to pray against such which vnder the pretence of being the ministers of God, were aduersaries to his glory, and went about to overthrow his Church, declaring also hereby, that where there is one true minister of God, the deuill hath a great sort of hirelings.

2 Therfore I sent messengers vnto them, saying, I haue a great worke to doe, and I cannot come downe: why should the worke cease, whiles I leaue it, and come downe to you?

4 Yet they sent vnto mee foure times after this sort. And I answered them after the same maner.

5 Then sent Sanballat his seruant after this sort vnto me the fift time, with an open letter in his hand,

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen, and || Sathmu hath laid it, that thou and the Jewes thinke to rebell, for the which cause thou buildest the wall, and thou wilt be their king according to these words.

7 Thou hast also ordeined the Prophets to preach of thee at Ierusalem, saying, There is a King in Iudah: and now according to these words it shall come to the Kings eares: come now therefore, and let vs take counsell together.

8 Then I sent vnto him, saying, It is not done according to these words that thou sayest: for thou falsest them of thine owne heart.

9 For all they afrayed vs, saying, Their hands shall be weakened from the worke, and it shall not be done: now therefore encourage thou me.

10 And I came to the house of Shematah, the sonne of Delatah the sonne of Shebtabeel, and hee was shut vp, and hee sayd, Let vs come together into the House of God in the middes of the Temple, and shut the doores of the Temple: for they will come to slay thee: yea in the night will they come to kill thee.

11 Then I said, Should such a man as I, flee? Who is hee, being as I am, that would goe into the Temple to kine? I will not goe in.

12 And loe, I perceiued, that God had not sent him, but that hee pronounced this prophete against me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

13 Therfore was he hired, that I might be afrayd, and doe thus, and sinne, and that they might haue an euill report that they might reproch me.

14 My God, remember thou Tobiah and Sanballat according vnto these their works, and Moadiah the Prophete also, and the rest of the prophets that would haue put me in feare.

15 Notwithstanding the wall was finished on the sixe and twentieth day of the lxxij. in two and fifty dayes.

16 And when all our enemies heard thereof, euen all the heathen that were about vs, they were afrayd, and their courage failed them: for they knew that this worke was wrought by our God.

17 And in these dayes were there many of the Princes of Iudah, whose letters went vnto Tobiah, and thole of Tobiah came vnto them.

18 For there were many in Iudah, that were sworne vnto him: for hee was the sonne in law of Shechaniah, the sonne of Arah: and his sonne Jehonathan had the daughter of Meshullam the sonne of Berechiah.

19 Yea, they spake in his praise before me, and tolde him my wordes, and Tobiah sent letters to put mee in feare.

CHAP. VII.

1 After the wall once builded, is the watch appointed. 6 They that remained from the captiuitie are numbred.

Now when the wall was builded, and I had set up the doores, and the porters and the singers and the Levites were appointed,

2 Then I commaunded my brother Hanani and Hananiah the prince of the palace in Ierusalem (for he was double like a faithful man, and feared God aboue many.)

3 And I sayd vnto them, Let not the gates of Ierusalem be opened, vntill the heate of the sunne: and while they stand by, let them shut the doores, and make them fast: and I appointed wards of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, euery one in his ward, and euery one ouer against his house.

4 Now the city was large and great, but the people were few therein, and the houses were not builded.

5 And my God put into mine heart, and I gathered the princes, and the rulers, and the people to count their genealogies: and I found a booke of the genealogie of them, which came vp at the first, and found written thereen,

CHAP. VIII.

2 Ezra gathereth together the people, and readeth to them the Law. 12 They reioyce in Israel for the knowledge of the word of God. 15 They keepe the feast of tabernacles or boothes.

And all the people assembled themselves together in the street that was before the water gate, & they spake unto Ezra the Scribe, that he would bring the booke of the Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel.

*Ebr. as one man.

a Read Ezra 7.6.

2 And Ezra the Priest brought the Law before the Congregation both of men and women, and of all that could heare and vnderstand it, in the first day of the seventh moneth.

b Which had age and discretion to vnderstand.

c This declareth the great zeale that the people had to heare the word of God.

3 And he read therein in the street that was before the watergate (from the morning until the midday) before men and women, and them that vnderstood it, and the eares of all the people hearkened vnto the booke of the Law.

4 And Ezra the Scribe stood vpon a pulpit of wood, which hee had made for the preaching, and beside him stood Mattithiah, and Shema, and Ananiah, and Uriah, and Yilkiah, and Maaseiah on his right hand, and on his left hand Bedajah, and Bithael, and Malchiah, and Hashum, and Vashbana, Zechariah, and Meshullam.

5 And Ezra opened the booke before all the people: for hee was above all the people: and when hee opened it, all the people stood vp.

d To the intent that his voyce might be the better heard.

6 And Ezra praised the Lord the great God, and all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting vp their hands: and they bowed themselves, and worshipped the Lord with their faces toward the ground.

7 Also Ieshua, and Bani, and Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodiah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiab, and the Levites caused the people to vnderstand the Law, and the people stood in their place.

e In considering their offences against the Law. Therefore the Levites doe not reprove them for mourning, but assure them of Gods mercies, forasmuch as they are repentant.

f That is, remember the poore.

g Reioyce in the Lord, and hee will giue you strength.

8 And they read in the booke of the Law of God distinctly, and gaue the sense, and caused them to vnderstand the reading.

9 Then Nehemiah (which is Tirshatha) and Ezra the Priest and Scribe, and the Levites that instructed the people, said vnto all the people, This day is holy vnto the Lord your God: moune not, neither weepe: for all the people wept when they heard the words of the Law.

10 Hee said also vnto them, Goe, and eate of the fat, and drinke the sweete, and send part vnto them, for whom none is prepared: for this day is holy vnto our Lord: be ye not forie therfore: for the day of the Lord is your strength.

11 And the Levites made silence throughout all the people, saying, Hold your peace: you strength, for the day is holy, be not sad therfore.

12 Then all the people went to eat and to drinke, and to send away part, and to make great joy, because they had vnderstood the words that they had taught them.

13 And on the second day, the chiefe fathers of all the people, the Priests and the Levites were gathered vnto Ezra the Scribe, that he also might instruct them in the words of the Law.

14 And they found written in the Lawe (that the Lord had commanded by Moses) that the children of Israel should dwell in boothes in the feast of the seventh moneth, Leuit. 23. 34.

15 And that they should cause it to be declared and proclaimed in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying, Goe forth vnto the mount, and bring olive branches, and pine branches, and branches of Myrtus, and palme branches, and branches of thick trees to make boothes, as it is written.

|| Or, goodly branches, as Leuit. 23. 40.

16 So the people went forth and brought them, and made them boothes, every one vpon the roofof his house, & in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the street by the water gate, and in the street of the gate of Ephraim.

h For their houses were made flat aboue, read Deut. 22. 8.

17 And all the congregation of them that were come againe out of the captiuitie, made boothes, and late vnder the boothes: for since the time of Ieshua the sonne of Nun vnto this day, had not the children of Israel done so, and there was very great joy.

i Which was almost a thousand yeeres.

18 And hee read in the booke of the Law of God euery day, from the first day vnto the last day. And they kept the feast seven dayes, and on the eighth day a solemne assembly, according vnto the maner.

CHAP. IX.

1 The people repent, & forsake their strange wines. 5 The Levites exhort them to praise God, 6 Declaring his wonders, 26 And their ingratitude, 30 And Gods great mercies toward them.

In the foure and twentieth day of this moneth, the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, and with sackcloth, and earth vpon them.

a Meaning, the seventh. 1. Esdr. 9. 4.

2 (And they that were of the seed of Israel were separated from all the strangers) and they stood and confessed their sinnes and the iniquities of their fathers.

* Ebr. strange children.

3 And they stood vp in their place and read in the booke of the law of the Lord their God foure times on the day, and they confessed and worshipped the Lord their God foure times.

b They made confession of their sinnes and vsed prayers.

4 Then stood vp vpon the staires of the Levites Ieshua, and Bani, Radmiah, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani, and cryed with a loud voyce vnto the Lord their God.

5 And the Levites said, euen Ieshua and Radmiah, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodiah, Shebaniah and Bethabiah, Stand vp, and praise the Lord your God, for for euer and euer, and let them praise thy glorious Name, O God, which excelleth above all thanksgiuing and praise.

6 Thou art Lord alone: thou hast made heaven, and the heaven of all heavens, with all their hoste, the earth, and all things that are therein, the seas, and all that are in them, and thou preferrest them all, and the hoste of the heauen worshippeth thee.

7 Thou art, O Lord, the God that hast chosen Abram, and broughtest him out of * Ur in Caldea, * and madest his name Abraham,

8 And foundest his heart faithfull before thee, * and madest a couenant with him, to giue vnto his seede the land of the Canaanites, Hittites, Amorites, and Perizzites, and Jebusites, and Girgashites, and hast performed the words, because thou art iust.

9 * Thou hast also considered the affliction of our fathers in Egypt, and heard their crie by the red sea,

10 And shewest tokens and wonders vpon Pharaoh, and on all his seruants, and on all the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against them: therefore thou madest thee a name, as appeareth this day.

11 * For thou didst breake vp the Sea before them, and they went thorow the middes of the sea on dry land, and those that pursued them, hast thou cast into the bottomes as a stone in the mighty waters:

12 And * ledest them in the day with a pillar of a cloud, and in the night with a pillar of fire, to giue them light in the way that they went.

13 * Thou camest down also vpon mount Sinai, and spakest vnto them from heauen, and gauest them right iudgements and true lawes, ordinances, and good commaundements.

14 And declaredst vnto them thine holy Sabbath, and commaundest them precepts, and ordinances, and lawes, by the hand of Moses thy seruant:

15 * And gauest them bread from heauen for their hunger, * and broughtest forth water for them out of the rocke for their thirst: and * promisedst them, that they should goe in, and take possession of the land, for the which thou hadst lift vp thine hand for to giue them.

16 But they & our fathers behaued themselves proudly, and hardened their necke, so that they hearkened not vnto thy commaundements,

17 But refused to obey, and would not remember thy marvellous workes that thou hadst done for them, but hardened their neckes, and had in their heads to returne to their bondage by their rebellion: but thou O God of mercies, gracious and full of compassion, of long suffering, and of great mercy, yet forlookest them not.

18 Moreover, when they made them a molten calfe (and said, This is thy God that brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt) and committed great blasphemies,

19 Yet thou for thy great mercies forlookest

kest them not in the wilderness: * the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day Exod. 13. 22. numb. 14. 14. to leade them the way, neither the pillar of fire by night, to shew them light, and the way Deut. 8. 4. whereby they should goe.

20 Thou gauest also thy good Spirit to instruct them, and withheldst not thy MAN from their mouth, and gauest them water for their thirst.

21 Thou diddest also feede them fourtie yeeres in the wilderness: they lacked nothing: * their clothes waxed not olde, and their feet * swelled not.

22 And thou gauest them kingdomes and people, and * scatteredst them into corners: so they possessed * the land of Sihon and the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og king of Basan.

23 And thou diddest multiply their children like the starres of the heauen, & broughtest them into the land, whereof thou hadst spoken vnto their fathers, that they should goe and possesse it.

24 So the children went in, and possessed the lande, and thou subduedst before them the inhabitants of the land, euen the Canaanites, and gauest them into their handes, with their kings and the people of the land, that they might doe with them what they would.

25 And they tooke their strong cities and the fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods, cisternes digged out, vineyards and oliues, and trees for foode in abundance, and they did eate, and were filled, and became fat, and liued in pleasure through thy great goodness.

26 Yet they were disobedient, and rebelled against thee, and cast thy Law behinde their backes, and slew thy Prophets (which * protested among them to turne them vnto thee) and committed great blasphemies.

27 Therefore thou deliueredst them into the hand of their enemies that vexed them: yet in the time of their affliction, when they cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from the heauen, and through thy great mercies thou gauest them sauiours, who saued them out of the hand of their aduersaries.

28 But when they had rest, they returned to doe euill before thee: therefore ledest thou them in the hand of their enemies, so that they had the dominion ouer them, yet when they conuerted and cryed vnto thee, thou heardest them from heauen, and deliueredst them according to thy great mercies many times,

29 And protestedst among them that thou mightest bring them againe vnto the Law: but they behaued themselves proudly, and hearkened not vnto thy commaundements, but sinned against thy iudgements (* which a man should do and liue in them) and * palied away the shoulder, and were stiffnecked, and would not ^b heare.

30 Yet thou * diddest forbear them many yeeres, and protestedst among them by 33 Surely thou art iust in all that is come vpon vs: for thou * hast dealt cruelly, but we haue done wickedly.

34 And our Kings and our Princes, our Priests and our Fathers haue not done thy Lawe: nor regarded thy commandements nor thy protestations, wherewith thou hast protested among them.

35 And they haue not serued thee in their Kingdome, and in thy great goodnesse that thou shewedst vnto them, and in the large and fat land which thou diddest set before them, and haue not conuerted from their euill workes.

36 Behold, we are seruants this day, and the land that thou gauest vnto our Fathers, to eate the * fruite thereof, and the goodnesse thereof, behold, we are seruants therein.

37 And it yeeldeth much fruit vnto the kings whom thou hast set ouer vs, because of our sinnes: and they haue dominion ouer our bodies, and ouer our cattel at their pleasure, and we are in great affliction.

22 In the dayes of Eliashib, Ioiada, and Johanan, Jaddua were the chiefe fathers of the Levites written, and the Priests in the reigne of Darius the Persian.

23 The sonnes of Levi the chiefe fathers were written in the booke of the Chronicles euen vnto the dayes of Johanan the sonne of Eliashib.

24 And the chiefe of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Ieshua the sonne of Kadmiel, and their brethren about them to give praise and thanks, according to the ordinance of Dauid the man of God, ward ouer s against ward.

25 Mattaniah and Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were porters keeping the ward at the thresholds of the gates.

26 These were in the dayes of Ioiakim the sonne of Ieshua, the sonne of Iozadak, and in the dayes of Nehemiah the captaine, and of Ezra the Priest and Scribe.

27 And in the dedication of the wall at Jerusalem, they sought the Levites out of all their places to bring them to Jerusalem to keepe the dedication and gladnes, both with thanksgivings and with songs, cymbals, viols, and with harpes.

28 Then the ^gsingers gathered themselves together both from the plaine country about Jerusalem, and from the villages of ^hNetophathi, 29 And from the house of Gilgal, and out of the countreyes of Seba, and Azmaveth: for the singers had built them villages round about Jerusalem.

30 And the Priests and Levites were purified, and cleansed the people, and the gates, and the wall,

31 And I brought ⁱvp the princes of Judah vpon the wall, and appointed two great companies to give thanks, and the one went on the right hand of the wall toward the dung gate.

36 And ^khis brethren, Shemariah, and Azareel, Bilgai, Silalai, Maai, Meshaneel, and Judah, Hanani, with the musickall instruments of Dauid the man of God: and Ezra the Scribe went before them.

37 And to the gate of the fountaine, euener against them went they ^lby the staires of the city of Dauid, at the going ^lvp of the wall beyond the house of Dauid, euener vnto the water gate Eastward.

38 And the second company of them that gaue thanks went on the other side, and I after them, and the halfe of the people was vpon the wall, and vpon the towre of the fornares, euener vnto the broad wall.

39 And vpon the gate of Ephraim, and vpon the old gate, and vpon the fifth gate and the tower of Hananeel, and the tower of Meah, euener vnto the sheepe gate: and they stood in the gate of the ward.

40 So stood the two companies of them that gaue thanks in the house of God, and I and the halfe of the rulers with me.

44 Also at the same time were men appointed ^mouer the chambers of the store for the offerings, for the first fruits, and for the tithes, to gather into them out of the fields of the cities the portions of the Law, for the Priests and the Levites: for Judah reioyced for the Priests and for the Levites, that serued.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The Law is read. 3 They separate from them all strangers. 15 Nehemiah reprooueth them that breake the Sabbath. 30 An ordinance to serue God.

And on that day did they reade in the booke of Moyses, in the audience of the people, and it was found written therein, that the Ammonite, & the Moabite should not enter into the Congregation of God,

2 Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and with water, but hired Balaam against them, that hee should curse them: and our God turned the curse into a blessing.

3 Now when they had heard the Law, they separated from Israel all those that were mixed.

4 And before this had the Priest Eliashib the oversight of the chamber of the house of our God, being kinsman to Tobiah:

5 And hee had made him a great chamber, and there had they aforetime laid the offerings, the incense, and the vessels, and the tithes of corne, of wine and of oyle (appointed for the Leuites, and the fingers, and the porters) and the offerings of the Priests.

6 But in all this time was not I in Jerusalem: for in the two and thirtieth yere of Artahastre king of Babel, came I vnto the king, and after certaine dayes I obtained of the king.

7 And when I was come to Jerusalem, I vnderstood the euill that Eliashab had done for Tobiah, in that hee had made him a chamber in the court of the house of God,

8 And it grieved me sore: therefore I cast forth all the vessels of the house of Tobiah out of the chamber.

9 And I commanded them to cleanse the chambers: and thither brought I againe the vessels of the house of God, with the meat offering and the incense.

10 And I perceived that the portions of the Leuites had not bene giuen, and that every one was fled to his land, even the Leuites and fingers that executed the worke.

11 Then reprooued I the rulers, and said, Why is the house of God forsaken? And I assembled them, and set them in their place.

12 Then brought all Judah the tithes of corne, and of wine, and of oyle into the treasures.

13 And I made treasurers ouer the treasures, Shelemiah the Priest, and Zadok the Scribe, and of the Leuites, Debaiab, and vnder their hand Hanan the sonne of Zacur the sonne of Mattaniah: for they were counted faithfull, and their office was to distribute vnto their brethren.

14 Remember mee, O my God, heerein, and wipe not out my kindness that I haue shewed on the house of my God, and on the offices thereof.

15 In those dayes saw I in Judah, them that trode wine presses on the Sabbath and that brought in sheaves, and which laden asses also with wine, grapes and figges, and all burdens, and brought them into Jerusalem vpon the Sabbath day: and I protested to them in the day that they sold victuals.

16 There dwelt men of Tyrus also therein, which brought fish & all wares, and sold on the Sabbath vnto the children of Judah euen in Jerusalem.

17 Then reproued I the rulers of Judah, and sayd vnto them, What euill thing is this that ye doe, and breake the Sabbath day?

18 Did not your fathers thus, and our God brought all this plague vpon vs, & vpon this citie: yet ye increase the wrath vpon Israel, in breaking the Sabbath.

19 And when the gates of Jerusalem began to be darke before the Sabbath, I commanded to shut the gates, and charged that they should not be opened till after the Sabbath, & some of my seruants let I at y gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the Sabbath day.

20 So the chappmen and merchants of all merchandise remained once or twise all night without Jerusalem.

21 And I protested among them, & saide vnto them, Why tarrye all night about the wall? If ye doe it once againe, I will lay hands vpon you. From that time came they no more on the Sabbath.

22 And I said vnto the Leuites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keepe the gates, to sanctifie the Sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and pardon me, according to thy great mercy.

23 In those dayes also I saw Iewes, that married wiues of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children spake halfe in the speech of Ashdod, and could not speake in the Iewes language, and according to the language of the one people, and of the other people.

25 Then I reproued them, and cursed them, and smote certaine of them, and pulled off their haire, and tooke an othe of them by God. We shall not giue your daughters vnto their sonnes, neither shall ye take of their daughters vnto your sonnes, nor for your selues.

26 Did not Salomon the king of Israel sinne by these things? yet among many nations was there no king like him: for he was beloved of his God, and God had made him king ouer Israel: Yet strange women caused him to sinne.

27 Shall we then obey vnto you, to do all this great euill, and to transgresse against our God, euen to marry strange wiues?

28 And one of the sonnes of Joiada the sonne of Eliashib the high Priest was the sonne in lawe of Sanballat the Hozonite: but I chased him from me.

29 Remember them, O my God, & deile

I declared vnto them, that God would not suffer such transgressours of his Law to be vnpunished.

h Was not this a great cause why God plagued vs in times past? meaning, that if they transgressed now in the same againe, their plague should be greater. i About the time that the Sunne went downe: for the Sabbath lasted from the Sunne going downe of the one day, to the Sunne setting of the other.

THE ARGUMENT.

BECAUSE of the diuerſitie of names, whereby they vſed to name their Kings, and the ſupputation of yeres wherein the Ebrewes and the Grecians doe varie, diuers authours write diuerſly as touching this Ahaſhueruſh, ut it ſeemeth, Dan 6. 1. and 9. 1. that he was Darius King of the Medes, and ſonne of Aſtyages, called alſo Ahaſhueruſh, which was a name of honour, and ſignified great and chiefe, as chiefe head. Herein is declared the great mercies of God toward his Church, who neuer faileth them in their greateſt dangers, but when all hope of worldly helpe faileth, hee ener ſtirreth vp ſome by whom he ſendeth comfort and deliuerance. Herein alſo is deſcribed the ambition, pride, and crueltie of the wicked when they come to honour, and their ſudden fall when they are at height: and how God preſerueth and preferreth them which are zealous of his glory, and haue a care and loue toward their brethren.

IN the dayes of Ahaſhueruſh (this is Ahaſhueruſh that reigned from India euen vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundredeth and ſeuene and twenty prouinces)

2 In thoſe dayes when the king Ahaſhueruſh ſate on his throne, which was in the palace of Shuſhan,

3 In the thirde yere of his reigne hee made a feaſt vnto all his princes and his ſeruant, euen the power of Perſia and Media, and to the captaines and gouernours of the prouinces which were beſore him,

4 That he might ſhew the riches & glory of his kingdome, and the honour of his great maielte many dayes, euen an hundred and foureſcore dayes.

5 And when theſe dayes were expired the king made a feaſt to all the people that were found in the palace of Shuſhan, both vnto great and ſmall, ſeuene dayes, in the court of the garden of the kings palace,

6 Vnder an hanging of white, greene, and blew clothes, faſtened with cordes of ſilken and purple, in ſiluer rings, and pillars of marble: the beds were of gold, and of ſiluer vpon a pavement of Porphyre, and marble, and alabaſter, and blue colour.

7 And they gaue them drinke in veſſels of gold, and changed veſſell after veſſell, and royall wine in abundance according to the power of the king.

8 And the drinke was by an order, none might compell: for ſo the king had appointed vnto all the officers of his houſe, that they ſhould doe according to euery mans pleaſure.

9 The Queene Vaſhti made a feaſt alſo for the women in the royal houſe of king Ahaſhueruſh.

10 Vpon the ſeuenth day, when the king was merry with wine, he commanded Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, and Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas, the ſeuene Eunuches, (that ſerued in the preſence of king Ahaſhueruſh)

11 To bring Queene Vaſhti beſore the king with the crowne royall, that hee might ſhew the people and the princes her beautie: for ſhe was faire to looke vpon.

12 But the Queene Vaſhti reſuſed to come at the kings word, which he had giuen in charge to the Eunuches: therefore the King was very angry, and his wrath kindled in him.

13 Then the king ſaid to the wiſe men, that knew the times (for ſo was the kings manner towards all that knew the law and the iudgement:

15 What ſhall wee doe vnto the Queene Vaſhti, according to the law, becauſe ſhe did not according to the word of the King Ahaſhueruſh by the comiſſion of the Eunuches?

16 Then Memucan answered beſore the King and the Princes, The Queene Vaſhti hath not onely done euill againſt the king, but againſt all the Princes, and againſt all the people that are in all the prouinces of King Ahaſhueruſh.

17 For the act of the Queene ſhall come abroad vnto all women, ſo that they ſhall deſpiſe their husbands in their owne eyes, and ſhall ſay, The king Ahaſhueruſh commanded Vaſhti the Queene to be brought in beſore him, but ſhe came not.

18 So ſhal the princeſſes of Perſia and Media this day ſay vnto all the Kings princes, when they heare of the act of the queene: thus ſhall there bee much diſpitefulneſſe and wrath.

19 If it pleaſe the King, let a royal decree proceed from him, & let it be written among the ſtatutes of Perſia and Media (and let it not be tranſgreſſed) that Vaſhti come no more beſore King Ahaſhueruſh: and let the King giue her royall eſtate vnto her companion that is better then ſhe.

c The abuse of these countreys was so great, that they inuented many meanes to serue the lusts of Princes, and therefore, as they ordained wicked lawes, that the King might haue whose daughters he would, so they had diuers houses appointed, as one for them whiles they were virgins, another when they were concubines, and for the Queene another.

e For though she was taken away by a cruel law, yet he ceased not to haue a fatherly care ouer her, and therefore did resort oftentimes to heare of her.

10 But Ester shewed not her people and her kindred: for Mordecai had charged her, that she should not tell it.

11 And Mordecai walked euery day before the court of the womens house to know if Ester did well, and what should be done with her.

12 And when the course of euery mayde came, to goe in to King Ahasuerus, after that he had bene twelue moneths according to the maner of the women (for so were the dayes of their purifications accomplished, sixe moneths with oyle of myrrhe, and sixe moneths with sweet odours, and in the purifying of the women:

15 Now when the course of Ester the daughter of Abihail the vnckle of Mordecai (which had taken her as his own daughter) came, that she should goe in to the King, she desired nothing, but what Wege the kings Eunuch the keeper of the women said, and Ester found fauour in the sight of all them that looked vpon her.

persed among the people in all the prouinces of thy kingdome, and their lawes are diuers from all people, and they doe not obserue the kings lawes: therefore it is not the kings profit to suffer them.

9 If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents of siluer by the hands of them that haue the charge of this busines to bring it into the kings treasury.

10 Then the king tooke his ring from his hand, and gaue it vnto Haman the sonne of Hammedatha the Agagite, the Jewes adueryary.

11 And the king layd vnto Haman, Let the siluer be thine, and the people to do with them as it pleaseth thee.

12 Then were the kings scribes called on the thirtieth day of the first moneth, and there was written (according to all that Haman commanded) vnto the kings officers, and to the Captaines that were ouer euery prouince, and to the rulers of euery people, & to euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people according to their language: in the name of King Ahashuerosh was it written, and sealed with the kings ring.

13 And the letters were sent by posts, into all the kings prouinces, to root out, to kill and to destroy all the Jewes, both yong and old, children and women, in one day vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth (which is the moneth Adar) and to spoyle them as a pray.

14 The contents of the writing was, that there should be giuen a commandement in all prouinces, and published vnto all people, that they should be ready against the same day.

15 And the posts compelled by the kings commandement went forth, and the commandement was giuen in the palace at Shushan: and the king and Haman sate drinking, but the cite of Shushan was in perplexitie.

CHAP. III.

5 Mordecai giveth the Queene knowledge of the cruell decree of the King against the Jewes. 16 She willeth that they pray for her.

Now when Mordecai perceiued all that was done, Mordecai rent his clothes, and put on sackcloth and ashes, & went out into the middes of the cite, and cried with a great cry, and a bitter.

2 And hee came euen before the Kings gate, but he might not enter within the kings gate, being clothed with sackcloth.

3 And in euery prouince, and place, whither the kings charge and his Commission came, there was great sorrow among the Jewes, and fasting, and weeping, and mounning, and many lay in sackcloth, & in ashes.

4 Then Esters maids, & her eunuches came and told it her: therefore the Queene was very heauy, & she sent raiment to clothe Mordecai, and to take away his sackcloth from him, but he receiued it not.

5 Then called Hatach, one of the kings Eunuches, whom he had appointed to serue her, and gaue him a commandement vnto Mordecai, to know what it was, and why it was.

6 So Hatach went forth to Mordecai, vnto the streete of the city which was before the kings gate.

7 And Mordecai tolde him of all that which had come vnto him, & of the summe of the siluer that Haman had promised to pay vnto the kings treasurers, because of the Jewes for to destroy them.

8 Also he gaue him the copy of the wi-ting & commission that was giuen at Shushan to destroy them, that he might shew it vnto Ester, and declare it vnto her, and to charge her, that she should goe in to the king and make petition and supplication before him for her people.

9 So when Hatach came, he tolde Ester the words of Mordecai.

10 Then Ester layd vnto Hatach, and commanded him to say vnto Mordecai.

11 All the kings seruants and the people of the kings prouinces doe know, that whosoeuer, man or woman, that commeth to the king into the inner court, which is not called, there is a law of his, that hee shall die, except him to whom the king holdeth out the golden rod, that hee may liue. Now I haue not been called to come vnto the king these thirty dayes.

12 And they certified Mordecai of Esters words.

13 And Mordecai said, that they should answere Ester thus, Thinke not with thy selfe, that thou shalt escape in the kings house, more then all the Jewes.

14 For if thou holdest thy peace at this time, & comfort and deliuerance shall ap-

16 Goe, and assemble all the Iewes that are found in Shushan, and fast yee for mee, and eate not, nor drinke in three dayes, day nor night, I also and my maydes will fast likewise, and so wil goe in to the king, which is not according to the law: and if I perish, I perish.

17 So Mordecai went his way, and did according to all that Ester had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

1 Ester entresth in to the King, and biddeth him and Haman to a feast. 14 Haman prepareth a gallous for Mordecai.

a To wit, after that the Iewes had begun to fast.

2 And on the third day Ester put on her royall apparell, and stood in the court of the Kings palace within, ouer against the Kings house: and the King sate vpon his royall throne in the Kings palace ouer against the gate of the house.

3 And when the King saw Ester the Queene standing in the court, she found fauour in his sight: and the King helde out the golden scepter that was in his hand: so Ester drew nere, and touched the top of the scepter.

4 Then said the King vnto her, What wilt thou Queene Ester? and what is thy request? it shall bee euen giuen thee to the halfe of the kingdome.

5 Then said Ester, If it please the King, let the king and Haman come this day vnto the banquet, that I haue prepared for him.

6 And the King said, Cause Haman to make haste that hee may doe as Ester hath said. So the King and Haman came to the banquet, that Ester had prepared.

7 And the king said vnto Ester, at the banquet of wine, What is thy petition, that it may be giuen thee: and what is thy request? it shall euen bee performed vnto the halfe of the kingdome.

8 Then answered Ester, and said, My petition and my request is,

9 If I haue found fauour in the sight of the King, and if it please the King to giue mee my petition, and to performe my request, let the king and Haman come to the banquet that I shall prepare for them, and I will doe to morrow according to the kings saying.

10 Then went Haman forth the same day ioyful and with a glad heart. But when Haman saw Mordecai in the kings gate, that hee stood not up, nor moued for him, then was Haman full of indignation at Mordecai.

11 Neuertheless Haman refrained himselfe: and when hee came home, hee sent and called for his friends, and Zereb his wife.

12 And Haman told them of the glory, of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and all the things wherein the King had promoted him, and how that he had set him above the princes and seruants of the king.

13 Haman said moreover, Vea, Ester the Queene did let no man come in with the King to the banquet that shee had prepared, save me: and to morrow am I bidden vnto her also with the King.

14 But all this doeth nothing auaille me, as long as I see Mordecai the Jew sitting at the Kings gate.

15 Then said Zereb his wife and all his friends vnto him, Let them make a tree of fittie cubits hie, and to morrow speake thou vnto the King, that Mordecai may bee hanged thereon: then shalt thou goe ioyfully with the King vnto the banquet. And the thing pleased Haman, and hee caused to make the tree.

CHAP. VI.

1 The King turneth ouer the Chronicles, and findeth the fidelitie of Mordecai, 10 And commandeth Haman to cause Mordecai to be had in honour.

2 The same night the king slept not, and he commanded to bring the booke of the Records and the Chronicles: and they were read before the King.

3 Then it was found written that Mordecai had tolde of Bigtana, and Zereb, two of the Kings Eunuches, keepers of the doore, who sought to lay hands on the king Ahasueros.

4 Then the king said, What honour and dignity hath bene giuen to Mordecai for this? And the kings seruants that ministred vnto him, said, There is nothing done for him.

5 And the king said, Who is in the court? (Nowe Haman was come into the inner court of the Kings house, that hee might speake vnto the king to hang Mordecai on the tree that he had prepared for him.)

6 And the kings seruants said vnto him, Behold, Haman standeth in the court. And the king said, Let him come in.

7 And when Haman came in, the king said vnto him, What shall be done vnto the man, whome the king will honour? Then Haman thought in his heart, To whome would the king do honour moze then to me?

8 And Haman answered the king, The man whom the king would honour,

9 Let them bring for him royall apparell, which the king vseth to weare, and the houle that the king rideth vpon, & that the crown royall may be set vpon his head.

10 And let the rayment and the horse bee deliuered by the hand of one of the Kings most noble princes, and let them apparell the man (whom the king will honour) and cause him to ride vpon the horse thorow the street of the city, and proclaime before him, Thus shall it be done vnto the man whom the king will honour.

11 Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, take the raiment and the horse as thou hast said, and do so vnto Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the kings gate: let nothing faile of all that thou hast spoken.

12 So Haman took the raiment and the horse, and arayed Mordecai, and brought him on horsebacke thorow the streete of the citie, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whome the king will honour.

CHAP. VIII.

¹ After the death of Haman, was Mordecai exalted. ¹⁴ Comfortable letters are sent unto the Jewes.

The same day did King Ahasuerus give the house of Haman the aduersary of the Jewes unto the Queene Ester. And Mordecai came before the King: for Ester told what he was ^b unto her.

² And the king tooke off his ring, which he had taken from Haman, and gaue it unto Mordecai: and Ester set Mordecai ouer the house of Haman.

⁴ And the King helde out the golden scepter toward Ester. Then arose Ester, and stood before the king.

⁵ And said, If it please the king, and if I haue found fauour in his sight, and the thing be acceptable before the King, and I please him, let it be written, that the letters of the deuice of Haman the sonne of Ammedatha the Agagite, may be called againe, which hee wrote to destroy the Jewes, that are in all the kings prouinces.

⁶ For how can I suffer and see the euill, that shall come unto my people? or how can I suffer and see the destruction of my kindred?

⁹ Then were the kings scribes called at the same time, euen in the third moneth, that is the moneth ⁱ Siuan, on the three and twentieth day thereof: and it was written, according to all as Mordecai commaunded unto the Jewes, and to the princes, and capitaines, and rulers of the prouinces, which were from India euen unto Ethiopia, an hundred and threen and twentie prouinces, vnto euery prouince, according to the writing thereof, and to euery people after their speech, and to the Jewes, according to their writing, and according to their language.

CHAP. VII.

³ The Queene biddeth the King and Haman againe, and prayeth for her selfe and her people. ⁶ She accuseth Haman, and hee is hanged on the gallows which he had prepared for Mordecai.

So the King and Haman came to banquet with the Queene Ester.

² And the King said againe vnto Ester on the second day at the banquet of wine. What is thy petition, Queene Ester, that it may be giuen thee? and what is thy request? It shall bee euen performed vnto the halfe of the kingdom.

³ And Ester the Queene answered, and said, If I haue found fauour in thy sight, O King, and if it please the King, let my life be giuen me at my petition, and my people at my request.

⁴ For wee are sold, I, and my people to be destroyed, to bee slaine and to perish: but if we were solde for seruants, and for hand-maydes, I would haue held my tongue: although the aduersary could not recompense the Kings losse.

⁵ Then King Ahasuerus answered and said vnto the Queene Ester, Who is hee? and where is he that presumeth to do thus?

⁶ And Ester said, The aduersary and enemye is this wicked Haman. Then Haman was astraide before the King and the Queene.

⁷ And the King arose from the banquet of wine in his wrath, and went into the palace garden: But Haman stood vp to make request for his life to the Queene Ester: for he saw that there was a mischief prepared for him of the King.

⁸ And when the King came againe out of the palace garden, into the house where they dranke wine, Haman was fallen vpon the bed whereon Ester lay: therefore the King said, Will hee force the Queene also before me in the house? as the word went out of the Kings mouth, they couered Hamans face.

12 The copy of the writing was, how there should be a commandment giuen in all and euery prouince, published among all the people, and that the Iewes should be ready against that day to auenge themselves on their enemies.

14 So the posts rode vpon beastes of price and dromedaries, and went forth with speed, to execute the kings commaundment, and the decree was giuen at Shushan the palace.

15 And Mordecai went out from the king in royall apparell of blue and white, and with a great crowne of gold, and with a garment of fine linnen and purple, and the city of Shushan reioyced and was glad.

16 And vnto the Iewes was come light and ioy and gladnesse, and honour.

17 Also in all and euery prouince, and in all and euery city and place where the kings commaundment and his decree came, there was ioy and gladnesse to the Iewes, a feast and good day, and many of the people of the land became Iewes: for the feare of the Iewes fell vpon them.

CHAP. IX.

1 At the commaundment of the king the Iewes put their aduersaries to death. 14 The ten sonnes of Haman are hanged. 17 The Iewes keepe a feast in remembrance of their deliuerance.

S In the twelfth moneth, which is the moneth Adar, vpon the thirteenth day of the same, when the kings commaundment and his decree came nere to be put in execution, in the day that y enemies of the Iewes hoped to haue power ouer them (but it turned contrary: for the Iewes had rule ouer them that hated them.)

2 The Iewes gathered themselves together into their cities, to shew our all the prouinces of the king Abashueros, to lay hand on inch as sought their hurt, and no man could withstand them: for the feare of them fell vpon all people.

3 And all the rulers of the prouinces, and the princes and the captaynes, and the officers of the king exalted the Iewes: for the feare of Mordecai fell vpon them.

4 For Mordecai was great in the kings house, and the report of him went thorow all the prouinces: for this man Mordecai waxed greater and greater.

5 Thus the Iewes smote all their enemies with strokes of the sword & slaughter, and destruction, and did what they would vnto those that hated them.

6 And at Shushan the palace strewed the Iewes and destroyed five hundred men.

7 And Parshandatha, and Dalphon, and Aspata,

8 And Hozatha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Parmashta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Hatatzatha,

10 The ten sonnes of Haman, the sonne of Ammedatha, the aduersary of the Iewes slew they: but they laid not their hands on the spoile.

11 On the same day came the number of those that were slaine, vnto the palace of Shushan before the king.

12 And the king sayd vnto the Queene Ester, The Iewes haue slaine in Shushan the palace and destroyed five hundred men, and the ten sonnes of Haman: what haue they done in the rest of the kings prouinces? and what is thy petition, that it may bee giuen thee? or what is thy request moresouer, that it may bee performed?

13 Then sayde Ester, If it please the king, let it bee graunted also to morrow to the Iewes that are in Shushan, to doe according vnto this dayes decree, that they may hang vpon the tree Hamans tenne sonnes.

14 And the king charged to doe so, and the decree was giuen at Shushan, and they hanged Hamans ten sonnes.

15 So the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves vpon the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and slew three hundred men in Shushan, but on the spoile they laid not their hand.

16 And the rest of the Iewes that were the kings prouinces, assembled themselves and stood for their liues, and had rest from their enemies, and slew of them that hated them, seventy and five thousand: but they laid not their hand on the spoile.

17 Thus they did on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar, and rested the fourteenth day thereof, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

18 But the Iewes that were in Shushan assembled themselves on the thirteenth day and on the fourteenth thereof, and they rested on the fifteenth of the same, and kept it a day of feasting and ioy.

19 Therefore the Iewes of the villages that dwelt in the unwalld townes, kept the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar with ioy and feasting, euen a ioyfull day, and euery one sent presents vnto his neighbour.

20 And Mordecai wrote these words, and sent letters vnto all the Iewes that were thorough all the prouinces of the king Abashueros, both nere and farre,

21 Inioyning them that they should keepe the fourteenth day of the moneth Adar, and the fifteenth of the same, euery yeere,

22 According to the dayes wherein the Iewes rested from their enemies, and the moneth, which was turned vnto them from sorrow vnto ioy, and from mourning into a ioyfull day, to keepe them the dayes of feasting and ioy, and to send presents euery man to his neighbour, and gifts to the poore.

23 And the Iewes promised to do as they had begunne, and as Mordecai had written vnto them, Iob.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this history is set before our eyes the example of a singular patience. For this holy man Iob was not onely extremely afflicted in outward things and in his body, but also in his minde and conscience, by the sharpe tentations of his wife, and chiefe friends: which by their vehement words, and subtil disputations brought him almost to dispaire: for they set fourth God as a seuerer Iudge, and mortal enemy vnto him which had cast him off, therefore in vaine he should seeke vnto him for succour. These friends came vnto him vnder pretence of consolation, and yet they tormented him more then did all his affliction. Notwithstanding hee did constantly resist them, and at length had good successe. In this story we haue to marke that Iob maintaineth a good cause, but handleth it euill: againe, his aduersaries haue an euill matter, but they defend it craftily. For Iob held that God did not alway punish men according to their finnes, but that he had secret iudgements, whereof man knew not the cause, and therefore man could not reason against God therein, but he should be conuicted. Moreouer, he was assured that God had not reiected him, yet through his great torments and affliction he bursteth forth into many inconueniences both of wordes and sentences, and sheweth himselfe as a desperate man in many things, and as one that would resist God: and this is his good cause which he doth not handle well. Againe, the aduersaries maintaine with many goodly arguments that God punisheth continually according to the trespasses, grounding vpon Gods prouidence, his iustice, and mans finnes: yet their intention is euill: for they labour to bring Iob into dispaire, and so they maintaine an euill cause. Ezekiel commendeth Iob as a iust man, Ezek. 14. 14. and Iames setteth out his patience for an example, Iames 5. 11.

l Because our in-

in his maiesty, he is set forth vnto vs as a King, that our capacity

which is spoken of him.

m This declareth, that although Saran bee aduersary to God, yet hee is compelled to obey him, and to doe him all homage, without whose permission and appointment he can doe nothing. n This question is asked for our infirmity: for God knew whence he came.
o Herein is described the nature of Satan, which is euer ranging for his pray, 1. Pet. 5. 8. p He feareth thee not for thine owne sake, but for the commodity that hee receiueh by thee. q Meaning, the grace of God, which serued Iob as a rampart against all temptations. r This signifies, that Satan is not able to touch vs, but it is God that must doe it. s Satan noteth the vice whereunto men are commonly subiect: that is, to hide their rebellion, and to bee content with God in the time of prosperity, which vice is disiect in the time of their aduersity. t God giueh not Satan power ouer man to gratifie him, but to declare that hee hath no power ouer man, but that which God giueh him. u That is, went to execute that which God had permitted him to doe: for els he can neuer go out of Gods presence. x That is, the Arabians. y Which thing was also done by the craft of Saran, to tempt Iob the more grie-uouly, forasmuch as he might see that not onely men were his enemies, but that God made warre against him.

were gone about, Iob sent, and sanctified them, and rose vp early in the morning, and offred burnt offerings according to the number of them all. For Iob thought, It may be that my sonnes haue sinned, and blasphemed God in their hearts: thus did Iob eue-ry day.

6 Now on a day, when the children of God came and stood before the Lord, Satan came also among them.

7 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, saying, From compass-ing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

8 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, howe none is like him in the earth, an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and elchew-eth euill?

9 Then Satan answered the Lord, and said, Doeth Iob feare God for nought?

10 Hast thou not made an hedge about him, and about his house, and about all that hee hath on euery side? thou hast blessed the worke of his hands, and his substance is increased in the land.

11 But stretch out now thine hand, and touch all that he hath, to see if he will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

12 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo, all that he hath is in thine hand: only vpon himselfe halt thou not stretch out thine hand. So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord.

13 And on a day when his sonnes and his daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house,

14 There came a messenger vnto Iob, and said, The oxen were plowing, and the asses feeding in their places,

15 And the Shabeans came violently, and tooke them, yea they haue slaine the ser-uants with the edge of the sword: but I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

16 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The fire of God is fallen from the heauen, and hath burnt by the sheepe and the seruants, and deuoured them;
but I only am escaped alone to tell thee.

17 And whiles he was yet speaking, another came, and said, The Chaldeans let out thre bands, and fell vpon the camels, and haue taken them, & haue slaine the seruants with the edge of the sword: but I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

18 And whiles he was yet speaking, came another, and sayde, Thy sonnes and thy daughters were eating, and drinking wine in their eldest brothers house.

19 And behold, there came a great wind from beyond the wilderness, and smote the four corners of the house, which fell vpon the children, and they are dead, and I onely am escaped alone to tell thee.

20 Then Iob arose, and rent his garment, and shaued his head, and fell downe vpon the ground, and worshipped,

21 And said, Naked came I out of my mothers wombe, and naked shall I retorne thither: the Lord hath giuen, and the Lord hath taken it: blessed be the Name of the Lord.

22 In all this did not Iob sin, nor charge God foolishly.

ther of all. c Hereby he confesseth that God is iust and good, al-all things according to iustice and equity.

CHAP. II.

6 Satan hath permission to afflict Iob. 9 His wife tempteth him to forsake God. 11 His thre friends visit him.

And on a day the children of God came and stood before the Lord, and Satan came also among them, and stood before the Lord.

2 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Whence comest thou? And Satan answered the Lord, and said, From compassing the earth to and fro, and from walking in it.

3 And the Lord said vnto Satan, Hast thou not considered my seruant Iob, how none is like him in the earth, an vpright and iust man, one that feareth God, and elcheweth euill? for yet hee continueth in his vprightnes, although thou mouedst me against him, to destroy him without cause.

4 And Satan answered the Lord, & said, Skinne for skinne, and all that euer a man hath, will he giue for his life.

5 But stretch out now thine hand, and touch his bones, and his flesh, to see if hee will not blaspheme thee to thy face.

6 Then the Lord said vnto Satan, Lo,
hee is in thine hand, but saue his life.

7 So Satan departed from the presence of the Lord, & smote Iob with sore boyles, him then another mans. f Meaning, his owne person. g Thus Satan can goe no further in punishing, then God hath limited him.
h This sore was most vehement, wherewith also God plagued the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 9 and threatneth to punish the rebellious people, Deu. 28. 27. So that this temptation was most grievous: for if Iob had measured Gods fauor by the vehemency of his disease, he might haue thought that God had cast him off.

i As destitute of all other helpe and meanes, and wonderfully afflicted with the sorrow of his disease. k S. can vseth the same instrument against Iob, as he did against Adam. l Meaning, what gainest thou to serue God, seeing he thus plagueth thee, as though he were thine enemy? This is the most grievous tentation of the faithfull, when their faith is assailed, and when Satan goeth about to perswade them, and they trust in God in vaine. m For death was appointed to the blasphemer, and so hee meant that he should be soone rid out of his paine. n That is, to be patient in aduersity, as wereioyce when he sendeth prosperity, and so to acknowledge him to be both mercifull & iust. o He so bridled his affections, that his tongue throw impatency did not murmur against God. p Which were men of authority, wise and learned, and as the Septuagint write, kings, and came to comfort him, but when they saw how he was visited, they conceived an euill opinion of him, as though he had bin but an hypocrite, and so iustly plagued of God for his finnes. q This was also a ceremony which they vsed in those countries, as the renting of their clothes in signe of sorrow, &c. r And therefore thought that he would not haue hearkened to their counsell.

CHAP. III.

i Iob complaineth and curseth the day of his birth. 11 He desireth to die, as though death were the ende of all mans misery.

a The seven dayes ended, Chap. 2. 13. b Heere Iob be- ginneth to feeble his great imperfection in this battell betweene the spirit and the flesh, Rom. 7. 18. and after a man- ner yeeldeth, yet in the end he getteth victory, though he was in the meane time greatly wounded, c Men ought not to be weary of their life, and curse it, because of the infirmities that it is subiect vnto, but because they are giuen to finne and rebellion against God. d Let it be put out of the number of dayes, and let it not haue the light of the sunne to separate it from the night. e That is, most obscure darknes, which maketh them afraid of death that are in it.

8 Let them that curse the day (bring^r redy to renue their mourning) curle it.

9 Let the stars of that twilight be dimme through darknes of it: let it looke for light, but haue none: neither let it see the dawning of the day.

10 Because it shut not by the doores of my mothers wombe: nor his lozrow from mine eyes.

11 Why died I not in the birth? or why died not I when I came out of the wombe?

12 Why did the knees preuent me? and why did I lücke the breasts?

13 For should I now haue^r lien and bene quiet, I should haue slept then, and bene at rest.

14 With the kings and counsellors of the earth, which haue builded themselves^k desolate places:

15 With the princes that had gold, and haue filled their houses with silver.

16 Why was I not hid as an vntimely birth, either as infants, which haue not seene the light?

17 The wicked^l haue there ceased from their tyranny, and there they that laboured valiantly, are at rest.

18 The prisoners rest together, and heare not the voice of the oppressor.

19 There are smal and great, and the leruant is free from his master.

20 Wherefore is the light giuen to him that is in misery? and^o life vnto them that haue heauy hearts?

21 Which long for death, and if it come not, they would euen searce it more then treasures:

22 Which toy for gladnesse, and reioyce when they can find the graue.

23 Why is the light giuen to the man whose way is^p hidde, and whom God hath hedged in?

24 For my sighing cometh before I eate, and my roarings are powred out like the water.

25 For the thing I feared is come vpon me, and the thing that I was afraid of, is come vnto me.

26 I had no peace, neither had I quietnes, neither had I rest, yet trouble is come.

1 That is, by death the cruelty of the tyrants haue ceased. m All they that sustaine any kinde of calamity and misery in this world: which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh. n He sheweth that the benefites of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyfull and the conscience quieted. o That seeth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods pro- uidence. p In my prosperity I euer looked for a fall, as is now cometo passe. q The feare of troubles that should ensue, caused my prosperity to seeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble.

CHAP. IIII.

5 Iob is reprehended of impatency, 7 and un-iustice, 17 and of the presumption of his owne righteousnesse.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 If we assay to commune with thee, wilt thou be grieved? but^a who can withholde himselfe from speaking?

3 Behold, thou hast taught many, and hast

f Which curse the day of their birth, let them lay that curse vpon this night. g Let it be al- ways night, and neuer see day. h This and that which followeth declareth that when manguieth place to his passi- ons, he is not a- ble to stay nor keepe measure, but runneth head- long into all e- uill, except God call him backe. i The vehemen- cy of his afflicti- ons made him to utter thes words as though death were the end of all miseries, and as if there were no life after this, which he speak- eth not although it were so, but^l the infirmities of his flesh caused him to brast out into this error of the wicked. k He noteth the ambition of them, which for their pleasure as it were, change the order of na- ture, and build in most barren pla- ces, because they would hereby make their names immortal l That is, by death the cruelty of the tyrants haue ceased. m All they that sustaine any kinde of calamity and misery in this world: which he speaketh after the iudgement of the flesh. n He sheweth that the benefites of God are not comfortable, except the heart be ioyfull and the conscience quieted. o That seeth not how to come out of his miseries, because he dependeth not on Gods pro- uidence. p In my prosperity I euer looked for a fall, as is now cometo passe. q The feare of troubles that should ensue, caused my prosperity to seeme to me as nothing, and yet I am not exempted from trouble. a Seeing this thine impati- encie.

b Thou hast comforted others in their afflictions, & canst not now comfort thy selfe.

c This he concludeth that Iob was but an hypocrite, and had no true feare nor trust in God.

d He concludeth that Iob was reprooued, seeing that God had led him so extremely, which is the argument that the carnall men make against the children of God.

e They that doe euill, cannot but receiue euill.

f He sheweth that God needeth no great preparation to destroy his enemies: for hee can doe it with the blast of his mouth.

g Though men according to their office doe not punish tyrants (whom for their cruelty he compareth to lions, and their children to their whelps) yet God both is able, and his iustice will punish them.

h A thing that I knew not before, was declared vnto mee by vision: that is, that whosoever thinketh himselfe iust, shall be found a sinner, when he cometh before God.

i In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certaine feare ioyned, that the authority thereof might be had in greater reuerence.

k When all things were quiet, or when the feare was somewhat asswaged, as God appeared to Eliab, 1.Kin.19.

l He proueth that if God did punish the innocent, the creature should be more iust then the Creator, which were a blasphemie.

m If God find imperfection in his Angels, when they are not maintained by his power, how much more shall hee lay folly to mans charge, when he would iustifie himselfe against God?

n That is, in this mortall body, subiect to corruption, 2.Cor.5.1.

p No man for all this doeth consider it.

q That is, before that any of them were so wise as to thinke on death.

b hast strengthened the weary hands.

4 Thy words haue confirmed him that was fallen, and thou hast strengthened the weak knees.

5 But now it is come vpon thee, and thou art grieved: it toucheth thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Is not this thy feare, thy confidence, thy patience, and the vprightnesse of thy wayes?

7 Remember, I pray thee, who euer perished being an innocent: or where were the vpright destroyed?

8 As I haue sene, they that plow iniquitie, and sow wickednes, reape the same.

9 With the blast of God they perish, and with the vprightnesse of his nostrils are they consumed.

10 The roaring of the Lyon, and the voice of the Lionesse, and the teeth of the Lions whelps are broken.

11 The Lyon perisheth for lacke of pray, and the Lions whelps are scattered abroad.

12 But a thing was brought to mee secretly, and mine eare hath receiued a little thereof.

13 In the thoughts of the visions of the night, when sleepe falleth on men, 14 Feare came vpon me, and dread, which made all my bones to tremble.

15 And the winde passed before me, and made the haire of my flesh to stand vp.

16 Then stood one, & I knew not his face: an image was before mine eyes, & in silence heard I a voyce, saying,

17 Shall man be more iust then God? or shall a man be more pure then his maker?

18 Behold, he found no stedfastnes in his seruants, and laid folly vpon his Angels.

19 How much more in them that dwell in houses of clay, whose foundation is in the dust, which shall be destroyed before the moeth?

20 They be destroyed from the morning vnto the evening: they perish for euer without regard.

21 Doth not their dignitie go away with them? doe they not die, and that without wisdom?

1 A thing that I knew not before, was declared vnto mee by vision: that is, that whosoever thinketh himselfe iust, shall be found a sinner, when he cometh before God.

2 In these visions which God sheweth to his creatures, there is euer a certaine feare ioyned, that the authority thereof might be had in greater reuerence.

CHAP. V.

1. 2 Eliphaz sheweth the difference betweene the children of God and the wicked. 3 The fall of the wicked. 9 Gods power, who destroyeth the wicked, and deliuereth his.

Call now, if any wil answer thee, and to which of the saints wilt thou turne?

2 Doubtlesse anger killeth the foolish, and enuie slayeth the idiot.

3 I haue sene the foolish wel rooted, and suddenly I cursed his habitation, saying,

4 His children shall be farre from saluation, and they shall be destroyed in the gate, and none shall deliuer them.

5 The hungry shall eate vp his harvest: yea, they shall take it from among his thornes, and the thristie shall drinke vp their substance.

6 For misery commeth not forth of the dust, neither doeth affliction spring out of the earth.

7 But man is borne vnto trouble, as the sparks flie vprward.

8 But I would enquire at God, & turne my talke vnto God:

9 Which doeth great things and vnsearchable, and marvellous things without number.

10 He giueth raine vpon the earth, and pouereth water vpon the streets,

11 And setteth vpon high them that bee low, that the sorrowfull may bee exalted to saluation.

12 He scattereth the deuices of the crafty: so that their hands cannot accomplishe that which they doe enterprise.

13 He taketh the wise in their craftines, & the counsell of the wicked is made foolish.

14 They meete with darkenesse in the day time, and grope at noone day, as in the night.

15 But hee saureth the poore from the sword, from their mouth, and from the hand of the violent man.

16 So that the poore hath his hope, but iniquity shall stop her mouth.

17 Behold, blessed is the man whom God correcteth: therefore refuse not thou the chastising of the Almighty.

18 For he maketh the wound, and bindeth it vp: hee smiteth, and his hands make whole.

19 He shall deliuer thee in fire troubles, and in the seuenth the euill shall not touch thee.

20 In famine he shall deliuer thee from death: and in battell from the power of the sword.

21 Thou shalt be hid from the scourge of a He willeth Iob to consider the example of all them that haue liued or doe liue godly, whether any of them be like vnto him in raging against God as he doeth.

b Murmuring against God in afflictions, increaseth the paine, and vttereth mans folie.

c That is, the sinner that hath not the feare of God.

d I was not moued with his prosperity, but knew that God had cursed him and his.

e Though God sometime suffer the fathers to passe in this world, yet his iudgements will light vpon their wicked child.

f By publique iudgement they shall be condemned, and none shall piete them.

g Though there be but two or three eares left in the heales, yet these shall be taken from him.

h That is, the earth is not the cause of barrennesse, and mans misery, but his owne sinne.

i Which declareth that sinne is euer in our corrupt nature: for before sinne it was not subiect to paine and affliction.

k If I suffered as thou doest, I would seeke vnto God.

l He counselleth Iob to humble himselfe to God to whom all creatures are subiect, and whose works declare that man is inexcusable, except hee glorifie God in all his workes.

m He sheweth by particular examples what the works of God are, 1.Cor.3.19.

n In things plaine and euident they shewe themselves fooles in stead of wise men.

o This declareth that God punisheth the worldly wise as he threatned, Deu. 28.29.

p That is, he that humbleth himselfe before God.

q He compareth the slander of the wicked to sharp swords.

r If the wicked be compelled at Gods workes to stop their mouthes, much more they that professe God.

s He will send trouble after trouble, that his children may not for oue time, but continually trust in him: but they shall haue a comfortable issue, euen in the greatest and the last, which is here called the seuenth.

t Whereas the wicked lament in their troubles, thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce.

u Where we are in Gods fauour, all creatures shall ienuevs.

x God shall so blesse thee, that thou shalt haue occasion to reioyce in all things, and not to be offended.

y Though the children of God haue not alwaies this promise performed, yet God doeth recompense it other wise to their aduantage. z We haue learned these points by experience, that God punisheth not the innocent, that man cannot compare in iustice with him, that the hypocrites shall not long prosper, and that the affliction which man susteineth, commeth for his owne sinne.

C H A P. VI.

1 Job answereth, that his paine is more grievous then his fault. 8 He wisheth death. 14 He complaineth of his friends.

At Job answered, and said,

2 O that my griefe were well weighed, and my miseries werelaid together in the balance!

3 For it would be now heavier then the sand of the sea: therefore my words are swallowed vp.

4 For the arrowes of the Almighty are in me, the venim whereof doth drinke vp my spirit, and the terrors of God fight against mee.

5 Doeth the wilde asse bray when hee hath grasse? or loweth the ore when he hath fodder?

6 That which is vnsauory, shall it be eaten without salt? or is there any taste in the whitt of an egge?

7 Such things as my soule refused to touch, as were sorowes, are my meat.

8 Oh that I might haue my desire, and that God would graunt me the thing that I long for!

9 That is, that God would destroy mee: that he would let his hand goe, and cut mee off.

10 Then should I yet haue comfort, (though I burne with sorrow, let him not spare) because I haue not denied the words of the Holy one.

11 What power haue I that I should endure? or what is mine end, if I should prolong my life?

12 Is my strength the strength of stones?

the tongue, and thou shalt not bee afraid of destruction when it commeth.

22 But thou shalt laugh at destruction and death, and shalt not bee afraid of the heat of the earth.

23 For the stones of the field shall be in league with thee, and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee.

24 And thou shalt know that peace shall be in thy tabernacle, and thou shalt visite thine habitation, and shalt not sinne.

25 Thou shalt perceiue also, that thy seed shall be great, and thy posterity as the grasse of the earth.

26 Thou shalt go to thy graue in a full age, as a ricke of corne commeth in due season into the barne.

27 Lo. thus haue we enquired of it, and so it is: heare this, and know it for thy selfe.

or is my flesh of brasse?

13 Is it not so, y there is in me no helpe? i Have I not and that strength is taken from me?

14 He that is in misery, ought to be comforted of his neighbour: but men haue forsaken the feare of the Almighty.

15 My brethren haue deceiued mee as a brooke, and as the rising of the riuers they passe away.

16 Which are blackish with yce, & where in the snow is hid.

17 But in time they are dried by with heat, and are consumed: and when it is hote, they faile out of their places, 18 Or they depart from their way and course, yea, they vanish and perish.

19 They that goe to Tema, consider them, and they that go to Sheba, waited for them.

20 But they were confounded: when they hoped, they came thither and were ashamed.

21 Surely now are yee like vnto it: yee haue seene my fearefull plague, and are afraid.

22 Was it because I said, Bring vnto mee? or giue a reward to mee of your substance?

23 And deliuer me fro the enemies hand, or ransom me out of the hand of tyrants?

24 Teach me, & I wil hold my tongue: and cause me to vnderstand wherein I haue erred.

25 How steadfast are the words of righteousness: and what can any of you iustly reprove?

26 Doe ye imagine to reprove words, that the talke of the afflicted should bee as the wind?

27 Yee make your wrath to fall vpon the fatherlesse, and dig a pit for your friend.

28 Now therefore be content to looke vpon me: for I will not lie before your face.

29 Turne, I pray you, let there bee none iniquitie: returne, I say, and yee shall see yet my righteousness in that behalfe. Is there iniquity in my tongue? doeth not my mouth seele sorowes?

table words. o Shew me wherein I haue erred, and I wil confesse my fault.

p He that hath a good conscience, doeth not shrinke at the sharpe words or reasonings of others, except they be able to perswade him by reason.

q Doe you cauil at my words, because I should be thought to speake foolishly, which am now in miserie?

r Consider whether I speake as one that is driuen to this impatience through very sorow, or as an hypocrite as you condemne me.

C H A P. VII.

1 Job sheweth the shortnes and misery of mans life.

2 Is there not an appointed time to man vpon earth? and are not his dayes as the dayes of an hireling?

3 As a seruant longeth for the shadow, and as an hireling looketh for the end of his worke,

4 So haue I had as an inheritance the moneths of vanitie, and painefull nightes haue bene appointed vnto me.

5 If I layd mee downe, I said, When shall I rise againe?

6 If I rise againe, I said, I will not see the sunne: for I haue looked for hope in vaine.

7 I haue feared much, and I haue trembled: for I haue feared the word of the Lord, and I haue feared his voice.

8 I said, I will not be a great man: for I haue feared the word of the Lord, and I haue feared his voice.

9 I said, I will not be a great man: for I haue feared the word of the Lord, and I haue feared his voice.

10 I said, I will not be a great man: for I haue feared the word of the Lord, and I haue feared his voice.

a To know whether I complaine without iust cause.

b My griefe is so great that I lack words to expresse it.

c Which declareth that he was not only afflicted in body, but wounded in conscience, which is the greatest barte that the faithfull can haue.

d Thinke you that I cry without cause, seeing the bruit beasts doe not complaine when they haue what they would?

e Can a mans taste delight in that that hath no fauour? meaning, that none take pleasure in affliction, seeing they cannot away with things that are vnauorise to the mouth.

f Herein hee sinneth double, both in wishing thowrow impatience to die, and also in desiring of God a thing which was not agreeable to his will.

g That is, let me die at once before I come to distrust in Gods promise through mine impatience.

h Hee searcheth lest he should be brought to inconueniences, if his sorowes should continue.

i Have I not sought to helpe my selfe as much as was possible?

Or, wisdome,

Or law.

k He compareth those friends which comfort vs not in misery, to a brooke which in summer when we need waters, is dry, in winter is hard frozen, & in the time of raine,

when we haue no need, overfloweth with water.

l They that passe thereby to goe into the hote countries of Arabia, thinke to find water there to quench their thirst, but they are deceiued.

m That is, like to this brooke, which deceiue them that thinke to haue water there in their need,

as I looked for consolation at your hands.

n He toucheth the worldlings, which for no necessity will giue goods, and much more these men, which would not giue him comfort.

c This signifieth that his disease was rare and most horrible. d Thus he speaketh in respect of the brevity of mans life, which passeth without hope of returning: in consideration whereof, he desireth God to have compassion on him. e If thou behold me in thine anger, I shall not be able to stand in thy presence. f I shall no more enjoy this mortal life. g Seeing I can by none other means comfort my selfe, I will declare my griefe by words, and thus he speaketh as one overcome with griefe of minde. h Am not I a poore wretch? what needest thou then to lay so much paine on me? i So that I can have no rest night nor day. k He speaketh as one overcome with sorrow and not of judgement, or of the examination of his faith. l Seeing my terme of life is so short, let me have some rest and ease. m Seeing that man of himselfe is so vile, why doest thou give him that honor to contend against him? Iob vseth all kindes of perswasion with God, that he might stay his hand. n After all temptations, faith bursteth forth, and leadeth Iob to repentance: yet it was not in such perfection, that he could bridle himselfe from reasoning with God, because that he still tryed his faith. o That is, I shall be dead.

shall I arise? and measuring the evening, I am even full with toiling to and fro unto the dawning of the day.

5 My flesh is clothed with wormes and filthines of the dust, my skinne is rent, and become horrible.

6 My dayes are swifter then a weavers shuttle, and they are spent without hope.

7 Remember that my life is but a wind, and that mine eye shall not returne to see pleasure.

8 The eye that hath seene me, shall see me no more: thine eyes are upon me, and I shall be no longer.

9 As the cloude vanissheth and goeth away, so be that goeth downe to the graue shall come by no more.

10 We shall returne no more to his house neither shall his place know him any more.

11 Therefore I will not spare my mouth, but will speake in the trouble of my spirit, & muse in the bitterness of my minde.

12 Am I a sea? or a whale fish, that thou keepest me in ward?

13 When I say, My couch shall releeve me, and my bed shall bring comfort in my meditation, 14 Then fearest thou me with dreames, and astonishest me with visions.

15 Therefore my soule chuseth rather to be strangled and to die, then to bee in my bones.

16 I abhorre it, I shall not live alway: spare me then, for my dayes are but vanity.

17 What is man that thou dost magnifie him, and that thou settest thine heart upon him?

18 And doest visite him every morning, and triest him every moment?

19 How long will it be yet thou depart from me? thou wilt not let me alone whiles I may swallow my spittle.

20 I have sinned, what shall I doe unto thee? O thou preserver of men, why hast thou set me as a marke against thee, so that I am a burden unto my selfe?

21 And why doest thou not pardon my trespasses, and take away mine iniquitie? for now shall I sleepe in the dust, and if thou seekest me in the morning, I shall not be found.

C H A P. VIII.

1 Bildad sheweth that Iob is a sinner because God punisheth the wicked, and preserveth the good.

a He declareth that their words which would diminish any thing from the iustice of God, is but as a puffe of wind, which vanisheth away.

Then answered Bildad the Shuhite, and said,

2 How long wilt thou talke of these things? and how long shall the words of thy mouth be as a mighty wind?

3 Dost thou pervert iudgement? or dost thou the Almighty subvert iustice?

4 If thy sonnes have sinned against him, and he hath sent them into the place of their iniquitie,

5 Yet if thou wilt early seeke unto God, and pray to the Almighty,

6 If thou be pure and upright, then surely hee will awake by unto thee, and he will make the habitation of thy righteousness prosperous.

7 And though thy beginning be small, yet thy latter end shall greatly increase.

8 Enquire therefore, I pray thee, of the former age, and prepare thy selfe to search of their fathers.

9 For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant: for our dayes upon earth are but a shadow.

10 Shall not they teach thee and tell thee, and utter the words of their heart?

11 Can a rush grow without mire? or can the grass grow without water?

12 Though it were in greene and not cut downe, yet shall it wither before any other herbe.

13 So are the paths of all that forget God, and the hypocrites hope shall perish.

14 His confidence also shall be cut off, and his trust shall be as the house of a spider.

15 Wee shall leave upon his house, but it shall not stand: hee shall hold him fast by it, yet shall it not endure.

16 The tree is greene before the sunne, and the branches spread over the garden thereof.

17 The rootes thereof are wrapped about the fountain, and are folded about the house of stones.

18 If any plucke it from his place, and it deny, saying, I have not seene thee, 19 Behold, it will rejoyce by this meanes, that it may grow in another mold.

20 Behold, God will not cast away an upright man, neither will he take the wicked by the hand, 21 Till hee have filled thy mouth with laughter, and thy lips with ioy.

22 They that hate thee shall be clothed with shame, and the dwelling of the wicked shall not remaine.

with Gods Spirit. h Which is to day and to morrow swept away. i He compareth the iust to a tree, which although it be remooved out of one place unto another, yet flourisheth: so the affliction of the godly turneth to their profit. k That is, so that there remaine nothing there to proue whether the tree had growen there or no. l To be planted in another place, where it may grow at pleasure. m If thou be godly hee will give thee occasion to reioyce, and if not, thine affliction shall increase.

C H A P. IX.

1 Iob declareth the mighty power of God, and that mans righteousness is nothing.

Then Iob answered and said,

2 I know verely that it is so: for how should man compared unto God, be justified?

3 If he would dispute with him, he could not answer him one thing of a thousand.

God, and his innocencie, confessing God to bee infinite in iustice, and man to be nothing in respect. b Of a thousand things, which God could lay to his charge, man cannot answer him one.

b That is, hath rewarded them according to their iniquities: meaning, that Iob ought to be warned by the example of his children, that he offend not God. c That is, if thou turne betime, whiles God calleth thee to repentance.

d Though the beginnings be not so pleasant as thou wouldst desire, yet in the end thou shalt have sufficient occasion to content thy selfe. e He willeth Iob to examine all antiquities, and hee shall finde it true which he here saith.

f Meaning, that it is not ynough to have the experience of our felues, but to be confirmed by the examples of them that went before vs.

g As a rush cannot grow without moistnesse, so cannot the hypocrite, because hee hath not faith which is moistened

c He declareth what is the infirmitie of man by the mightie and incomprehensible power that is in God, shewing what he could doe if he would set forth his power.

d These are the names of certain starres, whereby he meaneth, that all starres both knownen and vnknownen are at his appointment.

e I am not able to comprehend his works, which are common, and daily before mine eyes, much lesse in those things which are hid & secret.

f He sheweth that when God doth execute his power he doth it iustly, forasmuch as none can controule him.

g God will not be appeased for ought that man can lay for himselfe for his iustification.

h That is, all the reasons that men can lay to approve their cause.

i How should I be able to answer him by eloquence? whereby he noteth his friends, that albeit they were eloquent in talke, yet they felt not in heart that which they spake.

k Meaning, in his own opinion: signifying that man will sometimes flatter himselfe to bee righteous, which before God is abomination. l Whiles I am in my pangs, I cannot burst forth into many inconueniences, although I know still that God is iust. m I am not able to feele my sinnes so great, as I feele the weight of his plagues: and this hee speaketh to condemne his dulnes, and to iustifie God. n After he hath accused his own weaknes, he continueth to iustifie God and his power. o If I would stand in mine owne defence, yet God hath iust cause to condemne me, if he examine mine heart and conscience. p If God punish according to his iustice, he wil destroy as well them that are counted perfect, as them that are wicked. q To wit, the wicked. r This is spoken according to our apprehension, as though hee would say, If God destroyed but the wicked, as Chap. 5. 3. why should he suffer the innocents to be so long tormented by them?

4 Wee is wise in heart, and mightie in strength: who hath bene fierce against him and hath prospered?

5 Wee remooueth the mountaines, and they feele not when hee ouerthroweth them in his wrath.

6 Wee remooueth the earth out of her place, that the pillars thereof doe shake.

7 Wee commaundeth the Sunne, and it riseth not: he closeth vp the starres as vnder a signet.

8 Wee himselte alone spreadeth out the heauens, and walketh vpon the height of the sea.

9 Wee maketh the starres ^d Arcturus, Orion, and Pleiades, and the climates of the South.

10 Wee doeth great things and vnsearchable: yea, marueilous things without number.

11 Loe, when he goeth ^e by me, I see him not: and when he passeth by, I perceiue him not.

12 Behold, when he taketh a pray, ^f who can make him to restore it: who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

13 God ^g will not withdraw his anger, and the most mightie helpe ^h doe stoupe vnder him?

14 How much lesse shall I answer him? or how should I find out my ⁱ wordes with him?

15 For though I were iust, yet could I ^k not answer, but I would make supplication to my Iudge.

16 If I ^l erre, and hee answer mee, yet would I not beleue that he heard my voice.

17 For he destroyeth me with a tempest, and woundeth me ^m without cause.

18 Wee will not suffer mee to take my breath, but filleth me with bitterness.

19 If we speake of strength, behold, he is ⁿ strong: if we speake of iudgement, who shall bring me in to plead?

20 If I would iustifie my selfe, mine own mouth shall condemne me: ^o if I would bee perfect, he shall iudge me wicked.

21 Though I were perfect, yet I knowe not my soule: therefore abhorre I my life.

22 This is one point: therefore I saide, He destroyeth the ^p perfect and the wicked.

23 If the scourge should ^q suddenly slay, should God ^r laugh at the punishment of the innocent?

24 The earth is giuen into the hande of the wicked: hee ^s couereth the faces of the Iudges thereof: if not, where ^t is hee? or who is he?

25 My dayes haue bene more swift then a poste: they haue fled, and haue seene no good thing.

26 They are passed as with the most swift shippes, and as the Eagle that flieth to the pray.

27 If ^u I say, I will forget my complaint, I will cease from my wrath and comfort mee, 28 Then I am afraid of all my sorrowes, knowing that thou wilt not iudge me innocent.

29 If I be wicked, why ^v labour I thus in vaine?

30 If I ^w wash my selfe with snow water, and purge my hands most cleane, 31 Yet shalt thou plunge mee in the yst, and mine owne ^x clothes shall make mee filthie.

32 For hee is not a man as I am, that I should answer him, if wee come together to iudgement.

33 Neither is there any vmpire ^y that might lay his hand vpon vs both.

34 Let him take his rod away from mee, and let not his feare astonish me:

25 Then wil I speake, and feare him not: ^b but because I am not so, I hold me still.

1 Iob is weary of his life, and setteth out his fragility before God.

20 He desireth him to slay his hand.

22 A description of death.

My soule is cut off ^a though I liue: I will cleane my ^b complaint vpon my selfe, and will speake in the bitterness of my soule.

2 I will say vnto God, ^c Condemne mee not: shew mee wherefore thou contendest with me.

3 Thinkest thou it ^d good to oppresse me, and to cast off the ^e laboz of thine hands, and to fauour the ^f counsell of the wicked?

4 Wilt thou ^g carnall eyes? or doest thou see as man seeth?

5 Are thy dayes as mans ^h dayes? or thy yeeres as the time of man,

6 That thou inquirest of mine iniquitie, and searchest out my sinne?

7 Thou knowest that I cannot do ⁱ wickedly: for none can deliuer mee out of thine hand.

8 Thine ^k hands haue made me, and fashioned me wholly round about, and wilt e Wilt thou be without compassion? f Wilt thou gratifie the wicked, and condemne me? g Doest thou this of ignorance?

h Art thou inconstant and changeable, as the times, to day a friend, to morrow an enemy? i By affliction thou keepest me as in a prison, and restrainest me from doing euill, neither can any set mee at libertie.

g That can shew the contrary?

h I thinke not to fall into these afflictions, but my sorrowes bring me to these manifold infirmities, and my conscience condemne me.

m That is, reason and vnderstanding, and many other gifts whereby man excelleth all earthly creatures.

n That is, thy fatherly care and providence whereby thou preferrest me, & without the which I should perish straightway.

o I though I be not fully able to comprehend these things, yet I must needs confesse that it is so.

p I will alway walke in feare and humilitie, knowing that none is iust before thee.

q Job being sore assaulted in this battel betweene the flesh and the spirit, brasteth out into these afflictions, wishing rather short dayes then long paine.

r That is, diuersity of diseases, and in great abundance, shewing that God hath infinite meanes to punish man. s He wisheth that God would leaue off his affliction, considering his great miserie and the breuity of his life. t Hee speaketh thus in the person of a sinner, that is ouercome with passions and with the feeling of Gods iudgements, and therefore cannot apprehend in that state the mercies of God and comfort of the resurrection. u No distinction betweene light and darknesse, but where all is very darknesse it selfe.

a Should he per swade by his great talke that he is iust?

b He chargeth Job with this, that he should say, that the thing which he saie was true, and that he was without sinne in the sight of God.

c Which is, not to stand in iustifying of thy selfe: he signifieh that man will neuer be overcome, while he reasoneth with another, and therefore God must breake off the controuersie, and stop mans mouth.

thou destroy me?

9 Remember, I pray thee, that thou hast made me, as the clay, and wilt thou bring me into dust againe?

10 Hast thou not potured me out as milk? and turned me to curds like cheese?

11 Thou hast clothed mee with skinne, and flesh, and ioined me together with bones and sinewes.

12 Thou hast giuen me life, and grace: and thy visitation hath preserved my spirit.

13 Though thou hast hid these things in thine heart, yet I knowe that it is so with thee.

14 If I haue sinned, then thou wilt straitly looke vnto me, and wilt not hold me guiltlesse of mine iniquity.

15 If I haue done wickedly, woe vnto mee: if I haue done righteously, I will not lift vp mine head, being full of confusion, because I see mine affliction.

16 But let it increate: hunt thou mee as a lyon, returne and shew thy selfe marvellous vpon me.

17 Thou renuest thy plagues against me, and thou increasest thy wrath against mee: changes and armies of sorrowes are against mee.

18 Wherefore then hast thou brought me out of the wombe? Oh that I had perished, and that none eye had seene me!

19 And that I were as I had not bene, but brought from the wombe to the graue!

20 Are not my dayes few? let him cease, and leaue off from me, that I may take a little comfort,

21 Before I goe and shall not returne, even to the land of darknesse, and shadow of death:

22 Into a land, I say, darke as darknesse it selfe, and into the shadow of death, where is none order, but the light is there as darknesse.

CHAP. XII.

1 Job is vniuersally reprehended of Zophar. 7 God is incomprehensible. 14 He is mercifull to the repentant. 18 Their assurance that lue godly

T hen answered Zophar the Naamathite, and sayd,

2 Should not the multitude of wordes be answered? or should a great talker be iustified?

3 Should men hold their peace at thy lyes, and when thou mockest others, shall none make thee ashamed?

4 For thou hast said, My doctrine is pure, and I am cleane in thine eyes.

5 But oh, that God would speake and open his lips against thee!

6 That he might shew thee the secrets of wisdom, how thou hast deserved double, according to right: know therefore that God hath forgotten thee for thine iniquity.

7 Canst thou by searching find out God? canst thou finde out the Almighty to his perfection?

8 The heauens are high, what canst thou doe? it is deeper then hell, how canst thou know it?

9 The measure thereof is longer then the earth, and it is broader then the sea.

10 If he cut off, and shut vp, or gather together, who can turne him backe?

11 For he knoweth vaine men, and seeth iniquitie, and him that vnderstandeth nothing.

12 Yet vaine man would be wise, though man new borne is like a wild asse colt.

13 If thou prepare thine heart, & stretch out thine hands toward him:

14 If iniquity be in thine hand, put it farre away, and let no wickednesse dwell in thy tabernacle.

15 Then truly shalt thou lift up thy face without spot, and shalt be stable, and shalt not feare.

16 But thou shalt forget thy miserie, and remember it as waters that are past.

17 Thine age also shall appeare more cleare then the noone day: thou shalt shine and be as the morning.

18 And thou shalt be bold, because there is hope: and thou shalt dig pits, and shalt keepe downe safely.

19 For when thou takest thy rest, none shall make thee afraid: yea, many shall make suit vnto thee.

2 Job accuseth his friends of ignorance. 7 Hee declareth the might and power of God, 17 and how he changeth the course of things.

T hen Job answered and said,

2 In deed because that ye are the people onely, wisdom must die with you.

3 But I haue vnderstanding as well as you, and am not inferiour vnto you: yea, who knoweth not such things?

4 I am as one mocked of his neighbour, who calleth vpon God, and hee heareth him: the iust and the vpright is laughed to scorne.

5 Hee that is ready to fall, is as a lampe despised in the opinion of the rich.

PROM. 14 2. b He reproveth these his friends of two faults, the one that they thought they had better knowledge then in deed they had, and the other, that in stead of true consolation, they did deride and despise their friend in his aduersity. c The which neighbour being a mocker and a wicked man, thinketh that no man is in Gods fauour but he, because he hath all things that hee desireth. d As the rich esteeme not a light or torch, that goeth out, so is he despised that falleth from prosperitie to aduersity.

he cannot be loosed.

and ouerthroweth the mighty.

20 Hee taketh away the speech from the faithfull counsellors, and taketh away the iudgement of the ancient.

21 He pouereth contempt vpon princes, and maketh the strength of the mighty weake.

22 Hee discovereth the deepe places from their darkenesse, and bringeth forth the shadow of death to light.

23 Hee increaseth the people, and de-stroyeth them: he enlargeth the nations, and bringeth them in againe.

24 Hee taketh away the hearts of them that are the chiefe ouer the people of the earth, and maketh them to wander in the

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iob compareth his knowledge with the experience of his friends. 16 The penitent shalbe saued and the hypocrite condemned. 20 He prayeth vnto God that he would not handle him rigorously.

L mine eye hath seene all this: mine eare hath heard and vnderstood it.

2 I know also as much as you know: I am not inferiour vnto you.

3 But I will speake to the Almighty,

6 Now heare my disputation, and giue care to the arguments of my lips.

7 Will ye speake wickedly for Gods defence, and talke deceitfully for his cause?

8 Will yee accept his person? or will yee contend for God?

9 Is it well that hee should seeke of you?
will you make a lie for him, as one lieth for a man?

10 He will surely reprove you, if ye doe secretly accept any person.

11 Shall not his excellencie make you afraid? and his feare fall vpon you?

12 Your memories may hee compared vnto ashes, and your bodies to bodies of 13 Holde your tongues in my presence, that I may speake, and let come vpon what in him, and I will repproue my wayes in his sight.

hypocrite shall not come before him.

my talke.

then will I not hide my selfe from thee:

C H A P. XIII.

1 Iob describeth the shortnesse and misery of the life of man. 14 Hope susteineth the godly. 22 The condition of mans life.

a Taking occasion of his aduersaries words, he describeth the state of mans life from his birth to his death.

Chap. 8.9.

psal. 144.4.

b His meaning is, that seeing that man is so fraile a creature, God should not handle him so extremely: wherein Iob sheweth the wickednes of the flesh when it is not subiect to the spirit.

psal. 51.5.7.

c Vntill the time that thou hast appointed for him to dy, which he desireth, as the hireling waiteth for the end of his labour to receiue his wages.

d He speaketh not here, as though he had not hope of the immortallitie, but as a man in extreme paine, when reason is overcome by afflictions and torments.

e Hereby he declareth that the feare of Gods iudgement was the cause why he desired to die.

f That is, release my paines and take me to mercie.

g Meaning, vnto the day of resurrection, when he should be changed and renewed.

h Though I be afflicted in this life, yet in the resurrection I shall feele thy mercies, and answer when thou callest me.

i Thou layest them altogether, and suffrest none of my sinnes unpunished. k He murmureth through the impacience of the flesh against God, as though he vsed as great leueritie against him, as against the hard rocks, or waters that ouerflow, so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away.

MAn that is borne of woman, is of short continuance, and full of trouble.

2 He sheweth forth as a flower, and is cut downe: he vanisheth also as a shadow, and continueth not.

3 And yet thou openest thine eyes vpon such one, and causest me to enter into iudgement with thee.

4 Who can bring a cleane thing out of filthinesse? there is not one.

5 Are not his dayes determined? the number of his moneths are with thee: thou hast appointed his bounde, which he cannot passe.

6 Turne from him that he may cease vntill his desired day, as an hireling.

7 For there is hope of a tree, if ye be cut downe, that it will yet sprout, and the branches thereof will not cease.

8 Though the root of it waxe old in the earth, and the stocke thereof be dead in the ground.

9 Yet by the sent of water it will bud, and bring forth boughes like a plant.

10 But man is sicke, and dieth, and man perisheth, and where is he?

11 As the waters passe from the sea, and as the flood decayeth and drieth vp,

12 So man slepeth and riseth not: for he shall not wake againe, nor be raised from his sleepe, till the heauen be no more.

13 Oh that thou wouldest hide me in the graue, & keepe me secret, vntill thy wrath were past, and wouldest giue me terme, and remember me!

14 If a man die, shall he liue againe? All the dayes of mine appointed time will I wait, till my changing shall come.

15 Thou shalt call mee, and I shall answer thee: thou lowest the worke of thine owne hands.

16 But now thou numbrest my steps, and dost not delay my sinnes.

17 Mine iniquitie is sealed vp, as in a bagge, and thou addest vnto my wickednesse.

18 And surely as the mountaine that falleth, commeth to nought, and the rocke that is removed from his place:

19 As the water breaketh the stones, when thou ouerflowest the things which grow in the dust of the earth: so thou destroyest the hope of man.

20 Thou preuailest alway against him, so that he passeth away: he changeth his face when thou castest him away.

21 And he knoweth not if his finnes shall be honourable, neither shall he understand concerning them, whether they shall bee of low degree, Pror. 5.21.

Thou layest them altogether, and suffrest none of my sinnes unpunished. k He murmureth through the impacience of the flesh against God, as though he vsed as great leueritie against him, as against the hard rocks, or waters that ouerflow, so that hereby all the occasion of his hope is taken away.

22 But while his flesh is vpon him, hee shall be sorrowfull, and while his soule is in him, it shall mourne.

C H A P. XV.

1 Eliphaz reprehendeth Iob, because he ascribeth wisdom and purenesse to himselfe. 16 He describeth the curse that falleth on the wicked, reckoning Iob to be one of the number.

Then answered Eliphaz the Temanite, and said,

2 Shal a wise man speake wordes of the wind, and fill his belly with the East wind?

3 Shal he dispute with words not comely? or with talke that is not profitable?

4 Surely thou hast cast off feare, and restraynest prayer before God.

5 For thy mouth declareth thine iniquitie, seeing thou hast chosen the tongue of the traffie.

6 Thine owne mouth condemneth thee, and not I, and thy lips testifie against thee.

7 Art thou the first man that was born? and wast thou made before the hills?

8 Wast thou heard the secret counsell of God? and dost thou restraine wisdom to thee?

9 What knowest thou that wee know not? and understandest that is not in vs?

10 Which vs are both ancient and very aged men, farre older then thy father.

11 Seeme the consolations of God small vnto thee? is this thing strange vnto thee?

12 Why doest thou heart? take thee away, and what doe thine eyes meane, 13 That thou answerest to God at thy pleasure, and bringest such wordes out of thy mouth?

14 What is man that he should be cleane? and he that is borne of woman, that he should be iust?

15 Behold, hee found no stedfastnesse in his saynts: yea, the heauens are not cleane in his sight.

16 How much more is man abominable, and filthy, which drinketh iniquitie like water?

17 I will tell thee: heare me, and I will declare that which I haue seene.

18 Which wise men haue tolde, as they haue heard of their fathers, and haue not kept it secret:

19 To whom alone the land was giuen, and no stranger passed thorow them.

20 The wicked man is continually as one that traueileth of child, and the number of his yeeres is hid from the tyrant.

21 A sound of feare is in his eares, and in his prosperitie the destroyer shall come vpon him.

p He sheweth what weapons God useth against the wicked which lift vp themselves against him, to wit, terror of conscience and outward afflictions.

q That is, he was so puffed up with great prosperity and abundance of all things, that he forgate God: noting that Iob in his felicitie had not the true feare of God, r Though he build & repaire ruinous places to get him fame, yet God shall bring all to nought, & turne his great prosperitie into extreame misery. s Meaning, that his sumptuous buildings should neuer come to perfection, t He standeth so in his owne conceit, that he will give no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shall bring him to destruction, u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe, x Which were built or maintained by powling and bribery, y And therefore all their vaine deuises shall turne to their owne destruction.

where hee may: he knoweth that the day of darkenesse is prepared at hand.

24 Affliction and anguish shall make him afraide: they shall preuaile against him as a King ready to the battell.

25 For he hath stretched out his hand against God, & made himselfe strong against the Almighty.

26 Therefore God shall runne vpon him, euen vpon his necke, and against the most thicke part of his shield.

27 Because he hath couered his face with his fatnesse, and hath collops in his flanke.

28 Though he dwell in desolate cities, and in houses which no man inhabiteth, but are become heapes, 29 Wee shall not be rich, neither shall his substance continue, neither shall he prolong the perfection thereof in the earth.

30 He shall neuer depart out of darkenesse, the flame shall burne by his branches, & he shall goe away with the breath of his mouth.

31 He beloueth not that he erreth in vanitie: therefore vanitie shall be his change.

32 His branch shall not be greene, but shall be cut off before his day.

33 God shall destroy him as the vine her fellowe grape, and shall cast him off, as the olive doeth her flower.

34 For the congregation of the hypocrite shall bee desolate, and fire shall deuoure the houses of bribes.

35 For they conceiue mischiefe, and bring forth vanitie, and their belly hath prepared deceit.

He standeth so in his owne conceit, that he will give no place to good counsell, therefore his owne pride shall bring him to destruction.

u As one that gathereth grapes before they be ripe, x Which were built or maintained by powling and bribery, y And therefore all their vaine deuises shall turne to their owne destruction.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Iob mooued by the importunitie of his friends, counteth in what extremitie hee is, 19 and taketh God to witness of his innocencie.

At Iob answered, and said, 2 I haue oft times heard such things: miserable comforters are ye all.

3 Shall there be none end of wordes of a whorde? or what maketh thee bolde so to answer?

4 I could also speake as pee doe, (but would God your soule were in my soules stead) I could keepe you company in speaking, and could shake mine head at you.

5 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should allswage your sorrow.

6 Though I speake my sorrow I cannot be allswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?

7 But now he maketh me weary: O God, thou hast made all my congregation desolate,

8 I could also speake as pee doe, (but would God your soule were in my soules stead) I could keepe you company in speaking, and could shake mine head at you.

9 But I would strengthen you with my mouth, and the comfort of my lips should allswage your sorrow.

10 Though I speake my sorrow I cannot be allswaged: though I cease, what release haue I?

11 But now he maketh me weary: O God, thou hast made all my congregation desolate,

8 And hast made me full of wrinkles which is a witnesse therof, and my leanness riseth by in mee, testifying the same in my face.

9 His wrath hath torne mee, and he hateth me, and gnasheth vpon mee with his teeth: mine enemy hath sharpened his eyes against me.

10 They haue opened their mouthes vpon mee, and smitten me on the cheek in reproch: they gather themselves together against me.

11 God hath deliuered me to the vnjust, and hath made me to turne out of the way by the hands of the wicked.

12 I was in wealth, but he hath brought me to nought: he hath taken me by the neck, and beaten me, and set me as a marke for himselfe.

13 His archers compass me round about: he cutteth my reines, and doeth not spare, and powreth my gall vpon the ground.

14 He hath broken me with one breaking vpon another, and runneth vpon me like a giant.

15 I haue sowed a sackcloth vpon my skine, and haue abased mine house vnto the dust.

16 My face is withered with weeping, and the shadow of death is vpon mine eyes.

17 Though there bee no wickednesse in mine hands, and my prayer be pure.

18 O earth, couer not thou my blood, and let my crying finde no place.

19 For loe, now my witnesse is in the heauen, and my record is on high.

My breath is corrupt: my dayes are cut off, and the grave is ready for me.

2 There are none but mockers with mee, and mine eye continueth in their bitterness.

f He that flattereth a man, and onely iudgeth him happy in his prosperitie, shall not himself onely, but in his posteritie be punished.

g God hath made all the world to speake of me, because of mine afflictions.

h That is, as a continuall sound in their eares.

i To wit, when they see the godly punished: but in the end they shall come to vnderstanding, and know what shall be the reward of the hypocrite.

k That is, will not be discouraged, considering that the godly are punished as well as the wicked.

l Iob speaketh to them three that came to comfort him. m That is, haue brought the sorow in stead of comfort. n Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie, as your discourse pretendeth. o I haue no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dust and wormes shall be to me in stead of them. p All worldly hope and prosperitie faile, which you say, are only signes of Gods fauour: but seeing, that these things perish, I set my hope in God, and in the life euerlasting.

c That is, like a mad man.

d Shall God change the order of nature for thy sake, by dealing with thee otherwise then he doeth with all men?

e When the wicked is in his prosperitie, then God changeth his state: and this is his ordinary working for their sinnes.

f Meaning, that the wicked are in continuall danger.

5 For the eyes of his children shall faile, that speake flatteries to his friends.

6 Hee hath also made me a by-word of the people, and I am as a tabret before them.

7 Mine eye therefore is dimme for griefe, and all my strength is like a shadow.

9 But the righteous will hold his way, and hee whose hands are pure, shall increase his strength.

10 All you therefore turne you and come now, and I shall not finde one wise among you.

11 My dayes are past, mine enterprises are broken, and the thoughts of mine heart.

12 I haue changed the night for the day, and the light that approached for darknesse.

13 Though I hope, yet the graue shall be mine house, and I shall make my bed in the darke.

14 I shall say to corruption, Thou art my father, and to the worme, Thou art my mother and my sister.

15 Where is then now my hope? or who shall consider the thing that I hoped for?

16 They shall goe downe into the bottom of the pit: surely it shall lie together in the dust.

1 Iob speaketh to them three that came to comfort him. m That is, haue brought the sorow in stead of comfort. n Though I should hope to come from aduersitie to prosperitie, as your discourse pretendeth. o I haue no more hope in father, mother, sister, or any worldly thing: for the dust and wormes shall be to me in stead of them. p All worldly hope and prosperitie faile, which you say, are only signes of Gods fauour: but seeing, that these things perish, I set my hope in God, and in the life euerlasting.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Bildad rehearseth the paines of the unfaithfull and wicked.

T hen answered Bildad the Shubite, and sayd,

2 When wilt thou make an end of your words? b cause vs to vnderstand, and then we will speake.

3 Wherefore are we counted as beasts, and are vile in your sight?

4 Thou art as one that teareth his soule in his anger. Shall the earth be forsaken for thy sake? or the rocke remoued out of his place?

5 Yea, the light of the wicked shall be quenched, and the sparke of his fire shall not shine.

6 The light shall be darke in his dwelling, and his candle shall be put out with him.

7 The steps of his strength shall be restrained, and his owne counsell shall cast him downe.

8 For hee is taken in the net by his feete, and he walketh vpon the snares.

9 The gren shall take him by the heele, and the thiefe shall come vpon him.

10 A snare is laid for him in the ground, and a trap for him in the way.

11 Fearefulnesse shall make him afraid on every side, and shall driue him to his feet.

12 His strength shall be as famine: and destruction shall be ready at his side.

13 It shall deuoure the inner parts of his skinne, and the first borne of death shall deuoure his strength.

14 His hope shall be rooted out of his dwelling, and shall cause him to goe to the King of feare.

15 Feare shall dwell in his house (because it is not his) and brimstone shall be scattered vpon his habitation.

16 His rootes shall be dried vpon beneath, and aboue shall his branch be cut downe.

17 His remembrance shall perishe from the earth, and he shall haue no name in the streete.

18 They shall driue him out of the light vnto darkenesse, and chafe him out of the world.

19 Hee shall neither haue sonne nor nephew among his people, nor any posteritie in his dwellings.

20 The posteritie shall be astonished at his day, and feare shall come vpon the ancient.

21 Surely such are the habitations of the wicked, and this is the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

2 Iob reproveth his friends, 15 and reciteth his miseries and grievous paines. 25 He assureth himselfe of the generall resurrection.

B ut Iob answered, and sayd,

2 How long will ye bere my soule, and torment me with words?

3 Yee haue now renne times reproched me, and are not ashamed: yee are impudent toward me.

4 And though I had in deed erred, mine error remaineth with me.

5 But indeed if you will aduance your selues against me, and rebuke me for my reproch,

6 Know now, that God hath overthrown mee, and hath compassed mee with his net.

7 Behold, I cry out of violence, but I haue none answer: I cry, but there is no iudgement.

8 Yee hath hedged by my way that I cannot passe, and yee hath let darkenesse in my paths.

9 Yee hath spoiled mee of mine honour, and taken the crowne away from mine head.

10 Yee hath destroyed mee on every side, and I am gone: and he hath remoued mine hope like a tree.

11 And he hath kindled his wrath against me, and counteth me as one of his enemies.

12 His armies came together, and made their way vpon mee, and camped about my tabernacle.

13 Yee hath remoued my brethren farre from mee, and also mine acquaintance were strangers vnto me.

14 My neighbours haue forsaken me, and my familiars haue forgotten me.

15 They that dwell in mine house, and my maydes tooke mee for a stranger: for I was a stranger in their sight.

16 I called my servant, but he would not i Which were hers and mine.

k Besides these great losses and most cruell vnkindnesse, he was touched in his owne person as followeth.
l All my flesh was consumed.
m Seeing I haue these iust causes to complaine, condemne mee not as an hypocrite, especially ye which should comfort me. n Is it not enough that God doth punish me, except you by reproches increase my sorrow?
o To see my body punished, except yee trouble my minde?
p He protesteth that notwithstanding his sore passions, his religion is perfect, and that he is not a blasphemer, as they iudged him.
q I doe not so iustifie my selfe before the world, but I knowe that I shall come before the great iudge, who shall be my deliuerer, and Sauour.
r Herein Job declareth plainly that he had a full hope, that both the soule and body should enjoy the presence of God in the last resurrection.
s Though his friends thought that hee was but persecuted of God for his sinnes, yet he declareth that there was a deeper consideration: to wit, the triall of his faith and patience, and so to be an example for others.
t God will be reuenged of this hastie iudgement, whereby yee condemne me.

answered, though I prayed him with my mouth.
17 My breath was strange vnto my wife, though I prayed her for the childrens sake of mine owne body.
18 The wicked also despised me, & when I rose, they spake against me.
19 All my secret friends abhorred mee, and they whom I loued, are turned against mee.
20 My bone cleaueth to my skinne, and to my flesh, and I haue escaped with the skinne of my teeth.
21 Haue pittie vpon me: haue pittie vpon me, (O yee my friends) for the hand of God hath touched mee.
22 Why doe ye persecute mee as God? and are not satisfied with my flesh?
23 Oh that my wordes were now written: Oh that they were written enen in a booke, 24 And grauen with an yron pen in lead, or in stone for ever!
25 For I am sure that my Redeemer liueth, and he shall stand the last on the earth.
26 And though after my skinne wormes destroy this body, yet shall I see God: in my flesh.
27 Whom I my selfe shall see, and mine eyes shall behold, and none other for mee, though my reines are consumed within mee.
28 But ye sayd, Why is hee persecuted? And there was a deepe matter in me.
29 Be yee afrayd of the sword: for the sword will be reuenged of wickednesse, that ye may know that there is a iudgement.

CHAP. XX.

1 Zophar sheweth that the wicked and the countenances shall haue a short end, 22 Though for a time they flourish.

Then answered Zophar the Naamathite, and sayd,
2 Doubtlesse my thoughts cause mee to answer, and therefore I make haste.
3 I haue heard the correction of my reproch: therefore the spirit of mine vnderstanding causeth me to answer.
4 Knowest thou not this of old? and since God placed man vpon the earth,
5 That the reioycing of the wicked is short, and that the top of hypocrites is but a moment?
6 Though his excellencie mount vp to the heauen, and his head reach vnto the cloudes, 7 Yet shall hee perish for ever, like his dung, and they which haue seene him shall say, Where is he?
8 Heer shall flee away as a dreame, and they shall not finde him, and shall passe away as a vision of the night.

9 So that the eye which had seene him, shall do so no more, and his place shall see him no more.

10 His children shall flatter the poore, and his hand shall restore his substance.

11 His bones are full of the sinne of his youth, and it shall lie downe with him in the dust.

12 When wickednesse was sweet in his mouth, and he hid it vnder his tongue,

13 And fauoured it, and would not forsake it, but kept it close in his mouth, 14 Then his meat in his bowels was turned: the gall of Aspes was in the middes of him.

15 Hee hath deuoured substance, and he shall vomite it: for God shall draw it out of his belly.

16 Hee shall sucke the gall of Aspes, and the vipers tongue shall slay him.

17 Hee shall not see the rivers, nor the floods and streames of hony and butter.

18 Hee shall restore his labour, and shall deuoure no more: euen according to the substance shall be his exchange, and he shall enjoy it no more.

19 For hee hath vndone many: hee hath forsaken the poore, and hath spoiled houses which he builded not.

20 Surely hee shall feele no quietnesse in his body, neither shall hee reuerue of that which he desired.

21 There shall none of his meat be left: therefore none shall hope for his goods.

22 When he shall be filled with his abundance, hee shall be in paine, and the hand of all the wicked shall assaile him.

23 He shall bee about to fill his belly, but God shall send vpon him his fierce wrath, and shall cause to raine vpon him, euen vpon his meate.

24 He shall flee from the yron weapons, and the bow of Steele shall strike him through.

25 The arrow is drawen out, and cometh forth of the body, and shyneth of his gall, so feare cometh vpon him.

26 All darkenesse shall be hid in his secret places: the fire that is not blowen, shall deuoure him, & that which remaineth in his tabernacle, shall be destroyed.

27 The heauen shall declare his wickednes, and the earth shall rise vp against him.

28 The increase of his house shall goe away: it shall flow away in the day of his wrath.

29 This is the portion of the wicked man from God, and the heritage that hee shall haue of God for his wordes.

after, God will take it from them, and cause them to make restitution, so that it is but an exchange. k Hee shall leaue nothing to his posteritie. l The wicked shall neuer be in rest: for one wicked man shall seeke to destroy another. m Some read, vpon his flesh, alluding to Iob, whose flesh was smitten with a scab. n Some reade of the quier. o All feare and sorrow shall light vpon him, when hee thinketh to escape. p That is, fire from heauen, or the fire of Gods wrath. q Meaning the children of the wicked shall flow away like riuers, and be dispersed in diuers places. r Thus God will plague the wicked. s Against God, thinking to excuse himselfe, and to escape Gods hand.

c Whereas the father through ambition and tyranny oppressed the poore, children through pouerty and misery shall seeke fauour at the poore.
d So that the thing which hee hath taken away by violence shall be restored againe by force.
e Meaning, that he shall cary nothing away with him, but his sin.
f As poison that is sweet in the mouth, bringeth destruction, when it cometh into the body: so all vice at the first is pleasant, but afterward God turneth it to destruction.
g He compareth euil gottē goods to the venime of Aspes, which serpent is most dangerous: noting that Iobs great riches were not truly come by, and therefore God did plague him iustly for the same.
h Though God giue to all other abundance of his blessings, yet he shall haue no part thereof.
i That is, these raueners and spoylers of the poore shall enjoy their theft but for a time: for

CHAP. XXI.

7 Iob declareth how the prosperitie of the wicked maketh them proud: 15 Inasmuch that they blaspheme God. 16 Their destruction is at hand. 23 None ought to be indged wicked for affliction, neither good for prosperity.

B At Iob answered, and said,

2 Heare diligently my wordes, and this shall be in stead of your consolations.

3 Suffer mee that I may speake, and when I haue spoken, mocke on.

4 Doe I direct my talke to man? If it were so, how should not my spirit be troubled?

5 Marke mee, and bee abashed, and lay your hand vpon your mouth.

6 Euen when I remember, I am afraid, and feare taketh hold on my flesh.

7 Wherefore doe the wicked live, and waxe old, and grow in wealth?

8 Their seede is established in their sight with them, and their generation before their eyes.

9 Their houses are peaceable without feare, and the rod of God is not vpon them.

10 Their bullocke gendereth, and saileth not: their cow calueth, and calteth not her calfe.

11 They send forth their children like sheepe, and their sonnes daunce.

12 They take the tabret and harpe, and reioyce in the sound of the Organs.

13 They spend their dayes in wealth, and suddenly they goe downe to the graue.

14 They say also vnto God, Depart from vs: for we desire not the knowledge of thy wayes.

15 Altho is the Almighty, that we should serue him? and what profit should wee haue, if we should pray vnto him?

16 Loe, their wealth is not in their hand, therefore let the counsell of the wicked bee farre from me.

17 How oft shall the candle of the wicked bee put out? and their destruction come vpon them? he will diuide their liues in his wrath.

18 They shall bee as stubble before the winde, and as chaffe that the storme carrieth away.

19 God will lay by the sorrow of the father for his children: when he rewardeth him, he shall know it.

20 His eyes shall see his destruction, and hee shall drinke of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what pleasure hath he in his house after him, when the number of his monetys is cut off?

22 Shall any teach God knowledge, who indgeth the highest things?

23 One dieth in his full strength, bring in all ease and prosperity.

a Your diligent marking of my words, shall beto me a great consolation.

b As though he would say, I doe not talke with man, but with God, who will not answere me, and therefore my mind must needs be troubled.

c He chargeth them as though they were not able to comprehend this his feeling of Gods iudgement, and exhorteth them therefore to silence.

d Iob proueth against his aduersaries, that God punisheth not straightway the wicked, but oft times giueth them long life and prosperity, so that we must not iudge God iust or vniust by the things that appeare to our eye.

e They haue store of children, lusty, and healthfull: and in these points he answereth to that which Zophar alledged before.

f Not being tormented with long sickness.

g They desire nothing more then to be exempt from all subiection that they should beare to God: this Iob sheweth his aduersaries, that if they reason only by that which is seene by common experience, the wicked that hate God, are better dealt withall, then they that loue him. h It is not their owne, but God onely lendeth it vnto them. i God keepe me from their prosperitie. k When God recompenseth his wickednes, he shall know that his prosperity was but vanitie. l Who sendeth to the wicked prosperity, and punisheth the godly. m Meaning, the wicked.

24 His breasts are full of milke, and his bones runne full of marrow.

25 And another dieth in the bitterness of his soule, and neuer eateth with pleasure.

26 They shall sleepe both in the dust, and the wormes shall couer them.

27 Behold, I know your thoughts, and the enterpises, wherewith ye doe me wrong.

28 For ye say, Where is the Princes house? and where is the Tabernacle of the wicked dwelling?

29 May ye not aske them that goe by the way? and ye cannot denie their signes.

30 But the wicked is kept vnto the day of destruction, and they shall bee brought forth to the day of wrath.

31 Who shall declare his way to his face, and who shall reward him for that he hath done?

32 Yet shall he be brought to the grane, and remaine in the heape.

33 The slime valley shall be sweet vnto him, and euery man shall draw after him, as before him there were innumerable.

34 How then comfort ye me in vaine, seeing in your answeres there remaine but lies?

wicked flourish heere, yet God will punish him in the last day. f Though men doe flatter him, and none dare reprove him in this world, yet death is a token, that God will bring him to an account. g He shall be glad to lie in a slime pit, which before could not bee content with a royall pallace. u Saying, that the iust in this world haue prosperity, and the wicked aduersity.

CHAP. XXII.

2 Eliphaz affirmeth that Iob is punished for his sinnes. 6 He accuseth him of unmercifalnesse. 13 And that he denied Gods providence. 21 He exhorteth him to repentance.

Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered, and said,

2 May a man be profitable vnto God, as he that is wile, may be profitable to himselfe?

3 Is it any thing vnto the Almighty, that thou art righteous? or is it profitable to him, that thou makest thy wayes vpright?

4 Is it for feare of thee that he will accule thee? or goe with thee into iudgement?

5 Is not thy wickednes great, and thine iniquities innumerable?

6 For thou hast taken the pledge from thy brother for naught, & spoiled the clothes of the naked.

7 To such as were weary, thou hast not given water to drinke, and hast with drawen bread from the hungry.

8 But the mighty man had the earth, and he that was in authoritie dwelt in it.

9 Thou hast cast out widowes empty, and the armes of the fatherlesse were broken.

10 Therefore snares are round about thee, and feare shall suddenly trouble thee:

11 And darkness that thou shouldest not see, and abundance of waters shall couer thee.

12 Is not God one? he is in the heauen: and but wrong. e Thou hast not onely not shewed pittie, but oppressed them. f That is, manifold afflictions. g Hee accuseth Iob of impiety and contempr of God, as though hee would say, Iob, if thou passe not for men, yet consider the height of Gods maiestie.

Iob exhorted to repentance.

h That so much the more by that excellent worke thou mayest feare God, and reuerence him. i He reproveth Iob as though he denied Gods providence, and that he could not see the things that were done in this world. k How God hath punished them from the beginning? l He proueth Gods providence by the punishment of the wicked, whom he taketh away before they can bring their wicked purposes to passe. m He answereth to that which Iob had sayd, Chap. 3. 1. 7. that the wicked haue prospered in this world: desiring that hee might not be partaker of the like. n The iust reioyce at the destruction of the wicked for two causes: first because God sheweth himselfe iudge of the world, and by this meanes continueth his honour and glory: secondly, because God sheweth that he hath care over his, in that he punisheth their enemies. o That is, the state and preservation of the godly is hid vnder Gods wings. p Meaning, of the wicked. q He exhorteth Iob to repentance and to returne to God. r God will restore vnto thee all thy substance. s Which shall be in abundance like dust. t That is, the fauour of God. u God will deliuer his when the wicked are destroyed round about them, as in the flood, and in Sodome. x God will deliuer a whole countrey from perill, euen for the iust mans sake.

beholde the height of the starres how high they are.

13 But thou sayest, How should God know? can hee iudge through the darke cloude?

14 The cloude hid him that he cannot see, and he walketh in the circle of heauen.

15 Hast thou marked the way of the world, wherein wicked men haue walked?

16 Which were cut downe before the time, whose foundation was as a riuer that ouerflowed:

17 Which said vnto God, Depart from vs, and asked what the Almighty could doe for them.

18 Yet he filled their houses with good things: but let the counsell of the wicked be farre from me.

19 The righteous shall see them, and shall reioyce, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorn.

20 Surely our substance is hid: but the fire hath deuoured the remnant of them.

21 Therefore acquaint thy selfe, I pray thee, with him, and make peace: thereby thou shalt haue prosperity.

22 Receiue, I pray thee, the Law of his mouth, and lay by his words in thine heart.

23 If thou returne to the Almighty, thou shalt be built up, and thou shalt put iniquity farre from thy Tabernacle.

24 Thou shalt lay by gold for dust, and the golde of Ophir, as the flints of the riuers.

25 Yea, the Almighty shall be thy defence, and thou shalt haue plenty of silver.

26 And thou shalt then delight in the Almighty, and life by thy voyce vnto God.

27 Thou shalt make thy prayer vnto him, and he shall heare thee, and thou shalt render thy vowes.

28 Thou shalt also decreet a thing, and he shall establish it vnto thee, and the light shall shine vpon thy wayes.

29 When others are cast downe, then shalt thou say, I am lifted up: and God shall saue the humble person.

30 The innocent shall deliuer the wicked, and it shall be preserved by the purenesse of thine hands.

3 Would God yet I knew how to finde him, I would enter vnto his place.

4 I would pleade the cause before him, and fill my mouth with arguments.

5 I would know the wordes that hee would answer mee, and would vnderstand what he would say vnto me.

6 Would hee pleade against me with his great power? No, but hee would put strength in me.

7 Where the righteous might reason with him, so I should be deliuered for euer from my iudge.

8 Behold, if I goe to the East, he is not there: if to the West, yet I cannot perceiue him:

9 If to the North where hee worketh, yet I cannot see him: he will hide himselfe in the South, and I cannot behold him.

10 But hee knoweth my way, and trieth me, and I shall come forth like the gold.

11 My foote hath followed his steps: his way haue I kept, and haue not declined.

12 Neither haue I departed from the commandment of his lips, & I haue esteemed the wordes of his mouth more then mine appointed foodes.

13 Yet hee is in one minde, and who can turne him? yea, hee doeth what his minde desireth.

14 For he will performe that which is decreed of me, and many such things are with him.

15 Therefore I am troubled at his presence, and in considering it, I am afraid of him.

16 For God hath softened mine heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me.

17 For I am not cut off in darknesse, but he hath hid the darknesse from my face.

God doth visite him for his profit. g His word is more precious vnto me, then the meate wherewith the body is sustained. h Iob confesseth that at this present he felt not Gods fauour, and yet was assured that hee had appointed him to a good end. i In many points man is not able to attaine to Gods iudgements. k That I should not be without feare. l He sheweth the cause of his feare, which is, that he being in trouble, seeth none end, neither yet knoweth the cause.

2 Iob describeth the wickednesse of men, and sheweth what curse belongeth to the wicked. 12 How all things are gouerned by Gods providence, 17 And the destruction of the wicked.

H ow should not the times be hid from the Almighty, seeing that they which know him, see not his dayes?

CHAP. XXVII.

3 The constancie and perfectnesse of Iob. 13 The reward of the wicked and of the tyrants.

Moreouer Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 The liuing God hath taken away my iudgement: for the Almighty hath put my soule in bitternesse.

3 Yet so long as my breath is in me, and the Spirit of God in my nostrils,

4 My lippes surely shall speake no wickednesse, and my tongue shall vtter no deceit.

5 God forbid, that I should iustifie you: vntill I die, I will neuer take away mine innocencie from my selfe.

6 I will keepe my righteousness, and will not forsake it: mine heart shall not reprooue me of my dayes.

7 Mine enemy shall bee as the wicked, and he that riseth against me, as the vnrigh- teous.

8 For what hope hath the hypocrite when he hath heaped vp riches, if God take away his soule?

9 Will God heare his cry, when trouble commeth vpon him?

10 Will he set his delight on the Almighty: will he call vpon God at all times?

11 I will teach you what is in the hand of God, and I will not conceale that which is with the Almighty.

12 Behold, all ye your selues haue seene it: why then doe you thus vanish in vanitie.

13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the heritage of tyrants, which they shall receiue of the Almighty.

14 If his children bee in great number, the sword shall destroy them, and his posteritie shall not be satisfied with bread.

15 His remnant shall be buried in death, and his widowes shall not weepe.

16 Though he should heape vp siluer as the dust, and prepare rayment as the clay, 17 Hee may prepare it, but the iust shall put it on, and the innocent shall diuide the siluer.

18 Hee buildeth his house as the moth, and as a lodge that the watchman maketh.

19 When the rich man sleeperh, he shall not bee gathered to his fathers: they opened their eyes, and he was gone.

20 Terrours shall take him as waters, and a tempest shall cary him away by night.

21 The East wind shall take him away, and hee shall depart: and it shall hurle him out of his place.

22 And God shall cast vpon him and not spare, though hee would faine flee out of his hand.

23 Euery man shall clasp their hands at him, and hisse at him out of their place.

a Hee hath so fore afflicted me, that men cannot iudge of mine vprightnesse: for they iudge onely by outward signes.

b Howsoeuer men iudge of me, yet will I not speake contrary to that which I haue sayd, and so doe wickedly in betraying the truth.

c Which condemne mee as a wicked man, because the hand of God is vpon me.

d I will not confesse that God doth thus punish mee for my finnes.

f What advantage hath the dissembler to gaine neuer so much, seeing hee shall lose his owne soule?

g That is, what God referueth to himselfe, and whereof he giueth not the knowledge to all.

h That is, these secret iudgements of God, and yet doe not vnderstand them.

i Why maintaine you then this error?

k Thus will God order the wicked, and punish him euen vnto his posterity.

l None shall lament him.

m Which breedeth in another mans possession or garment, but is soone shaken out. n He meaneth that the wicked tyrants shall not haue a quiet death, nor be buried honourably.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Iob sheweth that the wisedome of God is vnsearchable.

The siluer surely hath his beine, and the gold his place, where they take it.

2 Iron is taken out of the dust, & brasse is molten out of the stone.

3 God putteth an end to darknesse, and he trieth the perfection of all things: he setteth a bond of darknesse, and of the shadow of death.

4 The flood breaketh out against the inhabitant, and the waters forgotten of the foote, being higher then man, are gone away.

5 Out of the same earth cometh bread, and vnder it, as it were fire is turned vp.

6 The stones thereof are a place of sapphires, and the dust of it is gold.

7 There is a path which no fowle hath knownen, neither hath the kites eye seene it.

8 The lions whelps haue not walked it, nor the lyon passed thereby.

9 He putteth his hand vpon the rocks, & ouerthroweth the mountaines by the rootes.

10 Hee breaketh riuers in the rockes, and his eye seeth euery precious thing.

11 He bindeth the floods that they do not ouerflow, and the thing that is hid, bringeth he to light.

12 But where is wisedome found? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof: for it is not found in the laud of the liuing.

14 The depth saith, It is not in me: the sea also saith, It is not with mee.

15 Gold shall not be ginen for it, neither shall siluer be weighed for the price thereof.

16 It shall not be valued with the wedge of gold of Ophir, nor with the precious onix, nor the saphir.

17 The gold nor the cristall shall be equal vnto it, nor the exchange shall be for plate of fine gold.

18 No mention shall be made of coral, nor of the gabills: for wisedome is more precious then pearles.

19 The topaz of Ethiopia shall not bee equall vnto it, neither shall it be valued with the wedge of pure gold.

20 Whence then cometh wisedome? and where is the place of vnderstanding?

21 Seeing it is hid from the eyes of all the liuing, and is hid from the fowles of the heauen?

22 Destruction and death say, Wee haue heard the same thereof with our eares.

23 But God vnderstandeth the way thereof, and hee knoweth the place thereof.

24 For hee beholdeth the endes of the world, and seeth all that is vnder heauen,

25 To make the weight of the winds, and to weigh the waters by measure.

26 When he made a decree for the raine, and a way for the lightning of the thunders,

27 Then did he see it, and counted it: he prepared it and also considered it.

rall meanes, whereby man might attaine to the heauenly wisedome, which he meaneth by the fowles that flie hie. m He maketh God onely the authour of this wisedome, and the giuer thereof.

a His purpose is to declare that man may attaine in this world to diuers secrets of nature, but man is neuer able to comprehend the wisedome of God.

b There is nothing but it is compassed with in certain limits, and hath an end, but Gods wisedome.

c Meaning, him that dwelleth thereby.

d Which a man cannot wade thorow.

e That is, corne, and vnderneath is brimstone, or cole, which easily conceiueth fire.

f He alludeth to the mines and secrets of nature which are vnder the earth, where into neither foules nor beasts can enter.

g After that hee hath declared the wisedome of God in the secrets of nature, he describeth his power.

h Though Gods power and wisedome may be vnderstood in earthly things, yet his heauenly wisedome cannot be attained vnto.

i It is too high a thing for man to attaine vnto in this world.

k It can neither bee bought for gold nor precious stones, but is onely the gift of God.

l Which is thought to bee a kind of precious stone.

m Meaning, that there is no natural meanes, whereby man might attaine to the heauenly wisedome, which he meaneth by the fowles that flie hie.

n He maketh God onely the authour of this wisedome, and the giuer thereof.

Prouerb. 1. 7.

o He declareth that man hath so much of this heavenly wisdom, as he sheweth by fearing God and departing from euill, 28 And vnto men he said, Behold, * the feare of the Lord is wisdom, and to depart from euill is vnderstanding.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Iob complaineth of the prosperitie of the time past. 7. 21 His authoritie, 12 iustice and equitie.

S Iob proceeded and continued his parable, saying,

2 O that I were as * in times past, when God preserued me!

3 When his * light shined vpon mine head: and when by his light I walked thorough the * darkenesse,

4 As I was in the dayes of my youth, when * Gods prouidence was vpon my tabernacle:

5 When the Almighty was yet with me, and my children round about me:

6 When I washed my pathes * with butter, and when the rocke powred me out riuers of oyle:

7 When I went out to the gate, euen to the iudgement seat, and when I caused them to prepare my seat in the street.

8 The yong men saw me, and hid themselves, and the aged arose, and stood vp.

9 The princes stayed talke, and laid their hand on their * mouth.

10 The voyce of princes was hid, & their tongue cleaued to the roofof their mouth.

11 And when the * eare heard me, it blessed me: and when the eye saw me, it gaue witness to * me.

12 For I deliuered the * poore that cryed, and the fatherlesse, and him that had none to helpe him.

13 * The blessing of him that was ready to perish, came vpon me, and I caused the widowes heart to reioyce.

14 I put on * iustice, and it covered me, my iudgement was as a robe, and a crowne.

15 I was the eyes to the blind, and I was the feet to the lame.

16 I was a father vnto the poore, and when I knew not the cause, I sought it out diligently.

17 I brake also the chawes of the vnrighteous man, and pluckt the pray out of his teeth.

18 Then I said, I shall die in my * nest, and I shall multiply my dayes as the sand.

19 For my roote is * spread out by the water, and the dew shall lie vpon my branch.

20 My glory shall renew toward me, and my bow shall be restored in mine hand.

21 Vnto me men gaue eare, and waited, and held their tongue at my counsell.

22 After my words they replied not, and my talke * dropped vpon them.

23 And they wayted for mee, as for the raine, and they opened their mouth * as for the latter raine.

24 If I * laughed on them, they beleued it not: neither did they cause the light of my countenance * to fall.

25 I appointed out * their way, and did sit as chiefe, & dwelt as a king in the arme, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

25 I appointed out * their way, and did sit as chiefe, & dwelt as a king in the arme, and like him that comforteth the mourners.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Iob complaineth that he is contemned of the most contemptible, 11. 21 because of his aduersitie and affliction. 23 Death is the house of all flesh.

B At now they that are yonger then I, mocke mee: yea, they whole fathers I haue refused to let with the * dogges of my flocke.

2 For whereto should the strength of their hand haue serued me, seeing age * perished in them?

3 For pouertie and famine they were solitary, fleeing into the wilderness, which is darke, desolate and waste.

4 They cut vp // nettles by the bushes, and the iuniper rootes was their meate.

5 They were * chased forth from among men: they shouted at them, as at a chiefe.

6 Therefore they dwell in the cleftes of riuers, in the holes of the earth and rocks.

7 They roared among the bushes, and vnder the thistles they gathered themselves.

8 They were the children of scoles, and the children of villaines, which were more vile then the earth.

9 And now am I their * song, and I am their talke.

10 They abhorre me, and flee farre from me, and spare not to spit in my face.

11 Because that God hath loosed my * cord and humbled mee, & they haue loosed the bosome before me.

12 The youth rise vp at my right hand: they haue pusht my feet, and haue troden on me as on the * pathes of their destruction.

13 They haue destroyed my pathes: they tooke pleasure at my calamitie, they had none * helpe.

14 They came as a great breach of waters, and * vnder this calamitie they come on heapes.

15 Feare is turned vpon me: and they pursue my soule as the winde, and mine health passeth away as a cloud.

16 Therefore my soule is now * powred out vpon me, and the dayes of affliction haue taken hold on me.

17 * It pierceth my bones in the night, and my sinews take no rest.

18 For the great vehemencie is my garment changed, which compasseth me about as the collar of my coat.

19 * He hath cast me into the mire, and I am become like ashes and dust.

20 When I cry vnto thee, thou dost not heare mee, neither regardest mee, when I stand vp.

21 Thou turnest thy selfe * cruelly against me, & art enemie vnto me with the strength of thine hand.

22 Thou takest me vp and causest mee to ride vpon the * winde, and makest my an occasion against me.

23 My life faileth me, and I am as halfe dead, m Meaning, sorrow.

24 That is, God hath brought me into contempt. n Hee speaketh not thus to accuse God, but to declare the vehemencie of his affliction, whereby he was caryed beside himselfe.

q None can deliuer me thence, though they lament at my death r In stead of comforting, they mocked at me. f Not delighting in any worldly thing, no not so much as in the vie of the Sunne. e Lamenting them that were in affliction, and mouling others to pite them. u I am like the wild beasts that desire most solitary places. x With the heat of affliction.

¶ Strength to faile.

23 Surely I know that thou wilt bring me to death, and to the house appointed for all the liuing.
24 Doubtlesse none can stretch his hand vnto the graue, though they cry in his destruction.
25 Did not I weepe with him that was in trouble? was not my soule in heautnesse for the poore?
26 Yet when I looked for good, euill came vnto me: and when I waited for light there came darkenesse.
27 By bowels did boile without rest: for the dayes of affliction are come vpon me.
28 I went mourning without sunne: I stood vp in the congregation, and crept.
29 I am a brother to the dragons, and a companion to the ostriches.
30 My skinne is blacke vpon me, and my bones are burnt with heat.
31 Therefore mine harpe is turned to mourning, and mine organes into the voyce of them that weepe.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Iob reciteth the innocencie of his liuing, and number of his vertues, which declareth what ought to be the life of the iustfull.

a I kepe mine eyes from all wanton looks. b Would not God then haue punished me? c Iob declareth that the feare of God was a bridle to stay him from all wickednesse. d He sheweth wherein his vprightnesse standeth, that is, in as much as he was blamelesse before men, and sinned not against the second Table. e That is, hath accomplished the lust of mine eye. f According to the curse of the Law, Deu. 28. 33. g Let her bee made a slaue. h He sheweth that albeit man neglect the punishment of adultery, yet the wrath of God will neuer cease till such be destroyed. i When they thought themselves euill intreated by mee. k If I had oppressed others, how should I haue escaped Gods iudgement? l He was moued to shew picie vnto seruants, because they were Gods creatures, as he was,

I Made a covenant with mine eyes: why then should I thinke on a mayd?
2 For what portion should I haue of God from aboue? and what inheritance of the Almighty from on high?
3 Is not destruction to the wicked, and strange punishment to the workers of iniquitie?
4 Doeth not hee behold my wayes, and tell all my steps?
5 If I haue walked in vanitie, or if my foote hath made haste to deceit,
6 Let God weigh me in the iust balance, and he shall know mine vprightnesse.
7 If my step hath turned out of the way, or mine heart hath walked after mine eye, or if any blot hath cleaued to mine hands,
8 Let me sowe, and let another eat: yea, let my plants be rooted out.
9 If mine heart hath bene deceiued by a woman, or if I haue laid waite at the doore of my neighbour,
10 Let my wife grind vnto another man, and let other men bow downe vpon her:
11 For this is a wickednesse, and iniquitie to be condemned:
12 Yea, this is a fire that shall deuoure to destruction, and which shall roote out all mine increase.
13 If I did contemne the iudgement of my seruant, and of my mayde when they did contend with me, 14 What then shall I doe when God standeth vp? and when he shall visite mee, what shall I answer?
15 Hee that hath made me in the wombe, hath hee not made him? hath not he alone fashioned vs in the wombe?

16 If I restrained the poore of their desire, or haue caused the eyes of the widow to faile, 17 Or haue eaten my morsels alone, and the fatherlesse hath not eaten thereof, 18 (For from my youth he hath grown vp with me as with a father, and from my mothers wombe I haue bene a guide vnto her) 19 If I haue seene any perishe for want of clothing, or any poore without couering, 20 If his loynes haue not blessed mee, because hee was warmed with the fleece of my sheepe, 21 If I haue lift vpon mine hand against the fatherlesse, when I saw that I might helpe him in the gate, 22 Let mine arme fall from my shoulder, and mine arme be broken from the bone.
23 For Gods punishment was fearefull vnto mee, and I could not be deliuered from his highnesse.
24 If I made gold mine hope, or haue sayd to the wedge of gold, Thou art my confidence, 25 If I reioyced because my substance was great, or because mine hand had gotten much,
26 If I did behold the sunne, when it shined, or the moone walking in her brightnessse, 27 If mine heart did flatter me in secret, or if my mouth did kisse mine hand, 28 (This also had been an iniquitie to bee condemned: for I had denied the God aboue)
29 If I reioyced at his destruction that hated mee, or was moued to ioy when euill came vpon him, 30 Neither haue I suffered my mouth to sinne by wishing a curse vnto his soule.
31 Did not the men of my Tabernacle say, Who shall giue vs of his flesh? we cannot be satisfied.
32 The stranger did not lodge in the streete, but I opened my doores vnto him that went by the way.
33 If I haue hid my sinne, as Adam, concealing mine iniquitie in my bolome, 34 Though I could haue made afraid a great multitude, yet the most contemptible of the families did feare mee: so I kept silence, and went not out of the doore.
35 Oh, that I had some to heare me! behold my signe that the Almighty will witness for me: though mine aduersary should write a booke against me.
36 Would not I take it vpon my shoulder, and binde it as a crowne vnto me?
37 I will tell him the number of my goings, and goe vnto him as to a prince.

without answer: or if I haue grieved the soules of the matters thereof.

40 Let thistles grow in stead of wheate, and cockle in the stead of barley.

THE WORDES OF IOB ARE ENDED.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 Elihu reproveth them of folly. 8 Age maketh not a man wise, but the Spirit of God.

2 These three men ceased to answer Job, because he esteemed himselfe iust.

2 Then the wrath of Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite of y family of Ram, was kindled: his wrath, I say, was kindled against Job, because hee iustified himselfe more then God.

3 Also his anger was kindled against his three friends, because they could not find an answer, and yet condemned Job.

4 Now Elihu had waited till Job had spoken: for they were more ancient in yeeres then he.

5 So when Elihu saw that there was none answer in the mouth of the three men, his wrath was kindled.

6 Therefore Elihu the sonne of Barachel the Buzite, answered and said, I am yong in yeeres, and ye are ancient: therefore I doubted, and was afraid to shew you mine opinion.

7 For I sayd, The dayes shall speake, and the multitude of yeeres shall teach wisedome.

8 Surely there is a spirit in man, but the inspiration of the Almighty giueth vnderstanding.

9 Great men are not alway wise, neither doe the aged alway vnderstand iudgement.

10 Therefore I say, Heare me, and I will shew also mine opinion.

11 Behold, I did wait vpon your wordes, and hearkened vnto your knowledge, whyles you sought out reasons.

12 Yea, when I had considered you, loe, there was none of you that reproveth Job, nor answered his wordes:

13 Lett ye should say, We haue found wisedome: for God hath cast him downe, and no man.

14 Yet hath he not directed his wordes to me, neither will I answer him by your wordes.

15 Then they fearing, answered no more, but left off their talke.

16 When I had waited (for they spake not but stood still, and answered no more)

17 Then answered I in my tynes, and I shewed mine opinion.

18 For I am full of matter, and the spirit within me, compelleth me.

19 Behold, my belly is as the wine, which hath no vent, and like the new bottles that burst.

20 Therefore will I speake, that I may take breath: I will open my lips, and will answer.

21 I will not now accept the person of man, neither will I giue titles to man.

22 For I may not giue titles, lest my Maker should take me away suddenly.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elihu accuseth Job of ignorance. 14 He sheweth that God hath diuers meanes to instruct man, and to draw him from sinne. 19. 29. He offeash man, and suddenly deliuereth him. 26. Adam bringeth deliuered, giueth thanks to God.

Wherefore, Job, I pray thee, heare my talke, and hearken vnto all my wordes.

2 Behold, now I haue opened my mouth: my tongue hath spoken in my mouth.

3 My wordes are in the vnghtness of mine heart, and my lips shall speake purt knowledge.

4 The Spirit of God hath made mee, and the breath of the Almighty hath giuen me life.

5 If thou canst giue me answer, prepare thy selfe, and stand before me.

6 Behold, I am according to thy wish in Gods stead: I am also formed of the clay.

7 Behold, my terror shall not feare thee, neither shall my hand be heavy vpon thee.

8 Doubtlesse thou hast spoken in mine eares, and I haue heard the voyce of thy wordes:

9 I am cleane, without sinne: I am innocent, and there is none iniquitie in me.

10 Loe, he hath found occasions against me, and counted me for his enemye.

11 He hath put my feet in the stocks, and looketh narrowly vnto all my pathes.

12 Behold, in this hast thou not done right: I wil answer thee, that God is greater then man.

13 Why dost thou strine against him? for hee doeth not: giue account of all his matters.

14 For God speaketh once or twice, and one leeth it not.

15 In dreames and visions of the night, when sleepe falleth vpon men, & they sleepe vpon their beds,

16 Then hee openeth the eares of men, euen by their corrections, which hee had sealed, 17 That he might cause man to turne away from his enterprise, and that he might hide the pride of man.

18 And keepe backe his soule from the pit, and that his life should not passe by the sword.

19 Hee is also stricken with sorrow vpon his bed, and the griefe of his bones is sore, 20 So that his life cansteth him to abhorre bread, and his soule dauntie meate.

21 His flesh faileth that it cannot bee seene, and his bones which were not seene, clatter.

22 So his soule draweth to the graue, and his life to the buriers.

24 Then will he haue mercy vpon him, and will say, Deliuere him that he goe not downe into the pit: for I haue receiued a reconciliation.

25 Then shall his flesh bee as fresh as a childes, and shall returne as in the dayes of his youth.

26 We shall pray vnto God, and he will be fauourable vnto him, and he shall see his face with ioy: for hee will reuerce vnto man his righteousness.

27 He looketh vpon men, and if one say, I haue sinned, and peruerterd righteousness, and it did not profit me.

28 Wee will deliuer his soule from going into the pit, and his life shall see the light.

29 For, all these things will God worke: twise or thise with a man.

30 That hee may turne backe his soule from the pit, to be illumine in the light of the living.

31 Marke well, O Iob, and heare mee: keepe silence, and I will speake.

32 If there be matter, answere me, and speake: for I desire to iustifie thee.

33 If thou hast not, heare mee: hold thy tongue, and I will teach thee wisdom.

CHAP. XXXIII.

5 Elishu chargeth Iob that he called himselfe righteous. 12 He sheweth that God is iust in his iudgements. 24 God destroyeth the mightie. 30 By him the hypocrite reigneth.

Mozouer Elishu answered, and said, 2 Weare my wordes, yee wise men, and hearken vnto me, yee that haue knowledge.

3 For the eare tryeth the wordes, as the mouth tasteth meate.

4 Let vs seeke iudgement among vs, & let vs know among our selues what is good.

5 For Iob hath said, I am righteous, and God hath taken away my iudgement.

6 Should I lie in my right: my wound of the arrow is grievous without my sinne.

7 What man is like Iob, that drinketh scornewaters like water?

8 Which goeth in the company of them that worke iniquity, and walketh with wicked men?

9 For he hath said, It profiteth a man nothing, that he should walke with God.

g Meaning, that Iob was like to the wicked, because he seemed not to glorifie God, and submit himselfe to his iudgements. h He wresteth Iobs words, who said that Gods children are oft times punished in this world, and the wicked goe free. i That is, liue godly, as Gene. 5. 22.

10 Therefore hearken vnto me, yee men of wisdom, God forbid that wickednesse should bee in God, and iniquitie in the Almighty.

11 For he will render vnto man according to his worke, and cause euery one to find according to his way.

12 And certainly God will not doe wickedly, neither will the Almighty peruert iudgement.

13 Whom hath hee appointed ouer the earth beside himselfe: or who hath placed the whole world?

14 If hee set his heart vpon man, and gather vnto himselfe his spirit and his breath, 15 All flesh shall perishe together, and man shall returne vnto dust.

16 And if thou hast vnderstanding, heare this, and hearken to the voyce of my wordes.

17 Shall he that hateth iudgement, gouerne: and wilt thou iudge him wicked that is most iust?

18 Wilt thou say vnto a King, Thou art wicked: or to princes, Ye are vngodly?

19 How much lesse to him that accepteth not the persons of princes, & regardeth not the rich more then the poore: for they be all the worke of his hands.

20 They shall die suddenly, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and they shall passe forth, and take away the mighty without hand.

21 For his eyes are vpon the wayes of man, and he seeth all his goings.

22 There is no darkenesse nor shadow of death, that the workers of iniquitie might be hid therein.

23 For hee will not lay on man so much, that hee should enter into iudgement with God.

24 Hee shall breake the mighty without seeking, and shall set vp other in their stead.

25 Therefore shall he declare their works, he shall turne the might, and they shall bee destroyed.

26 Wee striketh them as wicked men in the places of the seers,

27 Because they haue turned backe from him, and would not consider all his wayes:

28 So that they haue caused the voyce of the poore to come vnto him, and hee hath heard the cry of the afflicted.

29 And when he giueth quietnesse, who can make trouble: and when hee hideth his face, who can behold him, whether it be by or on nations, or vpon a man onely?

30 Because the hypocrite doeth reigne, and because the people are feared.

31 Surely, it appertaineth vnto God to say, I haue pardoned, I will not destroy.

32 But if I see not, teach thou me: If I haue done wickedly, I will doe no more.

33 Will hee performe the thing throughoughly: for thou hast reprooued it, because neither were his wordes according to wile-dome.

36 I desire that Job may be ^d tried vnto the ende, touching the answers for wicked men.

37 For he ^e addeth rebellion vnto his sin:
he clappeth his hands among vs, and multi-plieth his wordes against God.

CHAP. XXXV.

6 Neither doeth godlinesse profit, or vngodlinesse hurt God, but man. 13 The wicked cry vnto God, and are not heard.

Elihu speake moreouer, and said,
2 Thinkest thou this right that thou hast said, I am ^a more righteous then God?

3 For thou hast said, What profiteth it thee, and what anaileth it mee, to purge mee from my sinne?

4 Therefore wilt I answere thee, and thy ^b companions with thee.

5 Looke vnto the heauen, and see, and behold the clouds, which are higher then thou.

6 If thou sinnest, what doest thou ^a against him, yea, when thy sinnes bee many, what doest thou vnto him?

7 If thou be righteous, what givest thou vnto him? or what receiveth hee at thine hand?

8 Thy wickednesse may hurt a man as thou art: and thy righteousnessse may profite the soune of man.

9 They cause many that are oppressed to ^c crie, which crie out for the violence of the mighty.

10 But none saith, Where is God that made me, which giueth songs in the night?

11 Which teacheth vs more then the beasts of the earth, and giveth vs more wile-dome then the foules of the heauen.

12 Then they crie because of the violence of the wicked, but ^d he answereth not.

13 Surely God wil not heare vanity, neither will the Almighty regard it.

14 Although thou sayest to God, Thou wilt not regard it, yet iudgement is before him: trust thou in him.

15 But now because his anger hath not withdrewen, nor called to count the euil with great extremitee,

16 Therefore Job ^b openeth his mouth in vaine, and multiplieth wordes without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Elihu sheweth the power of God, 6 and his iustice, 9 and wherefore he punisheth. 13 The propertie of the wicked.

Elihu also proceeded and said,
2 Suffer me a little, and I will instruct thee: for I haue yet to speake on Gods behalfe.

3 I will fetch ^a my knowledge a far off, and will attribute righteousnessse vnto my Maker.

4 For truly my wordes shall not be false and he that is ^b perfit in knowledge, speaketh with thee.

5 Beholde, the mighty God casteth away none that is ^c mightie and valiant of courage.

6 ^a He maintaineth not the wicked, but he giueth iudgement to the afflicted.

7 He withdraueth not his eyes from the righteous, but they are with ^b Kings in the throne, where he placeth them for ever: thus they are exalted.

8 And if they be bound in fetters and tied with the cords of affliction.

9 Then will he shew them their ^c worke and their sinis, because they haue bene proud.

10 He openeth also their eare to discipline, and commandeth them that they returne from iniquitie.

11 ^a If they obey and serue him, they shal end their dayes in prosperity, and their peres in pleasures.

12 But if they wil not obey, they shal passe by the sword, and perish: without knowledge.

13 But the hypocrites ^b of heart increase the wrath: for they call not when he bindeth them.

14 Their soule dieth in ^c youth, and their life among the whoremongers.

15 He deliuereth the poore in his affliction, and openeth their eare in trouble.

16 Euen so would he haue taken thee out of the strait place into a broad place and not shut vp beneath: and ^d that which resteth vpon thy table, had bene full of fat.

17 But thou art full of the ^e iudgement of the wicked, though iudgement and equity maintaine all things.

18 ^a For Gods wrath is, lest he should take thee away in thine abudance: for no multitude of gifts can deliuer thee.

19 Will he regard thy riches? hee regardeth not golde, nor all them that excell in strength.

20 ^b Be not carefull in the night, how he destroyeth the people out of their place.

21 Take thou heede, looke not to ^c iniquitie: for thou hast chosen it rather then afflic-tion.

22 Behold, God ^d reasteth by his power:
what teacher is like him?

23 Who hath appoynted to him his ^e way?
or who can say, Thou hast done wickedly?

24 Remember that thou magnifie his worke, which men behold.

25 All men see it, and men behold it: ^a a know him not, neither can the number of his peres be featched out.

shouldst forget God in thy wealth, and so perish. o Be not thou curious in seeking the cause of Gods iudgements, when he destroy-x That men can not come to the knowledge of the springs thereof.

y He sheweth that the raine hath double vse: the one that it declarerth Gods iudgements, when it doeth ouerflow any places, and the other that it maketh the land fruitful.

z That is, one cloude to dash against another.

a The cold vapour sheweth him: that is, the cloude of the hore exhalation, which being taken in the colde cloud, mounteth vp toward the place where the fire is, and so anger is kindled: that is, noise and thunder-claps.

a At the maruelling of the thunder and lightnings: whereby he declarerth that the faithfull are liuely touched with the maiesty of God, when they behold his workes.

q That is, the thunder, whereby he speaketh to men so waken their dulnes, and to bring them to the consideration of his workes.

e Meaning, the raine and thunders.

d So that neither small raine, nor great snow, nor any thing else commeth without Gods appointment.

s By raine and thunders God cause himen to keepe themselves within their houses.

f In Ebrew it is called the scattering wind because it driueth away the cloudes, and purgeth the ayre.

27 When he restraineth the drops of water, the raine pouereth downs by the vapour thereof.

28 Which raine the clouds doe drop, and fall abundantly vpon man.

29 Who can knowe the diuisions of the cloudes, and the thunders of his Tabernacle?

30 Behold, he spreadeth his light vpon it, and couereth the bottome of the sea.

31 For thereby he iudgeth the people, and giueth meat abundantly.

32 He couereth the light with the clouds, and commandeth them to goe against it.

33 His companion sheweth him thereof, and there is anger in rising vp.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Elihu proueth that the vnsearchable wisdom of God is manifest by his workes, 4 as by the thunders, the snow, 9 the whirlwinds, 11 and the raine.

A This also mine heart is astonished, and is moued out of his place.

2 Heare the sound of his voyce, and the noise that goeth out of his mouth.

3 He directeth it vnder the whole heauen, and his light vnto the ends of the world.

4 After it, a noise soundeth: he thundereth with the voyce of his maiesty, and he will not stay them when his voyce is heard.

5 God thundereth marvellously with his voyce: hee worketh great things, which we know not.

6 For he saith to the snow, Be thou vpon the earth: likewise to the small raine and to the great raine of his power.

7 With the force thereof he shutteth vp every man, that all men may knowe his worke.

8 Then the beasts goe into the den, and remaine in their places.

9 The whirlewinde commeth out of the South, and the cold from the Northwind.

10 At the breath of God the frost is giuen, and the breadth of the waters is made narrow.

11 He maketh also the cloudes to labour to water the earth, and scattereth the cloud of his light.

12 And it is turned about by his government, that they may doe whatioener he commandeth them vpon the whole world:

13 Whether it be for punishment, or for his land, or of mercy, he causeth it to come.

14 Hearken vnto this, O Iob: stand and consider the wondrous workes of God.

15 When he restraineth the drops of water, the raine pouereth downs by the vapour thereof.

16 Which raine the clouds doe drop, and fall abundantly vpon man.

17 Who can knowe the diuisions of the cloudes, and the thunders of his Tabernacle?

15 Didst thou know when God disposed them? and canst thou light of his cloude to shine?

16 Hast thou knowen the bartery of the cloud, and the wondrous workes of him that is perfect in knowledge?

17 Or how thy clothes are warme, when he maketh the earth quiet through y Southwind?

18 Hast thou stretched out the heauens which are strong, and as a molten glasse?

19 Tell vs what we shall say vnto him: for we cannot dispose our matter because of darkenesse.

20 Shall it be told him when I speake? or shall man speake when he shall be destroyed?

21 And now men see not the light, which shineth in the cloudes, but the wind passeth and clenseth them.

22 The brightnesse commeth out of the North: the praise thereof is to God which is terrible.

23 It is the Almighty: we cannot find him out: hee is excellent in power and iudgement, and abundant in iustice: he afflicteth not.

24 Let men therefore feare him: for hee will not regard any that are wise in their owne conceit.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God speaketh to Iob, and declareth the weaknesse of man in the consideration of his creatures, by whose excellencie the power, iustice, and providence of the Creator is knowne.

T Then answered the Lord vnto Iob out of the whirlewind, and said,

2 Who is this that darkeneth the counsel by words without knowledge?

3 Gird vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou vnto me.

4 Where wast thou when I layed the foundations of the earth: declare, if thou hast understanding.

1 The bounty and providence of God, which extendeth euen to young rauen, giueth man full occaſion to put his confidence in God. 37 Iob confeſſeth and humbleth himſelfe.

I will lay mine hand vpon my mouth. 38 Once haue I spoken, but I will answer no more, yea twice, but I will proceede no further.

CHAP. XL.

How weakes mans power is, being compared to the workes of God. 10 Whose power appeareth in the creation, and governing of the great beasts.

A Gaine, the Lord answered Job out of the whirlwind, and said, 2 Stirr vp now thy loynes like a man: I will demand of thee, & declare thou vnto me. 3 Wilt thou disanull my iudgement, or wilt thou confound me, that thou mayest be iustified? 4 Dost thou haue an arme like God? or dost thou thunder with a voyce like him? 5 Decke thy selfe now with white and excellencie, and aray thy selfe with beautie and glory. 6 Cast abroad the indignation of thy wrath, and behold euery one that is proud, and abase him. 7 Looke on euery one that is arrogant, and bring him lowe: and destroy the wicked in their place. 8 Hide them in the dust together, and binde their faces in a secret place. 9 Then will I confesse vnto thee, altho that thy right hand can saue thee. 10 Behold now Behemoth, (whom I made with thee) which eateth & graffe as an ore.

11 Behold now his strength in his loynes, and his force is in the nautle of his belly. 12 When hee taketh pleasure, his tail is like a cedar: the sinewes of his loynes are layed together. 13 His bones are like staues of brasse, and his small bones like staues of iron. 14 Hee is the first of the wayes of God: hee that made him, will make his way to approach vnto him. 15 Surely the mountains bring him forth graile, where all the beasts of the field play. 16 He lieth vnder the trees in the covert of the reede and fennes. 17 Can the eyes couer him with their shadow, or can the willowes of the river compasse him about? 18 Behold, hee holleth the riuer, and halseth not: he trusteth that he can draw by Jordan into his mouth. 19 He taketh it with his eyes, & thursteth his nose through whatsoeuer meeteth him. 20 Canst thou draw out Leviathan with an hook, or with a line which thou shalt cast downe vnto his tongue? 21 Canst thou cast an hook into his nose, canst thou pierce his lawes with an angle? 22 Wilt hee make many prayers vnto thee, or speake thee faire? 23 Can he make a covenant with thee, and wilt thou take him as a seruant for euer? 24 Wilt thou play with him as with a bird, or wilt thou binde him for thy maidens? 25 Shall the companions banquet with him? shall they diuide him among the meechants? 26 Canst thou fill the basket with his kinne, or the shilpanier with his head? 27 Lay thine hand vpon him: remember the battell, and doe no more so. 28 Behold, his hope is in vaine, for shall not one perish euen at the sight of him?

CHAP. XLI.

By the greatness of this monster Leviathan Gods strength is declared, and his power, which nothing can resist.

None is so fierce that dare stirre him up. 1 Leviathan is hee then that can stand before mee? 2 Who hath prevented me that I should make an end? all vnder heauen is mine. 3 I will not keepe silence concerning his parts, nor his power, nor his comely proportion. 4 Who can discover the face of his garment? or who shall come to him with a double biddle? 5 Who shall open the doores of his face: his teeth are fearefull round about. 6 The maiestie of his scales is like strong shields, and are sure sealed. 7 One is set to another, that no winde can come betwene them. 8 One is ioyned to another: they sticke together that they cannot be sundered. 9 His neckings make the light to shine, & his eyes are like the eye lids of the morning. 10 Out of his mouth goe lampes, and sparkes of fire scape out. 11 Out of his nostrils cometh out smoke, h He is one of the chiefest works of God among the beasts. i Though man dare not come neere him, yet God can kill him. k He drinketh at leisure and feareth no body. l Meaning, the whale. m Because hee feareth lest thou shouldst take him. n To doe thy businesse, and be at thy commandement? o If thou once consider the danger, thou wilt not meddle with him. p To wit, that trusteth to take him. q If none dare stand against a whale which is but a creature, who is able to compare with God? Creator? b Who hath taught me to accomplish my worke? c The parts and members of the whale. d That is, who dare pull off his skinne? e Who dare put a bridle in his mouth? f Who dare look in his mouth? g That is, casteth out flames of fire.

b Nothing is painefull or hard vnto him.

i His skin is so hard that helieth wich as great ease on y stones, as in the mire. k Either he maketh the sea to seeme as it boiled by his wallowing, or else he spouteth water in such abundance, as it would seeme that the sea boiled. l That is, a white froth and shining streame before him. m He despiseth all other beasts and monsters, & is the proudest of all others.

as out of a boyling pot of carnation.
12 His head maketh the coales burne: for a flame goeth out of his mouth.
13 In his necke remaineth strength, and labour is rejected before his face.
14 The members of his body are torned: they are strong in themselves, and cannot be moued.
15 His heart is as strong as a stone, and as hard as the nether millstone.
16 He might be afraid of his mightie, and for feare they faint in themselves.
17 When the word hath touch him, hee will not rile vp, nor for the heate, hart nor haberdagon.
18 He esteemeth yron as straw, and brasse as rotten wood.
19 The archer cannot make him flie: the stones of the sling are turned into stubble vnto him.
20 The darts are counted as straw: and he laugheth at the making of the spear.
21 Sharpe stones are vnder him, and he spreadeth sharpe things vpon the mire.
22 He maketh the depth to be like a pot, & maketh the straile like a pot of oylment.
23 He maketh a path to shine after him: one would thinke the depth as an hoare head.
24 In the earth there is none like him, he is made without feare.
25 We beholde all high things: he is a king ouer all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

6 The repentance of Iob 9 He prayeth for his friends. 12 His goods are increased double vnto him. 13 His children, age and death.

a No thought so secret, but thou doest see it, nor any thing that thou thinkest, but thou canst bring it to passe. b Is there any but I? for this God laid to his charge, cha. 38. c I confesse here in mine ignorance, and that I spake I wist not what. d Hee sheweth that he will be Gods scholler to learne of him. e I knew thee only before by heare say: but now thou hast caused me to feele what thou art to me: that I may resigne my selfe ouer vnto thee.

Then Iob answered the Lord, and said,
2 I know that thou canst doe all things, and that there is no thought hid from thee.
3 Who is he that hideth counsell without knowledge? therefore haue I spoken that I vnderstand not, even things too wonderful for me: and which I knew not.
4 Heare, I beseech thee, I will speake: I will demand of thee, & thou shalt declare thou vnto me.
5 I haue heard of thee by the hearing of the eare, but now mine eye seeth thee.

6 Therefore I abhorre my selfe, and repent in dust and ashes.
7 Now after that the Lord had spoken these wordes vnto Iob, the Lord also layde vnto Eliphaz the Temanite, My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends: for ye haue not spoken of mee the thing that is right, like my seruant Iob.
8 Therefore take vnto you now seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes, and go to my seruant Iob, and offer vp for your selues a burnt offering, and my seruant Iob shall pray for you: for I will accept him, lest I should put you to shame, because ye haue not spoken of me the thing which is right, like my seruant Iob.
9 So Eliphaz the Temanite, and Bildad the Shuhite, and Zophar the Naamathite went, and did according as the Lord had said vnto them, and the Lord accepted Iob.
10 Then the Lord turned the captivity of Iob, when he prayed for his friends, also the Lord gaue Iob twice so much as he had before.
11 Then came vnto him all his brethren, and all his sisters, and all they that had bene of his acquaintance before, and did eat bread with him in his house, & had compassion of him, and comforted him for all the euill that the Lord had brought vpon him, and euery man gaue him a piece of money, and euery one an earring of gold.
12 So the Lord blessed the last dayes of Iob more then the first: for he had fourteene thousand sheepe, and are thousand camels, and a thousand yoke of Oxen, & a thousand asses.
13 He had also seuen sonnes, and three daughters.
14 And hee called the name of one Reemab, and the name of the second Keziab, and the name of the third Kerenhapuch.
15 In all the land were no women found so faire as the daughters of Iob, and their father gaue them inheritance among their brethren.
16 And after this liued Iob an hundred and forty yeeres, and saw his sonnes, and his sonnes sonnes, euen foure generations.
17 So Iob dyed, being olde and full of dayes.

f You tooke in hand an euill cause, in that you condemned him by his outward afflictions, & not comforted him with my mercies. g Who had a good cause, but handled it euill. h When you haue reconciled your selues to him for y faults, that you haue committed against him, he shall pray for you, and I will heare him. i He deliuered him out of the affliction, where in he was. k That is, all his kindred, read Chap. 19. 13. l Or, lambs, or money so marked. m God made him twice so rich in cattell as he was afore, and gaue him as many children as he had taken from him. n That is, of long life or beautiful as the day. o As pleasant as Cassia or sweete spice. p That is, the horne of beautie

The * Psalmes of Datid.

THE ARGUMENT.

This booke of Psalmes is set forth vnto vs by the holy Ghost; to be esteemed as a most precious treasure: wherein all things are contained that appertaine to true felicitie, as wel in this life present as in the life to come. For the riches of true knowledge and heauenly wisdom are here set open for vs to take thereof most abundantly. If we would know the great and hie maiestie of God, here we may see the brightnesse thereof shine most clearly. If we would seeke his incomprehensible wisdom, here is the schoole of the same profession. If we would comprehend his inestimable bountie, and approach neere thereunto, and fill our hearts with that treasure, here we may haue a most liuely and comfortable taste thereof. If we would know wherein standeth our saluation, & how to attain to life euerslasting, here is Christ our onely Redeemer and Mediatour most evidently described. The rich man may learne the true vse of his riches. The poore man may finde full contentation. He that will reioyce, shall know the true ioy, and how to keepe measure therein. They that are afflicted & oppressed,

* Or, praises, according to the Hebrewes: and were chiefly instituted to praise and giue thanks to God for his benefits. They are called the psalmes or songs of Dauid, because the most part were made by him.

pressed, shall see wherein standeth their comfort, and how he wought to praise God when he sendeth them deliueraunce. The wicked and the persecuters of the children of God shall see how the hand of God is euer against them, and though he suffer them to prosper for a while, yet he bridleth them, in so much as they cannot touch a haire of ones head, except he permit them, and how in the end their destruction is most miserable. Briefly, here we may haue most present remedy against all temptations and troubles of minde and conscience, so that being well practised herein, we may be assured against all dangers in this life, live in the true feare and loue of God, and at length attaine to that incorruptible crowne of glory, which is laid vp for al them that loue the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

P S A L. I.

Whether it was Edras, or any other that gathered the Psalmes into a booke, is seemeth he did set this Psalme first in manner of a proface, to exhort all godly men to studie and meditate the heavenly wisdoms. For the effect herof is, 1 That they be blessed, which giue themselves wholly all their life to the holy Scriptures. 4 And that the wicked contemners of God though they seeme for a while happy, yet at length shall come to miserable destruction.

Blessed is the man that doeth not walke in the counsell of the wicked, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornfull.

2 But his delight is in the Law of the Lord, and in his Law doeth he meditate day and night.

3 For he shall be like a tree planted by the rivers of waters, that will bring forth her fruit in due season: whose leaf shall not fade, so whatsoeuer he shall doe, shall prosper.

4 The wicked are not so, but as the chaffe, which the wind driueth away.

5 Therefore the wicked shall not stand in the iudgement, nor sinners in the assembly of the righteous.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous, and the way of the wicked shall perish.

a When a man hath giuen once place to euill counsel, or to his owne concupiscence, he beginneth to forget himselfe in his sinne, and so falleth into contempt of God, which contempt is called the seat of the scornfull.

P S A L. II.

1 The Prophet Dauid reioyceth that notwithstanding his enemies rage, yet God will continue his kingdom for euer, and aduance is euen to the ende of the world, 10 and therefore exhorteth kings and rulers, that they would humbly submit themselves vnder Gods yoke, because it is in vaine to resist God, Herin is figured Christ kingdom.

Why doe the heathen rage, and the people murmur in vaine?

2 The kings of the earth band themselves, and the princes are assembled together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

3 Let vs breake their bandes, and cast their cords from vs.

4 But he that dwelleth in the heauen, shall laugh: the Lord shall haue them in derision.

5 Then shall he speake vnto them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure, saying.

1 Dauid driven forth of his kingdom, was greatly tormented in minde for his sinnes against God

4 And therefore calleth vpon God, and waxeth bold through his promises, against the great railings and terrors of his enemies yea against death it selfe, which he saw present before his eyes. 7 Finally, he reioyceth for the good success that God gaue him, and all the Church.

1 Dauid oppressed with the cruelty of his enemies, and fearing greater dangers, calleth to God for succour, shewing how requisite it is that God should punish the malice of his aduersaries. 7 After being assured of prosperous successe, hee conceiveth comfort, 12 Concluding that when God shall deliuer him, others also shalbe partakers of the same mercies.

C To him that excelleth vpon Neginoth.

A Psalm of Dauid.

Hear me words, O Lord: vnderstand my meditation.

2 Hearken vnto the voyce of my cry, my King and my God: for vnto thee doe I pray.

3 Heare my voyce in the morning, O Lord: for in the morning wil I direct me vnto thee, and I will wait.

4 For thou art not a God that loueth wickednesse, neither shall euill dwell with thee.

5 The foolish shall not stand in thy sight: for thou hatest all them that worke iniquity.

6 Thou shalt destroy them that speake lies: the Lord will abhorre the bloody man and deceitfull.

7 But I will come into thine house in the multitude of thy mercie: and in thy feare will I worship toward thine holy Temple.

8 Lead me, O Lord, in thy righteousness, because of mine enemies: make thy way plaine before my face.

9 For no constancy is in their mouth: within they are very corruption: their throte is an open sepulchre, and they flatter with their tongue.

10 Destroy them, O God: let them fall from their counsellis: cast them out for the multitude of their iniquities, because they haue rebelled against thee.

11 And let all them that trust in thee, reioyce and triumph for euer, and conuert thou them: and let them that loue thy Name reioyce in thee.

12 For thou Lord wilt blesse the righteous, and with fauour wilt compasse him, as with a shield.

PSAL. VI.

1 When Dauid by his finnes had provoked Gods wrath and now felt not onely his hand against him, but also conceived the horrors of death everlasting, hee desireth forgiveness. 6 Bewailing that if God tooke him away in his indignation, he should lacke occasion to praise him as he was wont to doe, while he was among men. 9 Then suddenly feeling Gods mercy hee sharply rebuketh his enemies, which reioyced in his affliction.

C To him that excelleth on Neginoth vpon the eight tune. A Psalm of Dauid.

O Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

2 Haue mercy vpon mee, O Lord, for I am wrake: O Lord heale mee, for my bones are bereed.

3 My soule is also sore troubled: but Lord, how long wilt thou delay?

4 Returne, O Lord: deliuer my soule: saue me for thy mercies sake.

5 For in death there is no remembrance of thee: in the graue, who shall praise thee?

6 I fainted in my mourning: I caule my bed euery night to swimme, and water my couch with my teares.

7 Mine eye is dimmed for despise, and sunke in because of all mine enemies.

PSAL. VII.

1 Being falsely accused by Chush one of Sauls kinsmen, he calleth to God to be his defender. 3 To whom hee commendeth his innocency. 9 First shewing that his conscience did not accuse him of any euill towards Saul: 10 Next that it touched Gods glory to award sentence against the wicked. 12 And so entering into the consideration of Gods mercies & promise, he waxed bold, and derideth the vaine enterprises of his enemies. 16 threatening that that shal fall on their owne necke which they haue purposed for others.

1 The Prophet considering the excellent liberality and fatherly providence of God towards man, whom he made as it were a god over all his works, doth not onely give great thanks, but is astonished with the admiration of the same, as one nothing able to compass such great mercies.

To him that excelleth on // Gittith.
A Psalm of David.

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world: which hath set thy glory above the heavens.

lings hast thou // ordained strength, because of thine enemies, that thou mightest // kill

O Lord my God, in thee I put my trust, save mee from all that persecute me, and deliver mee.

2 Lest he devour my soule like a lyon, and teare it in pieces, while there is none to helpe.

3 O Lord my God if I have done this thing, if there bee any wickednesse in mine hands,

4 If I have rewarded euill vnto him that had peace with me (yea, I have delivered him that veyed me without cause)

5 Then let the enemy persecute my soule and take it: yea, let him tread my life downe vpon the earth, and lay mine honour in the dust. Selah.

6 Arise, O Lord, in thy wrath, and lift vp thy selfe against the rage of mine enemies, and awake for mee according to the iudge-ment that thou hast appointed.

7 So shall the congregation of the prople compass thee about: for their sakes therfore returne on high.

8 The Lord shall iudge the people: iudge thou me, O Lord, according to my righte-ousnes, and according to mine innocencie, that is in me.

9 O let the malice of the wicked come to an end, but guide thou the iust: for the righteous God trieth the hearts and reins.

10 My defence is in God, who preferreth the upright in heart.

11 God iudgeth the righteous, and him that contemneth God every day.

12 Except hee turne, he hath whet his sword: hee hath bent his bow and made it ready.

13 Hee hath also prepared him deadly weapons: hee will ordeine his arrowes for them that persecute me.

14 Behold, he shall trauel with wickednesse: for he hath conceived mischief, but he shall bring forth a lie.

15 He hath made a pit, and digged it, and is fallen into the pit which he made.

16 His mischief shall returne vpon his owne head, and his cruelty shall fall vpon his owne pate.

17 I will praise the Lord according to his righteousnesse, and will sing praise to the Name of the Lord most High.

3 When I behold thine heavens, even the workes of thy fingers, the moone and the starres which thou hast ordained,

4 What is man, say I, that thou art mindfull of him? and the sonne of man, that thou visitest him?

5 For thou hast made him a little lower then God, and crowned him with glory and worship.

6 Thou hast made him to haue dominion in the workes of thine hands: thou hast put all things vnder his feet:

7 All sheepe and oxen: yea, and the beasts of the field:

8 The fowles of the ayre, and the fish of the sea, and that which palleth thorow the pathes of the seas.

9 O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy Name in all the world!

PSAL. IX.

1 After he had giuen thanks to God for the sundry victories that he had sent him against his enemies, and also proued by manifold experience how ready God was at hand in all his troubles: 14 He being now likewise in danger of new enemies, desireth God to helpe him according to his wont, 17 And to destroy the malicious arrogancie of his aduersaries.

heart: I will speake of all thy marvellous workes.

2 I will be glad, and reioyce in thee: I will sing praise to thy Name, O most High,

3 For y mine enemies are turned backe:
they shall fall, and perish at thy presence.

4 For thou hast maintained my right and my cause: thou art set in the throne, and 5 Thou hast rebuked the heathen: thou hast destroyed the wicked: thou hast put out their name for euer and euer.

6 O enemy, destructions are come to a perpetuall ende, and thou hast destroyed the cities: their memoriall is perished with them.

7 But the Lord shall sit for euer: he hath prepared his throne for iudgement.

ousnesse, and shall iudge the people with equittie.

19 Up Lord: let not man preuaile: let the heathen be iudged in thy sight.
20 Put them in feare, O Lord, that the heathen may know that they are but men. Selah.

P S A L. X.

i He complaineth of the fraude, rapine, tyrannie, and all kindes of wrong, which worldly men vse, as signing the cause thereof, that wicked men, being as it were drunken with worldly prosperitie, and therefore setting apart all feare and reuerence towards God, thinke they may doe all things without controlling.
15 Therefore he calleth vpon God to send some remedie against these desperate euils, 16 and at length comforteth himselfe with hope of deliuerance.

a So soone as we enter into affliction, we thinke God should helpe vs, but that is not alwayes his due time.
b The wicked man reioyceth in his owne lust: he boasteth when he hath that he would: he braggeth of his wit and wealth, and blesteth himselfe, and thus blasphemeth the Lord.
i Or, suffeth at.
i Or, not be moued, because he was neuer in euill.
c The euill shall not touch me, Isa. 28. 15. or els he speake: h thus, because he neuer felt euill.
d He sheweth that the wicked haue many meanes to hide their cruelty, and therefore ought more to be feared.
e By the hypocrite of them that haue authority, the poore are deuoured.
f He calleth to God for helpe, because wickednes is so far ouergrown, that God must now helpe, or neuer.
g Therefore thou must needs punish this their blasphemy.

Why standest thou farre off, O Lord, and hidest thee in due time, euen in affliction?
2 The wicked with pride doth persecute the poore: let them bee taken in the crafts that they haue imagined.
3 For the wicked hath made boast of his owne heart's desire, and the couetous blesteth himselfe: he contemneth the Lord.
4 The wicked is so proud, that he seeketh not for God: he thinketh alwayes, There is no God.
5 His wayes alway prosper: thy iudgements are high aboue his sight: therefore desireth he all his enemies.
6 He saith in his heart, I shall neuer be moued, nor be in danger.
7 His mouth is full of curling and deceit and fraude: vnder his tongue is mischief and iniquity.
8 He lieth in waite in the villages: in the secret places doeth he murder the innocent: his eyes are bent against the poore.
9 He lieth in wait secretly, euen as a lion in his denne: he lieth in wait to spoyle the poore: he doeth spoyle the poore, when he draweth him into his net.
10 He croucheth and boweth: therefore heapes of the poore doe fall by his might.
11 He hath said in his heart, God hath forgotten, he hideth away his face, and will neuer see.
12 Arise, O Lord God: lift by thine hand: forget not the poore.
13 Therefore doth the wicked contemne God: he sayth in his heart, Thou wilt not regard.

14 Yet thou hast seene it: for thou beholdest mischief and wrong, that thou mayest take it into thine hands, the poore committeth himselfe vnto thee: for thou art the helper of the fatherlesse.
15 Breake thou the arme of the wicked and malitious: search his wickednesse, and thou shalt finde none.
16 The Lord is King for euer and euer: the heathen are destroyed footst of his land.
17 Lord, thou hast heard the desire of the poore: thou preparest their heart: thou benedict thine care to them.
18 To iudge the fatherlesse and poore, that earthly man cause to feare no more.

h To iudge betwene the right and the wrong.
i For thou hast utterly destroyed him.
k The hypocrites or such as liue not after Gods Law, shall be destroyed.
l God helpeth when mans helpe ceaseth.
i Or, destroy no more man vpon the earth.

P S A L. XI.

i This Psalm conteineth two parts: In the first David sheweth how hard assaults of temptations hee sustained, and in how great anguish of minde hee was when Saul did persecute him. 4 Then next hee reioyceth that God sent him succour in his necessitie, declaring his iustice as well in gouerning the good, and the wicked men, as the whole world.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm of David.

In the Lord put I my trust: how say yee then to my soule, Flee to your mountaine as a bird?
2 For loe, the wicked bend their bow, and make ready their arrowes vpon the string, that they may secretly shooote at them, which are vpright in heart.
3 For the foundations are cast downe: what hath the righteous done?
4 The Lord is in his holy palace: the Lords throne is in the heauen: his eyes will consider: his eye lids will try the children of men.
5 The Lord will try the righteous: but the wicked and him that loueth iniquitie, doeth his soule hate.
6 vpon the wicked he shall raine snares, fire, and brimstone, and stormie tempest: this is the portion of their cup.
7 For the righteous Lord loueth righteoussnesse: his countenance doeth behold the just.

a This is the wicked counsell of his enemies to him & his companions, to driue him from the hope of Gods promise.
b All hope of succour is taken away.
c Yet am I innocent, and my cause good.
d Though all things in earth be out of order, yet God will execute iudgement from heauen.
e As in the destruction of Sodome and Gomortha.

f Which they shall drinke euen to the dregs, Ezek. 23. 34.

P S A L. XII.

i The Prophet lamenting the miserable estate of the people, and the decay of all good order, desireth God speedily to send succour to his children. 7 Then comforting himselfe and others with the assurance of Gods helpe, hee commendeth the constant veritie that God obserueth in keeping his promises.

To him that excelleth vpon the righte. A Psalm of David.

Hele Lord, for there is not a godly man left: for the faithfull are failed from among the children of men.
2 They speake deceitfully euery one with his neighbour, flattering with their lips, and speake with a double heart.
3 The Lord cut off all flattering lips, and the tongue that speaketh proud things:

a Which dare defend truth, and shew mercy to the oppressed.
b He meaneth the flatterers of the court, which hurt him more with their tongues then with their weapons.

^c They thinke themselves able to perswade whatsoever they take in hand. ^d The Lord is moued with the complaints of his, & deliuereth in the end from all dangers. ^e Because the Lords word and promise is true & vnchangeable, he will performe it, and preferue the poore from this wicked generation. ^f That is, thine, though he were but one man. ^g For they suppress the godly, and maintaine the wicked.

4 Which haue said, ^a With our tongue will we preuaile: our lips are our owne: who is Lord ouer vs?

5 ^a Now for the oppression of the needie, and for the sighes of the poore, I will by, saith the Lord, and will set at liberty him, whom the wicked hath binde.

6 The words of the Lord are pure words, as the silver, tried in a foynace of earth, fined seven fold.

7 Thou wilt keepe them, O Lord: thou wilt preferue him from this generation for euer.

8 The wicked walke on euery side: when they are exalted, it is a shame for the sonnes of men.

9 That is, thine, though he were but one man. ^g For they suppress the godly, and maintaine the wicked.

PSAL. XIIII.

1 David as it were overcome with sundry and new afflictions, fleeth to God as his onely refuge, 3 and so at the length being encouraged through Gods promises, hee conceiveth most sure confidence against the extreme horrors of death

To him that excelleth. A Psalmie of David.

^a He declareth that his afflictions lasted a long time, and that his faith fainted not. ^b Changing my purpose as the sicke man doeth his place. ^c Which might turne to Gods dishonour, if he did not defend his. ^d The mercy of God is the cause of our saluation. ^e Both by the benefits past, & by others to come.

How long wilt thou forget me, O Lord, for euer? how long wilt thou hide thy face from me?

2 How long shall I take counsel with myselfe, hauing wearinesse dayly in mine heart? how long shall mine enemy be exalted aboue me?

3 Behold, and heare mee, O Lord my God: lighten mine eyes, that I sleepe not in death:

4 Lest mine enemy say, I haue preuailed against him: and they that afflict me, reioyce when I slide.

5 But I trust in thy mercy: mine heart shall reioyce in thy saluation: I will sing to the Lord, because hee hath dealt lovingly with me.

PSAL. XIII.

1 He describeth the peruerse nature of men, which were so grown to licentiousnes, that God was brought to utter contempt. 7 For the which thing although he was greatly grieved, yet being perswaded that God would send some present remedie, he comforteth himselfe and others.

To him that excelleth. A Psalmie of David.

^a He sheweth that the cause of all wickednes is to forget God. ^b There is nothing but disorder and wickednesse among them. ^c David here maketh comparison betwene the faithfull and the reprobate: but Saint Paul speaketh the same of all men naturally, Rom. 3.10. ^d Where they thinke themselves most sure.

The fool hath sayd in his heart, ^a There is no God: They haue corrupted, and done an abominable worke: there is none that doeth good.

2 The Lord looked downe from heauen vpon the children of men, to see if there were any that would vnderstand and seeke God.

9 Note that of this 14. Psalmie, the 5. 6. and 7. verses which are put into the common translation, and may seeme vnto some to be left out in this, are not in the same Psalmie in the Hebrew text, but are rather put in, more fully to expresse the maners of the wicked: and are gathered out of the 5. 140. and 100 Psalmes, the 59 of the Prophet Isaiah, and the 36. Psalmie, and are alleaged by S. Paul, and placed together in the 3. to the Romanes.

PSAL. XV.

PSAL. XVIII.

1 This Psalme is the first beginning of his gratulation and thanksgiving in the entering into his kingdom, wherein he extolleth and prayseth most highly the marueilous mercies and grace of God, who hath thus preferred & defended him. 32 Also he setteth forth the image of Christs kingdom, that the faithfull may be assured that Christ shall alwayes conquer and overcome by the unspeakeable power of his Father, though all the whole world should striue thereagainst.

To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid the seruant of the Lord, which spake vnto the Lord the wordes of this song (in the day that the Lord deliuered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul) and said.

I will loue thee dearly, O Lord my strength.

2 ^a The Lord is my rocke, and my fortress, and hee that deliuereth mee, my God and my strength: in him will I trust, my shield, the hope also of my saluation, and my refuge.

3 I will call vpon the Lord, which is worthy to be ^b praised: so that I be safe from mine enemies.

4 The ^c sorowes of death compassed me, and the floods of wickednesse made mee afraid.

5 The ^d sorowes of the graue haue compassed mee about: the inares of death ouertooke mee.

6 But in my trouble did I call vpon the Lord, and cryed vnto my God: he heard my voyce out of his Temple, & my cry did come before him, euen into his eares.

7 Then the earth trembled, and quaked: the foundations also of the mountaines mooued and shooke, because he was angry.

8 Smoke went out at his nostrils, and a ^e consuming fire out of his mouth: coales were kindled thereat.

9 Hee bowed the heauens also and came downe, and ^f darknesse was vnder his feete.

10 And hee rode vpon ^g Cherub and did flie, and hee came flying vpon the wings of the winde.

11 Hee made darknesse his ^h secret place, and his pavilion round about him, euen darknesse of waters, and cloudes of the ayre.

12 At the brightnesse of his presence his cloudes passed, hailestones and coales of fire.

13 The Lord also thundred in the heauen, and the Highest gaue ⁱ his voyce, hailestones and coales of fire.

14 Then hee sent out ^k his arrowes and scattered them, and he increased lightnings and destroyed them.

15 And the chanel of waters were scene, and the foundations of the world were discovered at thy rebuking, O Lord, at the blasting of the breath of thy nostrils.

16 He hath sent downe from aboue, and taken me: he hath drawen me out of many waters.

17 He hath deliuered me from my strong enemy, and from them which hate mee: for they were too strong for me.

18 They prevented mee in the day of my calamitie: but the Lord was my stay.

19 He brought me forth also into a large place, he deliuered me because he fauoured mee.

20 The Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness: according to the purenesse of mine hands he recompensed me.

21 Because I kept the wayes of the Lord, and did not wickedly against my God.

22 For all his lawes were before me, and I did not cast away his commandements from me.

23 I was vpight also with him, & haue kept me from my wickednes.

24 Therefore the Lord rewarded me according to my righteousness, & according to the purenesse of mine hands in his sight.

25 With the godly thou wilt shew thy selfe godly: with the vpight man thou wilt shew thy selfe vpight.

26 With the pure thou wilt shew thy selfe pure, and with the froward thou wilt shew thy selfe froward.

27 Thus thou wilt saue the poore people, and wilt cast downe the proud lookes.

28 Surely thou wilt light my candle: the Lord my God wil lighten my darknesse.

29 For by thee I haue broken through an hoste, and by my God I haue leaped ouer a wall.

30 The way of God is vncorrupt: the word of the Lord is tryed in the fire: he is a shield to all that trust in him.

31 For who is God besides the Lord? and who is mighty saue our God?

32 God girdeth mee with strength, and maketh my way vpight.

33 He maketh my feete like Hindes feete, and setteth me vpon mine high places.

34 He teacheth mine hands to fight: so that a bowe of brasse is broken with mine armes.

35 Thou hast also giuen mee the shield of thy saluation, and thy right hand hath stayed mee, and thy louing kindnesse hath caused me to increas.

36 Thou hast enlarged my steps vnder me, and mine heeles haue not slid.

37 I haue pursued mine enemies, and taken them, and haue not turned againe till I had consumed them.

38 I haue wounded them, that they were not able to rise: they are fallen vnder my feet.

39 For thou hast girded me with strength to battell: them that rose against me, thou hast subdued vnder me.

40 And thou hast giuen mee the neckes of mine enemies, that I might destroy them that hate me.

41 They cryed, but there was none to saue them, euen vnto the Lord, but he answered them not.

42 Then I did beate them small as the dust before the winde: I did tread them flat as the clay in the streetes.

43 Thou hast deliuered me from the contentions of the people: thou hast made mee the head of the heathen: a people, whom I haue not known, shall serue me.

44 As soone as they heare, they shall obey mee: the stranger shall be in subiection to mee.

45 Strangers shall shrink away, and feare in their priue chambers.

46 Let the Lord liue, and blessed bee my strength, and the God of my saluation be exalted.

47 It is God that giueth me power to auenge me, & subdueth the people vnder me.

48 O my deliuerer from mine enemies, euen thou hast set me by from them that rose against me: thou hast deliuered me from the cruel man.

49 Therefore I will praise thee, O Lord, among the nations, and will sing vnto thy name.

50 Great deliuerances giueth he vnto his King, and sheweth mercy to his anoynted, euen to Dauid, and to his seed for euer.

m This prophetic appertaineth to the kingdome of Christ, and vocation of the Gentiles, as Rom. 15. 9. n This did not properly appertaine to Salomon, but to Iesus Christ.

4 Shew mee thy wayes, O Lord, and teach me thy pathes.

5 Leade me forth in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my saluation: in thee doe I trust all the day.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy tender mercies and thy louing kindnesse: for they haue bene for euer.

7 Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my rebellions, but according to thy kindnesse remember thou mee, euen for thy goodnesse sake, O Lord.

8 Gracious and righteous is the Lord: therefore will hee teach sinners in the way.

9 Them that be meke, will hee guide in iudgement, and teach the humble his way.

10 All the paths of the Lord are mercie and truth vnto such as keepe his covenant and his testimonies.

f That is, call them to repentance. g He will gouerne and comfort them that are truly humbled for their sinnes.

11 For thy names sake, O Lord, be mercifull vnto mine iniquities, for it is great.

12 What man is hee that feareth the Lord? him will he teach the way that he shall chuse.

13 His soule shall dwell at ease, and his seed shall inherite the land.

17 The sorowes of mine heart are enlarged: draw me out of my troubles.

18 Look vpon mine affliction and my trauaile, and forgie all my sinnes.

20 Keep my soule and deliuer me: let me not be confounded, for I trust in thee.

PSAL. XXVI.

1 David oppressed with many iniuries, finding no helpe in the world, calleth for ayd from God: and assured of his integrity toward Saul, desireth God to be his iudge, and to defend his innocencie. 6 Finally, he maketh mention of his sacrifice, which he will offer for his deliuerance, and desireth to be in the company of the faithfull in the congregation of God, whence he was banished by Saul, promising integrity of life, and open prayes and thanksgiving.

A Psalm of David.

1 Adge me, O Lord, for I haue walked in mine innocencie: my trust hath bene also in the Lord: therefore shall I not slide.

2 Prooue me, O Lord, and try me: examine my reines, and mine heart.

3 For thy louing kindnesse is before mine eyes: therefore haue I walked in thy truth.

4 I haue not haunted with vaine persons, neither kept company with the dissemblers.

5 I haue hated the assembly of the euill, and haue not companied with the wicked.

6 I will wash mine hands in innocencie, O Lord, and compasse thine altar,

P S A L. XLVII.

1 Dauid maketh this Psalme bring deliuered from great perils, as appeareth by the prayes and thankes giuing annexed: 6 Wherein we may see the constant faith of Dauid against the assaults of all his enemies. 7 And also the end wherefore he desireth rest, and to bee deliuered, only to worship God in his Congregation.

A Psalme of Dauid.

a Because he was assured of good successe in all his dangers, and that his saluation was surely layd vp in God, he feared not the tyranny of his enemies.

b That God will deliuer me, and giue my faith the victorie.

c The losse of countrey, wife, and all worldly commodities grieue me not in respect of this one thing, that I may not praise thy Name in the mids of the congregation.

d Dauid assured himselfe by the spirit of prophesie, that he should overcome his enemies, and serue God in his Tabernacle.

e He groundeth vpon Gods promise, and sheweth that hee is most willing to obey his commandement.

f He magnifieth Gods loue toward his, which farre passeth the most tender loue of parents toward their children.

g But either pacifie their wrath, or bridle their rage. h In this present life before I die, as Isa. 38. 11. i Hee exhorteth himselfe to depend on the Lord, seeing he neuer failed in his promises.

The Lord is my light and my saluation, whom shall I feare? the Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid?

2 When the wicked, even mine enemies and my foes came vpon mee to eate vp my flesh, they stumbled and fell.

3 Though an hoste pitched against me, mine heart should not bee afraid: though warre be raised against mee, I will trust in this.

4 One thing haue I desired of the Lord that I wil require, even that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the dayes of my life, behold the beautie of the Lord, and to visite his Temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his Tabernacle: in the secret place of his pavilion shall he hide me, and let mee vpon a rocke.

6 And now shall hee lift vp mine head aboue mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his Tabernacle sacrifices of joy: I will sing and praye the Lord.

7 Hearken vnto my voice, O Lord, when I cry: haue mercy also vpon mee, and heare mee.

8 When thou saydest, Seeke ye my face, mine heart answered vnto thee, O Lord, I will seeke thy face.

9 Hide not therefore thy face from me, nor cast thy seruant away in displeasure; thou hast bene my succour: leaue me not, neither forsake me, O God of my saluation.

10 Though my father and my mother should forsake mee, yet the Lord will gather me vp.

11 Teach mee thy way, O Lord, & leade me in a right path, because of mine enemies.

12 Giue me not vnto the lust of mine aduersaries: for there are false witnessen risen vp against me, and such as speake cruelly.

13 I should haue fainted, except I had believed to see the goodnesse of the Lord in the land of the liuing.

14 Hope in the Lord: be strong, and he shall comfort thine heart, and trust in the Lord.

P S A L. XXVIII.

1 Being in great feare and heavinesse of heart, so that God dishonoured by the wicked, he desireth so to be redde of them: 2 and cryeth for vengeance against them: And at length assureth himselfe that God hath heard his prayer, 9 Vnto whose situation he commendeth all the faithfull.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Vnto thee, O Lord, doe I cry: O my strength, be not deafe toward me, lest if thou answer mee not, I be like them that goe downe into the pit.

2 Heare the voice of my petitions, when I cry vnto thee, when I hold vp my hands toward thine holy Oracle.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquitie: which speake friendly to their neighbours, when malice is in their hearts.

4 Reward thee according to their deedes, and according to the wickednesse of their intentions: recompense them after the worke of their hands: render them their reward.

5 For they regard not the workes of the Lord, nor the operation of his hands, therefore breake them downe, and build them not vp.

6 Praised be the Lord, for he hath heard the voyce of my petitions.

7 The Lord is my strength & my shield: mine heart trusted in him, and I was helped: therefore mine heart shall reioyce, and with my song will I praise him.

8 The Lord is their strength, & he is the strength of the deliuerances of his anointed.

9 Save thy people, and blesse thine inheritance: forde them also, & exalt them for ever.

e Let them be vtterly destroyed, as Malac. 1. 4. f Because he felt the assurance of Gods helpe in his heart, his mouth was opened to sing his praises. g Meaning his souldiers, who were as meanes, by whom God declared his power.

P S A L. XXIX.

1 The Prophet exhorteth the Princes & rulers of the world (which for the most part thinke there is no God,) 3 At the least to feare him for the thunders and tempests, for feare whereof all creatures tremble. 4 And though thereby God threatneth sinners, yet is he alwayes mercifull to him, and moueth them thereto by to praye his Name.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Give vnto the Lord, ye sonnes of y might: giue vnto the Lord glory & strength.

2 Giue vnto the Lord glory due vnto his Name: worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary.

3 The voice of the Lord is vpon the waters: the God of glory maketh it to thunder, the Lord is vpon the great waters.

4 The voyce of the Lord is mightie: the voice of the Lord is glorious.

5 The voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

P S A L M XXX.

1 When David was deliuered from great danger, he rendered thanks to God, exhorting others to doe the like, and to learne by his example, that God is rather mercifull then severe and rigorous towards his children. 2 And also that the fall from prosperity to aduersity is sudden. 3 Thus dauid his psalm to pray, promising to praise God for ever.

A Psalm or song of the dedication of the house of Dauid.

1 Will magnifie thee, O Lord: for thou hast exalted me, and hast not made my foes to reioyce over me.

2 O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast restored me.

3 O Lord, thou hast brought up my soule out of the graue: thou hast rescued me from them that goe downe into the pit.

4 Sing praises unto the Lord, ye his Saintes, and giue thanks before the remembrance of his holinesse.

5 For he endureth but a while in his anger: but in his fauour is life: weeping may abide at evening, but ioy cometh in the morning.

6 And in my prosperitie I said, I shall neuer be moued.

7 For thou Lord of thy goodnesse haddest made my mountaine strong: but thou diddest hide thy face, and I was troubled.

8 Then cryed I unto thee, O Lord, and prayed to my Lord.

9 What profit is there in my blood, when I goe downe to the pit: shall the dust giue thanks vnto thee: or shall it declare thy truth?

10 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercy vpon me: Lord be thou my helpe.

11 Thou hast turned my mourning into ioy: thou hast loosed my lacke and girded me with gladnes.

12 Therefore shall my tongue praise thee, and not cease: O Lord my God, I will giue thanks vnto thee for ever.

13 After that thou hadst withdrawn thine helpe, I felt my misery. k Dauid meaneth that the dead are not profitable to the Congregation of the Lord here in earth: therefore he would liue to praise his Name, which is the end of mans creation. l Because thou hast preferred me, that my tongue should praise thee, I will not be vnmindfull of my duety.

P S A L M XXXI.

1 Dauid deliuered from some great danger, first rehearseth what meditation he had by the power of that which was done before his eyes, his sinne being ready to take him. 2 Then he affirmeth that the fauour of God is alwayes ready to those that feare him.

20 Finally he exhorteth all the faithfull to stand in the Lord, and to loue him, because he preferreth & strengtheneth them, as they may see by his example.

21 To him that crieth. A Psalm of Dauid.

1 O Lord, haue I put my trust: let me neuer be confounded: deliuer me in thy righteousness.

2 Bow downe thine eare to me: make haste to deliuer mee: bee vnto mee a strong rocke, and an house of defence to saue me.

3 For thou art my rocke and my fortress: therefore for thy Names sake direct mee and guide me.

4 Draw me out of the net, that they haue laid subtilly for mee: for thou art my strength.

5 Into thine hand I commend my spirit: for thou hast redeemed me, O Lord God of truth.

6 I haue hated them that giue themselves to deceitfull vanities: for I trust in the Lord.

7 I will be glad and reioyce in thy mercie: for thou hast seene my trouble: thou hast known my soule in aduersities.

8 And thou hast not put me vp in the hand of the enemy, but hast set my feet at large.

9 Haue mercy vpon mee, O Lord, for I am in trouble: mine eye, my soule, and my belly are consumed with griefe.

10 For my life is wasted with heauinesse, and my yeeres with mourning: my strength faileth for my paine, and my bones are consumed.

11 I was a reproofe among all mine enemies, but especially among my neighbours: and a feare to mine acquaintance, who seeing me in the streete, fled from me.

12 I am forgotten as a dead man out of minde: I am like a broken vessel.

13 For I haue heard the rayling of great men: feare was in euery side, while they conspired together against me, and consulted to take my life.

14 But I trusted in thee, O Lord: I said, Thou art my God.

15 My times are in thine hand: deliuer mee from the hand of mine enemies, and from them that persecute me.

16 Make thy face to shine vpon thy servant, and saue me through thy mercy.

17 Let me not be confounded, O Lord: for I haue called vpon thee: let the wicked be put to confusion, & to silence in the graue.

18 Let the lying lips bee made dumbe, which cruelly & spitefully speake against the righteous.

PSAL. XXXII.

1 David punished with grievous sickness for his sinnes, commeth them blessed to whom God doeth not impute their transgressions. 5 And after that he had confessed his sinnes and obtained pardon, 6 He exhorteth the wicked men to turne godly, 11 And the good to reioyce.

2 A Psalm of David to give instruction. Blessed is hee whose wickednesse is forgiven, and whose sinne is covered.

3 Blessed is the man unto whom the Lord imputeth not iniquitie, and in whose spirit there is no guile.

4 When I held my tongue, my bones consumed, or when I roared all the day.

5 For thine hand is heavy upon me, day and night: and my moisture is turned into the drought of summer. Selah.

6 Then I acknowledged my sinne unto thee, neither hidde I mine iniquitie: for I thought, I will confesse against my selfe my wickednesse unto the Lord, and thou shalt forgive the punishment of my sinne. Selah.

7 Therefore shall every one that is godly, make his prayer unto thee in a time when thou mayest be found: surely in the flood of great waters they shall not come neere him.

8 Thou art my secret place: thou preserve me from trouble: thou compassest me about with thy full deliverance. Selah.

11 Many sorowes shall come to the wicked: but he that trusteth in the Lord, mercy shall compasse him.

12 Be glad ye righteous, and reioyce in the Lord, and be full of joy: for that are upright in heart.

PSAL. XXXIII.

vidence governeth the same, but also is faithfull in his promise. 20 He understandeth mans heart & searcheth the counsell of the wicked, 26 So that no man can be preserved by any creature or mans strength: but they that put their confidence in his mercy, shall be preserved from all adversities.

2 Reioyce in the Lord, O ye righteous: for it becometh upright men to be thankfull.

3 Praise the Lord with harpe: sing unto him with pipe, and instrument of ten strings.

4 Sing unto him a new song: sing cheerfully with a loud voice.

5 For the word of the Lord is righteous, and all his workes are faithfull.

6 He loveth righteousness & judgement: the earth is full of the goodness of the Lord.

15 The eyes of the Lord are vpon the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their crye.

16 But the face of the Lord is against them that doe euill, to cut off their remembrance from the earth.

17 The righteous crye, and the Lord heareth them, & deliuereth them out of all their troubles.

18 The Lord is nere vnto them that are of a contrite heart, and will save such as be afflicted in spirit.

19 Great are the troubles of the righteous: but the Lord deliuereth him out of them all.

20 He keepeth all his bones: not one of them is broken.

21 But malice shall slay the wicked: and they that hate the righteous, shall perish.

22 The Lord redeemeth the soules of his seruants: and none that trust in him, shall perish.

1 When they seeme to bee swallowed vp with afflictions, then God is at hand to deliuer them.

m And as Christ saith, all the haire of his head, n Their wicked enterprises shall turne to their owne destruction.

o For when they seeme to bee overcome with great dangers and death it selfe, then God sheweth himselfe their redeemer.

o For when they seeme to bee overcome with great dangers and death it selfe, then God sheweth himselfe their redeemer.

P S A L. XXXV.

1 So long as Saul was enemies Dauid, all that had any authority vnder him, to flatter their king (as is the course of the world) did also most cruelly persecute Dauid: against whom he prayeth God to pleade and to avenge his cause, 8 that they may be taken in their nets and snares, which they laid for him, that his innocency may be decayed, 27 and that the innocent, which taketh part with him, may reioyce and prayse the Name of the Lord, that thus deliuereth his seruants, 28 And so he promisseth to speake forth the iustice of the Lord, and to magnifie his Name all the dayes of his life.

A Psalme of Dauid.

Pleade thou my cause, O Lord, with them that strue with mee: fight thou against them that fight against me.

2 Lay hand vpon the shield and buckler, and stand vp for mine helpe.

3 Bring out also the speare, and stop the way against them that persecute me: say vnto my soule, I am thy saluation.

4 Let them bee confounded and put to shame, that seeke after my soule: let them bee turned backe and brought to confusion, that imagine mine hurt.

5 Let them be as chaffe before the wind, and let the Angel of the Lord scatter them.

6 Let their way be darke & slippery: and let the Angel of the Lord persecute them.

7 For without cause they haue hid the pit and their net for me: without cause haue they digged a pit for my soule.

8 Let destruction come vpon him at vnwares, and let his net that hee hath laid priuily, take him: let him fall into the same destruction.

9 Then my soule shall bee ioyfull in the Lord: it shall reioyce in his saluation,

10 All my bones shall say, Lord, who is like vnto thee, which deliuerest the poore from him that is too strong for him: yea, the poore, and him that is in miserie, from him that spyleth him!

11 Cruell witnesses did rise vp: they asked of me things that I knew not.

12 They rewarded me euill for good, to haue spoiled my soule.

13 Yet I, when they were sicke, I was clothed with a sacke, I humbled my soule with fasting: and my prayer was turned vpon my holme.

14 I behaued my selfe as to my friend, or as to my brother: I humbled my selfe, mourning as one that bewailerth his mother.

15 But in mine aduersitie they reioiced, and gathered themselves together: the aduersers assembled themselves against me, and I knew not: they tare me and ceased not,

16 With the false scoffers at bankets, gnashing their teeth against me:

17 Lord, how long wilt thou behold this? deliuer my soule from the tumult, even my desolate soule from the lions.

18 So will I giue thee thanks in a great congregation: I will prayse thee among much people.

19 Let not them that are mine enemies, into despaire.

1 I prayed for them with inward affection, as I would haue done for my selfe: or, I declared mine affection, with bowing downe mine head.

m When they law me ready to slip, and as one that halted for infirmities. n With their railing words.

o The word signifieth cakes: meaning, that the proud courtiers at their daintie feasts, scoffe, raile, and conspire his death.

9 For euil doers shall be cut off, and they that wait vpon the Lord, they shall inherit the land.

15 But their sword shall enter into their owne heart, and their bowes shal be broken.

16 A small thing vnto the iust man, is better then great riches to the wicked and mighty.

17 For the armes of the wicked shall be broken, but the Lord upholdeth the iust men.

18 The Lord knoweth the dayes of vpright men, and their inheritance shall be perpetual.

19 They shall not be confounded in the perillous time, and in the dayes of famine they shall haue enough.

20 But the wicked shall perish, and the enemies of the Lord shal be consumed, as the fat of lambs: euen with the smoke shal they consume away.

21 The wicked borroweth and payeth not againe: but the righteous is mercifull, and giueth.

22 For such as be blessed of God, shall inherit the land, and they that be cursed of him shalbe cut off.

23 The pathes of man are directed by the Lord: for he loueth his way.

24 Though he fall, he shall not be cast off: for the Lord putteth vnder his hand.

25 I haue bene yong, and am old: yet I saw neuer the righteous forsaken, nor his seed begging bread.

26 But he is euer mercifull and lendeth, and his seed enioyeth the blessing.

27 Flee from euill and do good, and dwell for euer.

28 For the Lord loueth iudgement and forsaketh not his saints: they shall be preserved for euermore: but the seed of the wicked shalbe cut off.

29 The righteous men shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for euer.

30 The mouth of the righteous will speake of wisdom, and his tongue wil talke of iudgement.

31 For the law of his God is in his heart, and his steps shall not slide.

32 The wicked watcheth the righteous, and seeketh to slay him.

33 But the Lord will not leaue him in his hand, nor condemne him, when he is iudged.

34 Wait thou on the Lord, and keepe his way, and he shall exalt thee, that thou shalt inherit the land: when the wicked men shal perish, thou shalt see.

35 I haue seene the wicked strong, and spreading himselfe like a greene bay tree.

36 Yet he is passed away, and loe, hee was gone, and I sought him, but he could not be found.

37 Marke the vpright man, and beholde the iust: for the end of these men is peace.

38 But the transgressors shall be destroyed together, and the end of the wicked shalbe cut off.

39 But the saluation of the righteous men shall bee of the Lord: hee shall bee their strength in the time of trouble.

40 For the Lord shal helpe them, and deliuer them: hee shall deliuer them from the wicked, and shall saue them, because they trust in him.

PSAL. XXXVIII.

1 Dauid lying sick of some grievous disease, acknowledged himselfe to be chastised of the Lord for his sinnes, and therefore prayeth God to turne away his wrath. 5 He uttereth the greatnesse of his griefe by many words and circumstances, as wounded with the arrowes of Gods ire for saken of his friends, euil treated of his enemies. 22 But in the end with firme confidence he commendeth his cause to God, and hope for speedie helpe at his hand.

2 A psalme of Dauid for remembrance. Lord, rebuke me not in thine anger, neither chastise me in thy wrath.

3 For thine arrowes haue light vpon me, and thine hand lyeth vpon me.

4 There is nothing sound in my flesh, because of thine anger: neither is there rest in my bones, because of my sinne.

5 For mine iniquities are gone ouer mine head, and as a weighty burden, they are to heauie for me.

6 My wounds are putrified and corrupt because of my foolishnesse.

7 I am bowed, and crooked very sore, I goe mourning all the day.

PSAL. XXXIX.

1 David uttereth with what great griefe and bitterness of mind he was driven to these outrageous complaints of his infirmities. 2 For he confesseth that when he had determined silence, he brast forth yet into words, that he would not, through the greatnesse of his griefe. 4 Then he rehearseth certaine requests which taste of the infirmities of man. 8 and mixeth with them many prayers: but all doe shew a mind wonderfully troubled, that it may plainly appeare how he did strive mightily against death and desperation.

a This was one of the chiefe singers, 1. Chron. 16 41.

b Albeit he had appointed with himselfe patiently to haue taried Gods leasure, yet the vehemency of his paine caused him to breake his purpose.

c Though when the wicked ruled he thought to haue kept silence yet his zeale caused him to change his mind. d He confesseth that he grudged against God, considering the greatnesse of his sorrowes and the shortnes of his life.

e Yet David offended in that that he reasoned with God, as though that he were too severe toward his weak creature. f Make mee not a mocking stocke to the wicked, or wrap mee not vp with the wicked, when they are put to shame. g Seeing my troubles came of thy providence, I ought to haue endured them patiently. h Thought thine open plagues light not euermore vpon them, yet thy secret curse continually fretteth them.

I thought, b I will take heede to my wayes that I sinne not with my tongue, I will keepe my mouth bridle, while the wicked is in my sight.

2 I was dumbe and spake nothing: I kept silence even from good, and my sorrow was more stirred.

3 Mine heart was hote within mee, and while I was musing, the fire kindled, and I spake with my tongue, saying,

4 Lord, let me know mine end, and the measure of my dayes, what it is: let mee know how long I haue to liue.

5 Behold, thou hast made my dayes as an hand breadth, and mine age is nothing in respect of thee: surely euery man in his best state is altogether vanitie. Selah.

6 Doublelesse man walketh in a shadow, and disquieteth himselfe in vaine: he heapeth vp riches, and cannot tell who shall gather them.

7 And now Lord, what wait I for? mine hope is euen in thee.

8 Deliuer mee from all my transgressions, and make me not a rebuke vnto the foolish.

PSAL. XL.

1 David deliuered from great danger, doth magnifie and praise the grace of God for his deliverance, and commendeth his providence toward all mankind.

5 Then doeth he promise to giue himselfe wholly to Gods seruice, and so declar eth how God is truly worshipped. 14 Afterward he giueth thanks and praiseth God, and hauing complained of his enemies, with good courage he calleth for ayde and succour.

I waited patiently for the Lord, and hee inclined vnto me, and heard my cry,

2 He brought mee also out of the horrible pit, out of the mire clay, and let my feete vpon the rocke, and ordered my goings.

3 And he hath put in my mouth a new song of praise vnto our God: many shall see it and feare, and shall trust in the Lord.

4 Blessed is the man that maketh the Lord his trust, & regardeth not the proud, nor such as turne aside to lies.

5 O Lord my God, thou hast made thy wonderfull workes so many, that none can count in order to thee thy thoughts toward vs: I would declare, and speake of them, but they are more then I am able to expresse.

6 Sacrifice & offering thou didst not desire: (for mine eares hast thou prepared) burnt offering & sin offering hast thou not required.

7 Then said I, Lor, I come: for in the roll of the booke it is written of me,

8 I desired to doe thy good will, O my God: yea, thy Law is within my heart.

9 I haue declared thy righteousness in the great Congregation: loe, I will not reſarue my lips, O Lord, thou knowest.

10 I haue not hid thy righteousness within mine heart, but I haue declared thy truth and thy saluation: I haue not concealed thy mercy and thy truth from the great Congregation.

11 Withdraw not thou thy tender mercy from mee, O Lord: let thy mercy and thy truth alwayes preſerue me.

12 For innumerable troubles haue compassed mee: my sinnes haue taken such holde vpon mee, that I am not able to looke vp: yea, they are more in number the spirituall meaning of the sacrifices: and here David esteemeth the ceremonies of the Law nothing in respect of the spirituall seruice. g When thou hadst opened mine eares and heart, I was ready to obey thee, being assured that I was written in the booke of thine elect for this end. h In the Church assembled in the Sanctuary, i David here numbred three degrees for our saluation: Gods mercy, whereby he pittieeth vs: his righteousness, which signifieth his continuall protection: and his truth, whereby appeareth his constant fauour, so that hercof proceedeth our saluation.

b He hath deliuered me from most great dangers.

c That is, a speciall occasion to praise him: for Gods benefits are so many occasions for vs to praise his Name.

d To follow their example, which he must needs doe that trusteth no only in the Lord.

14 Let them bee confounded and put to shame together, that seeke my soule to destroy it: let them bee diuened backward and put to rebuke that desire mine hurt.

15 Let them bee destroyed for a reward of their shame, which say vnto me, Aha, aha.

16 Let all them that seeke thee, reioyce, and bee glad in thee: and let them that loue thy saluation, say alway, The Lord bee praised.

17 Though I bee poore & needy, the Lord thinketh on mee: thou art mine helper and my deliuerer: my God, make not tarrying.

18 As the faithfull alwayes praise God for his benefites: so the wicked mocke Gods children in their afflictions.

P S A L. XLI.

1 David being grievously afflicted, blest him that put him in case, 9 and complained of the treason of his owne friends and familiars, as came to passe in Iudas, Ioh. 13. 18. After, he feeling the great mercies of God gently chastising him, and not suffering his enemies to triumph against him, 13 Giveth most heartie thanks vnto God.

To him that exelleth. A Psalme of David.

Blessed is hee that iudgeth wisely of the poore: the Lord shall deliuer him in the time of trouble.

2 The Lord will keepe him, and prelerue him aliu: he shall be blessed vpon the earth, and thou wilt not deliuer him vnto the will of his enemies.

3 The Lord will strengthen him vpon the bed of sorrow: thou hast cured all his bed in his sicknesse.

4 Therefore I said, Lord haue mercy vpon mee: heale my soule, for I haue sinned against thee.

5 Mine enemies speake euil of mee, saying, When shall he die, and his name perish?

6 And if he come to see mee, he speaketh lies, but his heart heapech iniquitie within him, and when he commeth forth, he telleth it.

7 All they that hate me, whisper together against mee: even against mee doe they imagine mine hurt.

8 A mischiese is light vpon him, and he that lieth, shall no more rise.

9 Yea, my familiar friends, whom I trusted, which bit eate of my bread, hath lifted vp the heele against me.

10 Therefore, O Lord, haue mercy vpon me, and raise me vp: so shall I reward them.

11 By this I knowe that thou fauourest mee, because mine enemy doeth not triumph against me.

12 And as for mee, thou upholdest mee in mine integritie, and dost set mee before

b When for sorrow and griefe of mind he casteth himselfe vpon his bed c Thou hast restored him in his sicke bed, and sent him comfort.

d That is, curse me, and cannot haue their cruell hate quenched, but with my sharefull death.

e For pretending to comfort me, he conspireth my death in his heart, and braggeth thereof.

f The enemies thought by his sharpe punishments that God was become his mortall enemy. & Ebr. the man of my peace. g As David felt this falsehood, and as it was chiefly accomplished in Christ, Iohn 13. 18. so shall his members continually proue the same. h Meaning, either in prosperity of life, or in the true feare of God against all tentations.

thy face for euil.

13 Blessed bee the Lord God of Israel, world without end. So be it, euen so be it.

By this repetition he stirreth vp the faithfull to praise God.

P S A L. XLII.

1 The Prophet grievously complaineth, that being lashed by his persecutors, he could not be present in the congregation of Gods people, prouising that although hee was separated in body from them, yet his heart was thitherward affectioned. 7 And last of all, hee sheweth that hee was not so farre overcome with these sorrowes and thoughts, 8 But that hee continually put his confidence in the Lord.

To him that exelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sounes of Korah.

After, so panteth my soule after thee, O God.

2 My soule thirsteth for God, euen for the liuing God: when shall I come and appeare before the presence of God?

3 My teares haue bene my meate day and night: while they dayly say vnto mee, Where is thy God?

4 When I remembred these things, I powred out my very heart, because I had gone with the multitude, & led them into the house of God with the voyce of singing, and praise, as a multitude that keepeth a feast.

5 Why art thou cast downe my soule, and inquiet within mee? wait on God, for I will yet giue him thanks for the helpe of his presence.

6 My God, my soule is cast downe within mee, because I remember thee from the land of Jordan, and Hermonitar, and from the mount Mizar.

7 One deepe calleth another deepe by the noyle of the water spoutes: all thy waves and thy floods are gone ouer me.

8 The Lord will graunt his louing kindnesse in the day, and in the night shall I sing of him, euen a prayer vnto the God of my life.

9 I will say vnto God, which is my rocke, Why hast thou forgotten mee? Why goest thou mourning, when the enemy oppresseth mee?

10 My bones are cut asunder, while mine enemies reproch me, saying dayly vnto me, Where is thy God?

11 Why art thou cast downe my soule, and why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: hee is my present helpe, and my God.

ouerwhelmed: whereby hee sheweth there is no end of our miserie, till God be pacified, and send remedie. h Hee assureth himselfe of Gods helpe in time to come i That is, I am most grievously troubled. k This repetition doeth declare that David did not overcome at once: to teach vs to be constant, forasmuch as God will certainly deliuer his.

P S A L. XLIII.

I Voe mee, O God, and defend my cause against the unmercifull people: deliuer me from the deceitfull and wicked man.

2 For thou art the God of my strength: why hast thou put mee away? why goe I so mourning, when the enemy oppresseth mee?

3 Send thy light and thy trueth: let them leade me: let them bring me vnto thine holy Mountaine and to thy Tabernacles.

4 Then will I goe vnto the Altar of God, euen vnto the God of my ioy and glad- nesse, and vpon the harpe will I giue thanks vnto thee, O God, my God.

5 Why art thou disquieted within mee? waite on God: for I will yet giue him thanks: he is my present helpe and my God.

6 Whereby he admonisheth the faithful not to relent, but constantly to wait on the Lord, though their troubles be long and great.

PSALM XLIIII.

1 The faithfull remember the great mercy of God toward his people. 9 After they complained, because they feele it no more. 17 Also they allege the co- venant made with Abraham, for the keeping where- of they shew what grievous things they suffered. 23 Finally they pray vnto God not to contemne their af- fliction, seeing the same redoundeth to the contempt of his honour.

O To him that excelleth. A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to the sonnes of Korah.

VVe haue heard with our eares, O God: our fathers haue told vs the workes that thou hast done in their dayes, in the old time:

2 How thou hast driuen out the heathen with thine hand, and planted them: how thou hast destroyed the people, and caused them to grow.

3 For they inherited not the land by their owne sword, neither did their owne arme saue them: but thy right hand, and thine arme, and the light of thy countenance, be- cause thou diddest fauour them.

4 Thou art my King, O God: send helpe vnto Iacob.

5 Though they haue wee thrust backe our aduersaries: by thy name haue we tro- den downe them that rose vp against vs.

6 For I doe not trust in my bow, neither can my sword saue me.

7 But thou hast saued vs from our ad- uersaries, and hast put them to confusion that hate vs.

8 Therefore will we praise God continually, and will confesse thy name for euer. Selah.

9 But now thou art farre off, and puttest vs to confusion, and goest not forth with our armies.

10 Thou makest vs to turne backe from the aduersarie, and they, which hate vs, spoile for themselves.

11 Because they and their forefathers made both one Church, they apply that to themselves, which before they did attribute to their fathers. 12 As they confessed before, that their strength came of God, so now they acknowledge that this affliction came by his iust iudgement. 13 Or at their pleasure.

a This Psalme seemeth to haue bene made by some excellent Prophet for the vse of the people, when Church was in extreme miserie, either at their returne from Babylon, or vnder Antiochus, or in such like affliction. b That is, the Canaanites. c To wit, our fathers. d Of Canaan. e That is, our fathers. f Gods free mer- cie and loue is the onely foun- taine and begin- ning of the Church, Deut. 4.37. g Because thou art our King, therefore deliuer thy people from their miserie. h Because they and their forefathers made both one Church, they apply that to themselves, which before they did attribute to their fathers. i As they confessed before, that their strength came of God, so now they acknowledge that this affliction came by his iust iudgement. 13 Or at their pleasure.

11 Thou giuest vs as sheepe to be ea- ten and dost scatter vs among the nations.

12 Thou sellest thy people without gaine, and dost not increase their price.

13 Thou makest vs a reppach to our neighbours, a iesting and a laughing stocke to them that are round about vs.

14 Thou makest vs a prouerbe among the nations, and a nodding of the head a- mong the people.

15 My confusion is daily before me, and the shame of my face hath covered me.

16 For the voyce of the slanderer and re- buker, for the enemy and auenger.

17 All this is come vpon vs, yet doe wee not forget thee, neither deale wee falsely concerning thy covenant.

18 Our heart is not turned backe: nei- ther our steps gone out of thy paths, 19 Albeit thou hast smitten vs downe into the place of dragons, and covered vs with the shadow of death.

20 If wee haue forgotten the name of our God, and holden by our hands to a strange god, 21 Shall not God search this out? for he knoweth the secrets of the heart.

22 Surely for thy sake are we slaine con- tinually, and are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

23 Why sleepest thou, O Lord? awake be not farre off for euer.

24 Wherefore hidest thou thy face, and forgettest our miserie and our affliction?

25 For our soule is beaten downe vnto the dust: our belly cleaueth vnto the ground.

26 Rise vp for our succour, and redeeme vs for thy mercies sake.

27 Here we see the power of faith, which can be overcome by no pe- rils. p They shew that they honoured God aright, because they trusted in him alone. q They take God to witnesse, that they were vpright to himward. r The faithfull make this their comfort, that the wicked punish them not for their finnes, but for Gods cause, Matth. 5.10. 1. pet. 4.14. f There is no hope of recovery, except thou put to thine hand, and raise vs vp. t Which is the onely and sufficient ransom to deliver both body and soule from all kinde of slaerie and miserie.

PSALM XLV.

1 The maiestie of Salomon, his honour, strength, beauty, riches, and power are praised, and also his ma- riage with the Egyptian being an heathen woman is blessed. 10 If that she can renounce her people, and the loue of her countrey, and giue her selfe wholly to her husband. Vnder the which figure the wonderfull maiestie and increase of the kingdome of Christ, and his Church his Spouse now taken of the Gentiles, is described.

O To him that excelleth on a Shoshannim, a song of loue to giue instruction, com- mitted to the sonnes of Korah.

Mine heart will utter forth a good matter: I will entreat in my works of the King: my tongue is as the pen of a swift writer.

2 Thou art fairer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer.

3 Thou art fairer then the children of men: grace is powred in thy lips, because God hath blessed thee for euer.

Rom. 8.36. k Knowing God to be author of this calamitie, they murmure not, but seeke remedy at his hands, who wounded them. l As slaues which are sold for a low price, nei- ther lookest thou for him that offe- reth most but takes the first chapman. m I dare not lift vp mine head for shame. n Meaning the proud and cruell tyrant. o They boast not of their ver- tues, but declare that they rest vp- on God in the middes of their afflictions: who punished not now their finnes, but by hard af- flictions called them to the con- sideration of the heavenly ioyes. p Or, whales: mean- ing the bottom- lesse seas: often- tations. d He alludeth to them that ride in chariots in their triumphs, shewing that the quiet state of a kingdom standeth in truth, meeknesse and iustice, not in worldly pomp and vanity.

c Vnder this figure of this kingdom of iustice is set forth the everlasting kingdom of Christ.

f Hath established thy kingdom as the figure of Christ, which is the peace and ioy of the Church.

g In the which palace the people made thee ioyfull to see them giue thanks and reioyce for thee.

h Though he had many kings daughters among his wives, yet he loued Pharaohs daughter best.

i Vnder the figure of Pharaohs daughter, he sheweth that the Church must cast off all carnall affections to obey Christ onely.

k He signifieth, that diuers of them that be rich shall be benefactors to the Church, albeit they giue not perfect obedience to the Gospel.

l Or Zor. There is nothing fained nor hypocriticall, but she is glorious both within and without: and howbeit the Church hath not at all times this outward glory, the fault is to be imputed onely to their owne ingratitude.

m They shall haue greater graces then their fathers. n He signifieth the great compasse of Christs kingdom, which shall be sufficient to enrich all his members.

o This must onely be referred to Christ and not to Salomon.

3 Sted thy sword vpon thy thigh, O most mighty, to wit, thy worship and thy glory.

4 And prosper with thy glory: ride vpon the word of truth and of meeknesse and of righteousness: to thy right hand shall teach thee terrible things.

5 Thine arrowes are sharpe to pearce the heart of the kings enemies: therefore the people shall fall vnder thee.

6 Thy throne, O God, is for ever and euer: the scepter of thy kingdom is a scepter of righteousness.

7 Thou louest righteousness, and hatest wickednes, because God euen thy God hath anointed thee with the oyle of gladnesse above thy fellows.

8 All thy garments smell of myrrhe and aloes, and Cassia, when thou comest out of the purple palaces, where they haue made thee glad.

9 Kings daughters, were among thine honorable wives: vpon thy right hand did stand the Queene in a vesture of golde of Ophir.

10 Hearken, O daughter, and consider, and incline thine eare: forget also thine own people, and thy fathers house.

11 So shall the king haue pleasure in thy beautie: for he is thy Lord, and reuerence thou him.

12 And the daughter of Tyne, with the rich of the people shall doe homage before thy face with presents.

13 The kings daughter is all glorious within: her clothing is of bordered golde, 14 She shall be brought vnto the king in rayment of needle worke: the virgins that follow after her, and her companions shall be brought vnto thee.

15 With ioy and gladnesse shall they be brought, and shall enter into the kings palace.

16 In stead of thy fathers shall thy children be: thou shalt make them princes through all the earth.

17 I will make thy Name to be remembered through all generations: therefore shall the people giue thanks vnto thee worlde without end.

PSAL. XLVI.

1 A song of triumph or thanksgiving for the deliuerance of Jerusalem, after Sennacherib with his armie was driven away, or some other like sudden and marvellous deliuerance by the mighty hand of God.

2 Whereby the Prophet commending this great benefite, doth exhort the faithfull to giue them selues wholly into the hand of God, doubting nothing but that vnder his protection they shall be safe against all the assaults of their enemies, because this is his delight, to assuage the rage of the wicked, when they are most busie against the iust.

To him that excelleth vpon a Alamoeth. A song committed to the sonnes of Korah.

God is our hope and strength, and helpe in troubles, ready to be found.

2 Therefore will not we feare, though the earth be moued, and though the mountaines fall into the mids of the sea.

3 Though the waters thereof rage and bee troubled, and the mountaines shake at the surges of the same. Selah.

4 Yet there is a River, whose streames shall make glad the cite of God: euen the Sanctuary of the tabernacles of the most High.

5 God is in the mids of it: therefore shall it not be moued: God shall helpe it very early.

6 When the nations raged, and the kingdoms were moued, God thundered, and the earth melted.

7 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iakob is our refuge. Selah.

8 Come, and behold the workes of the Lord, what desolations hee hath made in the earth.

9 He maketh warres to cease vnto the ends of the world: he breaketh the bow and cutteth the speare, and burneth the chariots with fire.

10 Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, and I will be exalted in the earth.

11 The Lord of hostes is with vs: the God of Iakob is our refuge. Selah.

PSAL. XLVIII.

1 A notable deliuerance of Ierusalem from the hand of many Kings is mentioned, for the which thanks are giuen to God, and the state of that citie is praised that hath God so presently at all times ready to defend them. The Psalm is seemeth to be made in the time of Ahaz, Iosaphat, Asa, or Ezekiah, for in their times chiefly was the citie by force of princes assailed.

A song or Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Great is the Lord, and greatly to be prayed in the City of our God: euen vpon his holy mountaine.

2 Mount Zion lying Northward is faire in situation: it is the top of the whole earth, and the citie of the great King.

3 In the palaces thereof God is known for a refuge.

4 For loe, the kings were gathered and went together.

5 When they saw it, they marvelled: they were affrighted, and suddenly drizen backe.

6 Feare came there vpon them, and sorrow, as vpon a woman in trauel.

7 As with an East winde thou breakest the ships of Tarshish, so were they destroyed.

8 As we haue heard, so haue we seene in the citie of the Lord of hostes, in the citie of our God: God will stablish it for euer. Selah.

9 We wait for thy louing kindnesse, O God, in the midst of thy Temple.

10 O God according vnto thy Name, so is thy praise vnto the worlds end: thy right hand is full of righteousness.

11 Let mount Zion reioyce, & the daughters of Iudah be glad, because of thy iudgements.

12 Compassion about Zion, and go round about it, and tell the towers thereof.

13 Marke well the wall thereof: beholde her towers, that yee may tell your posterity.

14 For this God is our God for euer and euer: he shall be our guide vnto the death.

The enemies were afraid at the sight of the citie, That is, of Cilicia, or of the sea called Mediterraneum. h To wit, of our fathers, so haue we proued: or, God hath performed his promise. i In all places where thy Name shall be heard of, men shall praise thee, when they heare of thy marvellous works. k Let Ierusalem and the cities of Iudea reioyce for thy iust iudgements against thine enemies. l For in this outward defence and strength Gods blessings did also appeare, but the chiefe is to be referred to Gods fauour and secret defence, who neuer leaueth his.

PSAL. XLIX.

1 The holy Ghost calleth all men to the consideration of mans life, 7 Shewing them not to bee most blessed that are most wealthy and therefore not to be feared. But contrariwise helisteth up our mindes to consider how all things are ruled by Gods providence. 14 Who as he iudgeth these worldly misers to everlasting torments, 15 So doeth he preferue his and will reward them in the day of the resurrection. 2. The. 1. 6.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

Heare a this, all ye people: giue care, all ye that dwell in the world.

2 As well low as he, both rich and poore.

3 My mouth shall speake of wisdom, and the meditation of my heart is of knowledge.

4 I will incline mine eare to a parable, and utter my graue matter vpon the harpe.

5 Wherefore should I feare in the rust dapes, when iniquity shall compass me about, as at mine heeles?

6 They trust in their goods, and boast themselves in the multitude of their riches.

7 Yet a man can by no means redeeme his brother: he cannot giue his rancome to God.

8 (So precious is the redemption of their soules, and the continuance for euer.)

9 That he may line still for euer, and not see the graue.

10 For he seeth that wise men die, and also that the ignorant and foolish perish, and leaue their riches for others.

11 Yet they thinke their houses, and their habitations shall continue for euer, euen from generation to generation, & call their lands by their names.

12 But man shall not continue in honor, he is like the beasts that die.

13 This their way vndereth their foolishness: yet their posteritie delight in their calke. Selah.

14 Like sheepe they lie in graue: death deuoureth them, and the righteous shall haue domination ouer them in the morning: for their beautie shall consume, when they shall goe from their house to graue.

15 But God shall deliuer my soule from the power of the graue: for he will receiue me. Selah.

16 Be not thou afraid when one is made rich, and when the glory of his house is increased.

17 For he shall take nothing away when he dieth, neither shall his pompe descend after him.

18 For while he liued, he reioyced himselfe: and a men will praise thee, when thou makest much of thy selfe.

19 But when he enter into the generation of his fathers, and they shall not liue for euer.

A Psalm of Asaph.

The God of gods, even the Lord hath spoken and called the earth from the rising up of the Sunne unto the going downe thereof.

2 Out of Zion, which is the perfection of beauty hath God shined.

3 Our God shall come and shall not keepe silence: a fire shall devour before him, and a mighty tempest shall be moued round about him.

4 He shall call the heauen about, and the earth to iudge his people.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy sacrifices, of thy burnt offerings, that haue not bin continually before me.

9 I will take no bullocke out of thine house, nor goates out of thy folds.

2 Pet.

b It appeareth by the oit repetition of this word that the Prophet abode manifold tentations, but by resting on God, and by patience he ouercame them all. c He meaneth himselfe, being the man whom God had appointed to the kingdome. d Though yee seeme to bee in honour, yet God will suddenly destroy you. e Dauid was greatly moued with these troubles: therefore hee stirreth vp himselfe to trust in God. f These vehement and often repetitions were necessarie to strengthen his faith against the horrible assaults of Satan. g Hee admonisheth vs of our wicked nature, which rather hide our sorrow and bite on the bridle, then vter our griele to God to obtaine remedie. h Giue your selues wholly to God by putting away all things that are contrary to his Law. i Hee hath plainly borne witness of his power, so that none needeth to doubt thereof. k So that the wicked shall feele thy power, and the godly thy mercy.

2 ¶ Yet he is my strength and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not much be moued.

3 ¶ How long wilt thou imagine mischief against a man: ye shall be all slain: ye shall be as a bowed wall, or as a wall shaken.

4 ¶ Yet they consule to cast him downe from his dignitie: their delight is in lies, they blesse with their mouthes, but curse with their hearts. Selah.

5 ¶ Yet my soule keepe thou silence vnto God: for mine hope is in him.

6 ¶ Yet is he my strength and my saluation, and my defence: therefore I shall not be moued.

7 ¶ In God is my saluation and my glory, the rocke of my strength: in God is my trust.

8 ¶ Trust in him alway, ye people: & powre out your hearts before him, for God is our hope. Selah.

9 ¶ Yet the children of men are vanitie, the chiefe men are lyes: to lay them vpon a ballance they are altogether lighter then vanitie.

10 ¶ Trust not in oppression nor in robbery: be not vaine: if riches increase let not your heart thereon.

11 ¶ God spake once or twice, I haue heard it, that power, belongeth vnto God, 12 ¶ And to thee, O Lord, mercy: for thou rewardest euery one according to his worke.

O God, thou art my God, early will I seeke thee: my soule thirsteth for thee: my flesh longeth greatly after thee in a barren and drie land without water.

2 ¶ Thus I behold thee as in the sanctuarie, when I behold thy power and thy glory.

3 ¶ For thy louing kindnesse is better then life: therefore my lips shall praise thee.

4 ¶ Thus will I magnifie thee all my life, and lift vp mine hande in thy Name.

5 ¶ My soule shall be satisfied, as with marrow and fattenesse, and my mouth shall praise thee with ioyfull lips,

1 In this Psalme David setteth forth as in a glasse the wonderfull mercies of God toward his people, 5 Who by all meanes and most strange sorts declared himselfe to them. 15 And therefore Gods Church by reason of his promises, graces and victories, doth excell without comparison all worldly things. 34 Hee exhorteth therefore all men to praise God for ever.

To him that excelleth. A Psalm or song of David.

a The Prophet sheweth that albeit God suffereth the wicked tyrants to oppresse his Church for a time, yet at length he will be reuenged of the. b He sheweth that when God declareth his power against the wicked, that it is for the commoditie and saluation of his Church, which praise him therefore.

c Iah and Iehoshuah are names of God, which doe signifie his essence & maiesty incomprehensible, so that hereby is declared, that all idoles are but vanity, and that the God of Israel is the onely true God. d He giueth children to them that be childlesse and increaseth their families. e Which is barren of Gods blessings, which before they had abused.

f He teacheth that Gods fauor peculiarly belongeth to his Church, as appeareth by their wonderfull deliuerance out of Egypt. g God blessed the land of Canaan because hee had chosen that place for his Church. h The fashion then was, that women sung songs after the victory, as Miriam, Deborah, Iudith, & others. i The pray was so great, that not onely the souldiers, but women also had part thereof. k Though God suffer his Church for a time to lie in blacke darkness, yet he will restore it and make it most shining and white. l In the land of Canaan where his Church was. m Zion the Church of God doth excell all worldly things, not in pompe and outward shew, but by the inward grace of God, which there remaineth, because of his dwelling there.

God will arise, and his enemies shall be scattered: they also that hate him, shall flee before him.

2 As the smoke vanissheth, so shalt thou drine them away; and as waxe melteth before the fire, so shall the wicked perish at the presence of God.

3 But the righteous shall be glad, and reioyce before God: yea, they shall leape for ioy.

4 Sing vnto God, and sing psalms vnto his Name: exalt him, that rideth vpon the heauens, in his Name. Iah, and reioyce before him.

5 Hee is a father of the fatherlesse, and a Judge of the widowes, euen God, in his holy habitation.

mountaine of Bashan: it is an high mountaine, as mount Bashan.

16 Why leape ye, ye high mountaines? as for this Mountaine, God delighteth to dwell in it: yea, the Lord will dwell in it for ever.

17 The charrets of God are twentie thousand thousand Angels, and the Lord is among them, as in the Sanctuary of Sinai.

18 Thou art gone by on high: thou hast led captiuitie captiue, and received gifts for men: yea, euen the rebellious hast thou led, that the Lord God might dwell there.

19 Praised be the Lord, euen the God of our saluation, which leadeth vs daily with benefits. Selah.

20 This is our God, euen the God that saueth vs: and to the Lord God belong the issues of death.

21 Surely God will wound the head of his enemies, and the hairy pate of him that walketh in his sinnes.

24 They haue seene, O God, thy goings, the goings of my God, and my King, which are in the Sanctuary.

25 The fingers went before, the playces of instruments after: in the middes were the maidens playing with timbrels.

26 Praise ye God in the assemblies, and the Lord, ye that are of the fountaine of Israel.

32 Sing vnto God, O ye kingdomes of the earth: sing praise vnto the Lord, (Selah) n Why boast ye of your strength & beauty against this mountaine of God?

To him that excelleth vpon Shos-hanim. A Psalme of Dauid.
Sue mee, O God: for the waters are en-stred euen to my soule.

2 I sticke fast in the deepe myre, where no stay is: I am come into deepe waters, and the streames runne ouer me.

3 I am weary of crying: my throte is dry: mine eyes faile, whiles I wait for my God.

4 They that hate me without a cause, are more then the haire of mine head, they that would destroy mee, and are mine enemies falsely, are mighty, so that I restored that which I rooke not.

5 O God, thou knowest my foolishnes, and my faults are not hid from thee.

6 Let not them that trust in thee, O Lord God of hostes, be ashamed for mee: let not those that seeke thee, be confounded through me, O God of Israel.

7 For thy sake haue I suffered reproofe:
shame hath covered my face.

8 I am become a stranger vnto my brethren, euen an alien vnto my mothers sonnes.

9 For the zeale of thine house hath eaten mee, and the rebukes of them that rebuked thee, are fallen vpon me.

10 I wept, and my soule fasted, but that was to my reproofe.

11 I put on a sacke also: and I became a prouerbe vnto them.

12 They that late in the gate, spake of me, and the drunkards sang of me.

13 But Lord, I make my prayer vnto thee in an acceptable time, euen in the multitude of thy mercy: O God, heare me in the truth of thy saluation.

14 Deliuer mee out of the myre, that I sinke not: let mee be deliuered from them that hate me, and out of the deepe waters.

15 Let not the water flood drowne mee, neither let the deepe swallow me vp: and let not the pit shut her mouth vpon me.

16 Weare mee, O Lord, for thy louing kindnesse is good: turne vnto me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

17 And hide not thy face from thy seruant, for I am in trouble: make haste, and heare me.

18 Draw nere vnto my soule, & redeeme it: deliuer me, because of mine enemies.

19 Thou hast known my reproofe, and my shame, and my dishonour: all mine ad-uersaries are before thee.

20 Rebuke hath broken mine heart, and I am full of heavines, and I looked for some to haue pittie on me, but there was none: and for comforters, but I found none.

21 For they gaue me gall in my meat, and in my thirst they gaue me vineger to drinke.

22 Let their table be a snare before them, and their prosperitie their ruine.

23 Let their eyes bee blinded, that they see not: and make their loynes alway to tremble.

24 Bowre out thine anger vpon them, and let thy wrathfull displeasure take them.

25 Let their habitation be voyd, and let none dwell in their tents.

26 For they persecute him, whom thou hast smitten: and they adde vnto the sorrow of them whom thou hast wounded.

27 Lay iniquity vpon their iniquity, and let them not come into thy righteousness.

28 Let them be put out of the booke of life, neither let them be written with the righteous.

29 When I am poore and in heavinesse, thine helpe, O God, shall exalt me.

30 I will praise the Name of God with a song, and magnifie him with thanksgiving.

31 This also shall please the Lord better then a yong bullocke, that hath hornes and hoofes.

32 The humble shal see this, and they that seeke God shal be glad, and your heart shal line.

33 For the Lord heareth the poore, and despiseeth not his prisoners.

34 Let heauen and earth praise him: the seas and all that moueth in them.

35 For God will saue Zion, and build the cities of Iudah, that men may dwell there, and haue it in possession.

36 The seede also of his seruants shal inherit it: and they that loue his Name, shal dwell therein.

^b He teacheth vs to be earnest in prayer, though God seeme to stay: for at his time he will heare vs.
^c He was assured that the more they ragged, the nearer they were to destruction, and he the nearer to his deliuerance. ^d Hereby we are taught not to mocke at others in their miserie, lest the same fall on our owne neckes. ^e Because he had felt Gods helpe before, he groundeth on experience, and boldly seeketh vnto him for succour.

C To him that excelleth. A Psalme of Dauid, to put in remembrance.
^a God, ^b haste thee to deliuer me: make haste to helpe me, ^c Lord.
 2 Let them bee confounded and put to shame, that seeke my soule: let them be turned backward and put to rebuke, that desire mine hurt.
 3 Let them be turned backe for a reward of their shame, which said, Aha, aha.
 4 But let all those that seeke thee, be ioyfull and glad in thee, and let all that loue thy saluation, say alwayes, God be praised.
 5 Now I am poore and needy: ^d God, make haste to me: thou art mine helper, and my deliuerer: ^e Lord, make no tarying.

P S A L. LXXI.

¹ Hee prayeth in faith, established by the word of promise, ⁵ and confirmed by the worke of God from his youth. ¹⁰ Hee complaineth of the cruelty of his enemies, ¹⁷ and desireth God to continue his graces toward him, ²² promising to be mindful and thankful for the same.

Psal. 31. 1.

^a He prayeth to God with full assurance of faith, that he will deliuer him from his aduersaries. ^b By declaring thy selfe true of promise. ^c Thou hast infinite, meanes, and all creatures are at thy commandment: therefore shew some signe whereby I shall be deliuered. ^d That is, from Absalon, Ahitophel and that conspiracie. ^e He strengtheneth his faith by the experience of Gods benefits, who did not onely preserue him in his mothers belly, but rooke him thence, and ever since hath preferred him. ^f All the world wondreth at me because of my miseries, as well they in authority, as the common people: yet being assured of thy fauour, I remained stedfast. ^g Thou that didst helpe me in my youth when I had more strength, help me now so much the more in mine old age and weakness. ^h Thus the wicked both blaspheme God, & triumph against his Saints, as though he had forsaken them, if hee suffer them to fall into their hands. ⁱ In calling him his God, he putteth backe the false reports of the aduersaries, that said, God had forsaken him.

g As this is true in all godly kings, so is it chiefly verified in Christ, who with his heavenly dew maketh his Church euer to flourish.
h That is, from the red sea, to the sea called Syria-cum, and from Euphrates forward: meaning, that Christs kingdome should be large and vniuersall.
i Of Cicilia and of all other countreys beyond the sea, which he meaneth by the yles.
k That is, of Arabia that rich countrey, whereof Sheba was a part bordering vpon Ethiopia.
l Thought tyrants passe not to shed blood, yet this godly king shall preferue his subiects from all kind of wrong.
m God wil both prosper his life, and also make the people most willing to obey him.
n Vnder such a King shall bee most great plentie both of fruit, and also of the increase of mankind.
o They shall pray to God for his continuance, and know that God doth prosper them for his sake.
p He confesseth that except God miraculously preferue his people, that neither the King nor the kingdome can continue.
q Concerning his sonne Salomon.

6 Hee shall come: dworne like the raine vpon the mowen grasse, and as the showers that water the earth.
7 In his dayes shall the righteous flourish, and abundance of peace shall bee so long as the moone endureth.
8 His dominion shall be also from^b sea to sea, and from the riuer vnto the ends of the land.
9 They that dwell in the wilderness, shall kneele before him, and his enemies shall lick the dust.
10 The kings of Tarshish and of the yles shall bring presents: the kings^k of Sheba and Seba shall bring giftes.
11 Yea, all kings shall worship him: all nations shall serue him.
12 For he shall deliuer the poore when he cryeth: the needy also and him that hath no helper.
13 He shall be mercifull to the poore and needy, and shall preferue the soules of the poore.
14 He shall redeeme their soules from deceit and violence, andⁱ deare shall their blood be in his sight.
15 Yea, he shall liue, and vnto him shall they giue of the^m gold of Sheba: they shall also pray for him continually, and daily bless him.
16 An handfull of corne shall be sown in the earth, euen in the top of the mountaines, and the^l fruit thereof shall shake like the trees of Lebanon: and the children shall flourish out of the citie like the grasse of the earth.
17 His name shall be for euer: his name shall endure as long as the sunne: all nations shall bless^e him, and be blessed in him.
18 Blessed be the Lord God, euen the God of Israel, which onely doeth^o wonderous things.
19 And blessed be his glorious name for euer: and let all the earth be filled with his glory. So be it, euen so be it.

HERE END THE prayers of David the sonne of Isha.

PSAL. LXXIII.

1 The Prophet teacheth by his example, that neither the worldly prosperitie of the vngodly, 14 Nor yet the affliction of the good, ought to discourage Gods children, but rather ought to moue vs to consider our Fathers providence, and so cause vs to reuerence gods iudgements, 19 Forasmuch as the wicked vanish away, 24 And the Godly enter into life everlasting, 28 In hope whereof he resigneth himselfe into Gods hands.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

a As it were betwene hope and despaire he braisth forth into this affection, being assured that God would continue his fauour toward such as were godly indeede, and not hypocrites.

Y^e God is good to Israel: euen to the pure in heart.
2 As for me, my feet were almost gone: my steps had welnere slipt.

3 For I fretted at the foolish, when I saw the prosperitie of the wicked.

4 For there are no bands in their death, but they are lusty and strong.

5 They are not in trouble as other men, neither are they plagued with other men.

6 Therefore pride is as a chaine vnto them, and crueltie couereth them as a garment.

7 Their eyes stand out for fatnes: they haue more then heart can wish.

8 They are licentious, and speake wickedly of their oppression: they talke presumptuously.

9 They set their mouth against heauen, and their tongue walketh thozow the earth.

10 Therefore his people turne hither: for waters of a full cup are wrang out to them.

11 And they say, How doeth God know it? is there knowledge in the most high?

12 Lo, these are the wicked, yet prosper they alway, and increase in riches.

13 Certainly I haue cleansed mine heart in vaine, and washed mine hands in innocencie.

14 For dayly haue I bene punished, and chattered eury morning.

15 If I say, I will iudge thus, behold, the generation of thy children: I haue trespassed.

16 Then thought I to know this, but it was too painefull for me.

17 Until I went into the^b Sanctuary of God: then vnderstood I their end.

18 Surely thou hast set them in slippery places, & castest them down into desolation.

19 How suddenly are they destroyed, & perished, and^h horribly consumed.

20 As a dreame when one awaketh! O Lord, when^d thou raisest them vp, thou shalt make their image despised.

21 Certainly mine heart was vexed, and I was pickt in my reines:

22 So foolish was I and ignorant: I was as a^h beast before thee.

23 Yet I was alway^m with thee: thou hast holden me by my right hand.

24 Thou wilt guide me by thy counsell, and afterward receiue me to glory.

25 Whom haue I inⁿ heauen but thee? and I haue desired none in the earth with thee.

26 My flesh falleth, and mine heart also but God is the strength of mine heart, and my^o portion for euer.

27 For lo, they that withdraw themselves from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that^p goe a whozing from thee.

28 Thy flesh falleth, and mine heart also but God is the strength of mine heart, and my^o portion for euer.

29 For lo, they that withdraw themselves from thee, shall perish: thou destroyest all them that^p goe a whozing from thee.

30 Thou shalt preferue thy children in their greatest dangers.

31 Vntill I entered into thy schoole and learned by thy word and holy Spirit, that thou orderest all things most wisely and iustly.

32 By thy fearful iudgement. k When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heauenly felicitie, wee contemne all their vaine pompe.

33 For the more that man goeth about by his owne reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more doeth he declare himselfe a beast.

34 By faith I was assured, that thy providence did watch alwayes ouer me, to preferue me.

35 He sought neither helpe nor comfort of any, saue of God onely. o He teacheth vs to denie our selues, to haue God our wholeⁿ efficiencie, and onely contentment.

36 That is, forsake thee to seeke others.

b The wicked in this life liue at pleasure, and are not drawen to death like prisoners, that is, by sicknesse, which is deathes messenger.
c They glory in their pride, as some doe in their chaines: and in crueltie, as some doe in apparell.
d Ebr. they passe the desires of the heart.
e They blaspheme God and feare not his power, and raile vpon men because they esteeme themselves aboue all others.
f Not onely the reprobate, but also the people of God oftentimes fall backe, seeing the prosperous estate of the wicked, and are ouerwhelmed with sorrowes, thinking that God considereth not aright the state of the godly.
g Thus the flesh moueth euen the godly to dispute with God touching their poore estate, and the prosperitie of the wicked.
h If I giue place to this wicked thought, I offend against thy providence, seeing thou disposest all things most wisely, and most wisely.
i Vntill I entered into thy schoole and learned by thy word and holy Spirit, that thou orderest all things most wisely and iustly.
j By thy fearful iudgement.
k When thou openest our eyes to consider thy heauenly felicitie, wee contemne all their vaine pompe.
l For the more that man goeth about by his owne reason to seeke out Gods iudgements, the more doeth he declare himselfe a beast.
m By faith I was assured, that thy providence did watch alwayes ouer me, to preferue me. n He sought neither helpe nor comfort of any, saue of God onely.
o He teacheth vs to denie our selues, to haue God our wholeⁿ efficiencie, and onely contentment.
p That is, forsake thee to seeke others.

q Though all the world shrinke nere to God: therefore I haue put my trust in the Lord God, that I may declare all thy hee promisseth to worke.

trust in him, and to magnifie his workes.

PSAL. LXXIIII.

1 The faithfull complaine of the destruction of the Church and true religion, 2 Vnder the name of Zion, and the Temple destroyed: 11 And trusting in the might and free mercies of God, 20 By his covenant, 21 They require helpe and succour for the glory of Gods holy Name, for the saluation of his poore afflicted seruants, 23 And the confusion of his proud enemies.

A Psalme to giue instruction, committed to Asaph.

a The Church of God being oppressed by the tyranny either of the Babylonians, or of Antiochus, prayeth to God by whose hand this yoke was laid vpon them for their finnes.

b Which inheritance thou hast measured out for thy selfe as with a line or rod.

|| Or, feete.

c They haue destroyed they true religion, & spread their banners in signe of defiance.

d He commended the Temple for the costly matter the excellent workmanship, and beauty thereof, which not withstanding the enemies did destroy.

e They encouraged one another to cruelty that not onely Gods people might be destroyed, but also his religion vtterly in all places suppressed.

f They lament that they haue no Prophet among them to shew them how long their misery should endure.

g They ioyne their deliuerance with Gods glory and power, knowing that the punishment of the enemies should be their deliuerance.

O God, why hast thou put vs away for euer? why is thy wrath kindled against the sheepe of thy pasture?

2 Thinke vpon thy Congregation, which thou hast possessed of old, and on the rod of thine inheritance which thou hast redeemed, and on this mount Zion, wherein thou hast dwelt.

3 Lift by thy strokes, that thou mayest for euer destroy euery enemy that doeth euill to the Sanctuary.

4 Thine aduersaries roare in the mids of thy Congregation, and set by their banners for signes.

5 He that lifted the axes vpon the thicke trees, was renowned, as one that brought a thing to perfection:

6 But now they breake down the carved worke thereof with axes and hammers.

7 They haue cast thy Sanctuary into the fire, and rated it to the ground, and haue defiled the dwelling place of thy Name.

8 They said in their hearts, Let vs destroy them altogether: they haue burnt all the Synagogues of God in the land.

9 We see not our signes: there is not one Prophet more, nor any with vs that knoweth how long.

10 O God, how long shall the aduersary reprobeth thee? shall the enemy blaspheme thy Name for euer?

11 Why withdrawest thou thine hand? why thy right hand? draw it out of thy bo- some, and consume them.

12 Euen God is my King of old, working saluation in the mids of the earth.

13 Thou didst diuide the sea by thy power: thou brakest the heads of the dragons in the waters.

14 Thou brakest the head of ^a Liniathan in pieces, and gauest him to be meat for the people in wilderness.

15 Thou brakest vp the fountaine, and river: thou didst vp mighty rivers.

16 The day is thine: and the night is thine: thou hast prepared the light & the sun.

g They ioyne their deliuerance with Gods glory and power, knowing that the punishment of the enemies should be their deliuerance.

h Meaning, in the sight of all the world.

i To wit, Pharaohs armie which was a great monster of the sea, or whale, meaning Pharaoh. I. His destruction did reioyce them as meat refresheth the body.

m Seeing that God by his providence, gouerneth and disposeth all things, he gathereth that he will take care chiefly for his children.

17 Thou hast set all the borders of the earth: thou hast made summer and winter.

18 Remember this, that the enemy hath reproached the Lord, and the foolish people hath blasphemed thy Name.

19 Giue not the soule of thy turtle dove vnto the beast, and forget not the Congregation of thy poore for euer.

20 Consider thy covenant: for the darke places of the earth are full of the habitations of the cruel.

21 Let not the oppressed returne ashamed, but let the poore and needy praise thy Name.

22 Arise, O God: maintaine thine owne cause: remember thy daily reproch by the foolish man.

23 Forget not the voyce of thine enemies: for the tumult of them that rise against thee, ascendeth continually.

PSAL. LXXV.

1 The faithfull doe praise the Name of the Lord, 2 which shal come to iudge at the tyme appointed, 3 when the wicked shalbe put to confusion, and drinke of the cup of his wrath. 10 Their pride shalbe abated, and the righteous shal be exalted to honour.

To him that excelleth. Destroy not. A Psalme or song committed to Asaph.

VV e will praise thee, O God, wee will praise thee, for thy Name is nere: therefore they will declare thy wonderful workes.

2 When I shall take a conuenient tyme, I will iudge righteously.

3 The earth & al the inhabitants thereof are dissolved: but I wil establish the pillars of it. Selah.

7 But God is the Iudge: he maketh low and he maketh high.

8 For in the Name of the Lord is a cup, and the wine is red: it is full mixt, and hee powreth out of the same: surely al the wicked of the earth shall wring out and drinke the dregs thereof.

9 But I will declare for euer, and sing praises vnto the God of Iacob.

10 All the homes of the wicked also will I breake: but the homes of the righteous shall be exalted.

PSAL. LXXVI.

8 Thou diddest cause thy iudgement to be heard from heauen: therefore the earth feared and was still.

PSAL. LXXVII.

1 The Prophet in the name of the Church rehearseth the greatnes of his affliction, & his grievous sensations, 6 whereby he was driven to the end, to consider his former conuersation, 11 and the continuall course of Gods works in the preservation of his servants, and so he confirmeth his faith against these sensations.

PSAL. LXXVIII.

1 He sheweth how God of his mercy chose his Church of the posteritie of Abraham, 8 reproching the stubborn rebellion of their fathers, that the children might not onely understand, 11 that God of his free mercy made his covenant with their ancestors, 17 but also seeing them so malicious and perverse, might be ashamed, and so turne wholly to God. In this Psalmie the holy Ghost hath comprehended as it were the summe of all Gods benefites, to the intent the ignorant & grosse people might see in few words the effect of the whole histories of the Bible.

Iohn 6. 31. 1. Cor. 10. 3.

5 Vow he established a testimony in Iacob, and ordeined a law in Israel, which hee commaunded our fathers, that they should teach their children:

6 That the posterity might knowe it, & the children which should be borne, should stand vp, and declare it to their children:

7 That they might set their hope on God, and not forget the works of God, but keepe his commandments:

8 And not to be as their fathers, a disobedient and rebellious generation: a generation that set not their heart aright, and whose spirit was not faithfull vnto God.

9 The children of Ephraim being armed, and shooting with the bowe, turned backe in the day of battell.

10 They kepten of the couenant of God, but refused to walke in his Law, 11 And forgot his acts, and his wonderful works that he had shewed them.

12 He did marvellous things in the sight of their fathers in the land of Egypt: euen in the field of Zoan.

13 He diuided the sea, and led them thorough: he made also the waters to stand as an heape.

14 In the day time also hee led them with a cloud, and all the night with a light of fire.

15 He claue the rocks in the wilderness, and gaue them drinke as of the great depths.

16 He brought floods also out of the stony rocke, so that he made the waters to descend like the riuers:

17 Yet they sinned still against him, and prouoked the Highest in the wilderness, 18 And tempted God in their hearts, in requiring meat for their lust.

19 They spake against God also, saying, Can God prepare a table in the wilderness?

20 Behold, he smote the rocke, that the water gushed out, and the streames overflowed: can he giue bread also? or prepare flesh for his people?

21 Therefore the Lord heard and was angry, and the fire was kindled in Iacob, and also wrath came vpon Israel, 22 Because they beleued not in God, and trusted not in his helpe.

23 Yet he had commanded the cloudes aboue, and had opened the doores of heauen, 24 And had rained downe M A N. vpon them for to eate, and had giuen them of the wheate of heauen.

25 Man did eate the bread of Angels: he sent them meat enough.

26 He caused the East wind to passe in the heauen, & through his power he brought in the South wind.

27 He rained flesh also vpon them as dust, and feathered foule as the land of the sea.

28 And he made it fall in the middes of their campe, euen round about their habitations.

29 So they did eat, and were well filled: for he gaue them their desire.

30 They were not turned from their lust, but the meat was yet in their monthes, 31 When the wrath of God came euen vpon them, and slew the strongest of them, and smote downe the chosen men in Israel.

32 For all this they sinned still, and beleued not his wondrous works.

33 Therefore their dayes did he consume in vanity, and their yeeres basely.

34 And when hee slew them, they sought him, and they returned, and sought God early.

35 And they remembred that God was their strength, and the most high God their Redeemer.

36 But they flattered him with their mouth, and dissembled with him with their tongue.

37 For their heart was not upright with him: neither were they faithfull in his couenant.

38 Yet he being mercifull forgave their iniquity, & destroyed them not, but oft times called backe his anger, and did not stirre vp all his wrath.

39 For hee remembred that they were flesh: yea, a wind that passeth, and commeth not againe.

40 How oft did they prouoke him in the wilderness: and grieue him in the desert?

41 Yea, they returned & tempted God, and limited the Holy one of Israel.

42 They remembred not his hand, nor the day when he deliuered them from the enemy,

43 Nor him that set his signes in Egypt, and his wonders in the field of Zoan, 44 And turned their riuers into blood, and their floods that they could not drinke.

45 Hee sent a swarme of flies among them, which deuoured them, & frogs which destroyed them.

46 He gaue also their fruits vnto the caterpillar, and their labour vnto the grasshopper.

47 Hee destroyed their vines with haille, and their wilde figtrees with the haillestone.

48 He gaue their cattell also to the haille, and their flocks to the thunderbolts.

49 He cast vpon them the fiercenes of his anger, indignation and wrath, and vexation by the sending out of euill angels.

50 He made a way to his anger: he spared p God vsed the meanes of the winde to teach them, that all elements were at his commandment, and that no distance of place could let his working.

q Such is the nature of concupiscence, that the more it hath, the more it lusteth.

r Though other were not spared, yet chusly they suffered, which trusted in their strength against God.

s Thus sinne by continuance maketh men insensible, so that by no plagues they can be amended. t Such was their hypocrisie, that they sought vnto God for feare of punishment, though in their heart they loued him not.

u Whatsoeuer cometh not from the pure fountaine of the heart, is hypocrisie.

x Because hee would euer haue some remnant of a Church to praise his Name in earth, he suffered not their sinnes to overcome his mercy. y That is, they tempted him oft times.

z As they all doe that measure the power of God by their capacitie.

a The forgetfulness of Gods benefits, is the root of rebellion and all vice.

b This word signifieth a confused mixture of flies and venomous wormes. Some take it for all sorts of serpents: some for all wilde beasts. c He repeateth not here all the miracles that God did in Egypt, but certaine, which might be sufficient to conuince the people of malice and ingratitude. d So called either of the effect, that is, of punishing the wicked, or els because they were wicked spirits, whom God permitted to vex men.

Hear, O thou Shepheard of Israel, thou that leadest Ioseph like a sheep: shewe thy brightnesse, thou that sittest betwene the Cherubims.

2 Before Ephraim and Benjamin and Manasse stirre by thy strength, and come to helpe vs.

3 Turne vs againe O God, and cause thy face to shine, that we may be saued.

4 O Lord God of hostes, how long wilt thou be angry against the prayer of thy people.

5 Thou hast fed them with the bread of teares and giuen them teares to drinke with great measure.

6 Thou hast made vs a strife vnto our neighbours, and our enemies laugh at vs among themselves.

7 Turne vs againe, O God of hostes: cause thy face to shine, and we shall be saued.

8 Thou hast brought a vine out of Egypt: thou hast cast out the heathen, and planted it.

9 Thou madest roome for it, and diddest caule it to take roote, and it filled the land.

10 The mountaines were covered with the shadow of it: and the boughes thereof were like the goodly cedars.

11 She stretched out her branches vnto the Sea, and her boughes vnto the River.

12 Why hast thou then broken down her hedges, so that all they, which passe by the way, haue plucked her?

13 The wilde boe out of the wood hath destroyed it, and the wilde beasts of the field haue eaten it vp.

14 Returne wee beseech thee, O God of hostes: looke downe from heauen and behold and visite this vine,

15 And the vineyard, that thy right hand hath planted, and the pong vine, which thou madest strong for thy selfe.

16 It is burne with fire, and cut downe: and they perish at the rebuke of thy countenance.

17 Let thine hand be vpon the man of thy right hand, and vpon the sonne of mar, who thou madest strong for thine owne life.

18 So wil not we go back from thee, & reuine thou vs, & we shall call vpon thy Name.

To him that excelleth vpon a Citith. A Psalme committed to Asaph.

Sing joyfully vnto God our strength: sing loud vnto the God of Iacob.

3 Blow the trumpet in the new moone, even in the time appointed, at our feast day.

4 For this is a statute for Israel, and a Law of the God of Iacob.

5 We set this in Ioseph for a testimonie, when he came out of the land of Egypt, where I heard a language, that I understood not.

6 I haue withdrawen his shoulder from the burden, & his hands haue left the pots.

7 Thou calledst in affliction, and I deliuered thee, and answered thee in the secret of the thunder: I proued thee at the waters of Meribah. Selah.

9 And wilt haue no strange god in thee, neither worship any strange god.

10 (For I am the Lord thy God, which brought thee out of the land of Egypt) open thy mouth wide, and I will fill it.

11 But my people would not heare my voyce, and Israel would none of me.

12 So I gaue them vp vnto the hardnes of their heart, and they haue walked in their owne counsels.

13 Oh that my people had hearkened vnto me, & Israel had walked in my wayes!

f Thou takest them away suddenly as with a flood.

g Thou callest vs by thy rods to consider the shortnesse of our life, and for our finnes thou abridgest our dayes.

h Our dayes are not onely short, but miserable, for as much as our finnes dayly prouoke thy wrath, i Meaning, according to the common state of life.

k If mans life for the breuitie bee miserable, much more if thy wrath lie vpon it, as they which feare thee onely know.

l Which is by considering the shortnesse of our life, and by meditating the heauenly ioyes.

m Meaning, wilt thou be angry? || Or, take comfort in thy seruants. n Euen thy mercy, which is thy chiefest worke. o As Gods promises appertained as well to their posteritie, as to them, so Moyses prayeth for the posterity. p Meaning, that it was obscured, whē he ceased to do good to his Church. q For except thou guide vs with thine holy Spirit, our enterprises can haue no good successe.

6 In the morning it flourisheth & groweth, but in the evening it is cut downe and withereth.

7 For we are consumed by thine anger, and by thy wrath are we troubled.

8 Thou hast let our iniquities before thee, and our secret finnes in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our dayes are past in thine anger: wee haue spent our yeeres as a thought.

10 The time of our life is threescore yeeres, and tennē, and if they be of strength, fourscore yeeres: yet their strength is but labour and sorrow: for it is cut off quickly, and wee flee away.

11 Who knoweth the power of thy wrath? for according to thy feare is thine anger.

12 Teach vs so to number our dayes, that wee may apply our hearts vnto wisdom.

13 Returne, O Lord, how long? and be pacified toward thy seruants.

14 Fill vs with thy mercy in the morning: so shall we reioyce and be glad all our dayes.

15 Comfort vs according to the dayes that thou hast afflicted vs, and according to the yeeres that we haue seene euill.

16 Let thy worke bee seene toward thy seruants, and thy glory vpon their children.

17 And let the beautie of the Lord our God be vpon vs, and direct thou the worke of our hands vpon vs, euen direct the worke of our hands.

PSALM. XCI.

1 Heere is described in what assurance hee liueth that putteth his whole trust in God, and committeth himselfe wholly to his protection in all tentations. 14 A promise of God to those that loue him, know him, and trust in him, to deliuer them and giue them immortal glory.

Vho so dwelleth in the secret of the most high, shall abide in the shadow of the Almighty.

2 I will say vnto the Lord, O mine hope, and my fortress: he is my God, in him will I trust.

3 Surely, hee will deliuer thee from the snare of the hunter, and from the noysome pestilence.

4 Wee will couer thee vnder his wings, and thou shalt bee sure vnder his feathers: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

5 Thou shalt not bee afraid of the feare of the night, nor of the arrow that flyeth by day:

6 Nor of the pestilence that walketh in the darknesse: nor of the plague that destroyeth at noone day.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand, but it shall not come neere thee.

8 Doubtlesse with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

9 For thou hast sayd, The Lord is mine hope: thou hast set the most high for thy refuge.

10 There shall none euill come vnto thee, neither shall any plague come neere thy tabernacle.

11 For he shall giue his Angels charge ouer thee, to keepe thee in all thy wayes.

12 They shall beare thee in their hands, that thou hurt not thy foote against a stone.

13 Thou shalt walke vpon the lion and aspe: the young lyon and the dragon shalt thou tread vnder feete.

14 Because he hath loued me, therefore will I deliuer him: I will exalt him because he hath known my name.

15 He shall call vpon me, and I will heare him: I will be with him in trouble: I will deliuer him, and glorifie him.

7 Giue vnto the Lord, ye families of the people: giue vnto the Lord glory and power.

8 Giue vnto the Lord the glory of his Name: bring an offering, and enter into his courts.

9 Worship the Lord in the glorious Sanctuary: tremble before him all the earth.

10 Say among the nations, The Lord reigneth: surely the world shall be stable, and not moue, and hee shall iudge the people in righteousness.

11 Let the heauens reioyce, and let the earth be glad: let the sea roare, and all that therein is.

1 He commendeth the power, equity, and excellencie of the kingdome of God by Christ ouer the Iewes and Gentiles, 5 and prouoketh them to magnifie the same, and to serue the Lord, 6 following the example of the ancient Fathers, Moses, Aaron, Samuel, who calling vpon God, were heard in their prayers.

The Lord reigneth, let the people tremble: he sitteth betweene the Cherubims, let the earth be moued.

7 Wee spake vnto them in the cloudy pillar: they kept his testimonies, and the Law that he gaue them.

8 Thou heardest them, O Lord our God: thou wast a fauourable God vnto them, though thou didst take vengeance for their inuentions.

P S A L. CVIII.

This Psalme is composed of two other Psalmes before, the fowen and fiftieth and the sixtieth. The matter here contained is, 1 That David giueth himselfe with heart and voyce to praise the Lord, 7 And asseureth himselfe of the promise of God concerning his kingdom ouer Israel, and his power against other nations: 11 Who though he seeme to forsake vs for a time yet he alone will in the end cast downe our enemies.

A song or Psalm of David.

O God, mine heart is prepared, so is my tongue: I will sing and giue praise.

2 Awake vsole and harpe: I will awake earely.

3 I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, and I will sing vnto thee among the nations.

4 For thy mercy is great about the heauens, and thy trueth vnto the clouds.

5 Exalt thy selfe, O God, about the heauens, and let thy glorie bee vpon all the earth.

6 That thy beloued may bee deliuered: helpe with thy right hand and heare me.

7 God hath spoken in his holinesse: therefore I will reioyce, I shall diuide Shechem, and measure the valley of Succoth.

8 Gilead shalbe mine, and Danashe shall be mine: Ephraim also shall bee the strength of mine head: Iudah is my lawginer.

9 Moab shall be my washpot: ouer Edom will I cast out my shoe: vpon Palestina will I triumph.

10 Who will leade me into the strong citie: who will bring me into Edom?

11 Wilt not thou, O God which haddest forsaken vs, and didst not goe forth, O God with our armies?

12 Giue vs helpe against trouble: for vaine is the helpe of man.

13 Through God we shall doe valiantly for he shall tread downe our enemies.

a The Church now afflicted ought to remember how her condition hath euer bene such from the beginning to be molested most grievously by the wicked: yet in time it hath euer bene deliuered. b Because God is righteous, hee cannot but plague his aduersaries, and deliuer his as oxen out of the plough.

c That is, the Arke, which was a signe of Gods presence. d The common bruite was that the Arke should remaine in Beth-lehem a plentiful place: but after, we perceived that thou wouldst place it in Ierusalem, which was barren as a Forrest, and compassed about only with hilles.

1 The people of God in their banishment seeing Gods true religion decay, lined in great anguish and sorrow of heart: the which grieft the Caldeans did so little pity, 3 that they rather increased the same daily with taunts, reproches and blasphemies against God. 7 Wherefore the Israelites desire God, first to punish the Edomites, who prouoked the Babylonians against them, 8 and moued by the Spirit of God, prophesie the destruction of Babylon, where they were handled so tyrannously.

5 If I forget thee, O Ierusalem, let my right hand forget to play.

6 If I doe not remember thee, let my tongue cleaue to the roose of my mouth: yea, if I preferre not Ierusalem to my chiefest toy.

⁵ Though my spirit was in perplexity in me, yet thou knowest my path: in the way wherein I walked, haue they wilfully laid a snare for me.

⁶ I looked vpon my right hand, and beheld, but there was none that would know me: all refuge failed me: and none cared for my soule.

⁸ Hearken vnto my cry, for I am brought very low: deliuer me from my persecuters, for they are stronger for me.

P S A L. CXLV.

This Psalme was composed, when the kingdome of David flourished. 1 Wherein he describeth the wonderful providence of God aswell in governing man, as in preserving all the rest of his creatures. 17 He praiseth God for his iustice and mercy. 18 But specially for his loving kindnesse toward those that call upon him, that feare him, and loue him: 21 For the which he prouerseth to praise him for euer.

Of A Psalme of David of praise.

a He sheweth what sacrifices are pleasant and acceptable vnto God: euen praise and thanksgiving, and seeing that God still continueth his benefits towards vs, we ought neuer to be weary in praising him for the same.

b Hereby he declareth that all power is subiect vnto God, and that no worldly promotion ought to obscure Gods glory.

c Forasmuch as the end of mans creation, and of his preservation in this life, is to praise God, therefore he requireth that not onely we our selues doe this, but cause all other to doe the same. d Of thy terrible iudgements against the wicked. Exod. 34. 6. e He describeth after what sort God sheweth himselfe to all his creatures, though our sinnes haue prouoked his vengeance against all: to wit, mercifull, not only in pardoning the sinnes of his elect, but in doing good euen to the reprobate, albeit they cannot seele the sweet comfort of the same.

The *Proverbs of Salomon.

THE ARGUMENT.

T He wonderful loue of God toward his Church is declared in this booke: forasmuch as the summe and effect of the whole Scriptures is here set forth in these briefe sentences, which partly containe doctrine and partly maners, and also exhortations to both. Whereof the nine first Chapters are as a prefacefull of graue sentences, and deepe mysteries, to allure the hearts of men to the diligent reading of the parables that follow: which are left as a most precious iewel to the Church of those threethousand parables mentioned. 1. King. 4. 32, and were gathered, and committed to writing by Salomons seruants, and indited by him.

CHAP. I.

1 The power and vse of the word of God. 7 Of the feare of God and knowledge of his word. 10 We may not consent to the entisings of sinners. 20 Wisdome complaineth that she is contemned. 24 The punishment of them that contemne her.

The Parables of Salomon the sonne of David King of Israel.

2 To know wisdom, and instruction, to vnderstand the words of knowledge.

3 To receiue instruction, to doe wisely, by iustice and iudgement and equitie.

4 To giue vnto the simple sharpnesse of wit, and to the child knowledge and discretion.

5 A wise man shall heare and increase in learning; and a man of vnderstanding shall attaine vnto wise counsels.

a That is, what we ought to know & follow, and what we ought to refuse, b Meaning the word of God, wherein is the only true knowledge. c To learne to submit ourselues to the correction of those that are wise. d By liuing iustly, and rendering to euery man that which appertaineth vnto him. e To such as haue no discretion to rule themselves. f As he sheweth that these parables, containing the effect of Religion as touching maners and doctrine, doe appertaine to the simple people, so doeth he declare, that the same is also necessary for them that are wise and learned.

6 To vnderstand a parable, and the interpretation, the words of the wise, and their darke sayings.

7 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; but fooles despise wisdom and instruction.

8 My sonne, heare thy fathers instruction, and forsake not thy mothers teaching.

9 For they shall be a comely ornament vnto thine head, and as chaines for thy necke.

10 My sonne, if sinners do entise thee, consent thou not.

11 If they say, Come with vs, we will lay wait for blood, and lie in wait for the innocent without a cause:

12 We will swallow them vp alive like a graue euen whole, as those that goe downe into the pit:

13 Wee shall finde al precious riches, and fill our houses with spoyle.

Ebr, increase of grace. i To wit, the wicked, which haue not the feare of God. k He speaketh not onely of the shedding of blood with hand, but of al crafty practises, which tend to the detriment of our neighbour. l As the graue is neuer satiate, so the auarice of the wicked and their cruelty hath none end.

Psal. 111. 10. ecclus. 1. 16. g He speaketh this in the Name of God, which is the vniuersal Father of all creatures, or in the name of the passion of the Church, who is as a Father. h That is, of the Church, wherein the faithfull are begotten by the incorruptible seede of Gods worde.

m He sheweth whereby the wicked are allured to ioyne together, because they haue euery one part of the spoile of the innocent, n That is, haue nothing at all to doe with them, o He sheweth that there is no cause to moue these wicked to spoile the innocent, but their auarice & cruelty, p Whereby hee concludeth that the couetous man is a murderer, q This wisdom is the eternall word of God, r So that none can pretend ignorance, s Wisdom reproveth three kindes of men: the foolish or simple, which erre of ignorance, and the mockers that cannot suffer to be taught, and the fooles which are drowned in worldly lusts, and hate the knowledge of godlinesse, t This is spoken according to our capacity, signifying that the wicked which mocke and iest at Gods word, shall haue the iust reward of their mocking, u That is, your destruction, which thing you feared, x Because they sought not with an affection to God, but for ease of their owne griefe, y Shewing, that without faith and obedience wee cannot call vpon God aright, z They shall feelee what commodity their wicked life shall giue them, a That is, the prosperity and sensuality wherein they delight, 14 Cast in thy lot among vs: we will all haue one purse.

15 My sonne, walke not thou in the way with them: refraine thy foote from their path.

16 For their feete run to euill, and make haste to shed blood.

17 Certainly as without cause the net is spread before the eyes of all that hath wing:

18 So they lay wait for blood, and lie in wait for their liues.

19 Such are the wayes of euery one that is greedy of gaine: hee would take away the life of the owners thereof.

20 Wisdom crieth without: she uttereth her voyce in the streetes.

21 Shee calleth in the hie streete, among the pleasse in the entrings of the gates, and uttereth her words in the city, saying,

22 O yee foolish, how long wil yee loue foolishnesse: and the scornfull take their pleasure in scorning? and the fooles hate knowledge?

23 Turne you at my correction: loe, I wil poure out my minde vnto you, and make you vnderstand my wordes.)

24 Because I haue called, and ye refused: I haue stretched out mine hand, and none would regard.

25 But yee haue despised all my counsell, and would none of my correction.

26 I wil also laugh at your destruction, and mocke when your feare commeth.

27 When your feare commeth like sudden desolation, & your destruction shall come like a whirlewinde: when affliction and anguish shall come vpon you,

28 Then shall they call vpon mee, but I will not answere: they shall seeke mee early, but they shall not finde me, 29 Because they hated knowledge, and did not chuse the feare of the Lord.

30 They would none of my counsell: but they despised all my correction.

31 Therefore shall they eate of the fruit of their owne way, and bee filled with their owne deuises.

32 For ease slayeth the foolish, and the prosperity of fooles destroyeth them.

33 But hee that obeyeth me, shall dwell safely, and be quiet from feare of euill.

M y sonne, if thou wilt receiue my wordes, and hide my commandments within thee,

2 And cause thine eares to hearken vnto wisdom, and encline thine heart to vnderstanding,

3 (For if thou callest after knowledge, and earnest for vnderstanding:

4 If thou seekest her as silver, and searchest for her as for treasures,

5 Then shalt thou vnderstand the feare of the Lord, & finde the knowledge of God.

6 For the Lord giueth wisdom, out of his mouth commeth knowledge and vnderstanding.

7 He preserveth y state of the righteous, he is a shield to them that walke vprightly,

8 That they may keepe the wayes of iudgement: and he preserveth the way of his Saints)

9 Then shalt thou vnderstand righteousness, and iudgement, and equity, and euery good path.

10 When wisdom entred into thine heart, and knowledge delighteth thy soule,

11 Then shall counsell preserve thee, and vnderstanding shall keepe thee,

12 And deliuer thee from the euill way, & from the man that speaketh froward things,

13 And from them that leaue the wayes of righteousness, to walke in the wayes of darkenesse:

14 Which reioyce in doing euill, and delight in the frowardnesse of the wicked, 15 Whose wayes are crooked, and they are lewd in their paths.

16 And it shall deliuer thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger, which flattereth with her words, 17 Which forsaketh the guide of her youth, & forgetteth the covenant of her God.

18 Surely her house tendeth to death, and her path vnto the dead.

19 All they that go vnto her, retorne not againe, neither take they holde of the wayes of life.

20 Therefore walke thou in y way of good men, and keepe the wayes of the righteous.

21 For the iust shall dwell in the land, and the vpright men shall remaine in it.

M y sonne, forget not thou my lawes, but let thine heart keepe my commandments.

2 For they shall increase the length of thy dayes and the yeeres of life, and thy prosperity.

3 Let not mercy and truth forsake thee: bind them on thy necke, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

m Not onely from them to whom the possession belongeth, but also thou shalt not keepe it from them, which haue neede of the vse thereof. n That is, pntress his trust in thee.

4 So shalt thou find fauour and good vnderstanding in the sight of God and man.

5 Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and leane not vnto thine owne wisdom.

6 In all thy wayes acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy wayes.

7 Be not wise in thine owne eyes: but feare the Lord and depart from euill.

8 So health shall be vnto thy nauill, and marrow vnto thy bones.

9 Honour the Lord with thy riches, and with the first fruits of all thine increase.

10 So shall thy barnes bee filled with abundance, and thy presses shall be burst with new wine.

11 If some, refuse not the chastening of the Lord, neither be grieved with his correction.

12 For the Lord correcteth him, whom he loueth, euen as the father doeth the childe in whom he delighteth.

13 Blessed is the man that findeth wisdom, and the man that getteth vnderstanding.

14 For the merchandise thereof is better then the merchandise of siluer, and the gaine thereof is better then gold.

15 It is more precious then pearles: and all things that thou canst desire, are not to be compared vnto her.

16 Length of dayes is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory.

17 Her wayes are wayes of pleasure, and all her paths prosperity.

18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold on her, and blessed is hee that retaineth her.

19 The Lord by wisdom hath layd the foundation of the earth, and hath established the heauens through vnderstanding.

20 By his knowledge the depths are broken vp, and the cloudes drop down the dew.

21 If some, let not these things depart from thine eyes, but obserue wisdom and counsell.

22 So they shall bee life to thy soule, and grace vnto thy necke.

23 When shalt thou walke safely by thy way, and thy foote shall not stumble.

24 If thou sleepest, thou shalt not be afraid, and when thou sleepest, thy sleepe shall be sweete.

25 Thou shalt not feare for any sudden feare, neither for the destruction of the wicked, when it cometh.

26 For the Lord shall be for thine assurance, and shall preserve thy foote from taking.

27 Withhold not the good from the owners thereof, though there bee power in thine hand to doe it.

28 Say not vnto thy neighbour, Goe and come againe, and to morrow I will giue thee, if thou now haue it.

29 Intend none hurt against thy neighbour, lest hee doeth thee without feare by thee.

30 Not onely from them to whom the possession belongeth, but also thou shalt not keepe it from them, which haue neede of the vse thereof.

n That is, pntress his trust in thee.

30 Strive not with a man causelesse, when he hath done thee no harme.

31 Be not enuious for the wicked man, neither chuse any of his wayes.

32 For the froward is abomination vnto the Lord: but his secret is with the righteous.

33 The curse of the Lord is in the house of the wicked: but he blesteth the habitation of the righteous.

34 With the scornfull he scorneth, but he giueth grace to the humble.

35 The wise shall inherit glory: but foolcs dishonour, though they be exalted.

CHAP. IIIII.

1 Wisdom and her fruits ought to be searched.

14 The way of the wicked must be refused. 20 By the word of God, the heart, eyes, and course of life must be guided.

Hear, O ye children, the instruction of a father, and giue eare to learne vnderstanding.

2 For I doe giue you a good doctrine: therefore forsake ye not my law.

3 For I was my fathers sonne, tender and deare in the sight of my mother.

4 When he taught me, & saide vnto me, Let thine heart holde fast my words: keepe my commandements, and thou shalt liue.

5 Get wisdom: get vnderstanding: forget not, neither decline from the wordes of my mouth.

6 Forsake her not, and she shall keepe thee: loue her, and she shall preserve thee.

7 Wisdom is the beginning: get wisdom, therefore: and aboue all thy possession get vnderstanding.

8 Exalt her, & she shall exalt thee: she shall bring thee to honour if thou embrace her.

9 She shall giue a comely ornament vnto thine head, yea, she shall giue thee a crowne of glory.

10 Hear, my sonne, and receiue my words, & the yeeres of thy life shall be many.

11 I haue taught thee in the way of wisdom, and led thee in the pathes of righteousness.

12 When thou goest, thy gate shall not be strait, and when thou runnest, thou shalt not fall.

13 Take hold of instruction, & leane not: keepe her, for she is thy life.

14 Enter not into the way of the wicked, and walke not in the way of euill men.

15 Auid it, and goe not by it: turne from it, and passe by.

16 For they cannot sleepe, except they haue done euill, and their sleepe departeth, except they cause some to fall.

17 For they eate the bread of wickednesse, and drinke the wine of violence.

l For as \int heart is either pure or corrupt, so is the whole course of mans life.

 21 Let them not depart from thine eyes, but keepe them in the mids of thine heart.
 22 For they are life vnto those that finde them, and health vnto all their flesh.
 23 Keepe thine heart with all diligence: for thereout commeth life.
 24 Put away from thee a froward mouth, and put wicked lips farre from thee.
 25 Let thine eyes behold the right, and let thine eye lids direct thy way before thee.

3 Doe this now, my sonne, and deliuer thy selfe: seeing thou art come into the hand of thy neighbour, goe and humble thy selfe, and sollicit thy friends.

4 Giue no sleepe to thine eyes, nor stumble to thine eye lids.

5 Deliuer thy selfe as a Doe from the hand of the hunter, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

9 How long wilt thou sleepe, O sluggard: when wilt thou arise out of thy sleepe?

n Meaning, that shee will neuer cease til she haue brought thee to beggery, and then seeke thy destruction.

o He approueth not theft, but sheweth that it is not so abominable as whoredome, forasmuch as theft might be redeemed, but adultery was a perpetual infamie, and death by the Law of God.

p Meaning, for very necessitie.

q That is, death appointed by the Law.

r He sheweth that man by nature seeketh his death that hath abused his wife, & so concludeth that neither Gods Law, nor the law of nature admitteth any ransom for the adulterie.

18 An heart that imagineth wicked enterprises, ^h seeth that hee swift in running to mischief.

19 A false witness that speaketh lies, and him that raiseth up contentions among brethren.

21 Binde them alway vpon thine heart, and tie them about thy necke.

22 It shall leade thee, when thou walkest: it shall watch for thee when thou sleepest, and when thou wakest it shall talke with thee.

23 For the ^k commandement is a lanterne, and instruction a light: and ^l corrections for instruction are the way of life.

24 To keepe thee from the wicked woman, and from the flattery of the tongue of a strange woman.

25 Desire not her beauty in thine heart, neither let her take thee with her ^m eye lids.

26 For because of the whorish woman, a man is brought to a morsell of bread, & a woman will hunt for the precious life of a man.

27 Can a man take fire in his bolome, and his clothes not bee burnt?

28 Or can a man goe vpon coales, and his feet not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbours wife shall not be innocent, whosoever toucheth her.

30 When doe not ^o despise a thiefe when he stealeth, to satisfie his ^p soule, because hee is hungry.

31 But if he be found, he shall restore seven fold, or he shall giue all the substance of his house.

32 But he that committeth adultery with a woman, he ^q is destitute of vnderstanding: he that doeth it, destroyeth his owne soule.

33 We shall find ^r a wound and dishonour, and his reproch shall neuer be put away.

34 For ielousie is the rage of a man: therefore he will not spare in the day of vengeance.

35 Hee cannot beare the sight of any ransom: neither will he consent, though thou augment the gifts.

6 As I was in the window of mine house, I looked through my window,

7 And I saw among the fooles, and considered among the children a yong man destitute of vnderstanding,

8 Who passed through the streete by her corner, and went toward her house.

9 In the twilight in the euening, when the night began to be ^c blacke and darke.

10 And behold, there met him a woman, with an harlots ^d behauiour, and ^e subtil in heart.

11 (She ^f is babbling and lowd: whose secte cannot abide in her house.

12 Now she is without, now in the streets, and lieth in wait at euery corner)

13 So shee caught him, and kissed him, and ^g with an impudent face, said vnto him, 14 I haue ^h peace offerings: this ⁱ day haue I payed my vowes.

15 Therefore came I forth to meet thee, that I might seeke thy face: & I haue found thee.

16 I haue deckt my bed with ornaments, ^j carpets, and laces of Egypt.

17 I haue perfumed my bed with myrrhe, aloes, and cynamom.

18 Come, let vs take our fill of loue vntill the morning: let vs take our pleasure in dalliance.

19 For mine husband is not at home: hee is gone a iourney farre off.

20 We hath taken ^k with him a bag of siluer, & will come home at the day appointed.

21 Thus with her great craft shee caused him to peele, and with her flattering lips shee enticed him,

22 And he followed her straightwayes, as an ^l ore that goeth to the slaughter, and ^m as a foole to the stocks for correction,

23 Till a dart strike through his liver, as a bird halleth to the snare, not knowing that ⁿ he is in danger.

24 Heare me now therefore, O children, and hearken to the words of my mouth.

25 Let not thine heart decline to her wayes: wander thou not in her pathes.

26 For shee hath caused many to fall downe wounded, and the ^o strong men are all slaine by her.

27 Her house is the way ^p vnto the graue, which goeth downe to the chambers of death.

b Salomon vseth this parable to declare their folly that suffer themselves to be abused by harlots.

c Hee sheweth that there was almost none so impudent, but they were afraid to be seene, and also their owne consciences did accuse them, which caused them to seeke the night to couer their filthinesse.

CHAP. VII.

1 An exhortation to wisdomme and to the word of God, ⁵ which will preserue vs from the harlot, ⁶ whose maners are described.

2 My sonne, keepe my wordes, and hide my commandements with thee.

3 Keepe my commandements and thou shalt liue, and mine instruction as the ^a apple of thine eyes.

4 Bind them vpon thy fingers, and write them vpon the table of thine heart.

5 Say vnto wisdomme, Thou art my sister: & call vnderstanding thy kinsewoman,

6 That they may keepe thee from the strange woman, euen from the stranger that is smoothe in her wordes.

a By this diuersitie of words he meaneth that nothing ought to be so deare vnto vs, as the word of God, nor that we looke on any thing more, nor misde any thing so much.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Wisdom declareth her excellencie, ¹¹ Riches, ¹⁵ Power, ²² Eternitie. ³² She exhorteth all to loue and follow her.

2 Deth ^{not} a wisdomme cry: and vnderstanding utter her voyce?

b Where the people did most resort, and which was the place of iustice.

c Meaning, that the word of God is easie vnto all that haue a desire vnto it, & which are not blinded by the Princes of this world.

d That is, except a man haue wisdom, which is the true knowledge of God, he can neither be prudent nor good counsellor.

e So that he that doeth not hate euil, feareth not God.

f Whereby he declareth that honours, dignity or riches come not of mans wisdom or industrie, but by the prouidence of God.

g That is, studie the word of God diligently, and with a desire to profite.

h Signifying, that he chiefly meaneth the spiritual treasures & heavenly riches.

i For there can be no true iustice or iudgement, which is not directed by this wisdom.

k He declareth hereby the diuinitie and eternitie of this wisdom, which he magnifieth and prayseth through this booke: meaning thereby the eternall Sonne of God Iesus Christ our Sauour, who S. Iohn calleth the Word, that was in the beginning, Ioh. 1. 1.

l He declareth the eternitie of the Sonne of God, which is meant by this word Wisdom, who was before all time, and euer present with the Father.

3 Shee crieth besides the gates before the citie at the entry of the doores,

4 O men, I call vnto you, and utter my voyce to the children of men.

5 O yee foolish men, vnderstand wisdom, and yee, O fooles, be wise in heart.

6 Giue eare, for I will speake of excellent things, and the opening of my lips shall teach things that be right.

7 For my mouth shall speake the truth, and my lips abhorre wickednes.

8 All the wordes of my mouth are righteous: there is no lewdnesse, nor frowardnesse in them.

9 They are all plain to him that will vnderstand, & streight to them that would find knowledge.

10 Receiue mine instruction and not siluer, and knowledge rather then fine gold.

11 For wisdom is better then precious stones: and all pleasures are not to be compared vnto her.

12 I wisdom dwell with prudence, and I find forth knowledge and counsels.

13 The feare of the Lord is to hate euil, as pride, and arrogancie, and the euill way: and a mouth that speaketh lewd things, I do hate.

14 I haue counsell and wisdom: I am vnderstanding, and I haue strength.

15 By mee Kings reigne, and princes decree iustice.

16 By mee princes rule, and the nobles, and all the iudges of the earth.

17 I loue them that loue mee: and they that seeke me early, shall find me.

18 Riches and honour are with me: euen durable riches and righteousness.

19 My fruit is better then gold, euen then fine gold, and my reuenues better then fine siluer.

20 I cause to walke in the way of righteousness, and in the middes of the pathes of iudgement.

21 That I may cause them that loue me, to inherite substance, and I will fill their treasures.

22 The Lord hath possessed me in the beginning of his way: I was before his works of old.

23 I was set vp from euerlasting, from the beginning, and before the earth.

24 When there were no depths, was I begotten, when there were no fountaines abounding with water.

25 Before the mountaines were setled: and before the hilles was I begotten.

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the open places, nor the height of the dust in the world.

27 When hee prepared the heauens, I was there, when hee set the compasses vpon the deepe:

28 When hee established the cloudes above, when he confirmed the fountaines of the deepe:

29 When hee gaue his decree to the sea, that the waters should not passe his commandment, when he appointed the foundations of the earth,

6 Forlake your way ye foolish, and ye shall liue: & walke in the way of vnderstanding.

7 Hee that reproveth a scorner, purchaseth to himselfe shame: and he that rebuketh the wicked, getteth himselfe a blot.

8 Rebuke not a scorner, lest he hate thee, but rebuke a wise man, and he will loue thee.

9 Giue admonition to the wise, and he will be the wiser: teach a righteous man, and he will increase in learning.

10 The beginning of wisdom is the feare of the Lord, and the knowledge of holy things, is vnderstanding.

A wise manne maketh a glad father: but a foolish sonne is an heauinesse to his mother.
2 The treasures of a wickednesse profite nothing: but righteousness deliuereth from death.
3 The Lord will not furnish the soule of the righteous: but hee casteth away the substance of the wicked.
4 A slouthfull hand maketh poore: but the hand of the diligent maketh rich.
5 Hee that gathereth in summer, is the sonne of wisdom: but hee that sleepeth in harvest, is the sonne of confusion.
6 Blessings are vpon the head of the righteous: but iniquitie shall couer the mouth of the wicked.
7 The memorie of the iust shall be blessed: but the name of the wicked shall rot.
8 The wise in heart will receiue commandements: but the foolish in talke shall be beaten.
9 Hee that walketh vprightly, walketh boldly: but he that peruerteth his wayes, shall be known.
10 He that winketh with the eye, worketh sorrow, and he that is foolish in talke, shall be beaten.
11 The mouth of a righteous man is a wellspring of life: but iniquity couereth the mouth of the wicked.
12 Hatred stirreth vp contentions: but loue couereth all trespasses.
13 In the lippest of him that hath vnderstanding, wisdom is found, and as a rod shall be for the backe of him that is destitute of wisdom.
14 Wise men lay by knowledge: but the mouth of the foole is a present destruction.
15 The rich mans goods are his strong city: but the feare of the Lord is their poverty.

19 In many wordes there cannot want iniquitie: but he that refrainerh his lips, is wise.

20 The tongue of the iust man is as fined silver: but the heart of the wicked is little worth.

21 The lips of the righteous doe feede many: but foolles shall die for want of wisdom.

22 The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he doeth adde no sorrowes with it.

23 It is as a pastime to a foole to doe wickedly: but wisdom is vnderstanding to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, shall come vpon him: but God will grant the desire of the righteous.

25 As the whirlewinde passeth, so is the wicked no more: but the righteous is as an everlasting foundation.

26 As vineger is to the teeth, and as smoke to the eyes, so is the slouthfull to them that send him.

27 The feare of the Lord increaseth the dayes: but the peeres of the wicked shall be diminished.

28 The patient abiding of the righteous shall be gladnesse: but the hope of the wicked shall perish.

30 The righteous shall neuer be removed: but the wicked shall not dwell in the land.

31 The mouth of the iust shall be fruitfull in wisdom: but the tongue of the froward shall be cut out.

32 The lips of the righteous know what is acceptable: but the mouth of the wicked speaketh froward things.

CHAP. XI.

All balances are an abomination vnto the Lord: but a perfect & weight pleaseh him.

2 When pride cometh, then cometh shame: but with the lowly is wisdom.

3 The vprightnesse of the iust shall guide them: but the frowardnesse of the transgressors shall destroy them.

4 Riches auaille not in the day of wrath: but righteousness deliuereth from death.

24 The way of life is on high to the prudent, to auoyde from hell demach.

25 The Lord wil destroy the house of the proud men: but he will stablish the borders of the widow.

26 The thoughts of the wicked are abomination to the Lord: but the pure haue pleasant words.

27 Yet that is greedy of gaue, troubleth his owne house: but he that hateth gifts, shall liue.

28 The heart of the righteous studieth to answer: but the wicked mans mouth babbleth euill things.

29 The Lord is far off from the wicked: but he heareth the prayer of the righteous.

30 The light of the eyes reioiceth the heart, & a good namemaketh the bones fat.

31 The care that hearkeneth to the correction of life, shall lodge among the wise.

32 He that refuseth instruction, despiseth his owne soule: but he that obeyeth correction, getteth vnderstanding.

33 The feare of the Lord is the instruction of wisdom: and before honour goeth humility.

CHAP. XVI.

The preparations of the heart are in man: but the answer of the tongue is of the Lord.

2 All the wayes of a man are cleane in his own eyes: but the Lord pondreth the spirits.

3 Commit thy works vnto the Lord, and thy thoughts shalbe directed.

4 The Lord hath made all things for his owne sake: yea, euen the wicked for the day of euill.

5 All that are proud in heart, are an abomination to the Lord: though hand ioyne in hand, he shall not be unpunished.

6 By mercy and truth iniquity shalbe forgiven, and by the feare of the Lord they depart from euill.

7 When the wayes of a man please the Lord, he will make also his enemies at peace with him.

8 Better is a little with righteousness, then great riches without.

p So that there is nothing that ought to be attributed to fortune: for all things are determined in then great reuenges without eq. vltie.

9 The heart of man purposeth his way: but the Lord doeth direct his steps.

10 A diuine sentence shall bee in the lips of the king: his mouth shall not transgresse in iudgement.

11 A true wright and ballance are of the Lord: all the weights of the bagge are his worke.

12 It is an abomination to kings to commit wickednes: for the throne is established by iustice.

13 Righteous lippes are the delight of kings, and the king loueth him that speaketh right things.

14 The wrath of a king is as messengers of death: but a wise man will pacifie it.

15 In the light of the kings countenance is life: and his fauour is as a cloude of the latter raine.

16 How much better is it to get wisdom then gold: and to get vnderstanding, is more to be desired then silver.

17 The path of the righteous is to decline from euill, and hee keepeth his soule that keepeth his way.

18 Pride goeth before destruction, and an high mind before the fall.

19 Better it is to be of humble mind with the lowly, then to diuide the spoiles with the proud.

20 Hee that is wise in his businesse, shall find good: and he that trusteth in the Lord, he is blessed.

21 The wise in heart shall be called prudent: and the sweetnesse of the lips shall increase doctrine.

22 Understanding is a wellspring of life vnto them that haue it: and the instruction of fooles is folly.

23 The heart of the wise guldeth his mouth wisely, & addeth doctrine to his lips.

24 Faire wordes are as an hony combe, sweetnesse to the soule, & health to the bones.

25 There is a way that seemeth right vnto man: but the issue thereof are the wayes of death.

26 The person that traueleth, traueleth for himselfe: for his mouth craueth it of him.

27 A wicked man diggeth vp euill, and in his lips is like burning fire.

28 A froward person soweth strife: and a tale teller maketh diuision among princes.

29 A wicked man deceiueth his neighbour, and leadeth him into the way that is not good.

30 He shutteth his eyes to deuile wickednesse: he moueth his lips, and bringeth euill to passe.

31 Age is a crowne of glory, when it is found in the way of righteousness.

32 He that is slow vnto anger, is better then the mighty man: and he that ruleth his owne minde, is better then he that winneth a citie.

33 The lot is cast into the lappe: but the whole disposition thereof is of the Lord.

Better is a dry moulell, if peace bee with strife, then an house full of sacrifices with strife.

2 A discreet seruant shall haue rule ouer a lewde sonne, and he shall diuide the heritage among the brethren.

3 As is the fining pot for silver, & the furnace for gold, so the Lord tryeth the hearts.

4 The wicked giueth heed to false lips, and a lyer hearkeneth to the naughty tongue.

5 He that mocketh the poore, reproacheth him that made him: and he that reioyceth at destruction, shall not be unpunished.

6 Childrens children are the crowne of the Elders: and the glory of the children are their fathers.

7 A high talke becommeth not a foole, much lesse a lying talke a prince.

8 A reward is as a stone pleasant in the eyes of them that haue it: it prospereth whither soeuer it turneth.

9 He that couereth a transgression, seeketh loue: but he that repeateth a matter, separateth the prince.

10 A reproofe entreateth more into him that hath vnderstanding, then an hundred stripes into a foole.

11 A seditious person seeketh onely euill, and a cruell messenger shall be sent against him.

12 It is better for a man to meete a beare robbed of her whelpes, then a foole in his follie.

13 He that rewardeth euill for good, euill shall not depart from his house.

14 The beginning of strife is as one that openeth the waters: therefore yet the contention be medled with, leaue off.

15 He that iustificeth the wicked, and he that condemneth the iust, euen they both are abomination to the Lord.

16 Wherefore is there a price in the hand of the foole to get wisdom, and he hath none heart?

17 A friend loueth at all times: and a brother is borne for aduersity.

18 A man destitute of vnderstanding, toucheth the hand, and becommeth suretie for his neighbour.

19 Hee loueth transgression that loueth strife: and he that exalteth his gate, seeketh destruction.

20 The froward heart findeth no good: and he that hath a naughty tongue, shall fall into euill.

21 He that begetteth a foole, getteth himselfe sorow, and the father of a foole can haue no joy.

22 A ioyfull heart causeth good health: but a sorowfull minde drieth the bones.

23 A wicked man taketh a gift out of the holome to wrest the wayes of iudgement.

24 Wisdom is in the face of him that hath vnderstanding: but the eyes of a foole are in the corners of the world.

25 A foolish sonne is a griefe vnto his father, and a heauinesse to her that bare him.

26 Surely it is not good to condemne the iust, nor that the Princes should smite such for equity.

FOR the desire thereof he will separate himselfe to seeke it, and occupie himselfe in all wisdom.

2 A foole hath no delight in understanding: but that his heart may be discovered.

3 When the wicked commeth, then commeth contempt, and with the vile man reproch.

4 The words of a mans mouth are like deepe waters, and the wel spring of wisdom is like a flowing river.

5 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to cause the righteous to fall in iudgement.

6 A foolles lips come with strife, and his mouth calleth for stripes.

7 A foolles mouth is his owne destruction, and his lips are a snare for his soule.

8 The wordes of a talebearer are as flatterings, and they go downe into the bowels of the belly.

9 He also that is slouthfull in his worke, is euen the brother of him that is a great waster.

10 The Name of the Lord is a strong tower: the righteous runneth vnto it, and is exalted.

11 The rich mans riches are his strong citie: and as an high wall in his imagination.

12 Before destruction the heart of a man is haughty, and before glory goeth lowliness.

13 He that answereth a matter before he heare it, it is folly and shame vnto him.

14 The spirit of a man will sustaine his infirmities: but a wounded spirit, who can heare it?

15 A wise heart getteth knowledge, and the eare of the wise seeketh learning.

16 A mans gift enlargeth him, and leaveth him before great men.

17 He that is first in his owne cause, is full: then commeth his neighbour, and maketh enquire of him.

18 The lot causeth contentions to cease, and maketh a partition among the mighty.

19 A brother offended is harder to winne then a strong citie, and their contentions are like the barre of a palace.

20 With the fruit of a mans mouth shall his belly be satisfied, and with the increase of his lips shall he be filled.

C H A P. XIX.

BETTER is the poore that walketh in his uprightness, then he that abuseth his lips, and is a foole.

2 For without knowledge the minde is not good, and hee that hasteth with his feet, sinneth.

3 The foolishnesse of a man peruerteth his way, and his heart fretteth against the Lord.

4 Riches gather many friends: but the poore is separated from his neighbour.

5 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall not escape.

6 Many reuerence the face of the prince, and euery man is friend to him that giueth gifts.

7 All the brethren of the poore doe hate him: how much more wil his friends depart farre from him: though he be instant with words, yet they will not.

8 He that possesseth understanding, lo-ueth his owne soule, and keepeth wisdom to find goodnesse.

9 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall perish.

10 Pleasure is not comely for a foole, much lesse for a seruauit to haue rule over Princes.

11 The discretion of a man deferreth his anger: and his glory is to passe by an offence.

12 The Kings wrath is like the roaring of a lion: but his fauour is like the dew vpon the graske.

13 A foolish sonne is the calamitie of his father, and the contentions of a wife are like a continuall dropping.

14 House and riches are the inheritance of the fathers, but a prudent wife commeth of the Lord.

15 Slouthfulness causeth to fall asleepe, and a deceitfull person shall be assamished.

16 He that keepeth the commandment, keepeth his owne soule: but he that despiseth his wayes, shall die.

17 Hee that hath mercy vpon the poore, lendeth vnto the Lord: and the Lord will recompense him that which he hath giuen.

18 Chasten thy sonne while there is hope, and let not thy soule spare for his murmuring.

22 A^k wise man goeth by into the citie of the mighty, and casteth downe the strength of the confidence thereof.

23 He that keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his soule from afflictions.

24 Proud, hant, and scornful is his name that worketh in his arrogancie wrath.

25 The desire of the slothful^l slayeth him: for his hands refuse to worke.

26 He coueteth euermore greedily, but the righteous giueth, and spareth not.

27 The^{*} sacrifice of the wicked is an abomination: how much more when he bringeth it with a wicked mind?

28 * A false witness shall perish: but hee that heareth, shall speake continually.

29 A wicked man hardeneth his face: but the iust, he will direct his way.

30 There is no wisdom, neither vnderstanding, nor counsel against the Lord.

31 The horse is prepared against the day of battell: but saluation is of the Lord.

C H A P. XXII.

A * Good name is to be chosen aboue great riches, and louing fauour is aboue siluer and aboue gold.

2 * The rich and poore^b meet together: the Lord is the maker of them all.

3 * A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished.

c That is, the punishment which is prepared for the wicked, and fleeth to God for succour.

4 There ward of humilitie, and the feare of God is riches, and glory, and life.

5 Thornes and snares are in the way of the froward: but he that regardeth his soule, will depart farre from them.

6 Teach a child^d in the trade of his way, and when he is olde, he shall not depart from it.

7 The rich ruleth the poore, and the borrower is seruant to the man that lendeth.

8 Hee that soweth iniquitie, shall reape affliction, and the^e rodde of his anger shall faile.9 * He that hath a good^f eye, hee shall bee blessed: for he giueth of his bread vnto the poore.

10 Cast out the scorner, and strife shall goe out: so contention and reproch shall cease.

11 Hee that loueth purenesse of heart for the grace of his lips, the^g king shall bee his friend.12 The eyes of the Lord^h preserue knowledge: but he ouerthroweth the words of the transgressor.

13 The slothfull man saith, I A Lyon is without, I shall be slaine in the streete.

14 The mouth of strange women is as a deepe pit: he with whom the Lord is angry, shall fall therein.

15 Foolishnesse is boundⁱ in the heart of a child: but the rod of correction shall driue it away from him.

16 He that oppresseth the poore to increase himselfe, and giueth vnto the rich, shall surely come to pouerty.

17 * Encline thine eare, and heare the words of the wise, and apply thine heart vnto my knowledge.

18 For it shall bee pleasant, if thou keepe them in thy belly, and if they be directed together in thy lips.

19 That thy confidence may be in^m the Lord, I haue shewed thee this day: thou therefore take heede.20 Haue not I written vnto theeⁿ three times in counsels and knowledge, 21 That I might shew thee the assurance of the words of trueth to answer the words of trueth to them that send to thee?

22 Robbe not the poore because hee is poore, neither oppress the afflicted in iudgement.

23 For the Lord^{*} will defend their cause and spoyle the soule of those that spoyle them.24 Make^o no friendship with an angry man, neither goe with the furious man.

25 Lest thou learne his waies, and receiue destruction to thy soule.

26 Be not thou of them that^p touch the hand, nor among them that are suretie for debts.

27 If thou hast nothing to pay, why caust thou that he should take thy bed from vnder thee?

28 Thou shalt not^{*} remoue the ancient bounds which thy fathers haue made.29 Thou see^q that a diligent man in his busines standeth before kings, and standeth not before the base lord.

5 Wilt thou cast thine eyes vpon it, which is nothing? for riches taketh her to her wings as an eagle, and flieth into the heauen.

6 Eate thou not the bread of him that hath an euill eye, neither desire his daintie meates.

7 For as though he thought it in his heart, so wilt he say vnto thee, Eate, and drinke: but his heart is not with thee.

8 Thou shalt vomite thy morsels that thou hast eaten, and thou shalt lose thy sweet words.

9 Speake not in the eares of a foole: for he will despise the wisdom of thy words.

10 Remove not the ancient boundes, and enter not into the fields of the fatherlesse.

11 For hee that redeemeth them, is mighty: he will defend their cause against thee.

12 Applie thine heart to instruction, and thine eares to the words of knowledge.

13 Withhold not correction from the child: if thou smite him with the rod, he shall not die.

14 Thou shalt smite him with the rod, and shalt deliuer his soule from hell.

16 To my reines shall reioyce, when thy lips speake righteous things.

17 Let not thine heart be enuious against sinners: but let it be in the feare of the Lord continually.

18 For surely there is an end, and thy hope shall not be cut off.

19 O thou my sonne, heare and be wise, and guide thine heart in the way.

20 Keepe not company with drunkards, nor with gluttons.

21 For the drunkard and the glutton shall be poore, and the sleeper shall be clothed with rags.

22 Obey thy father that hath begotten thee, and despise not thy mother when she is old.

23 Buy the truth but sell it not: like wise wisdom, and instruction, and understanding.

24 The father of the righteous shall greatly reioyce, and he that begetteth a wise child, shall haue joy.

25 Thy father and thy Mother shall be glad, and she that bare thee shall reioyce.

30 Euen to them that tarry long at the wine, to them that go, and seeke mixt wine.

31 Looke not thou vpon the wine, when it is red, and when it sheweth his colour in the cup, or goeth downe pleasantly.

32 In the end thereof it will bite like a serpent, and hurt like a cockatrice.

33 Thine eyes shall looke vpon strange women, and thine heart shall speake lewde things.

34 And thou shalt be as one that sleepe in the midst of the sea, and as he that sleepe in the top of the mast.

35 They haue striken me, shalt thou say, but I was not sicke: they haue beaten me, but I knew not, when I awoke: therefore will I seeke it yet still.

CHAP. XXIIII.

Be not thou enuious against euill men, neither desire to be with them.

2 For their heart imagineth destruction, and their lips speake mischief.

3 Through wisdom is an house builded: and with vnderstanding it is established.

4 And by knowledge shall the chambers bee filled with all precious and pleasant riches.

5 A wise man is strong: for a man of vnderstanding increaseth his strength.

6 For with counsel thou shalt enterpriise thy war, and in the multitude of them that can giue counsel, is health.

7 Wisdom is high to a foole: therefore he cannot open his mouth in the gate.

8 He that imagineth to doe euill, men shall call him an author of wickednesse.

9 The wicked thought of a foole is sinne, and the scorner is an abomination vnto men.

10 If thou be faint in the day of aduersitie, thy strength is small.

11 Deliuer them that are drawn to death: and wilt thou not preserue them that are led to be slaine?

12 If thou say, Behold, we knew not of it: hee that pondereth the hearts, doeth not hee vnderstand it? and he that keepeth thy soule, knoweth he it not? will not he also recompence euery man according to his workes?

13 My sonne, eate hony, for it is good, and the hony combe, for it is sweete vnto thy mouth.

14 So shall the knowledge of wisdom be vnto thy soule, if thou finde it, and there shall be an end, and thine hope shall not be cut off.

15 Lay no waite, O wicked man, against the house of the righteous, add spoyle not his resting place.

9 As a thorne standing vpon in the hand of a drunkard: so is a parable in the mouth of fooles.

10 The excellent that formed al things, both rewardeth the foole and rewardeth the transgressors.

11 As a dog turneth againe to his owne vomite, so a foole turneth to his foolishnesse.

12 Seest thou a man wise in his owne conceit? more hope is of a foole then of him.

13 The slothfull man sayeth, A Lyon is in the way: a Lyon is in the streets.

14 As the doore turneth vpon his hinges, so doeth the slothfull man vpon his bed.

15 The slothfull hideth his hand in his bosome, and it grieueth him to put it againe to his mouth.

16 The sluggard is wiser in his owne conceit, then ten men that can render a reason.

17 He that passeth by and medleth with the strife that belongeth not vnto him, is as one that taketh a dog by the eares.

18 As hee that sameth himselfe madde, casteth firebrands, arrowes, and mortall things, 19 So dealeth the deceitfull man with his friend, and saith, Am not I in sport?

20 Without wood the fire is quenched, and without a talebearer strife ceaseth.

21 As the cole maketh burning coles, and wood a fire, so the contentious man is apt to kindle strife.

22 The wordes of a talebearer are as flatterings, and they goe downe into the bowels of the belly.

23 As silver drosse overlaid vpon a potsherd, so are burning lips, and an euill heart.

24 He that hateth, will counterfeite with his lips, but in his heart he layeth up deceit.

25 Though he speake fauourably, beleue him not: for there are seven abominations in his heart.

26 Vained may bee couered by deceit: but the malice thereof shall be discovered in the congregation.

27 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it shall retorne vnto him.

28 A false tongue hateth the afflicted, and a flatterer mouth causeth ruine.

But not thy selfe of to morrow: for a Delay not thou knowest not what a day may bring forth.

2 Let another man prayse thee, and not thine owne mouth: a stranger, and not thine owne lips.

3 A stone is heauie, and the sand weightie: but a fooles wrath is heauier then them both.

4 Anger is cruell, and wrath is ragging: but who can stand before enuie.

5 Open rebuke is better then secret loue. The wounds of a louer are faithfull, and the kisses of an enemye are pleasant.

6 The person that is full, despiseth an honny combe: but vnto the hungry soule euery bitter thing is sweet.

7 As a bird that wandreth from her nest: so is a man that wandreth from his owne place.

8 As oymment and perfume reioyce the heart, so doeth the sweetnesse of a mans friend by hearty counsell.

9 Thine owne friend, and thy fathers friend forsake thou not: neither enter into thy brothers house in the day of thy calamitie: for better is a neighbour that is neere, then a brother farre off.

10 By some, be wise, and reioyce mine heart, that I may answer him that reprocheth me.

11 A prudent man seeth the plague, and hideth himselfe: but the foolish goe on still, and are punished.

12 Take his garment that is surety for a stranger: and a pledge of him for the stranger.

13 He that praiseth his friends with a lowde voyce, rising early in the morning, it shall be counted to him as a curse.

14 A continuall dropping in the day of raine, and a contentious woman are alike.

15 He that hideth her, hideth the winde, and he is as the oyle in his right hand, that uttereth it selfe.

16 Iron sharpeneth iron, so doeth man sharpen the face of his friend.

17 He that keepeth the fig tree, shall eate the fruit thereof: so he that waiteth vpon his master, shall come to honour.

18 As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man.

19 The graue and destruction can neuer be full, so the eyes of man can neuer be satisfied.

20 As is the sining pot for silver, and the furnace for gold, so is euery man according to his dignitie.

The wicked ^a flee when none pursueth, but the righteous are bold as a lion.

2 For the transgression of the land ^b there are many princes thereof: but by a man of 4 They that forsake the Law, praple the wicked: but they that keepe the Law, let

5 Wicked men vnderstand not iudge-ment: but they that looke the Lord, vnder-stand all things.

6 ^c Better is the poore that walketh in his vprightnesse, then he that peruerteth his wayes, though he be rich.

7 He that keepeth the Law, is a childe of vnderstanding: but he that feedeth the glutotons, shameth his father.

8 He that increaseth his riches by vsury and interest, gathereth ^c them for him that will be mercifull vnto the poore.

9 He that turneth away his eare from hearing the Law, euen his prayer shall bee ^d abominable.

10 He that causeth the righteous to goe astray by an euill way, shall fall into his owne pit, and the vpright shall inherite good things.

11 The rich man is wise in his owne conceit: but the poore that hath vnderstanding can try ^e him.

12 ^f When righteous men reioyce, there is great glory: but when the wicked come by, the man ^g is tried.

13 Hee that hideth his sinnes, shall not prosper: but hee that confesseth, and forsaketh them, shall haue mercy.

14 Blessed is the man, that ^h feareth al-way: but hee that hardneth his heart, shall fall into euill.

15 As a roaring Lion, and an hungry
Beare, so is ⁱ a wicked ruler ouer the poore people.

16 A prince destitute of vnderstanding, is also a great oppressor: but he that hateth couetousnesse, shall prolong his dayes.

17 A man that doeth violence against the blood of a person, shall flee vnto the graue,
and they shall not ^j stay him.

18 He that walketh vprightly, shall be saued: but hee that is froward in his wayes, shall once fall.

19 ^k He that tilleth his land, shall be satisfied with bread: but hee that followeth the idle, shall be filled with poverty.

20 A faithfull man shall abound in blessings, and he ^l that maketh haste to be rich, shall not be innocent.

21 To haue respect of persons is not good: for that man wil transgresse for a peece of ^m bread.

22 A man with a wicked ⁿ eye hasteth to riches, and knoweth not that pource shall come vpon him.

23 Hee that rebuketh a man, shall finde more fauour at the length, then he that flattereth with his tongue.

24 Hee that robberh his father and mother, and saith, It is no transgression, is the companion of a man that destroyeth.

25 He that is of a proud heart, stirreth vp strife: but he that trusteth in the Lord, shall be ^o fat.

26 He that trusteth in his owne heart, is a fool: but hee that walketh in wisdom, shall be deliuered.

27 Hee that giveth vnto the poore, shall not lacke: but hee that hideth his eyes, shall haue many curses.

28 ^p When the wicked rise vp, men hide themselues: but when they perish, the righteous increase.

C H A P. XXIX.

A man that hardneth his necke, when he is rebuked, shall suddenly be destroyed, and cannot be cured.

2 ^q When the righteous ^r are in authori-tie, the people reioyce: but when the wicked beareth rule, the people sigh.

3 A man that loueth wisdom, reioyceth his father: ^s but hee that feedeth harlots, wasteth his substance.

4 A king by iudgement maintaineth the countrie: but a man receiuing gifts, destroyeth it.

5 A man that flattereth his neighbour,
^t spreadeth a net for his steps.

6 In the transgression of an euill man is his ^u snare: but the righteous doth sing and reioyce.

7 The righteous knoweth the cause of the poore: but the wicked regardeth not knowledge.

8 Scoornfull men bring a citie into a snare: but wise men turne away to catch.

9 If a wise man contend with a ^v foolish man, whether he be angry or laugh, there is no rest.

10 Bloody men hate him that is vpright, but the iust haue care of his soule.

11 A foole powreth out all his mynd: but a wise man keepeth it in till afterward.

12 Of a prince that hearkeneth to lies, all his seruants are wicked.

13 ^w The poore and the vsurer meete together, and the Lord lighteneth both their eyes.

14 ^x A king that iudgeth the poore in trueth, his throne shall be established for ever.

15 The rodde and correction giue wise-dome: but a childe let at liberty, maketh his mother ashamed.

16 When the wicked are increased, transgression increaseth: but the righteous shall see their fall.

17 Correct thy sonne, and he wil giue thee rest, and will giue pleasures to thy soule.

18 ^y Where there is no vision, the people decay: but hee that keepeth the Law, is blessed.

k He will be abused for nothing.

CHAP. XXX.

2 To humble our selues in consideration of Gods workes 5 The word of God is persfit. 11 Of the wicked and hypocrites. 15 Of things that are neuer satiate. 18 Of others that are wonderfull.

g The words of AGVR the sonne of IAKEH.

The prophetic which the man spake vnto
Ithiel, euen to Ithiel and Ucal.

2 Surely I am more foolish then any man, and haue not the vnderstanding of a man in me.

3 For I haue not learned wisdom, nor attained to the knowledge of holy things.

4 Who hath ascended vp to heauen, and descended: Who hath gathered the wind in his fist? Who hath bound the waters in a garment: Who hath established all the ends of the world: What is his name, and what is his sonnes name, if thou canst tell?

5 Every word of God is pure: he is a shield to those that trust in him.

6 But nothing vnto his words, lest hee reprooue thee, and thou be found a liar.

7 Two things haue I required of thee:
denie me them not before I die.

8 Remoue farre from me vanitie and lies: giue me not pouertie, nor riches: feede me with food conuenient for me.

9 Lett I bee full and denie thee, and say,
Who is the Lord? or lett I bee poore, and steale, and take the name of my God in vaine.

10 Accuse not a seruant vnto his master, lest hee curse thee, when thou hast offended.

11 There is a generation that curseth their father, and doeth not blesse their mother.

12 There is a generation that are pure in their owne conceit, and yet are not washed from their filthinesse.

13 There is a generation, whose eyes are haunte, and their eye lids are lifted vp.

14 There is a generation, whose teeth are as swords, and their talons as knives to eat up the afflicted out of the earth, & the poore from among men.

15 The houseleach hath two daughters, which cry, Giue, giue. There be three things that will not be satisfied: yea, foure that say not, It is enough.

16 The graue, and the barren wombe, the earth that cannot bee satisfied with water, and the fire that saith not, It is enough.

17 The eye that mocketh his father, and despiseeth the instruction of his mother, let the rauiens of the valley picke it out, and the yong eagles eat it.

18 There be three things hid from mee, yea, foure that I know not.

19 The way of an eagle in the ayre, the way of a serpent vpon a stone, the way of a ship in the mids of the sea, and the way of a man with a maide.

20 Such is the way also of an adulterous woman: she eateth and wipeth her mouth, and saith, I haue not committed iniquitie.

21 For three things the earth is mooued:
yea, for foure it cannot still aine it selfe;

22 For a seruant when he reigneth, and a foole when he is filled with meate,

23 For the hatefull woman when she is married, and for a handmaid that is beire to her mistresse.

24 These be foure small things in the earth, yet they are wise, and full of wise-
dome:

25 The pismires a people not strong, yet prepare they their meate in summer:

26 The conies a people not mighty, yet make they their houses in the rocke:

27 The grasshopper hath no king, yet goe
they forth all by bands.

28 The spider taketh holde with her hands, and is in kings palaces.

29 There be three things that order well their going: yea, foure are comely in going.

30 A lion which is strong among beasts, and turneth not at the sight of any:

31 A lusty grayhound, and a goate, and a king against whom there is no rising vp.

32 If thou hast bene foolish in lifting thy selfe vp, and if thou hast thought wickedly, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth.

33 When one churneth milke, he bringeth forth butter: and he that wringeth his nose, causeth blood to come out: so he that forceth wrath, bringeth forth strife.

CHAP. XXXI.

sheweth the conditions of a wise and worthy woman.

ction. d Meaning, that women are the destruction of Kings, if they haue them.

ters, whereby

ers insatiable.

great doctrine and wisdom.

o If man be not able to compassse these common things by his wisdom, wee cannot attribute wisdom to man, but folly.

p Make a stay,
and continue not in doing euill.

a That is, of Salomon, who was called Lemuel,
that is of God,
because God had ordained him to be King ouer Israel.

h He proueth

felicitie in this ther.

i Man of nature hath a desire to know, and yet is not able to come to the perfection of knowledge,
which is the punishment of sin,
to humble man,
and to teach him
to depend onely vpon God.

k Man is not able by all his diligence to cause things to goe otherwise then they doe: neither can he number the faults that are committed,

much lesse remedie them. l That is, vaine things which serued vnto pleasure, wherein was no commodity, but griefe and trouble of conscience. m Wisdome and knowledge cannot be come by without great paine of body and mind: for when a man hath attained to the highest, yet is his minde neuer fully content:
therefore in this world is no true felicitie.

say, Behold this, it is new? It hath beene already in the olde time that was before vs.

11 There is no memory of the former, neither shall there be a remembrance of the latter that shalbe, with them that shall come after.

12 C ^h The Preacher haue bene King ouer Israel in Ierusalem:

13 And I haue given mine heart to search and find out wisdom by all things that are done vnder the heauen: (this soe crauel hath God giuen to the sonnes of men, to humble them thereby.)

14 I haue considered all the workes that are done vnder the sunne: and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit.

15 That which is ^h crooked, can none make straight: and that which faileth, can not be numbered.

16 I thought in mine heart, and said, Behold, I am become great, and excell in wise-dome all them that haue beene before me in Ierusalem: and mine heart hath seene much wisdome and knowledge,

17 And I gaue mine heart to know wis-dome and knowledge, in madnes and foolish-nesse: I knew also that this is a vexation of the spirit.

18 For in the multitude of wisdom: i much ^m griefe: and he that increaseth knowledge, increaseth sorow.

CHAP. II.

Pleasures, sumptuous building, riches and possessions are but vanitie. 15 The wise and the fools haue both one end touching the bodily death.

Said in mine heart, Go to now, I will prooue thee with so: therefore take thou pleasure in pleasant things: and behold, this also is vanitie.

2 I said of laughter, Thou art mad: and of so, What is this that thou doest?

3 I sought in mine heart: to giue my selfe to wine, & to leade mine heart in ^o wise-dome, and to take hold of folly, till I might see where is that goodnesse of the children of men, which they ^h enjoy vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of their life.

4 I haue made my great workes: I haue built mee houses: I haue planted mee vineyards.

5 I haue made me gardens & ^h orchards and planted in them trees of all fruite.

6 I haue made me cisternes of water, to water therewith the woods that grow with trees.

7 I haue gotten seruants and maydes, and had children borne in the ^h house: also I had great possession of hermes and sheepe about all that were before mee in Ieru-salem.

a Salomon ma-keth this discourse with himselfe, as though hee would trie whether there were contentation in ease and pleasures.
i Ebr. draw my

b Albeit I gaue
my selfe to pleasures, yet I same.

c Ebr. doe.
d Ebr. paradise.
e Meaning, of the seruants, or had bought: so the children borne in their seruitude, were ^f masters

8 I haue gathered vnto mee also silver, and gold, and the chiefe treasures of kings and Prouinces: I haue prouided mee them singers and women singers, and the ^h delights of the sonnes of men, as a woman taken captiue, and women taken cap-tines.

9 And I was great and increased about all that were before mee in Ierusalem: also my wisdom ^h remained with mee.

10 And whatsoever mine eyes desired, I withheld it not from them: I withheld not mine heart from any so: for mine heart retoyced in all my labour: and this was my portion of all my crauell.

11 Then I looked on all my workes that mine hands had wrought, and on the travaille that I had laboured to doe: and behold, all is vanitie and vexation of the spirit: and there is no profite vnder the sunne.

12 C And I turned to behold ^h wisdom, and in madnesse, and folly: (for who is the man that will come after the King in things which men now haue done?)

13 Then I saw that there is profite in wisdome more then in folly: as the light is more excellent then darkenesse.

14 ^h For the wise mans eyes are in his head, but the fool walketh in darkenesse: yet I know also that the same ^h condition faileth to them all.

15 Then I thought in mine heart, It befaileth vnto mee, as it befaileth to the fool:
why therefore doe I then labour to bee more wise? And I sayd in mine heart, that this also is vanitie.

16 For there shall be no remembrance of the wise, nor of the fool: for euer: for that that now is, in the dayes to come shall all be forgotten. And ^h how dieth the wise man, as doeth the fool?

17 Therefore I hated life: for the worke that is wrought vnder the sunne is grieuous vnto mee: for all is vanitie, and vexation of the spirit.

18 I hated also all my labour, wherein I had travailed vnder the sunne, which I shall leaue to the man that shall bee after mee.

19 And who knoweth whether hee shall bee wife or foolish: yet shall he haue rule ouer all my labour, wherein I haue tra-uailed, and wherein I haue shewed my selfe vnder the sunne. This also is vanitie.

20 Therefore I went about to make mine heart ^h abhorre al the labour, wherein I had travailed vnder the sunne.

21 For there is a man whose crauell is in wisdome, and in knowledge, and in equity:
yet to a man that hath not travailed herein, shall ^h he giue his portion: this also is vani-
tie and a great griefe.

22 For what hath man of all his travaile and griefe of his heart wherein he hath tra-uailed vnder the sunne?

23 For all his dayes are sorowes, and ken no paine therefore, and whom he knew not whether he were a wise man or a fool,

d That is, whatsoeuer men take pleasure in.

e Which were full of them that

30. Some vnder-stand by these words, no women, but instruments of musick.

f For all this God did not take his gift of wise-dome from me.

g This was the fruit of al my labour, a certaine

pleasure mixt with care, which he calleth vanity

in the next verse.
h I be thought with my selfe whether it were better to follow wisdome, or mine owne affections and pleasures, which hee calleth madnes.

i Or, compare with the King.

Prou. 17. 24.
He foreseeth things, which the fool cannot for lacke of wis-dome.

k For both die and are forgotten, as verse 16.

l Meaning in this world,
m He wondred
that men forget a wife man being dead, as those as they doe a foole.

n That I might seeke the true fe-licitee which is in God.

o Among other griefes this was not the least, coleue that which he had gotten by great crauell, to one that had ta-

his trauaile griefe: his heart also taketh not rest in the night: which also is vanitie.

24 There is no profit to man, but that he eate and drinke, and delight his soule with the profit of his labour: I saw also this, that it was of the hand of God.

25 For who could eate, and who could haue to outward things more than I?

26 Surely to a man that is good in his sight, God giveth wisdom, and knowledge, and joy: but to the sinner he giveth paine to gather, and to heape to giue to him that is good before God: this is also vanitie and vexation of the spirit.

CHAP. IIL

1 All things haue their time. 14 The workes of God are perfect, and canse vs to feare him. 17 God shall iudge both the iust and vniust.

a He speaketh of this diuersitie of time for two causes: first to declare that there is nothing in this world perpetual: next to teach vs not to be grieved if we haue not all things at once according to our desires, neither inioy them so long as wee would wish.

b Reade Chap.

1. 13.

c God hath giuen man a desire and affection to seeke out the things of this world, and to labour therein. d Reade Chap. 2. 24. and these places declare that we should do all things with sobriety, and in the feare of God, so far as he giueth not his gifts to intent that they should be abused.

e That is, man shall neuer be able to let Gods worke, but as he hath determined so it shall come to passe.

f God only causeth that which is past to returne, was iniquitie.

T All things there is an appointed time, and a time to euery purpose vnder the heauen.

2 A time to be borne, and a time to die: a time to plant, and a time to plucke vp that which is planted.

3 A time to slay, and a time to heale: a time to breake downe, and a time to build.

4 A time to weepe, and a time to laugh: a time to mourne, and a time to dance.

5 A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones: a time to embrace, and a time to be farre from embracing.

6 A time to seeke, and a time to lose: a time to keepe, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rent, and a time to sowe: a time to keepe silence, and a time to speake.

8 A time to loue, and a time to hate: a time of warr, and a time of peace.

9 What profit hath hee that worketh, of the thing wherein he trauaileth?

10 I haue seene the trauaile that God hath giuen to the sonnes of men to humble them thereby.

11 We hath made euery thing beautifull is his time: also hee hath let the world in their heart, yet cannot man finde out the worke that God hath wrought from the beginning euen to the end.

12 I know that there is nothing good in them, but to reioyce, and to doe good in his life.

13 And also that euery man eateth and drinketh, and seeth the commodity of all his labour: this is the gift of God.

14 I know that whatsoever God shall doe, it shall bee for euery: so it can no man adde, and from it can none diminish: for God hath done it, that they should feare before him.

15 What is that that hath bene? that is now: and that that shall bee, hath now bene: for God requireth that which is past.

16 And moreover, I haue seene vnder the sunne the place of iudgement, where was wickednesse, and the place of iustice, where was iniquitie.

17 I thought in mine heart, God will iudge the iust and the wicked: for time is there for euery purpose and for euery worke.

18 I considered in mine heart the state of the children of men, that God had purged them: yet to see to, they are in themselves as beasts.

19 For the condition of the children of men, and the condition of beasts, are euen as one condition vnto them. As the one dieth, so dieth the other: for they haue all one breath, and there is no excellencie of man above the beast: for all is vanitie.

20 All go to one place, and all was of the dust, and all shall returne to the dust.

21 Who knoweth whether the spirit of man ascend vwarde, and the spirit of the beast descend downewarde to the earth?

22 Therefore I see that there is nothing better then that a man should reioyce in his affaires, because that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what shall be after him?

and faith we easily know the diuersitie, as vers 21. k. Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleeueth herein. l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 3. 24. and 3. 12, 22. and 5. 17. and 8. 15. hee declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life, then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know further, is a speciall gift of God reuealed by his Spirit.

CHAP. IIL

1 The innocents are oppressed. 4 Mans labours are full of abuse and vanitie. 9 Mans societie is necessary. 13 A young man poore and wise, is to be preferred to an alderking that is a foole.

S I turned, and considered all the operations that are wrought vnder the sun, and behold, the teares of the oppressed, and none comforteth them: and loe, the strength is of the hands of them that oppresse them, and none comforteth them.

2 Wherefore I praised the dead which are now dead, above the liuing which are yet aliu.

3 And I count him better then them both which hath not yet bene: for hee hath not seene the euill works which are wrought vnder the sunne.

4 Also I beheld all trauaile, and all perfection of workes, that this is the truse of a man against his neighbour: this also is vanitie and vexation of spirit.

5 The foole foldeth his hands, and eateth by his owne flesh.

6 Better is an handfull with quietnes, then two handfulls with labour and vexation of spirit.

7 Again I returned, and saw vanitie vnder the sunne.

8 There is one alone, and there is not a second, which hath neither sonne nor brother, yet is there none ende of all his trauaile, neither can his eye bee satisfied with riches: neither doeth hee thinke, for whom doe I trauaile, and defraud my soule

g Meaning, wish God, howloauer man neglect his duety.

h And made them pure in their first creation.

i Man is notable by his reason and iudgment to put difference betweene man and beast, astouching those things whereunto both are subiect: for the eye cannot iudge any other.

j Man is notable by his reason and iudgment to put difference betweene man and beast, astouching those things whereunto both are subiect: for the eye cannot iudge any other.

k Meaning, that reason cannot comprehend that which faith beleeueth herein.

l By the often repetition of this sentence, as Chap. 3. 24. and 3. 12, 22. and 5. 17. and 8. 15. hee declareth that man by reason can comprehend nothing better in this life, then to vse the gifts of God soberly and comfortably: for to know further, is a speciall gift of God reuealed by his Spirit.

m Hee maketh here another discourse with himselfe concerning the tyrannie of them that oppressed the poore.

n Because they are no more subiect to these oppressions.

o He speaketh according to the iudgement of the flesh, which cannot abide to feele or see troubles.

p The more profit that the work is, the more it is enuied of the wicked.

q For idlenesse he is compelled to destroy himselfe.

f Forasmuch as when man is alone, he can neither helpe himselfe nor others, he sheweth that men ought to liue in mutuall societie, to the intent they may bee profitable one to another, and that their things may increase.

g By this proverbe he declareth how necessary it is, that men should liue in societie.

h That is, from a poore, and base estate, or out of trouble, and prison, as Ioseph did, Gen. 41. 14.

i Meaning, that is borne a King. k Which follow and flatter the kings sonne, or him that shall succeed, to enter into credit with them in hope of gaine. l They neuer cease by all meanes to creepe into fauour: but when they obtaine not their greedy desires, they thinke themselves abused, as o-ther haue bin in times past, and so care no more for him. m That is, with what affection thou comest to heare the word of God. n Meaning of the wicked, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and haue neither faith nor repentance.

CHAP. V.

1 Not to speake lightly, chiefly in Gods matters. 2 The covetous can never haue enough. 3 The labourers sleepe is sweet. 4 Man when hee dieth, taketh nothing with him. 5 To liue ioyfully, and with a contented mind is the gift of God.

a Either in vow- ing or in pray- ing: meaning, that we should vse all reuerence to Godward.

b Hee heareth thee not for thy many words sake.

c He speaketh of vowes, which are approued by Gods word, and serue to his glory.

d Cause not thy selfe to sinne by vowing rashly: as they do which make a vow to liue vnmarried and such like. e That is, before Gods messenger, when he shall examine thy doing: as though thy ignorance should be a iust excuse.

soule of pleasure? this also is vanitie, and this is an euill trauaile.

9 Two are better then one: for they haue better wages for their labour.

10 For if they fall, the one will lift vp his fellow: but woe vnto him that is alone: for hee falleth, and there is not a second to lift him vp.

11 Also if two sleepe together, then shall they haue heat: but to one how should there be heat?

12 And if one ouercome him, two shall stand against him: and a threefold is coard is not easily broken.

13 Better is a poore and wise childe, then an old and foolish king, which will no more be admonished.

14 For out of the prison hee cometh forth to reigne: when as he that is bozne in his kingdome, is made poore.

15 I beheld all the liuing, which walke vnder the sunne, with the second childe, which shall stand vp in his place.

16 There is no ende of all the people, nor of all that were before them, and they that come after, shall not reioyce in him: surely this is also vanitie, and vexation of spirit.

17 Take heede to thy foote when thou entrest into the house of God, and be more neere to heare then to giue the sacrifice of foolcs: for they know not that they doe euill.

worke of thine hands?

6 For in the multitude of dreames, and vanities, are also many wordes: but feare thou God.

7 If in a countrey thou seeest the oppression of the poore, and the defrauding of iudgement and iustice, bee not astonished at the matter: for he that is higher then the highest, regardeth, and there be higher then they.

8 And the abundance of the earth is o-uer all: the king also consisteth by the field that is tilled.

9 He that loueth siluer shall not be satisfied with siluer, and hee that loueth riches, shall bee without the fruit thereof: this also is vanity.

10 When goods increase, they are increased that eat them: and what good cometh to the owners thereof, but the beholding thereof with their eyes?

11 The sleepe of him that trauaileth, is sweet, whether hee eat little or much: but the facietie of the rich will not suffer him to sleepe.

12 There is an euill sicknesse that I haue seene vnder the sunne: to wit, riches referred to the owners thereof for their euill.

13 And these riches perish by euill trauaile, and he begetteth a sonne, and in his hand is nothing.

14 As hee came forth of his mothers belly, hee shall retorne naked to goe as hee came, and shall beare away nothing of his labour.

15 And this also is an euill sicknesse, that in all points as he came, so shall hee goe, and what profit hath he that hee hath trauailed for the winde?

16 Also all his dayes he eateth in darkness with much griefe, and in his sorrow and anger.

17 Behold then what I haue seene good, that it is comely to eat, and to drinke, and to take pleasure in all his labour, wherein he trauaileth vnder the sunne, the whole number of the dayes of his life, which God giueth him: for this is his portion.

18 Also to every man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures, and giueth him power to eate thereof and to take his part, and to enioy his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 Surely hee will not much remember the dayes of his life, because God an- swereth to the ioy of his heart.

CHAP. VI.

1 The miserable estate of him to whom God hath giuen riches, and not the grace to vse them.

There is an euill, which I saw vnder the sunne, and it is much among men.

2 A man to whom God hath giuen riches and treasures and honour; and hee wanteth nothing for his soule of all that it desireth: but God giueth him not power to eate thereof, but a strange man shall eate it up: this is vanitie, and this

f Meaning, that God will redresse these things, and therefore wee must depend vpon him.

g The reuenues of the earth are to be preferred aboue all things which appertain to this life.

h Kings & princes cannot maintaine their estate without tillage, which thing commendeth the excellencie of tillage.

this is an euill sicknesse.

2 If a man beget an hundred children, and liue many yeeres, and the dayes of his yeeres be multiplied, and his soule be not ^b satisfied with good things, and he be not ^c buried, I say that an vntimely fruit is better then he.

4 For ^d he commeth into vanitie, and goeth into darknesse: and his name shall be couered with darknesse.

5 Also he hath not seene the Sunne, nor knowen it: therefore this hath more rest then the other.

6 And if hee had liued a thousand yeeres twice old, and had seene no good, shall not all goe to one place?

7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: yet the soule is not filled.

8 For what hath the wise man more then the fool? what hath the poore that knoweth how to walke before the liuing?

9 The sight of the eye is better then to walke in the lutes: this also is vanitie, and veneration of spirit.

10 What is that that hath bene? the name thereof is now named: and it is knownen that it is man: and he cannot strine with him that is ^h stronger then he.

b If he can neuer haue enough.

c As we see oftentimes, that the couetous man either falleth into crimes that deserue death, or is murdered, or drowned, or hangeth himselfe, or such like, and so lacketh the honour of buriall, which is the last office of humanity.

d Meaning the vntimely fruit, whose life did neither profite nor hurt any.

e His desire and affection.

f That knoweth to vse his goods well in the iudgement of men. g To be content with that which God hath given, is better then to follow the desires that neuer can be satisfied. h Meaning God, who will make him to feele that he is mortall.

CHAP. VII.

Diners precepts to follow that which is good, and to auoyde the contrary.

Surely there be many things that increase vanitie: and what auasteth it a man?

2 For who knoweth what is ^a good for man in the life, and in the number of the dayes of the life of his vanitie, seeing he maketh them as a ^b shadow? For who can shew vnto man what shall be after him vnder the sunne?

3 ^c A good name is better then a good oymnt, and the day of ^d death, then the day that one is bozne.

4 It is better to goe to ^e house of mourning, then to goe to the house of feasting, because this is the ende of all men: and the liuing shall lay it to his heart.

5 Anger is better then laughter: for by a sad looke the heart is made better.

6 The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning: but the heart of fool is in the house of mirth.

7 Better it is to heare the rebuke of a wise man, then that a man should heare the song of fool.

8 For like the noyse of the ^f thornes vnder the pot, so is the laughter of the fool: this also is vanitie.

9 Surely oppression maketh a wise man ^g madde: and the reward destroyeth the heart.

10 The ^h end of a thing is better then the beginning thereof, and the patient in spirit

d Which crackle for a while and profit nothing.

f Hee noteth their lightnesse which enterprize a thing, and suddenly cause it off againe.

is better then the proud in spirit.

11 Bee not thou of an hasty spirit to bee angry: for anger resteth in the bosome of fool.

12 Say not thou, Why is it that the former dayes were better then these? for thou doest not enquire wisely of this thing.

13 Wise dome is good with an ⁱ inheritance, and excellent to them that see the Sunne.

14 For man shall rest in the shadow of wise dome, and in the shadow of siluer: but the excellency of the knowledge of wise dome giueth life to the possessors thereof.

15 Behold the worke of God: for who can make ^j straight that which hee hath made crooked?

16 In the day of wealch be of good comfort, and in the day of affliction consider, God also hath made this contrary to that, to the intent that man should finde ^k nothing after him.

17 I haue seene all things in the dayes of my vanitie: there is a iust man that perisheth in his ^l iustice, and there is a wicked man that continueth long in his malice.

18 Be thou not iust ^m ouermuch, neither make thy selfe ouerwise: wherefore shouldst thou be desolate?

19 Be not thou wicked ⁿ ouermuch, neither be thou foolish: wherefore shouldst thou perish not in thy time?

20 It is good that thou lay hold on ^o this: but yet withdraw not thine hand froe that: for he that feareth God shall come forth of them all.

21 Wise dome shall strengthen the wise man more then ten mightie princes that are in the citie.

22 ^p Surely there is no man iust in the earth, that doeth good and sinneth not.

23 Giue not thine ^q heart also to all the words that men speake, lest thou doe heare thy seruant cursing thee.

24 For often times also thine heart knoweth that thou likewise hast ^r cursed others.

25 All this haue I proued by wise dome: I thought, I will be wise, but it went farre from me.

26 It is farre off, what may ^s it be? and it is a profound deepenesse, who can finde it?

27 I haue compassed about, both I and mine heart to know, and to inquire, and to search wise dome, and reason, and to know the wickednesse of folie, and the foolishnesse of madnesse.

28 And I find more bitter then death, the woman whose heart is as nets and liars, and her hands as bands: he that is good before God, shall be deliuered from her, but the sinner shall be taken by her.

29 Behold, saith the Preacher, this haue I found, seeking one by one to ^t finde the count:

30 And yet my soule seeketh, but I find it not: I haue found one man of a thousand: but a woman among them all haue I not found.

g Murmure not against God when he sendeth aduersities for mans finnes.

3. 22.

Who is as the wise man? & who knoweth the interpretation of a thing: the wisdom of a man doeth make his^a face to shine: and the^b strength of his face shall be changed.

2 I aduertise thee to take heede to the mouth of the king, and to the word of the other of God.

3 Waste not to goe south of his sight:
stand not in an euill thing: for hee will doe whatsoever pleaseth him.

4 Where the word of the King is, there is power, and who shall say vnto him, What doest thou?

5 Hee that keepeth the commandment, shall know none euill thing, and the heart of the wise shall know the^c time and iudge-ment.

6 For to euery purpose there is a time and iudgement, because the^d miserie of man is great vpon him.

7 For he knoweth not that which shall be: for who can tell him when it shall be?

8 Man is not lord eouer the spirit to retaine the spirit: neither hath he power in the day of death, nor deliuerance in the battell, neither shall wickednesse deliuer the possessors thereof.

9 All this haue I seene, and haue giuen mine heart to euery worke which is wrought vnder the Sunne, and I saw a time that man ruleth ouer man to his owne^e hurt.

10 And likewise I saw the wicked buried, and^f they returned, and they that came from the holy^g place, were yet forgotten in the city where they had done right: this also is vanitie.

11 Because sentence against an euill worke is not^h executed speedily, therefore the heart of the children of men is fully set in them to doe euill.

12 Though a sinner doe euill an hundred times, and God prolongeth his dayes, yet I know that it shall bee well with them that feare the Lord, & doe reuerence before him.

13 But it shall not be well to the wicked, neither shall he prolong his dayes: he shall be like a shadow, because he feareth not before God.

14 There is a vanitie which is done vpon the earth, that there bee righteous men to whome it commeth according to theⁱ worke of the wicked: and there be wicked men to whome it commeth according to the worke of the iust: I thought also that this is vanitie.

15 And I praysed ioy: for there is no goodnesse to man vnder the Sunne, saue to eate and to drinke and to reioyce: for this is adioyned to his labour, the dayes of his life that God hath giuen him vnder the Sunne.

16 When I applyed mine heart to know wisdom, and to behold the businesse that is done on earth: that neither day nor night

the eyes of man take sleepe,

17 Then I beheld the whole worke of God, that man cannot finde out the worke that is wrought vnder the Sunne: for the which man laboureth to seeke it, and cannot finde it: yea, and though the wise man thinke to know it, he cannot finde it.

CHAP. IX.

1 By no outward thing can man know whom God loveth or hateth. 12 No man knoweth his ende.

16 Wisdom excelleth strength.

I haue surely giuen mine heart to all this,
and to declare all this, that the iust, and the wise, and their workes are in the hand of God: and no man knoweth either loue or^a hatred of all that is before them.

2 All things come alike to all: and the same condition is to the iust and to the wicked, to the good and to the pure, and to the polluted, and to him that sacrificeth, and to him that sacrificeth not: as is the good, so is the sinner, hee that sweareth, as he that feareth an oath.

3 This is euill among all that is done vnder the Sunne, that there is one^b condition to all, and also the heart of the sonnes of men is full of euill, and madnesse is in their hearts whiles they liue, and after that, they goe to the dead.

4 Surely whosoener is toynd to all the liuing, there is hope: for it is better to a^c liuing dogge, then to a dead lion.

5 For the liuing know that they shal die, but the dead know nothing at all: neither haue they any more a reward: for their remembrance is forgotten.

6 All their loue, and their hatred, and their enuy is now perished, and they haue no more portion for euer, in all that is done vnder the sunne.

7 Goe, eate thy bread with ioy, and drinke thy wine with a cheerefull heart: for God now^d accepteth thy workes.

8 At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oyle be lacking vpon thine head.

9 Reioyce with the wife whom thou hast loued all the dayes of the life of thy vanitie, which God hath giuen thee vnder the Sunne all the dayes of thy vanitie: for this is thy portion in the life, and in thy trauell wherein thou labourest vnder the Sunne.

10 All that thine hand shall finde to doe, doe it with all thy power: for there is neither worke, nor inuention, nor knowledge, nor wisdom in the grane whither thou goest.

11 I returned, and I saw vnder the sunne that the race is not to the swift, nor the battell to the strong, nor yet bread to the wise, nor also riches to men of vnderstanding, neither yet fauour to men of knowledge: but time and^e chance commeth to them all.

speake the wicked belly gods. f Ebr. regard the life. Chap. 3. 18.

uersitie whom ference is that

² That is, hee doeth not foresee what shall come.

12 For neither doth man know his time, but as the fishes which are taken in an euill net, and as the birds that are caught in the snare: so are the children of men snared in the euill time when it falleth vpon them suddenly.

13 I haue also scene this wisdom vnder the sunne, and it is great vnto me.

14 A little citie and few men in it, and a great king came against it, and compassed it about, and builded forts against it.

15 And there was found therein a poore and wise man, and hee deliuered the city by his wisdom: but none remembred this poore man.

16 Then said I, Better is wisdom then strength: yet the wisdom of the poore is despised, and his words are not heard.

17 The words of the wise are more heard in quietnesse, then the crye of him that ruleth among fooles.

18 Better is wisdom then weapons of warre: but one sinner destroyeth much good.

CHAP. X.

1 The difference of foolishnesse and wisdom.

11 A slanderer is like a serpent that cannot be charmed. 16 Of foolish kings and drunken princes. 17 And of good kings and princes.

Dead flies cause to stinke, and putrifie the oymment of the Apothecarie: so doeth a little folly him that is in estimation for wisdom, and for glory.

2 The heart of a wise man is at his right hand: but the heart of a foole is at his left hand.

3 And also when the foole goeth by the way, his heart falleth, and he^b telleth vnto all that he is a foole.

4 If the spirit of him that ruleth rise vpon against thee, leaue not thy place: for gentlenesse pacifieth great sinnes.

5 There is an euill that I haue scene vnder the sunne, as an^d error that proceedeth from the face of him that ruleth.

6 Folly is set in great excellencie, and the rich set in the low place.

7 I haue scene seruants on horses, and princes walking as seruants on the ground.

8 He that diggeth a pit, shall fall into it, he that breaketh the hedge, a serpent shall bite him.

9 Hee that remoueth stones, shall hurt himselfe thereby, and he that cutteth wood, shall be in danger thereby.

10 If the yron be blunt, and one hath not whet the edge, hee must then put to more strength: but the excellencie to direct a thing, is wisdom.

11 If the serpent bite, when he is not charmed: no better is a babler.

12 The wordes of the mouth of a wise man haue grace: but the lips of a foole deuoure himselfe.

13 The beginning of the words of his mouth is foolishnesse, and the latter end of his mouth is wicked madness.

14 For the foole multiplieth words, saying, I can knowe what shall be: and who can tel him what shall be after him?

15 The labour of the foolish doth weary him: for he knoweth not to go into the city.

16 Doe to thee, O land, when thy king is a child, and thy princes^c eate in the morning.

17 Blessed art thou, O land, when thy king is the sonne of nobles, and thy princes eate in time, for strength and not for drunkennesse.

18 By flourishnes the roose of the house goeth to decay: and by the idlenesse of the hands, the house droppeth thorow.

19 They prepare bread for laughter, and wine comforteth the lining, but silver answereth to all.

20 Cursie not the king, no not in thy thought, neither curse the rich in thy bed chamber: for the soule of the heauen shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings, shall declare the matter.

CHAP. XI.

1 To be liberal to the poore. 4 Not to doubt of Gods providence. 8 All worldly prosperitie is but vanity. 9 God will iudge all.

Cast thy bread vpon the waters: for after many dayes thou shalt find it.

2 Giue a portion to leuen, & also to right: for thou knowest not what euill shall be vpon the earth.

3 If the cloudes be full, they wil powre forth raine vpon the earth: and if the tree doe fall toward the South, or toward the North, in the place that the tree falleth, there it shall be.

4 He that obserueth the wind, shall not sow, and he that regardeth the cloudes, shall not reape.

5 As thou knowest not which is the way of the spirit, nor how the bones doe grow in the wombe of her that is with childe, so thou knowest not the worke of God that worketh all.

6 In the morning sow thy seede, and in the evening let not thine hand rest: for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, this or that, or whether both shall be alike good.

7 Surely the light is a pleasant thing: and it is a good thing to the eyes to see the sunne.

8 Though a man liue many yeeres, and in them all be reioyce, yet he shall remember the dayes of darknesse, because they are many, all that cometh is vanitie.

9 Reioyce, O yong man, in thy youth, and let thine heart cheere thee in the dayes of thy youth, and walke in the wayes of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes: but know that for all these things, God will bring thee to iudgement.

10 Therefore take away griefe out of thine heart, and cause euill to depart from thy flesh: for childehood and youth are vanity.

God would not call them to an account. i To wit, anger, and enuie. k Meaning, carnall lust, whereunto youth is giuen.

of thy youth, whilst the euill dayes

the bale sound of the grinding, and he shall rise vp at the voyce of the bird: and all the daughters of singing shall be abashed.

5 Also they shall bee afraid of the high thing, and feare shall be in the way, and the

An excellent Song which was Salomons.

THE ARGUMENT.

In this song Salomon by most sweet & comfortable allegories and parables describeth the perfect loue of Iesus Christ, the true Salomon & King of peace, and the faithful soule or his Church, which he hath sanctified and appointed to be his spouse, holy, chaste, and without reprehension, So that here is declared the singular loue of the bridegrome toward the bride, and his great and excellent benefits wherewith he doth enrich her of his pure bounty and grace without any of her deservings. Also the earnest affection of the Church which is inflamed with the loue of Christ, desiring to bee more and more ioyued to him in loue, and not to be forsaken for any spot or blemish that is in her.

CHAP. I.

Church. 2 The domestically enemies that persecute will remember thy loue more then wine: the righteous doe loue thee.

2 I will rise therefore now, and goe about in the cite, by the streetes and by the open places, and will seeke him that my soule loveth: I sought him, but I found him not.

4 When I had past a little from them, then I found him whom my soule loued: I tooke holde on him and left him not, till I had brought him vnto my mothers house, into the chamber of her that conserued me.

5 I charge you, O daughters of Ierusalem, by the roes and by the bindes of the field, that ye stirre not vp, nor waken my loue vntill he please.

6 Who is shee that commeth vp out of the wilderness like pillars of smoke perfumed with myrrhe and incense, and with all the spices of the merchant?

9 King Salomon made himselfe a palace of the trees of Lebanon.

Isaiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

God according to his promise, Deut. 18.15. that he would neuer leave his Church destitute of a Prophet, hath from time to time accomplished the same: whose office was not onely to declare vnto the people the things to come, whereof they had a speciall reuelation, but also to interpret and declare the Law, and to apply particularly the doctrine contained briefly therein, to the vtilitie and profit profit of those, to whom they thought it chiefly to appertain, and as the time and state of things required. And principally in the declaration of the Law, they had respect to three things, which were the ground of their doctrine. First, to the doctrine contented briefly in the two tables: secondly, to the promises and threatnings of the Law: and thirdly, to the covenant of grace and reconciliation, grounded vpon our Saviour Iesus Christ, who is the end of the Law. Whereunto they neither added nor diminished, but faithfully expounded the sense and meaning thereof. And according as God gaue them vnderstanding of things, they applyed the promises particularly for the comfort of the Church and the members thereof, and also denounced the menaces against the enemies of the same: not for any care or regard to the enemies, but to assure the Church of their safeguard by the destruction of their enemies, and as touching the doctrine of reconciliation, they haue more clearly entertained it then Moses, and set forth more lively Iesus Christ, in whom this covenant of reconciliation was made. In all these things Isaiah did excell all the Prophets, and was most diligent to serue out the same, with most vehement admonitions, reprehensions, and consolations: euer applying the doctrine, as he saw that the disease of the people required. He declaieth also many notable prophecies which he had receiued of God, as touching the promise of the Messiah, his office and his kingdome. Also of the fauour of God toward his Church, the vocation of the Gentiles, and their vniou with the Iewes, Which are as most principall points contained in this booke, and a gathering of his Sermons that he preached. Which after certaine dayes that they had stood vpon the Temple doore (for the maner of the Prophets was to set vp the summe of their doctrine for certaine dayes, that the people might the better marke it, as Isai. 8. 1. and Habac. 2. 2.) the Priests tooke it downe and referued it among the registers: and so by Gods providence these booke were preserved as a monument to the Church for euer. As touching his person and time, he was of the kings stocke (for Amoz his father was brother to Azariah king of Iudah, as the best writers agree) and prophesied more then 64. yeeres, from the time of Vzziah vnto the reigne of Manasseh, whose father in law he was (as the Ebrewes write) and of whom he was put to death. And in reading of the Prophets, this one thing among others is to be obserued, that they speake of things to come, as though they were now past, because of the certaintie thereof, and that they could not but come to passe, because God had ordained them in his seeret counsell, and so reuealed them to his Prophets.

CHAP. I.

2 Isaiah reproveth the Iewes of their ingratitude and stubburnesse, that neither for benefits nor punishment would amend. 11 He sheweth why their sacrifices are reiected, and wherein Gods true service standeth. 24 He prophesieth of the destruction of Ierusalem. 25 And of the restitution thereof.

a That is, a reuelation, or prophesie, which was one of the two meanes, whereby God declared himself to his seruants in old time, as Numb. 12. 6. and therefore the Prophets were called Seers, 1. Sam. 9. 9.

b Isaiah was chiefly sent to Iudah & Ierusalem, but not only: for in this booke are prophecies concerning other nations also. c Called also Azariah. 2. King. 15. 1. of these kings, read 2. King. from Chap. 14. vnto Chap. 21. and 2. Chron. from Chap. 25. vnto Chap. 33. d Because men were obstinate and insensible, he calleth to the dumbe creatures, which were more prompt to obey Gods word, as Deut. 32. 1. e He declareth his great mercy toward the Iewes, for as much as he chose them aboue all other nations to be his people & children, as Deut. 10. 15. f The most bruite and dul beasts do more acknowledge their duty toward their masters, then my people do toward me, of whom they haue receiued benefits without comparison. g They were not onely wicked, as were their fathers, but vtterly corrupt, and by their euill example infected others. h That is, him that sanctifieth Israel. i What auaileth it to seeke to amend you by punishment, seeing the more I correct you, the more ye rebell?

Vision of Isaiah, the sonne of Amoz, which he saw, concerning Iudah and Ierusalem in the dayes of Uzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, Kings of Iudah.

2 Hearre, O heauens, and hearken O ye earth: for the Lord hath said, I haue nourished and brought vp children, but they haue rebelled against me.

3 The Lord knoweth his owner, and the asse his masters cribbe, but Israel hath not known: my people hath not vnderstood.

4 O sinful nation, a people laden with iniquitie: a seede of the wicked, corrupt children: they haue forsaken the Lord: they haue prouoked the Holy one of Israel to anger: they are gone backward.

5 Wherefore should ye be smitten any more? for ye shall away more and more: the whole head is sicke, and the whole heart is beanie.

6 From the sole of the foot vnto the head there is nothing whole therein, but wounds and swelling, and lozes full of corruption: they haue not bene wrapped, nor bound vp, nor mollified with oyle.

7 Your land is waste: your cities are burnt with fire, strangers deuoure your land in your presence, and it is desolate like the ouerthrow of strangers.

8 And the daughter of Zion shall remaine like a cottage in a vineyard, like a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, & like a besieged citie.

9 Except the Lord of hosts had reserved vnto vs, euen a small remnant, wee should haue bene as Sodom, and should haue bene like vnto Gomorah.

10 Hearre the word of the Lord, O princes of Sodom: hearken vnto the Lawe of our God, O people of Gomorah.

11 What haue I to doe with the multitude of your sacrifices, saith the Lord? I am full of the burnt offerings of rams, and of the fat of fed beasts: and I desire not the blood of bullocks, nor of lambs, nor of goates.

12 When ye come to appeare before me, who required this of your hands to tread in my courts?

13 Bringing no more oblations in vaine: in cense is an abomination vnto me: I cannot suffer your new moones, nor Sabbathes, nor solenne dayes (it is iniquity) nor solenne assemblies.

r Ye that for your vices deserue to all to be destroyed as they of Sodom, saue that God of his mercy reserved a little number, Lam. 3. 22 f Although God commanded these sacrifices for a time, as aydes and exercises of their faith: yet because the people had not faith nor repentance, God detesteth them. Plal. 50. 13. Iere. 6. 20. Amos 5. 22 Mich. 6. 7. t Without faith and repentance.

k By naming the chiefe parts of the body he signifieth that there was no part of the whole body of the Iewes free from his rods.

l Every part of the body, as well the least as the chiefest was plagued.

m Their plagues were so grievous that they were incurable, & yet they would not repent.

n Meaning, of them that dwell farre off, which because they looke for no advantage of that that remaineth, destroy all before them.

o That is, Ierusalem.

p Because that he wil euer haue a Church to call vpon his name, q That is, all destroyed.

u Your sacrifices offered in the new moones and feasts: he condemneth hereby hypocrites, which thinke to please God with ceremonies, and they themselves are voyde of faith and mercy. x He sheweth that wheremen be giuen to avarice, deceite, cruelty and extortion, which is meant by blood, there God will shew his anger, and not accept them, though they seeme neuer so holy, as Chap. 59. 3. y By this outward washing, he meaneth the spirituall: exhorting the Jewes to repent and amend their liues. z This kinde of reasoning by the secondable, the Scriptures vse in many places against the hypocrites, who pretend most holiness and religion in worde, but when their charity and loue toward their brethren should appeare, they declare that they haue neither faith nor religion.

a To know if I doe accuse you without cause. b Left sinners should pretend any rigour on Gods part, he onely willett them to be pure in heart, and he will forgieue all their sinnes, were they neuer so many or great. c He sheweth that whatsoever aduersitie man endureth, it ought to be attributed to his owne incredulity and disobedience. d That is Ierusalem, which had promised fidelitie vnto me, as a wife to her husband. e Giuen to couetousnes and extortion, which he signified before by blood, verse 15. f Whatsoever was pure in thee before is now corrupt, though thou haue an outward shew. g That is, they maintaine the wicked and the extortioners, and not onely doe not punish them, but are themselves such. h When God will shew himselfe mercifull to his Church he calleth himselfe, The holy One of Israel: but when he hath to do with his enemies, he is called Mightie, as against whom no power is able to resist. i I will take vengeance of mine aduersaries the Jewes, and so satisfie my desire by punishing them: Which thing yet he doeth with a grieve, because of his covenant. k Left the faithfull among them should be overcome with this threatening, he addeth this consolation. l It is onely the worke of God to purifie the heart of man, which thing he doeth because of his promise, made concerning the saluation of his Church. m By iustice is meant Gods faithfull promise, which is the cause of the deliuerance of his Church.

14 My soule hateth your new moones and your appointed feasts: they are a burden vnto me, I am weary to beare them.

15 And when you shall stretch out your hands, I will hide mine eyes from you: and though yee make many prayers, I will not heare: for your hands are full of blood.

16 Wash you, make you cleane: take away the euill of your workes from before mine eyes: cease to doe euill.

17 Learne to do well: seeke iudgement, relieve the oppressed: iudge the fatherlesse, and defend the widow.

18 Come now, and let vs reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins were as crimson, they shall bee made white as snow: though they were redde like scarlet, they shall be as wool.

19 If ye consent and obey, ye shall eate the good things of the land.

20 But if ye refuse and be rebellious, yee shall be deuoured with the sword: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

21 How is the faithfull citie become an harlot? It was full of iudgement, and iustice lodged therein, but now they are murderers.

22 Thy silver is become dross: thy wine is mixt with water.

23 Thy princes are rebellious and companions of thieves: every one loueth gifts, and followeth after rewards, they iudge not the fatherlesse, neither doeth the widowes cause come before them.

24 Therefore saith the Lord God of hosts, the mighty one of Israel, Ah, I will ease me of mine aduersaries, and auenge me of mine enemies.

25 Then I will turne mine hand vpon thee, and burne out thy dross, til it be pure, and take away all thy time.

26 And I will restore thy iudges as at the first: and thy counsellors as at the beginning: afterward shalt thou be called a citie of righteousness, and a faithfull citie.

27 Zion shall be redeemed in iudgement, and they that returne in her, in iustice.

28 And the destruction of the transgressors and of the sinners, shall bee together: and they that forsake the Lord shall be consumed.

29 For they shall bee confounded for the oakes, which yee haue desired, and yee shall bee ashamed of the gardens, that yee haue chosen.

30 For yee shall be as an oke, whose lease fadeth: and as a garden that hath no water.

31 And the strong shall be as towne, and the maker thereof as a sparke: and they shall both burne together, & none shall quench them.

your confidence, shall be consumed as easily as a piece of towne.

CHAP. II.

1 The Church shall be restored by Christ, and the Gentiles called. 6 The punishment of the rebellious and obstinate.

The word that I saw the sonne of Amos saw vpon Iudah and Ierusalem.

2 It shall be in the last dayes, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and shall be exalted aboue the hills, and all nations shall flow vnto it.

3 And many people shall go, & say, Come and let vs goe by to the mountaine of the Lord, to the house of the God of Iacob, and he will teach vs his wayes, and we will walke in his pathes: for the Law shall go forth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

4 And shee shall iudge among the nations, and rebuke many people: they shall breake their swords alio into mattocks, and their speares into sitches: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learne to fight any more.

5 O house of Iacob, come yee, and let vs walke in the light of the Lord.

6 Surely thou hast forsaken thy people, the house of Iacob, because they are full of the East maners and are sorcerers as the Philistims, and abound with strange children.

7 Their land also was full of silver and golde, and there was none end of their treasures: and their land was full of horses, and their charrets were infinite.

8 Their land also was full of idoles: they worshipped the worke of their owne hands, when the Gospel was first preached in Ierusalem, and from thence went through all the world. g The Lord, which is Christ, shall haue all power giuen him. h That they may acknowledge their sinnes, and turne to him. i He sheweth the fruit of the peace, which the Gospel should bring, to wit, that men should doe good one to another, whereas before they were enemies. k Hee speaketh not against the vse of weapons and lawfull warre, but sheweth how the hearts of the godly shall be affected one toward another: which peace and loue doeth beginne and growe in this life, but shall be perfected, when we are ioyned with our head Christ Iesus. l Seeing the Centiles will be so ready, make you haste, and shew them the way to worship God. m The Prophet seeing the small hope that the Jewes would conuert, complaineth to God, as though he had verily forsaken them for their sinnes. n Full of the corruptions that reigned chiefly in the East parts. o They altogether giue themselves to the fashions of other nations. p The Prophet first condemned their superstition and idolatry, next their couetousnesse, and thirdly, their vaine trust in worldly meanes.

n The wicked shall not be partakers of Gods promise, Psal.

f This was accomplished.

q He noteth the nature of the idolaters, which are neuer satisfied in their superstitions.

r Thus the Prophet spake, being inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, and that he might feare them with Gods iudgment.

s Meaning, as soone as God shall begin to execute his iudgements.

t By high trees and mountaines are meant them that are proud, and lofty, and thinkethemselues most strong in this world.

x They shall cast them into most vile and filthy places when they perceiue that they are not able to helpe them.

y Cast off your vaine confidence of man, whose life is so fraile, that if his nose be stopped he is dead, and consider that you haue to doe with God.

9 And a man bowed himselfe, and a man humbled himselfe: therefore spare them not.

10 Enter into the rocke, and hide thee in the dust from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glory of his maiestie.

11 The hie looke of man shall be humbled, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord onely shall be exalted in that day.

12 For the day of the Lord of hostes is vpon all the proud and haughty, and vpon all that is exalted: and it shall be made low.

13 Euen vpon all the Cedars of Lebanon, that are hie and exalted, and vpon all the oaks of Bashan,

14 And vpon all the high mountaines, and vpon all the hills that are lifted vp,

15 And vpon every high tower, and vpon every strong wall,

16 And vpon all the ships of Tarshish, and vpon all pleasant pictures.

17 And the haughtinesse of men shall be brought lowe, and the loftinesse of men shall be abased, and the Lord shall onely be exalted in that day.

18 And the idoles will be utterly destroy.

19 Then they shall goe into the holes of the rockes, and into the caues of the earth from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glorie of his maiestie, when he shall arise to destroy the earth.

20 At that day shall man cast away his silver idoles, and his golden idoles (which they had made themselues to worship them) to the moultes, and to the backes,

21 To goe into the holes of the rockes, and into the toppes of the ragged rockes, from before the feare of the Lord, and from the glorie of his maiestie, when he shall rise to destroy the earth.

22 Cease you from the man whose breath is in his nostrils: for wherthin is he to be esteemed?

23 For the sinne of the people God will take away the wise men, & giue them foolish prynces.

24 The countenances of the gouernours.

25 The pride of the women.

26 The Lord God of hostes will take away from Ierusalem and from Iuda, the stay, and the strength: euen all the stay of bread, and all the stay of water,

27 The strong man, and the man of war, the iudge and the prophet, the prudent and the aged,

28 The captaine of fiftie, and the honourable, and the counsellor, and the cunning artificer, and eloquent man.

29 And I will appoint children to be their prynces, and babes shall rule over them.

30 The people shall be oppressed one of another, and every one by his neighbour: the children shall presume against the ancient, and the vile against the honourable.

31 When every one shall take hold of his brother of the house of his father, and say, Thou hast clothing: thou shalt bee our prince, and let this fall be vnder thine hand:

32 In that day he shall sweare, saying, I cannot be an helper: for there is no bread in mine house, nor clothing: therefore make me no prince of the people.

33 Doubtlesse Ierusalem is fallen, & Iudah is fallen downe, because their tongue and workes are against the Lord, to prouoke the eyes of his glory.

34 The trial of their countenance testified against them, yea, they declare their sinnes, as Sodome, they hidethem not. Nor be vnto their soules: for they haue rewarded euill vnto themselues.

35 Say ye, Surely it shall be well with the Iust: for they shall eate the fruit of their workes.

36 Nor be to the wicked, it shall be euill with him: for the reward of his hands shall be giuen him.

37 Children are extortioners of my people, and women haue rule ouer them: my people, they that leade thee, cause thee to erre, and destroy the way of thy paths.

38 The Lord standeth vp to pleade, yea, he standeth vp to iudge the people.

39 The Lord shall enter into iudgement with the Ancients of his people and the prynces thereof: for yee haue eaten vp the vineyard: the spoyle of the poore is in your houses.

40 What haue ye to doe, that yee beate my people to pieces, and grinde the faces of the poore, saith the Lord, euen the Lord of hostes?

41 Because the wicked people were more addicted to their prynces, then to the commandments of God, he sheweth that he would giue them such prynces, by whom they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate.

42 The Lord also sayeth, Because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walke with stretched out neckes, and with wandering eyes, walking and musing as they goe, and making a tinkling with their feete, 43 Therefore shall the Lord make the heads of the daughters of Zion balde, and the Lord shall discouer their secret partes.

44 In that day shall the Lord take away the ornament of the slippers and the caltes, and the round tiers,

45 The sweete balles, and the bracelets, and the bounnets,

46 The tyres of the head, and the shoppes and the headbands, and the tablets, and the earrings,

47 The rings and the mufflers,

48 The costly apparell and the bailes, and the wimples and the crisping pinnes,

49 And the glasses, and the fine linnen,

50 preferred it according to their duety.

51 He meaneth the people, because of the arrogancie and pride of their women, which gaue themselues to a wantonnesse and dissolution.

52 which declared their pride, as a signe, that they were not chaste.

53 Which shewed their wantonnesse.

54 They delighted then in slippers that did creake, or had little plates sowed vpon them, which tinkled as they went.

55 and

f He sheweth that this plague shall be so horrible, that contrary to the common maner of men, which by nature are ambitious, none shall be found able or willing to be their gouernour.

g Feare shall rather cause him to forswear himselfe, then to take such a dangerous charge vpon him.

h When God shall examine their deedes, whereupon they now set an impudent face, he shall finde the marke of their impiety in their forehead.

i Be yet that are godly assured that God will defend you in the middes of these troubles.

k Because the wicked people were more addicted to their prynces, then to the commandments of God, he sheweth that he would giue them such prynces, by whom they should haue no helpe, but that should be manifest tokens of his wrath, because they should be fooles and effeminate.

CHAP. III.

¹ The small remnant of men after the destruction of Ierusalem. ² The graces of God upon them that remaine.

^a When God shall execute this vengeance, there shall not be one man found to be the head to many women, and they, contrary to womanly shamefastnesse, shall seeke vnto men, and offer themselves to any condition.

^b Bethou our husband, and let vs be called thy wives. ^c For so they thought it to be without an head and husband. ^d He comforteth the Church in this desolation, which shall spring vp like a bud, signifying that Gods graces should be as plentiful toward the faithfull, as though they sprang out of the earth, as Cha. 45. 8. Some by the bud of the Lord, meane Christ. ^e Hee alludeth to the booke of life, whereof reade Exod. 32. 32 meaning Gods secret counsel, wherein his elect are predestinate to life everlasting. ^f That is, the cruelty, extortion, auarice and all wickednesse. ^g When things shall be redressed that were amisse. ^h He alludeth to y pillar of the cloud, Exod. 13. 21. meaning, that Gods fauour and protection should appeare in euery place. ⁱ The faithfull are called the glory of God, because his image and tokens of his grace shin in them: ^k God promisseth to be the defence of his Church against all troubles and dangers.

plants, ^d and he built a tower in the middes thereof, and made a winepresse therein: then he looked that it should bring forth grapes: but it brought forth wild grapes.

³ Now therefore, O inhabitants of Ierusalem, and men of Judah, iudge, I pray you, betwene me and my vineyard.

⁴ What could I haue done any more to my vineyard, that I haue not done vnto it? why haue I looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it bringeth forth wilde grapes?

⁵ And now I will tell you what I will doe to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge thereof, and it shall be eaten vp: I will breake the wall thereof, and it shall be troden downe:

⁶ And I will lay it waste: it shall not be cut, nor digged, but byters, and thornes shall grow vp: I will also command the cloudes that they raine no raine vpon it.

⁷ Surely the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the men of Judah are his pleasant plant, and hee looked for iudgement, but beholde oppression: for righteousnesse, but beholde a crying.

⁸ Woe vnto them that sayne house to house, and lay field to field, till there bee no place, that ye may be placed by your selues in the mids of the earth.

¹² And the harpe, and viole, timbrel, and pipe, and wine are in their feasts: but they regard not the worke of the Lord, neither consider the worke of his hands.

¹³ Therefore my people is gone into captiuitie, because they had no knowledge, and the glory thereof are men famished, and the multitude thereof is dried vp with thirst.

¹⁴ Therefore heell hath enlarged it selfe, and hath opened his mouth without measure, and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he that reioiceth among them, shall descend into it.

z Hee sheweth what are y words of the wicked, when they are menaced with Gods iudgments.

b Which are contempters of all doctrine and admonition.

c Which are neuer weary but shewe their strength, & brag in gluttony and drunkennesse.

d Both they and their posterity, so that nothing shall be left.

e He sheweth that God had sore punished this people, that the dumme creatures, if they had bene so plagued, would haue bene more sensible, & therefore his plagues must continue till they begin to feele them.

f Hee will make the Babylonians to come against them at his becke, & to fight vnder his standerd. g They shall be prompt, and lusty to execute Gods vengeance. h The enemy shall haue none impediment. i Whereby is declared the cruelty of the enemy. k The Iewes shall find no succour. l In the land of Iudah.

17 Then shall the lambs feed after their manner, and the strangers shall eate the delolate places of the fat.

19 Which say, Let him make speede: let him hasten his worke that we may see it: and let the counsell of the Holy one of Israel draw neere and come, that wee may know it.

20 Come vnto them that speake good of euill, and euill of good, which put darkenes for light, and light for darkenesse, that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for sowre.

21 Come vnto them that are wise in their owne eyes, and prudent in their owne sight.

22 Come vnto them that are mighty to drinke wine, and to them that are strong to powre in strong drinke:

23 Which iustifie y wicked for a reward, and take away the righteousnes of the righteous from him.

24 Therefore as the flame of fire deuoureth the stubble, and as the chaffe is consumed of the flame, so their root shall be as rottenesse, and their bud shall rise vp like dust, because they haue cast off the Lawe of the Lord of hostes, and contemned the word of the Holy one of Israel.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled against his people, and he hath stretched out his hand vpon them & hath smitten them that the mountaines did tremble: and their carkisses were torne in the mids of the streets, and for all this his wrath was not turned away, but his hand was stretched out still.

26 And he will lift vp a signe vnto the nations afarre, & will hiss vnto them from the end of the earth: and beholde, they shall come hastily with speed.

27 None shall faint nor fall among them: none shall slumber nor sleepe, neither shall the girdle of his loynes be loosed, nor the latchet of his shoes be broken:

28 Whose arrows shall be sharpe, and all his bowes bent: his horse hooues shall be thought like flint, and his wheeles like a whirlewind.

29 His roaring shall be like a lion, and hee shall roare like lions whelps: they shall roare and lay hold of the pray: they shall take it away, and none shall deliuer it.

30 And in that day they shall roare vpon them as the roaring of the sea: and if they looke vnto the earth, beholde darkenesse, and sorrow, and the light shall be darkened in their sight.

31 Hee will make the Babylonians to come against them at his becke, & to fight vnder his standerd. g They shall be prompt, and lusty to execute Gods vengeance. h The enemy shall haue none impediment. i Whereby is declared the cruelty of the enemy. k The Iewes shall find no succour. l In the land of Iudah.

CHAP. VI.

1 Isaiah sheweth his vocation by the vision of the diuine maiesty. 9 Hee sheweth the obstinacie of the people. 11 The destruction of the land. 13 The remnant reserved.

1 In the yeere of the death of King Uzziah, I saw also the Lord sitting vpon an high throne, and lifted vp, and the lower parts thereof filled the Temple.

2 The Seraphims stood vpon it: every one had six wings: with twaine hee covered his face, and with twaine hee covered his feet, and with twaine hee did sit.

3 And one cried to another, & said, Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hostes: the whole world is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the doore cheekes were moued at the voyce of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke.

5 Then I said, Woe is me: for I am undone, because I am a man of polluted lips, and I dwell in the mids of a people of polluted lips: for mine eyes haue seene the King and Lord of hostes.

6 Then flew one of the Seraphims vnto mee with an hote coale in his hand which hee had taken from the Altar with the tongs.

7 And hee touched my mouth, and said, Lo, this hath touched thy lips, and thine iniquity shall be taken away, and thy sinne shall be purged.

8 Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send? and who shall goe for vs? Then I sayd, Here am I, send mee.

9 And he said, Goe, and say vnto this people, He shall heare in deed, but ye shall not vnderstand: yee shall plainly see, and not perceiue.

10 Make the heart of this people fatte, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, & vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them.

11 Then said I, Lord, how long? And hee answered, Untill the cities bee wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vtterly desolate,

12 And the Lord haue remooued men farre away, and there be a great desolation in the mids of the land.

13 This often repetition signifieth that the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselves in praising God, to teach vs, that in all our liues wee should giue ourselues to the continuall prayse of God.

14 His glory doeth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to prayse him.

15 Which things were to confirme the Prophet that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindness that should come vpon the Iewes.

16 He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because hee that was a mortall crature and therefore had more need to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other because the more neere that man approacheth to God, the more doeth hee know his owne sinne and corruption.

17 Of the burnt offerings, where the fire neuer went out. 18 This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, till hee haue purged vs.

19 Whereby is declared, that for the malice of man, God will not immediatly take away his word, but hee will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they wil not learne thereby to obey his will, and be faued: hereby hee exhorteth the Ministers to doe their dutie, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened.

a God sheweth not himselfe to man in his maiesty, but according as mans capacitie is able to comprehend him, that is, by visible signes, as Iohn Baptist saw the holy Ghost in the forme of a dove.

b As a iudge ready to giue sentence.

c Of his garment, or of his throne.

d They were Angels, so called because they were of a fiery colour, to signifie that they burnt in the loue of God, or were light as fire to execute his will.

e Signifying, that they were not able to endure the brightness of Gods glory.

f Whereby was declared that man was not able to see the brightness of God in them.

g Which thing declareth the prompt obedience of the Angels to execute Gods commandement.

h This often repetition signifieth that the holy Angels cannot satisfie themselves in praising God, to teach vs, that in all our liues wee should giue ourselues to the continuall prayse of God.

i His glory doeth not onely appeare in the heauens, but through all the world, and therefore all creatures are bound to prayse him.

k Which things were to confirme the Prophet that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindness that should come vpon the Iewes.

l He speaketh this for two causes: the one, because hee that was a mortall crature and therefore had more need to glorifie God then the Angels, did it not: and the other because the more neere that man approacheth to God, the more doeth hee know his owne sinne and corruption.

m Of the burnt offerings, where the fire neuer went out. 18 This declareth that man cannot render true obedience to God, till hee haue purged vs.

19 Whereby is declared, that for the malice of man, God will not immediatly take away his word, but hee will cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they wil not learne thereby to obey his will, and be faued: hereby hee exhorteth the Ministers to doe their dutie, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened.

20 As hee was moued with the zeale of God glory, so was he touched with a charitable affection toward the people.

q Meaning, the tenth part: or as some write, it was revealed to Isaiah for the confirmation of his prophetic, that ten kings should come before their captivity, as were from Vzziah to Zedekiah. r For the fewnesse they shall seeme to be eaten vp: yet they shall after flourish as a tree, which in winter loseth his leaves, and seemeth to bee dead, yet in summer is fresh and Greene.

13 But yet in it shall be a tenth, and shall returne, and shall be eaten vp as an elme: or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast their leaves: so the holy seede shall be the substance thereof.

C H A P. VII.

1 Jerusalem besieged. 4 Isaiah comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised.

2 King. 16. 5. Or, Syria.

a To wit, the second time: for in the first battell Ahaz was overcome.

b Meaning, the kings house.

c That is, Israel, because that tribe was the greatest, Gen. 48. 19.

d For feare.

e That is to say, the rest shall returne: which name Isaiah gaue his sonne, to signifie, that the rest of the people should returne out of their captivity.

f Which haue but a little smoke and shall quickly be quenched. g Which was an Israelite, and as seemeth, enemy to the house of Dauid.

h Coming from the five & twentieth yeere of the reigne of Vzziah, at what time, Amos prophesied this thing, and now Isaiah confirmeth that the Israelites should be led in to perpetual captivity, which thing came to passe within twentie yeere after that Isaiah did this message.

i For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shall be destroyed, and thou preferred. k Not to beleue Gods word without a signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the ayde and helpe of our infirmities, is to rebel against him. l You thinke you haue to do with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God against whom you bend your selues.

And in the dayes of Ahaz, the sonne of Jotham, the sonne of Uzziah king of Judah, Rezin the king of Aram came vp, and Pekah the sonne of Remaliah king of Israel, to Jerusalem to fight against it, but hee could not overcome it.

2 And it was told the house of Dauid, saying, Aram is ioynd with Ephraim: therefore his heart was mooued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are mooued by the wind.

3 Then said the Lord vnto Isaiah, Go forth now to meet Ahaz (thou and Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the end of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field.

4 And say vnto him, Take heed, and be not afraid, neither be faint hearted for the two talles of these smoking firebrands, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Aram, and of Remaliahs sonne.

5 Because Aram hath taken wicked counsel against thee, and Ephraim, and Remaliahs sonne, saying,

6 Let vs goe vp against Judah, and let vs waken them vp, and make a breach therein for vs, and let a king in the mids thereof, euen the sonne of Tabeal.

7 Thus saith the Lord God, It shall not stand, neither shall it be:

8 For the head of Aram is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and within five and threescore yeere Ephraim shall be destroyed from being a people.

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleue not, surely ye shall not be established.

10 And the Lord spake againe vnto Ahaz, saying,

11 Aske a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, either in the depth beneath, or in the height above.

12 But Ahaz said, I will not aske, neither will I tempt the Lord.

13 Then hee sayd, Heare you now, O house of Dauid, Is it a small thing for you to grieve men, that ye will also grieve my God?

14 For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shall be destroyed, and thou preferred.

15 Not to beleue Gods word without a signe, is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe when God offereth it for the ayde and helpe of our infirmities, is to rebel against him.

16 You thinke you haue to do with men, when ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God against whom you bend your selues.

14 Therefore the Lord himselfe will giue you a signe. Behold, the virgin shall conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shall call his name Immanuel.

15 Butter and hony shall hee eat, till he haue knowledge to refuse the euill, & to chuse the good.

16 For afore the child shall haue knowledge to eschew the euill, & to chuse the good, the land that thou abhorrest, shall be forsaken of both her kings.

17 The Lord shall bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the dayes that haue not come from the day that Ephraim departed from Judah) euen the king of Assyria.

18 And in that day shall the Lord hisse for thee: for hee that is at the uttermost part of the floods of Egypt, and for the Bee which is in the land of Assyria.

19 And they shall come and shall light all in the desolate valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and vpon all thornie places, and vpon all bushie places.

20 In that day shall the Lord shane with a razor that is hired, euen by them beyond the river, by the king of Assyria, the head and the haire of the feet, and it shall consume the beard.

21 And in the same day shall a man nourish a yong kow, and two sheepe.

22 And for the abundance of milke that they shall giue, hee shall eat butter: for butter and hony shall euery one eat, which is left within the land.

23 And at the same day euery place wherein shall be a thousand vines, shall be at a thousand pieces of silver: so it shall be for the byers and for the thornes.

24 With arrowes and with bow shall one come thither: because all the land shall be byers and thornes.

25 But on all the mountains which shall be digged with the mattocke, there shall not come thither the feare of byers and thornes: but they shall bee for the sending out of bullockes, and for the treading of sheepe.

f Signifying, that no place shall be free from them. t That is, that which is from the belly downward: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small. u He that before had a great number of cattell, shall bee content with one kow and two sheepe.

x The number of men shall be so small, that a few beasts shall bee able to nourish all abundantly. y As they that go to seeke wild beasts among the bushes. z The mountaines contrary to their wont, shall be tilled by such as shall see to them for succour.

C H A P. VIII.

1 The captiuitie of Israel and Iudah by the Assyrians. 6 The infidelitie of the Iewes. 9 The destruction of the Assyrians. 14 Christ the stone of stumbling to the wicked. 19 The word of God must bee enquired at.

be more easly read. b Meaning, after the common fashion, because all men might read it.

m Forasmuch as thou art worthy, the Lord for his own promise sake will giue a signe: which shall be, that Christ the Sauour of his Church and the effect of all signes and miracles, shall be revealed. Or, God with vs, which name can agree to none but to him, that is both God and man.

n Meaning, that Christ is not only God, but man also, because hee shall be nourished as other men vntil the age of discretion.

o Not meaning Christ, but any child: for before a child can come to the yeeres of discretion, the kings of Samaria and Syria shall be destroyed.

p Since the time that the twelue tribes rebelled vnder Reboam.

q In whom thou hast put thy trust.

r Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason the countrey is hot, and moyst, it is full of flies, as Assyria is full of Bees.

t That is, that which is from the belly downward: meaning, that he would destroy both great and small.

u He that before had a great number of cattell, shall bee content with one kow and two sheepe.

x The number of men shall be so small, that a few beasts shall bee able to nourish all abundantly.

y As they that go to seeke wild beasts among the bushes.

z The mountaines contrary to their wont, shall be tilled by such as shall see to them for succour.

c Because the thing was of great importance, he tooke these two witnesses, which were of credit with the people when he set this vp vpon the dore of the Temple, albeit Vriah was a flattering hypocrite, 2. King. 16. 11.

d Meaning, to his wife: and this was done in a vision.

h Or, make speede to the spoile: haste to the pray.

e Before any child bee able to speake.

f That is, the armie of Assyria.

g Which was a fountaine at the foot of mount Zion, out of the which ran a small riuer thorow the citie: meaning, that they of Iudah distrusting their owne power, which was small, desired such power and riches as they saw in Syria and Israel.

h That is, the Assyrians, which dwell beyond Euphrates.

i It shalbe ready to drowne them.

k He speaketh this to Messiah or Christ, in whom the faithfull were comforted, and who would not suffer his Church to be destroyed vtterly.

l To wit, yet that are enemies to the Church, as the Assyrians, Egyptians, Syrians, &c.

m To encourage mee that I should not shrinke for the infidelity of this people, and so neglect mine office.

n Consented not yet that are godly, to the league and friendship that this people seeke with strangers and idolaters.

o Meaning, that they should not feare the thing that they feared, which haue no hope in God.

p In putting your trust onely in him, in calling vpon him in aduersitie.

q Hee will defend you which are his elect, and reiect all the rest, which is meant of Christ, against whom the Iewes should stumble and fall, Luke 2. 34 Rom. 9. 33. 1. Pet. 2. 7, 8.

r Though all forsake mee, yet yet that are left, keepe my word sure sealed in your hearts,

2 Then I tooke vnto me^c faithfull witnesses to record, Uriah the Priest, and Zebariah the sonne of Ieberechiah.

3 After, I came to the^d Prophetesse, which conceived and bare a sonne. Then said the Lord to me, Call his name, || Ba-ber-shal-haz-baz.

4 For before^e the child shal haue knowledge to cry, My father and my mother, f he shal take away the riches of Damascus, and the spoyle of Samaria, before the King of Asshur.

5 And the Lord spake yet againe vnto me, saying,

6 Because this people hath refused the waters of^g Shiloah that runne softly, and reioyce with Rezin, and the sonne of Remaliah,

7 Now therefore behold, the Lord bringeth vp vpon them the waters of^h the Riuer mightie and great, euen the King of Asshur with all his glory, and he shall come vp vpon all their riuers, and goe ouer all their bankes.

8 And shall breake into Iudah, and shall ouerflow and passe through, and shall come vp to theⁱ neck, and the stretching out of his wings shall fill the breadth of thy land, O^j Immanuel.

9 Gather together on heapes, O yee^k people, and ye shall be broken in pieces, and hearken all ye of farre countreys: gird your selues, and you shall bee broken in pieces: gird your selues, and you shall be broken in pieces.

10 Take counsell together, yet it shall be brought to nought: pronounce a decree, yet shall it not stand: for God is with vs.

11 For the Lord spake thus to me, in taking^l of mine hand, and taught me, that I should not walke in the way of this people, saying,

12 Say yee not, A^m confederacie to all them to whom this people saith a confederacie, neither feare youⁿ their feare, nor bee afeard of them.

13 Sanctifie the Lord of hostes, and let him be your feare, and let him be your dread.

14 And he shall be as a^o Sanctuary: but as a stumbling stone, and as a rocke to fall vpon, to both the houses of Israel, and as a snare, and as a net to the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

15 And many among them shal stumble, and shall fall, and shal be broken, and shal be snared, and shal be taken.

16 Bind vpon the testimony: scale vpon the Law among my disciples.

17 Therefore I will wait vpon the Lord that hath hid his face from the house of Aakob, and I will looke for him.

18 Behold, I and the^f children whom the Lord hath giuen me, are as signes & as wonders in Israel: by the Lord of hosts, which dwelleth in mount Zion.

19 And when they shal say vnto you, Enquire at them that haue a spirit of diuination, and at the soothsayers which whisper and murmur, should not a people enquire at their God: from the^g liuing to the dead?

20 To the^h Law, and to the testimony, if they speake not according to this word: it is because there is noⁱ light in them.

21 Then hee that is afflicted and famished, shall goe to and fro in^j it: and when he shal be hungry, he shal euen fret himselfe, and curse his king and his gods, and shal looke vppward.

22 And when hee shall looke to the earth, behold trouble, and^k darknesse, veracion and anguish, and he is driuen to darkenesse.

him? x That is, Will they refuse to bee taught of the Prophet, who is the mouth of God, and seeke helpe at the dead, which is the illusion of Satan? y Seeke remedy in the word of God, where his will is declared. z They haue no knowledge, but are blind leaders of the blind. a That is, in Iudah where they should haue had a rest, if they had not thus grievously offended God. b In whom afore they put their trust. c They shall thinke that heauen and earth and all creatures are bent against them to trouble them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles. 6 A prophetic of Christ. 14 The destruction of the ten tribes for their pride and contempt of God.

Y^et the darknesse shal not be according to the affliction, that it had when at the first he touched lightly the land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali, nor afterward when hee was more grievous by the way of the sea beyond Iordan in Galilee of the Gentiles.

2 The people that walked in darknesse, haue seene a great light: they that dwelled in the land of the shadow of death, vpon them hath the^a light shined.

3 Thou hast multiplied the nation, and not increased their ioy: they haue reioyced before thee according to the ioy in harvest, and as men reioyce when they diuide a spoile.

4 For^b the yoke of their burden, and the staffe of their shoulder, and the rod of their oppressour hast thou broken as in the day of Midian.

5 Surely euery battel of the warriour is f Meaning them that werewilling to heare & obey the word of God whom the world hated, as though they were monsters and not worthy to liue.

g This was a consolation in their troubles, knowing that nothing could come vnto them, but by the will of the Lord.

h Answered the wicked thus,

i Should not Gods people seeke succour onely at j That is, Will they refuse to bee taught of the Prophet, who is the mouth of God, and seeke helpe at the dead, which is the illusion of Satan?

k They haue no knowledge, but are blind leaders of the blind.

a That is, in Iudah where they should haue had a rest, if they had not thus grievously offended God.

b In whom afore they put their trust.

c They shall thinke that heauen and earth and all creatures are bent against them to trouble them.

o Israelites away captiues.

c Whereas the Iewes and Gentiles dwelt together by reason of those twentie cities, which Salomon gaue to Hiram. d Which were captiue in Babylon: and the Prophet speaketh of that thing, which should come to passe in threescore yeeres after, as though it were now done. e Meaning, the comfort of their deliuerance f This captiuitie and deliuerance were figures of our captiuitie by sinne, and of our deliuerance by Christ through the preaching of the Gospel, Matth. 4. 15, 16. g Their number was greater when they went into captiuitie, then when they returned, but their ioy was greater at their returne. Hag. 2. 10. h Thou gauest the perfect ioy, by deliuering of them, and by destroying the tyrants that had kept them in cruell bondage, as thou didst deliuer them by Gideon from the Midianites, Iudg. 7. 22.

with

i He speaketh of the deliuerance of his Church, which he hath deliuered miraculously from his enemies, but specially by y^e coming of Christ, of whom he prophesieth in the next verse.
k The author of eternity, and by whome the Church and euerie member thereof shall be preferred for euer, and haue immortall life.

l His singular loue and care for his elect.

m This is another prophesie against them of Samaria, which were mockers, and contemners of Gods promises and menaces.

n We were but weak, when the enemy overcame vs, but wee will make our selues so strong, that we will neither care for our enemies, nor feare Gods threatenings.

o Rezing King of Syria, who was in league with Israel, was slaine by the Assyrians, after whose death, Aram, that is, the Syrians were against Israel, which on the other side were assailed by the Philistims.

p Wickednes, as a bellows kindleth the fire of Gods wrath, which consumeth all his obstinate enemies.

q Though there were no foreine enemy, yet they shall destroy one another.

r Their greedinesse shall be insatiab, so that one brother shall eat of another, as though he should eat his owne flesh.

with noyle: & with tumbling of garments in blood: but this shall be: with burning and deuouring of fire.

6 For vnto vs a childe is borne, and vnto vs a Sonne is giuen: and the gouernement is vpon his shoulder, and hee shall call his Name Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, The euerlasting Father, The prince of peace.

7 The increase of his gouernement and peace shall haue none ende: hee shall sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & vpon his kingdome, to order it, and to stablish it with iudgement and with iustice from henceforth, euen for euer: the zeale of the Lord of hostes will performe this.

8 The Lord hath sent a word into Iakob, and it hath lighted vpon Israel.

9 And all the people shall know, euen Ephraim, and the inhabitant of Samaria, that say in the pride and presumption of the heart.

10 The briches are fallen, but wee will build it with hewen stones: the wilde figge trees are cut downe, but wee will change them into cedars.

11 Reuerthelesse, the Lord will raise vp the aduersaries of Rezin against him, and ioyne his enemies together.

12 Aram before, and the Philistims behinde, and they shall deuoure Israel with open mouth: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

13 For the people turneth not vnto him that smiteth them, neither do they seeke the Lord of hostes.

14 Therefore will the Lord cut off fro Israel head & raffe, branch and rush in one day.

15 The ancient and the honourable man, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies he is the taile.

16 For the leaders of the people cause them to erre: and they that are led by them are deuoured.

17 Therefore shall the Lord haue no pleasure in their young men, neither will hee haue compassion of their fatherlesse and of their widowes: for every one is an hypocrite and wicked, and euery mouth speaketh folly: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

18 For wickednesse burneth as a fire: it deuoureth the hyers and the thornes, and will kindle in the thicke places of the forest: and they shall mount vp like the lifting vp of smoke.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hosts shall the land be darkened, and the people shall be as the meate of the fire: no man shall spare his brother.

20 And he shall snatch at the right hand, and be hungry: and hee shall eat on the left hand, and shall not be satisfied: euery one shall eat the flesh of his owne arme.

21 Manasseh Ephraim: and Ephraim Manasseh, and they both shall be against Iudah: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

2 Of wicked lawmakers. 5 God will punish his people by the Assyrians, and after destroy them. 21 The remnant of Israel shall be saved.

W De vnto them that decree wicked decrees, and write grievous things, To keepe backe the poore from iudgement, and to take away the iudgement of the poore of my people, that widowes may be their pray, and that they may spoyle the fatherlesse.

3 What wil ye doe now in the day of visitation, and of destruction, which shall come from farre? to whom will ye flee for helpe: and where will ye leaue your glory?

4 Without me euery one shall fall among them that are bound, and they shall fall down among the slaine: yet for all this his wrath is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

5 O Assyur, the rod of my wrath: and the staffe in their hands is mine indignation.

6 I will send him to a dissembling nation, and I will giue him a charge against the people of my wrath to take the spoyle and to take the pray, and to tread them vnder feete like the mire in the streete.

7 But he thinketh not so, neither doeth his heart esteeme it so: but hee imagineth to destroy, and to cut off not a few nations.

8 For he saith, Are not my princes altogether kings?

9 Is not Calno as Carchemish? Is not Hamath like Arpad? Is not Samaria as Damascus?

10 Like as mine hand hath found the kingdomes of the idoles, seeing their idoles were aboute Ierusalem, and aboute Samaria.

11 Shall not I, as I haue done to Samaria, and to the idoles thereof, so doe to Ierusalem, and to the idoles thereof?

12 But when the Lord hath accomplished all his worke vpon mount Zion and Ierusalem, I will visit the fruit of the proud heart: of the king of Assyur, and his glorious and proud lookes.

13 Because hee saide, By the power of mine owne hand haue I done it, and by my wisdom, because I am wise: therefore I haue remooued the borders of the people, and haue spoyled their treasures, and haue pulled downe the inhabitants like a valiant man.

14 And mine hand hath found as a nest the riches of the people, and as one gathereth egges that are left, so haue I gathered all the earth: and there was none to moue the wing, or to open the mouth, or to whisper.

15 Shall the axe boast it selfe against their own malice, it is the work of the deuil. g Seeing that I haue overcome as well one citie as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine hands? h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people (for hee beginneth at his owne house) then will he burne the rodde, i Meaning, of Saneherib.

k Here we see that no creature is able to do any thing but as God appointeth him, and that they are all but his instruments: to do his worke, though the intentions be diuers, as verse 6.

b To wit, from Assyria.

c Your riches and authoritie, that they may be safe, and that ye may receiue them againe.

d Because they haue forsaken me, some shall go into captiuitie, and the rest shall be slaine.

e God calleth for the Assyrians to bee the executioners of his vengeance.

f That is, the Assyrians against the Iewes, which are but hypocrites: and in this sixt and seuenth verse is declared the difference of the worke of God, and of the wicked in one very thing and act: for Gods intention is to chastise them for their amendment, and the Assyrians purpose is to destroy them to enrich themselves: thus in respect of Gods iustice, it is Gods worke, but in respect of Seeing that I haue overcome as well one citie as another, so that none could resist, shall Ierusalem be able to escape mine hands? h When he hath sufficiently chastised his people (for hee beginneth at his owne house) then will he burne the rodde, i Meaning, of Saneherib.

him that beweth therewith? or shall the saw exalt it selfe against him that moueth it? as if the rod should lift vp it selfe against him that taketh it vp, or the staffe should exalt it selfe, as it were no wood.

16 Therefore shall the Lord God of hosts send among his sac men leannes, and vnder his glory hee shall kindle a burning, like the burning of fire.

17 And the light of Israel shall bee as a fire, and the Holy one thereof as a flame, and it shall burne and deuoure his thornes, and his briers in one day:

18 And shall consume the glory of his forest, & of his fruitfull fields both soule and flesh: and hee shall bee as the fainting of a standard bearer.

19 And the rest of the trees of his forest shall be few, that a child may tell them.

20 And at that day shall the remnant of Israel, & such as are escaped of the house of Iakob, stay no more vpon him that smote them, but shall stay vpon the Lord, the Holy one of Israel in trueth:

21 The remnant shall returne, euen the remnant of Iakob vnto the mighty God.

22 For though thy people, O Israel, be as the land of the Sea, yet shall the remnant of them returne. The consumption I decreed shall ouerflow with righteousness.

23 For the Lord God of hosts shall make the consumption, euen determined in the midst of all the land.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of hosts, O my people that dwellest in Zion, be not afraid of Asshur: he shall smite thee with a rod, and shall lift vp his staffe against thee after the manner of Egypt:

25 But yet a very little time, & the wrath shall be consumed, and mine anger in their destruction.

26 And the Lord of hosts shall raise vp a scourge for him, according to the plague of Midian in the rocke Dreb: and as his staffe was vpon the Sea, so he will lift it vp after the manner of Egypt.

27 And at that day shall his burden bee taken away from off thy shoulder, and his yoke from off thy necke: and the yoke shall be destroyed because of the anointing.

28 He is come y to Aiarh, he is passed in to Migron: at Michmash shall hee lay vp his armour.

29 They haue gone ouer the ford: they lodged in the lodging at Geba: Ramah is afraid, Gibeah of Saul is fled away.

30 Lift vp thy voice, O daughter Gallim, cause Laish to heare. O poore Anathoth.

31 Madmenah is remoued: the inhabitants of Gebim haue gathered themselves together.

32 Yet there is a time that hee will stay at Bēb: hee shall lift vp his hand toward the mount of the daughter Zion, the hill of Ierusalem.

33 Behold, the Lord God of hosts shall cut off the bough with feare, and they of high stature shall be cut off, and high the shall be humbled.

34 And hee shall cut away the thicke places of the forest with yron, and Lebanon shall haue a mighty fall.

CHAP. XL.

1 Christ borne of the roots of Iſhai. 2 His vertues and kingdome. 6 The fruits of the Gospel. 10 The calling of the Gentiles.

At there shall come a rod forth of the stocke of Iſhai, and a graffe shall grow out of his rootes.

2 And the Spirit of the Lord shall rest vpon him: the Spirit of wisdom and vnderstanding, the Spirit of counsell and strength, the Spirit of knowledge, and of the feare of the Lord,

3 And shall make him prudent in the feare of the Lord: for hee shall not iudge after the sight of his eyes, neither reſpoue by the hearing of his eares.

4 But with righteousness shall he iudge the poore, and with equitie shall he reſpoue for the meeke of the earth: and he shall unite the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips shall hee slay the wicked.

5 And iustice shall bee the girdle of his loynes, and faithfullnesse the girdle of his reines.

6 The Wolfe also shall dwell with the Lambe, and the Leopard shall lie with the Kidde, and the Calfe and the Lion, and the fat beast together, and a little child shall lead them.

7 And the Cow, and the Beare shall feed: their young ones shall lie together: and the Lion shall eat straw like the bullocke.

8 And the sucking child shall play vpon the hole of the Alpe, & the weaned child shall put his hand vpon the Cockatrice hole.

9 Then shall none hurt nor destroy in all the mounting of mine holinesse: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters that conuer the sea.

10 And in that day the roote of Iſhai, which shall stand by for a signe vnto the people, the nations shall seeke vnto it, and his rest shall be glorious.

11 And in the same day shall the Lord stretch out his hand againe the second time to possesse the remnant of his people (which shall be left) of Asshur, and of Egypt, and of Pathros, and of Ethiopia, and of Elam, and of Shinear, and of Hamath, and of the ples of the sea.

12 And he shall set by a signe to the nations, and assemble the disperſed of Israel, and gather the scattered of Iudah from the foure corners of the world.

x Because of the promise made to that Kingdome, whereby Christs Kingdome was prefigured.

y He describeth by what way the Assyrians should come against Ierusalem, to consume the faithful when it should come to passe, that as their plague was come, so should they be deliuered.

z Feare and destruction shall come vpon Iudah: for the Princes and the people shall all be led away captiues.

a Because the captiuitie of Babylon was a figure of the spirituall captiuitie vnder sinne, hee sheweth that our true deliuerance must come by Christ: for as David came out of Iſhai a man without dignity, so Christ should come of a poore carpenters house, as out of a dead stock, chap. 53. a b All these properties can agree to none but only vnto Christ: for it is he that toucheth the hearts of the faithful, and mortifieth their concupiscences:

& to the wicked he is the fauour of death, and to them that shall perish: so that all the world shall be smitten with this rod, which is his word.

c Men because of their wicked affections are named by y names of beasts, wherein the like affections reigne: but Christ by his Spirit shall reforme them, and worke in them such mutual charity, that they shall be like lambs fauouring and louing one another, and cast off all their cruell affections, Chap. 65. 25. d It shall bee in as great abundance as the waters in the Sea.

e Hee prophecieth of the calling of the Gentiles. f That is, his Church, which he also calleth his rest, Psal. 132. 4.

g For God first deliuered his people out of Egypt, and now promiſeth to deliuer them out of their enemies hands, as from the Parthians, Persians, Caldeans, and them of Antiochia, among whom they were disperſed: and this is chiefly meant of Christ, who calleth his people, being disperſed through all the world.

h Here he describeth the consent that shall be in his Church, and their victory against their enemies.

i Meaning, a corner of the sea that entrencheth into the land; & hath the forme of a tongue.

k To wit, Nilus the great river of Egypt, which entrencheth into the sea with seven streames.

13 The hatred also of Ephraim shall depart, and the aduersaries of Iudah shall be cut off: Ephraim shall not enuie Iudah, neither shall Iudah beere Ephraim:

14 But they shall slee vpon the shoulders of the Philistines toward the West: they shall spoile them of the East together: Edom and Moab shall be the stretching out of their hands, and the childzen of Ammon in their obedience.

15 The Lord also shall utterly destroy the tongue of the Egyptians sea, and with his mighty winde shall lift vp his hand ouer the riner, and shall saue him in his seven streames, and cause men to walke therein with shooes.

16 And there shall be a path to the remnant of his people, which are left of Ashur, like as it was vnto Israel in the day that he came vp out of the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XII.

A thankesgiuing of the faithfull for the mercies of God.

a He sheweth how the Church shall praise God, when they are deliuered from their captiuitie.

b Our saluation standeth onely in God, who giueth vs an assured confidence, constancie and occasion to praise him for the same.

Exod. 15. 2.

p Al. 118. 14. c The graces of God shall be so abundant, that ye may receiue them in as great plentie, as waters out of a fountaine that is full.

d Ye that are of the Church.

And thou shalt say in that day, O Lord, I will praise thee: though thou wast angry with me, thy wrath is turned away, and thou comfortest me.

2 Behold, God is my saluation: I will trust, and will not feare: for the Lord God is my strength and long: hee also is become my saluation.

3 Therefore with joy shall ye draw waters out of the wells of saluation.

4 And ye shall say in that day, Praise the Lord: call vpon his Name: declare his workes among the people: make mention of them, for his Name is exalted.

5 Sing vnto the Lord, for he hath done excellent things: this is knowne in all the world.

6 Cry out and shout, O inhabitant of Zion: for great is the Holy one of Israel in the mids of thee.

CHAP. XIII.

The Medes and Persians shall destroy Babylon.

The burden of Babel, which Isaiah the sonne of Amoz did see.

2 Lift vp a standard vpon the hie mountaine: lift vp the voice vnto them: wagge the hand, that they may goe into the gates of the nobles.

3 I haue commanded them that I haue sanctified: and I haue called the mighty to my wrath; and them that reioyce in my glory.

4 The noyse of a multitude is in the mountaines like a great people: a tumultuous voyce of the kingdomes of the nations a That is, the great calamity, which was prophesied to come on Babel as a most grievous burden which they were not able to beare. In these twelue chapters following he speaketh of the plagues wherewith God would smite these strange nations (whom they knew) to declare that God chastised the Israelite as his children, and these others as his enemies: and also that if God spare not these that be ignorant, that they must not thinke strange if hee punished them which haue knowledge of his law, & keepe it not. b To wit, to the Medes and the Persians c That is, prepared & appointed to execute my iudgements. d Which willingly goe about the worke whereunto I appoint them, but how the wicked doe this, reade Chap. 10. 6.

gathered together: the Lord of hostes numbereth the holte of the battell.

5 They come from a farre countrey, from the end of the heauen: even the Lord with the weapons of his wrath to destroy the whole land.

6 Howle you, for the day of the Lord is at hand: it shall come as a destroyer from the Almighty.

7 Therefore shall all hands be weakened, and all mens hearts shall melt:

8 And they shall be afraid: anguish and sorrow shall take them, & they shall haue paine, as a woman that travaileth: every one shall be amazed at his neighbour, and their faces shall be like flames of fire.

9 Behold, the day of the Lord commeth, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger to lay the land waste: and he shall destroy the sinners out of it.

10 For the starres of heauen, and the planets thereof shall not giue their light: the Sunne shall be darkened in his going forth, and the Moone shall not cause her light to shine.

11 And I will visite the wickednes vpon the world, and their iniquity vpon the wicked, and I will cause the arrogancie of the proud to cease, & will cast downe the pride of tyrants.

12 I will make a man more precious then fine gold, euen a man about the wedge of gold of Ophir.

13 Therefore I will shake the heauen, and the earth shall remoue out of her place in the wrath of the Lord of hostes, and in the day of his fierce anger.

14 And it shall be as a chased Doe, and as a sheepe that no man taketh vp: every man shall turne to his owne people, and flee each one to his owne land.

15 Every one that is found, shall be stricken thorow, and whosoever toynerh himself, shall fall by the sword.

16 Their children also shall be broken in pieces before their eyes: their houses shall be spoiled, and their wines ranshed.

17 Behold, I will stirre vp the Medes against them, which shall not regard silver, nor be desirous of gold.

18 With bowes also shall they destroy the childzen, and shall haue no compassion vpon the fruit of the wombe, and their eyes shall not spare the childzen.

19 And Babel the glory of kingdomes, the beauty and pride of the Caldeans shall bee as the destruction of Sodom in Sodom and Gomorrah.

20 It shall not be inhabited for euer, neither shall it be dwelled in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch his tents there, neither shall the shepherds make their folds there.

21 But Zifin shall lodge there, and their houses shall be full of Ostriches: ostriches shall dwell there, and the Satyres shall daunce there.

1 The returne of the people from captivity. 4 The derision of the king of Babylon. 11 The death of the king. 29 The destruction of the Philistines.

a He sheweth why God will haste to destroy his enemies: to wit, because he will deliuer his Church.

b Meaning, that the Gentiles shall be ioyned with the Church, and worship God.

c Signifying, that the Iewes should be superiorto the Gentiles, & that they should be brought vnder the seruice of Christ by the preaching of the Apostles, whereby all are brought to the subiection of Christ, 2. Cor. 10. 1.

d That is, he suffered all violence and iniuries to be done.

e Meaning, that when tyrants reigne, there can be no rest nor quietnesse, and also how detestable a thing tyranny is, seeing the insensible creatures haue occasion to reioyce at their destruction.

f As though they feared, lest thou shouldst trouble the dead, as thou didst the liuing: and here he derideth the proud tyranny of the wicked, which know not that all creatures

And the Lord will haue compassion of Iacob, and will yet chuse Israel, and cause them to rest in their owne land: & the stranger shall ioyne himselfe vnto them, and they shall cleaue to the house of Iacob.

2 And the people shall receiue them, and bring them to their owne place, & the house of Israel shall possesse them in the land of the Lord, for seruants and handmaydes: and they shall take them prisoners, whose captiues they were, and haue rule ouer their oppressours.

3 And in that day when the Lord shall giue thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy feare, and from the sore bondage, wherein thou didst serue,

4 Then shalt thou take by this prouerbe against the king of Babel, & say, How hath the oppressour ceased: and the gold chaine Babel rested?

5 The Lord hath broken the rod of the wicked, and the scepter of the rulers:

6 Which smote the people in anger with a continuall plague, and ruled the nations in wrath: if any were persecuted, hee did not let.

7 The whole world is at rest and is quiet: they sing for ioy.

8 Also the firre trees reioyced of thee, and the cedars of Lebanon, saying, Since thou art layd downe, no better came vpon against vs.

9 Well beneath is moued for thee to make thee at thy coming, raising by the dead for thee, euen al the princes of the earth, and hath raised from their thrones all the kings of the nations.

10 All they shall cry, and say vnto thee, Art thou become weake also as we: art thou become like vnto vs?

11 Thy pompe is brought downe to the graue, and the sound of thy viols: the womme is spread vnder thee, and the wommes couer thee.

12 How art thou fallen from heauen, O Lucifer, sonne of the morning: and cut downe to the ground, which didst cast lots vpon the nations?

13 Yet thou saydest in thine heart, I will ascend into heauen, and exalt my throne aboue beside the starres of God: I will sit also vpon the mount of the Congregation in the sides of the North.

14 I will ascend into the North, and will be as the North.

15 I will ascend into the North, and will be as the North.

16 I will ascend into the North, and will be as the North.

17 I will ascend into the North, and will be as the North.

14 I will ascend aboue the height of the cloudes, and I will be like the most high.

15 But thou shalt be brought downe to the graue, to the sides of the pit.

16 They that see thee shall looke vpon thee, & consider thee, saying, Is this the man that made the earth to tremble, and that did shake the Kingdomes?

17 Hee made the world as a wilderness, and destroyed the cities thereof, and opened not the house of his prisoners.

18 All the kings of the Nations, euen they all sleepe in glory: euerie one in his own house.

19 But thou art cast out of thy graue like an abominable branch, like the rayment of those that are slaine, and thrust thorow with a sword: which goe downe to the stones of the pit, as a carkeise troden vnder feete.

20 Thou shalt not be ioyned with them in the graue, because thou hast destroyed thine owne land, and slaine thy people: the seede of the wicked shall not be renowned for euer.

21 Prepare a slaughter for his children, for the iniquity of their fathers: let them not rise vp, nor possesse the land, nor fill the face of the world with enemies.

22 For I will rise vp against them (saith the Lord of hostes) and will cut off from Babel the name and the remnant, and the sonne and the nephew, saith the Lord.

23 And I will make it a possession to the hedgehog, and pooles of water, and I will sweepe it with the besome of destruction, saith the Lord of hostes.

24 The Lord of hostes hath sworne, saying, Surely like as I haue purposed, so shall it come to passe, and as I haue consulted, it shall stand:

25 That I will breake to pieces Asshur in my land, and vpon my mountaines will I tread him vnder foote: so that his yoke shall depart from them, and his burden shall be taken from off their shoulder.

26 This is the counsell that is consulted vpon the whole world, and this is the hand stretched out ouer all the nations,

27 Because the Lord of hostes hath determined it, and who shall disannull it: and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turne it away?

28 In the yere that king Abaz died, was this a burden:

29 Reioyce not (thou whole Palestina) because the rod of him that did beate thee, is broken: for out of the serpents root shall come forth a cockatrice, and the fruit thereof shall be a fiery flying serpent.

30 For the first borne of the poore shall be fed, and the needie shall lie downe in safetie: and I will kill thy roote with famine, and it shall slay thy remnant.

31 Howle, O gate, cry, O city: thou whole land of Palestina art dissolued, for there shall come from the North a smoke, & none shall be alone at his time appointed.

32 That is, from the Iewes or Assyrians: for they were both North from Palestina. x But they shall be all ready and ioyned together.

c The Moabites shall flee to their idoles for succour, but it shall bee too late.

d Which were cities of Moab.

e For as in the West parts the people vsed to let their haire grow long when they mourned, so in the East parts they cut it off.

f The Prophet speaketh this in the person of the Moabites, or as one that felt the great iudgement of God that should come vpon them.

g Meaning, that it was a citie that euer liued in pleasure and neuer felt sorrow.

h He describeth the miserable dissipation and flight of the Moabites.

i To hide themselves and their goods there. k Of them that are slaine. l So that by no meanes they should escape the hand of God: thus wil God punish the enemies of his Church.

CHAP. XVI.

The causes wherefore the Moabites are destroyed.

a That is, offer a sacrifice: whereby he derideth their long delay, which would not repent when the Lord called the, shewing them that it is now too late, seeing y vengeance of God is vpon them.

b There is no remedy but you must flee.

c He sheweth what Moab should haue done, when Israel their neighbour was in affliction, to whom because they would giue no shadow nor comfort, they are now left comfortles. d The Assyrians shall oppresse the Israelites, but for a while.

z z What shall then one answer the messengers of the Gentiles? That the Lord hath established Zion, and the poore of his people shall trust in it.

The burden of Moab. Surely Ar of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night: surely Kir of Moab was destroyed, and brought to silence in a night.

2 We shall goe by to the Temple, and to Dibon to the hie places to weepe: for Nebo and for Medeba shall Moab howle: vpon all their heads shall be baldnes, and euerie beard shauen.

3 In their streetes shall they bee girded with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streetes euerie one shall howle, and come downe with weeping.

4 And Heshbon shall cry, and Elealeh: their voyce shall be heard vnto Jahaz: therefore the warriours of Moab shall shoute: the soule of euerie one shall lament in himselfe.

5 Mine heart shall cry for Moab: his fugitiues shall flee vnto Zoar: an heifer of three yeere old: for they shall go by with weeping by the mounting vp of Luhith: and by the way of Horonaim they shall raise vp a cry of destruction.

6 For the waters of Dimon shall be dried up: therefore the grasse is withered, the herbs consumed, and there was no greene herbe.

7 Therefore what euerie man hath left, and their substance shall they beare to the brooke of the willowes.

8 For the cry went round about the borders of Moab: and the howling thereof vnto Eglain, and the shrieking thereof vnto Beer Elim.

9 Because y waters of Dimon shall be full of blood: for I wil bring more vpon Dimon, then Lyons vpon him that escapeth of Moab, and to the remnant of the land.

Destroyer shall be consumed, and the oppressor shall cease out of the land.

5 And in mercy shall the throne be prepared, and he shall sit vpon it in steadfastnesse, in the Tabernacle of Dauid, iudging, and seeking iudgement, and hastening iustice.

6 We haue heard of the pride of Moab, (he is very proud) euen his pride and his arrogancie, and his indignation, but his let shall not be so.

7 Therefore shall Moab howle vnto Moab: euerie one shall howle: for the foundations of Kir-hareseth shall ye mourne, yet they shall be stricken.

8 For the vineyards of Heshbon are cut downe, and the vine of Sibmah: the lords of the heathen haue broken the principall vines thereof: they are come vnto Jaazer: they wandred in the wilderness: her goodly branches stretched out themselves, and went ouer the sea.

9 Therefore wil I weepe with the weeping of Jaazer, and of the vine of Sibmah, O Heshbon: and Elealeh. I will make thee drunke with my teares, because vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon thy harvest a shouting is fallen.

10 And gladnesse is taken away, and ioy out of the plentifull field: and in the vineyards shall bee no singing nor shouting for ioy: the treader shall not tread wine in the wine presses: I haue caused the reioycing to cease.

11 Therefore, my bowels shall sound like an harpe for Moab, and mine inward parts for Kir-hareseth.

12 And when it shall appeare that Moab shall be weary of his hie places, then shall he come to his temple to pray, but he shall not preuaile.

13 This is the word that the Lord hath spoken against Moab since that time.

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying, In three yeeres, as the yeeres of an hireling, and the glory of Moab shall be contemned in all the great multitude, and the remnant shall be very small and feeble.

n They shall vse all meanes to seeke helpe of their idoles, and all in vaine: for Chemoz their great god shall not be able to helpe them. o He appointed a certaine time to punish the enemies in. p Who will obserue iustly the time, for the which he is hired, and serue no longer, but will euer long for it.

A prophetic of the destruction of Damascus, and Ephraim. 7 Calamitie mooueth to repentance.

The burden of Damascus. Behold, a citie, for it shall be a ruinous heape.

2 The cities of Aroer shall be forsaken: they shall be for the flocks: for they shall lie there, and none shall make them afraid.

3 The munition also shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdome from Damascus, and the remnant of Aram shall bee as the glory of the children of Israel, declaring the destruction of these two kings of Syria & Israel, when as they had conspired the ouerthrow of Iudah. e The ten tribes gloried in their multitude, & alliance with other nations: therefore he saith that they shall be brought downe, and the Syrians also.

e Meaning, Christ.

f Their vaine confidence and proud brags shall deceiue them, as Iere 48.3.

g For all your mourning, yet the citie shall be destroyed euen vnto the foundations.

h That is, the Assyrians, and other enemies.

i Meaning, that the countrey of Moab was now destroyed, and all y precious things thereof were carried into the borders, yea into other countreys, and ouer the sea.

4 And in that day the glory of Jacob shall be impoverished, and the fatness of his flesh shall be made lean.

5 And it shall be as when the harvest man gathereth the corne, and reapeth the eares with his arme, and he shall be as he that gathereth the eares in the valley of Rephaim.

6 Yet a gathering of grapes shall be left in it as the shaking of an Olive tree, two or three berries are in the toppe of the vniuersal boughes, and foure or fise in the high branches of the fruit thereof, saith the Lord God of Israel.

7 At that day shall a man looke to his Maker, and his eyes shall looke to the Holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not looke to the altars, the workes of his owne hands, neither shall hee looke to those things which his owne fingers haue made, as grones and images.

9 In that day shall the cities of their strength be as the forsaking of boughes and branches, which they did forsake, because of the children of Israel, and there shall be desolation.

10 Because thou hast forgotten the God of thy saluation, and hast not remembered the God of thy strength, therefore shalt thou set pleasant plants, & shalt graffe strange vine branches.

11 In the day shalt thou make the plaint to grow, and in the morning shalt thou make thy seede to flourish: but the harvest shall be gone in the day of possession, and there shall be desperate sorrow.

12 Ah, the multitude of many people, they shall make a sound like the noise of the sea: for the noise of the people shall make a sound like the noise of many waters.

13 The people shall make a sound like the noise of many waters, but God shall rebuke them, and they shall flee farre off, and shall be chased as the chaffe of the mountaines before the wind, and as a rowling thing before the whirlewind.

4 For so the Lord said vnto me, I will rest, and behold in my tabernacle, as the heat dyping by the raine, and as a cloude of death in the heat of harvest.

5 For afore the harvest, when the floure is finished, and the fruite is riping in the floure, then he shall cut downe the branches with hookes, and shall take away, and cut off the boughes.

6 They shall be left together vnto the foules of the mountaines, and to the beasts of the earth: for the foule shall summer vpon it, and euery beast of the earth shall winter vpon it.

7 At that time shall a present be brought vnto the Lord of hosts, (a people that is scattered abroad, and spoiled, and of a terrible people from their beginning hitherto, a nation by little and little euē troden vnder foot, whose land the rivers haue spoiled) to the place of the Name of the Lord of hosts, euē the mount Zion.

1 The deliuerance of the Egyptians by the Assyrians. 18 Of their conuersion to the Lord.

The burden of Egypt. Behold, the Lord rideth vpon a swift cloude, and shall come into Egypt, and the idoles of Egypt shall bee moued at his presence, and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the middes of her.

2 And I will set the Egyptians against the Egyptians: so euery one shall fight against his brother, and euery one against his neighbour, citie against citie, and kingdome against kingdome.

3 And the spirit of Egypt shall faile in the middes of her, and I will destroy their counsell, and they shall seeke at the idoles, and at the sojourners, and at them that haue spirits of diuination, and at the soothsayers.

4 And I will deliuer the Egyptians into the hand of cruell lords, and a mighty king shall rule ouer them, saith the Lord God of hosts.

7 And he will destroy in this mountaine the covering that covereth all people, and the baile that is spread vpon all nations.

8 Hee will destroy death for euer: and the Lord God will wipe away the teares from all faces, and the rebuke of his people will he take away out of all the earth: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 And in that day shall men say, Lo, this is our God: we haue waited for him, and he will saue vs. This is the Lord, we haue waited for him: we will reioyce and be ioyfull in his saluation.

10 For in this mountaine shall the hand of the Lord rest, and Moab shall be threshed vnder him, euen as strawe is threshed in Madmenah.

He p: ophesieth here of the destruction of Satan & his kingdome vnder the name of Leuiathan, As hur, and Egypt.

c Meaning, of the best wine which this vineyard, that is, the Church should bring forth as most agreeable to the Lord.

d Therefore he will destroy the kingdome of Satan, because he loueth his Church for his owne mercies sake, and cannot be angry with it, but wisheth that he may powre his anger vpon the wicked infidels, w: on he meaneth by briers and thornes.

e He marueileth that Israel will not come by gentleness except God make them to feel this rods, & so bring them vnto him.

h That is, thou wilt destroy the roote of thy Church, though the branches thereof seeme to perish by the sharpe winde of affliction.

i He sheweth that there is no true repentance, nor full reconciliation to God, till the heart be purged from all idolatrie, and the monuments thereof destroyed.

k Notwithstanding his fauour that he will shew them after: yet Ierusalem shall be destroyed, and grass for cattell shall grow in it.

4 Anger is not in me: who would set the briers and the thornes against me in battell? I would goe thow them, I would burne them together.

5 I will be secke my strength, that hee may make peace with me, and be at one with mee.

6 Hereafter, Iacob shall take roote: Israel shall flourish and grow, and the world shall be filled with fruit.

7 With hee smitten him as hee smote those that smote him: or is he slaine according to the slaughter of them that were slaine by him?

8 In measure in the branches thereof wilt thou contend with it, when he bloweth with his rough winde in the day of the East winde.

9 By this therefore shall the iniquitie of Iacob be purged, and this is all the fruit, the taking away of his sinne: when he shall make all the stones of the altars, as chalke stones broken in pieces, that the stones and images may not stand vp.

10 Yet the defenced cite shall bee desolate, and the habitation shall be forsaken and left like a wilderness. There shall the calfe feede, and there shall he lie, and consume the branches thereof.

11 When the boughes of it are dry, they shall bee broken: the women come and set them on fire: for it is a people of none vnderstanding: therefore he that made them shall not haue compassion on them, and hee that formed them, shall haue no mercie on them.

12 And in that day shall the Lord thrust from the chanell of the River vnto the river of Egypt, and ye shall bee gathered

Against the pride and drunkenesse of Israel, 9 The untowardnesse of them that should learne the word of God. 24 God doeth all things in time and place.

W De to the crowne of pride, the drunkards of Ephraim: for his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that bee fat, and are overcome with wine.

2 Behold, the Lord hath a mighty and strong hoste, like a tempest of hayle, and a whirlewind that ouerthroweth, like a tempest of mightie waters that ouerflow, which throw to the ground mightily.

3 They shall be troden vnder foote, euen the crowne and the pride of the drunkards of Ephraim.

4 For his glorious beautie shall be a fading floure, which is vpon the head of the valley of them that be fat, and as the haffe fruit afore summer, which when he that looketh vpon it, seeth it, while it is in his hand he eateth it.

5 In that day shall the Lord of hostes be for a crowne of glorie, and for a diademe of beautie vnto the residue of his people:

6 And for a spirit of iudgement to him that siteth in iudgement, and for strength vnto them that turne away the battell to the gate.

7 But they haue erred because of wine, and are out of the way by strong drinke: the Priest and the Prophet haue erred by strong drinke, they are swallowed by with wine: they haue gone astray through strong drinke: they faile in vision: they stumble in iudgement.

8 For all their tables are full of filthie vomiting: no place is cleaue.

9 Whom shall hee teach knowledge? and whom shall hee make to vnderstand the things that he heareth? them that are weaned from the milke, and drawn from the breasts.

10 For precept must be vpon precept, precept vpon precept, line vnto line, line vnto line, there a little, and there a little.

11 For with a stammering tongue, and with a strange language shall he speake vnto this people.

12 Vnto whom hee said, This is the owne gates. g Meaning the hypocrites, which were among them, and were altogether corrupt in life & doctrine, which is here meant by drunkenesse and vomiting. h For there was none that was able to vnderstand any good doctrine, but were foolish, and as vnmeet as young babes. i They must haue one thing oft times told. k Let one teach what he can, yet they shall no more vnderstand him, then if he spake in a strange language. l That is the Prophet, whome God should send. m This is the doctrine whereupon ye ought to stay and rest.

n In the time of Cyrus by whom they should be deliuered: but this was chiefly accomplished vnder Christ.

C H A P. XXX.

1 He reproveth the Iewes which in their aduersity used their owne counsell, 2 And sought helpe of the Egyptians, 10 Despisig the Prophets, 16 Therefore hee sheweth what destruction shall come vpon them 18 But offereth mercy to the repentant.

spirit of slumber, and hath shut by your eyes: the Prophets, and your chiefe Seers hath be couered.

11 And the vision of them all is become vnto you, as the wordes of a Booke that is sealed by, which they deliuer to one that can reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. Then shall hee say, I can not: for it is sealed.

12 And the Booke is giuen vnto him that cannot reade, saying, Reade this, I pray thee. And hee shall say, I cannot reade.

13 Therefore the Lord said, Because this people ^k come neere vnto mee with their mouth, and honour mee with their lippes, but haue remooued their heart farre from me, and their ^l feare toward me was taught by the precept of men.

14 Therefore behold, I will againe doe a marueilous worke in this people, euen a marueilous worke, and a wonder: for the wisdom of their wise men shall ^m perish, and the vnderstanding of their prudent men shall be hid.

15 Crie vnto them that ⁿ seeke deepe to hide their counsell from the Lord: for their workes are in darkenesse, and they say, Who seeth vs? and who knoweth vs?

16 Your turning of deuices shall it not be esteemed ^o as the potters clay? for shall the worke say of him that made it, Wee made me not? or the thing formed, say of him that fashioned it, We had none vnderstanding?

17 Is it not yet but a litle while, and Lebanon shall bee ^p turned into Carmel? and Carmel shall be counted as a forest?

18 And in that day shall the deafe heare the wordes of the booke, and the eyes of the blinde shall see out of obscuritie, and out of darkenesse.

19 The merke in the Lord shall receiue toy againe, and the poore men shall reioyce in the holy one of Israel.

20 For the cruel man shall cease, and the scornfull shall be consumed: and all that ha- sted to iniquity shall be cut off:

21 Which made a man to sinne in the ^q word, andooke him in a snare: which re- proued them in the gate, and made the iust to fall without cause.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Iaakob, euen hee that redee- med Abraham, Iaakob shall not now bee confounded, neither now shall his face bee pale.

23 But when hee seeth his children, the worke of mine handes, in the mids of him they shall sanctifie my Name, and sanctifie the holy one of Iaakob, and shall feare the God of Israel.

24 Then they that erred in spirit, shall haue vnderstanding, and they that murmu- red shall learne doctrine.

WDe to the rebellions children, saith the Lord, that take counsell, but not of mee, and ^r couer with a conering, but not by my spirit, that they may lay sinne vpon sinne:

2 Which walke forth to go downe into Egypt (and haue not asked at my mouth) to strengthen themselves with the strength of Pharaoh, and trust in the shadow of Egypt.

3 But the strength of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and the trust in the shadow of Egypt, your confusion.

4 For his ^s Princes were at Ioan, and his Ambassadors came vnto Ipanes.

5 They shall bee all ashamed of the peo- ple that cannot profite them, nor helpe nor doe them good, but shall be a shame and also a reproch.

6 The ^t burden of the beastes of the South, in a land of trouble and anguish, from whence shall come the yong and old ty- on, the viper, and fierie flying serpent against them that shall beare their riches vpon the shoulders of the colts, and their treasures vpon the bunches of the camels, to a people that cannot profit.

7 For the Egyptians are vanitie, and they shall helpe in vaine. Therefore haue I cryed vnto ^u her, Their strength is to sit still.

8 Now goe, and write it before them in a table, and note it in a booke, that it may be for the ^v last day for euer and euer.

9 That it is a rebellious people, lying children, and children that would not ^w heare the Law of the Lord.

10 Which say vnto the Seers, See not: and to the Prophets, Prophesie not vnto vs right things: but speake flattering things vnto vs: prophesie ^x errors.

11 Depart out of the way: goe aside out of the path: cause the holy One of Israel to cease from vs.

12 Therefore thus saith the holy One of Israel, Because yee haue cast off this word, and trust in ^y violence and wickednesse, and stay thereupon,

13 Therefore this iniquitie shall be vnto you as a breach that falleth, or a swelling in an hie wall, whose breaking cometh sud- denly in a moment.

14 And the breaking thereof is like the breaking of a Potters pott, which is broken without pittie, and in the break- ing thereof is not found ^z a sheard to take fire out of the hearth, or to take wa-

^d That is, a hea- uie sentence or prophesie against the beasts, that caried their trea- sures into Egypt, by the wilder- nesse, which was spared, the men should be pu- nished much more grievously.

^e To wit, to Ie- rusalem.

^f And not to come too and fro to seeke helpe.

^g That is, this prophesie,

^h That it may be a witnesse a- gainst them for all posteritie.

ⁱ He sheweth what was the cause of their destruction, and bringeth also all miserie to man: to wit, because they would not heare the word of God, but delighted to bee flattered and led in error. ^k Threaten vs not by the word of God, neither bee so rigorous, nor talke vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, as Ierem. 11. 11. ^l Meaning in their stub- burnesse against God, and the admonitions of his Prophets. ^m Signifying, that the destruction of the wicked shall be without recouerie.

ⁱ Meaning, that it is all alike ei- ther to read, or not to read, ex- cept God open the heart to vnderstand.

^k Because they are hypocrites and not sincere in heart, as Matth. 5. 8.

^l That is, their religion was lea- ned by mans doctrine, and not by my word.

^m Meaning, that whereas God is not worshipped according to his word, both ma- gistrates and mi- nisters are but fooles and with- out vnderstand- ing.

ⁿ This is spoken of them which in heart despised Gods word, and mocked at the admonitions, but outwardly bare a good face.

^o For all your craft, saith the Lord, you can- not be able to escape mine hands no more then the clay, that is in the potters hands, hath power to deliuer it selfe.

^p Shall there not be a change of al things? and Carmel, that is a plentiful place in respect of that it shall be then, may be taken as a forest, as Chap. 32. 15, and thus hee speaketh to comfort the faithfull.

^q They that went about to find fault with the Prophets words, and would not abide admonitions, but would entangle them & bring them into danger.

^r Signifying, that except God giue vnderstanding and know- ledge, man cannot but still erre and murmur against him.

n Oft times by his Prophets he put you in remembrance of this, that you should onely depend on him.

o We will trust to escape by our horses.

Or, instructor.

f God shall direct al thy wayes, and appoint thee how to goe either hither or thither.

t Yeshall cast away your idoles which you haue made of gold and siluer with all that belongeth vnto them, as a most filthie thing and polluted.

u Shewing, that there can be no true repentance, except both in heart and deed wee shew our felde enemies to idolatrie.

x By these diuers maners of speech hee sheweth that the felicity of the Church shall bee so great, that none is able sufficiently to expresse it.

y When the Church shall bee restored, the glory thereof shall passe seuen times the brightnes of the Sunne: for by the Sunne and Moone, which are two excellent creatures, he sheweth what shall bee the glory of the children of God in the kingdom of Christ. z This threatening is against the Assyrians, the chiefe enemies of the people of God.

ter out of the pit.

15 For thus said the Lord God, the holy One of Israel, In rest and quietnesse shall ye be saued: in quietnesse and in confidence shall be your strength, but ye would not.

16 For ye haue sayd, No, but we will flee away vpon horses. Therefore shall ye flee. We will ride vpon the swiftest. Therefore shall your persecuters be swifter.

17 A thousand as one shall flee at the rebuke of one: at the rebuke of fine shall yee flee, till yee be left as a shippe mast vpon the top of a mountaine, and as a beacon vpon an hill.

18 Yet therefore will the Lord wait, that hee may haue a mercie vpon you, and therefore will he be exalted, that he may haue compassion vpon you: for the Lord is the God of iudgement. Blessed are all they that wait for him.

19 Surely a people shall dwell in Zion, and in Ierusalem: thou shalt weepe no more: hee will certainly haue mercy vpon thee at the voyce of thy cry: when hee heareth thee, he will answer thee.

20 And when the Lord hath giuen you the bread of aduersitie, and the water of affliction, thy raine shall be no more kept backe, but thine eyes shall see thy raine.

21 And thine eares shall heare a word behind thee, saying, This is the way, walke yee in it, when thou turnest to the right hand, and when thou turnest to the left.

22 And yee shall pollute the covering of the images of siluer, and the rich ornament of thine images of gold, and cast them away as a menstruous cloth, and thou shalt say vnto it, Get thee hence.

23 Then shall he giue raine vnto thy seed, when thou shalt sow the ground, and bread of the increase of the earth, and it shall be fat, and as oyle: in that day shall thy cattell be fed in large pastures.

24 The oxen also and the yong asses, that till the ground, shall eate cleane prouender, which is winnowed with the shouel, and with the fanne.

25 And vpon every high mountaine, and vpon every high hill shall there be riuers and streames of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towres shall fall.

26 Moreover, the light of the Moone shall be as the light of the Sunne, and the light of the Sunne shall be seuen fold, and like the light of seuen dayes in the day that the Lord shall binde vp the breach of his people, and heale the stroke of their wound.

27 Behold, the Name of the Lord cometh from farre, his face is burning, and the burden thereof is heauie, his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a deuouring fire.

28 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto mee, as the lyon or lyons whelp roareth vpon his pray, against whom if a multitude of shepherds bee called, hee will not bee afrayd at their voyce, neither will he humble himselfe at their noyse: so shall they forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldly things: for they cannot trust in both.

28 And his Spirit is as a river that overfloweth vnto the necke: it diuidenth a slender, to fanne the nations with the fanne of vanitie, and there shall bee a hyde to a cause them to erre in the lawes of the people.

29 But there shall be a song vnto you as in the night, when a solenne feast is kept: by that meanes, and gladnesse of heart, as hee that commeth with a pipe to goe vnto the mount of the Lord, to the Mighty one of Israel.

30 And the Lord shall cause his glorious voyce to be heard, and shall declare the lighting downe of his arme, with the anger of his countenance, and flame of a deuouring fire, with scattering and tempest, and hailstones.

31 For with the voyce of the Lord shall Asshur be destroyed, which smote with the rod.

32 And in every place that the staffe shall passe, it shall cleaue fast, which the Lord shall lay vpon hym with tabrets and harps, and with bartels, & lifting up of hands shall he fight against it.

33 For Tophet is prepared of olde: it is euen prepared for the King: hee hath made it deepe and large: the burning thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord, like a river of brimstone, doeth kindle it.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Hee curseth them that forsake God, and seek for the helpe of men.

WDe vnto them that goe downe into Egypt for helpe, and stay vpon horses, and trust in charrets, because they are many, and in horsemen, because they bee very strong: but they looke not vnto the Holy one of Israel, nor seske vnto the Lord.

2 But he yet is wisest: therefore he will bring enill, & not turne backe his word, but he will arise against the house of the wicked, and against the helpe of them that worke vanitie.

3 Now the Egyptians are men, and not God, and their horses flesh, and not spirit: and when the Lord shall stretch out his hand, the helper shall fall, and hee that is holpen shall fall, and they shall altogether faile.

4 For thus hath the Lord spoken vnto mee, as the lyon or lyons whelp roareth vpon his pray, against whom if a multitude of shepherds bee called, hee will not bee afrayd at their voyce, neither will he humble himselfe at their noyse: so shall they forsake the Lord, that put their trust in worldly things: for they cannot trust in both.

7 For in that day, euery man shall cast out his idoles of siluer, and his idols of gold, which your hands haue made you, euen a sinne.

Behold, ^a a King shall reigne in iustice,
And the Princes shall rule ^b in iudgement.

2 And that man shall bee as an hiding place from the wind, and as a refuge for the tempest: as riuers of water in a dry place, and as the shadow of a great rocke in ^a a weary land.

3 The eyes of the ^d seeing shall not bee shut, and the eares of them that heare, shall hearken.

4 And the heart of the foolish shall vnderstand knowledge, and the tongue of the stutters shall bee ready to speake distinctly.

5 A niggard shall no more be called liberal, nor the churle rich.

6 But the niggard will speake of niggardnesse, and his heart will worke iniquitie, and doe wickedly, and speake falsely against the Lord, to make emptye the hungry soule, and to cause the drinke of the thirstie to faile.

7 For the weapons of the churle are wicked: hee deuileth wicked counsels, to vndo the poore with lying words, and to speake against the poore in iudgement.

The destruction of them by whom God hath punished his Church.

WDe to thee that spoilest, and wast a Meaning, the not spoiled: and doest wickedly enemies of the and they did not wickedly against thee: Church, as were when thou shalt cease to spoyle, thou the Caldeans, and shalt be spoiled: when thou shalt make an Assyrians: but chiefly of Sane-herib, but not only. b When thine appointed time shall come that God shall take away thy power, and that which thou hast wrongfully gotten, shall be given to others, as Amos 5. 11.

you to con-

the Church shall be restored: thus the Prophets after they haue denounced Gods

judgements against the wicked, vsē to comfort the godly, lest they should faint. l The field which is now fruitfull, shall be but as a barren Forrest in comparison of that it shall bee then, as Chap. 1. 9 17. which shall bee fulfilled in Christs time: for then they that were before as the barren wilderness, being regenerate, shall bee fruitfull, and they that had some beginning of godlinesse, shall bring forth fruites in such abundance, that their former life shall seeme but as a wilderness where no fruites were. m They shall not need to build it in high places for feare of the enemy: for God will defend it, and turne away the stormes from hurting of their commodities. n That is, vpon fat ground and well watered, which bringeth forth in abundance: or in places which before were covered with waters, and now made dry for your vses. o The fields shall bee so ranke, that they shall send out their cattell to eate vp the first crop, which abundance shall bee signes of Gods fauour and loue towards them.

c The caldeany shall doe like to the Assyrians, as the Assyrians did to Israel: and the Medes and Persians shall doe
the same to the Caldeans.

hereby what is the chiefe refuge of the faithfull when troubles come,
to pray and

l Sent from Saneherib. m Whom they of Ierusalem sent to in-treat of peace. n These are the wordes of the Ambassadors, when they returne from Saneherib. o Which was a plentiful countrie, meaning, that Saneherib would destroy al. p To helpe and deliuer my Church. q This is spoken against the enemies, who thought all was their owne: but hee sheweth that their enterprise shall be in vaine, and that the fire which they had kindled for others, should consume them. r His vengeance shal be so great, that all the world shall talke thereof. 1 Which doe not beleue
the wordes of the Prophet, and the assurance of their deliuerance.
t Meaning, that God will bee a sure defence to all them that liue according to his word.

ende of doing wickedly, they shall doe wickedly against thee.

2 ^d Lord haue mercie vpon vs, wee haue waited for thee: bee thou, which wast their arme in the morning, our helpe also in time of trouble.

3 At the noyle of the tumult, the people fled: at thine exalting, the nations were scattered.

4 And your spoyle shall be gathered like the gathering of caterpillers: and he shall goe against him like the leaping of grasshoppers.

5 The Lord is exalted: for he dwelleth on high, he hath filled Zion with iudgement and iustice.

6 And there shall bee stabilitie of thy times, strength, saluation, wisdom and knowledge: for the feare of the Lord shall be his treasure.

7 Beholde, their messengers shall cry without, and the ambassadors of peace shall weepe bitterly.

8 The paths are waste: the wayfaring man ceaseth, hee hath broken the covenant:
hee hath contemned the cities: he regarded no man.

9 The earth murneth and fainteth:
Lebanon is ashamed, and helwen downe:
Sharon is like a wilderness, and Bashan is shaken and Carmel.

10 Now will I arise, sayth the Lord:
now will I be exalted, now will I lift vp my selfe.

11 I will conceiue chaffe, and bring forth stubble: the fire of your breath shall denoure you.

12 And the people shall be as the burning of linc: and as the thornes cut vp, shall they be burnt in the fire.

13 Heare, yee that are farre off, what I haue done, and yee that are neere, know my power.

14 The sinners in Zion are afraide: a feare is come vpon the hypocrites: who among vs shall dwell with the denouring fire?
who among vs shall dwell with the euersting burnings?

15 Hee that walketh in iustice, and speaketh righteous things, refusing gaine of oppression, shaking his hands from taking of gifts, stopping his eares from hearing of blood, and shutting his eyes from seeing cuill,

16 Hee shall dwell on high: his defence shall bee the munitions of rockes: bread shall be given him, and his waters shall bee sure.

17 Thine eyes shall see the King in his glorie: they shall behold the land farre off.

18 Thine heart shall meditate feare,
Where is the Scribe? Where is the receiver? Where is hee that counted the towers?

19 Thou shalt not see a fierce people, a people of a darke speech, that thou canst not perceiue, and of a stammering tongue, that thou canst not vnderstand.

20 Looke vpon Zion the citie of our solemne feastes: thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a Tabernacle that cannot be remooued, and the stakes thereof can neuer bee taken away, neither shall any of the cordes thereof bee broken.

21 For surely there the mightie Lorde will bee vnto vs, as a place of floods and broad riuers, whereby shall passe no shippe with oares, neither shall great shippes passe thereby.

22 For the Lord is our Iudge, the Lord is our Lawgiuer: the Lord is our King, hee will saue vs.

23 Thy cordes are loosed: they could not well strengthen their mast, neither could they spread the saile: then shall the pray be diuided for a great spoile: yea, the lame shall take away the pray.

24 And none inhabitant shall say, I am sicke: the people that dwell therein, shall haue their iniquitie forgiven.

from this feare. x Let vs bee content with this small riuer of Shiloah, and not desire the great streames and riuers, whereby the enemies may bring in shippes to destroy vs. a Hee derideth the Assyrians and enemies of the Church, declaring their destruction, as they that perish by shipwracke. b Hee comforteth the Church, and sheweth that they shall bee enriched with all benefites both of body and soule.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Hee sheweth that God punisheth the wicked for the loue that hee beareth toward his Church.

Come neere, ye nations and heare, and hearken, ye people: let the earth heare, and all that is therein, the world and all that proceedeth thereof.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is by-on all nations, and his wrath vpon all their armies: he hath destroyed them and deliue-red them to the slaughter.

3 And their flaine shall be cast out, and their stinke shall come vp out of their bodie, and the mountaines shall bee melted with their blood.

4 And all the host of heauen shall be dissolved, and the heauens shall bee folded like a booke: and all their hostes shall fall as the leafe fallerh from the vine, and as it fallerh from the figge tree.

5 For my sword shall be drunken in the heauen, and earth perisheth. d I haue determined in my secreet counsell, and in the heauens to destroy them, till my sword be wearie with shedding of blood.

uered from his

Saneherib, but goe where it pleaseth them.

y Before that this libertie commeth, thou shalt thinke that thou art in great danger: for the emie shall so sharply assaile you, that one shall cry,

Where is the clerke that writeth the names of them that are taxed? another, Where is the receiver? another shall cry for him that valueth the rich houses, but God will deliuer you of the destruction of the Edomites and other nations, which were enemies to the Church.

heauen: beholde, it shall come downe vpon Edom, even vpon the people of ° my curse to iudgement.

6 The sword of the Lord is filled with blood: it is made fatte with the fatte and with the blood of the Lambes, and the goates, with the fatte of the kidnies of the Rammes: for the Lord hath a sacrifice in Bozrah, and a great slaughter in the land of Edom.

7 And the Unicorn shall come downe with them, and the heiffers with the bulles, and their lande shall bee drunken with blood, and their dust made fatte with fatnesse.

8 For it is the day of the Lordes vengeance, and the yere of recompense for the iudgement of Zion.

9 And the riuers thereof shall be turned into pitch, and the dust thereof into Brimstone, and the land thereof shall bee burning pitch.

10 It shall not bee quenched night nor day: the smoke thereof shall goe vp evermore: it shall bee desolate from generation to generation: none shall passe thorow it for euer.

11 But the Pelicane^k and the Hedgehog shall possesse it, and the great Owle, and the Raven shall dwell in it, and he shall stretch out vpon it the line of^l vanitie, & the stones of emptinesse.

12 The nobles thereof shall call to the kingdome, and there shall bee none, and al the Princes thereof shall bee as nothing.

13 and it shall bring forth thornes in the palaces thereof, nettles and thistles in the strong holdes thereof, and it shall bee an habitation for Dragons and a court for Distiches.

14 There shall^m meete also Zim and Tim, and the Satyre shall crie to his fellow, and the Shyichowle shall rest there, and shall finde for her selfe a quiet dwelling.

15 There^o shall the Owle make her nest, and lay, and hatch, and gather them vnder her shadowe: there shall the Vultures also bee gathered, euerie one with her make.

16 Seeke in the booke of the Lord, and reade: none of these shall faile, none shall want her make: for^r his mouth hath commanded, and his very Spirit hath gathered them.

17 And hee hath cast the lot for them, and his hand hath diuided it vnto them by line: they shall possesse it for euer: from generation to generation shall they dwell in it.

f He hath given the beastes and foules Idumea for an inheritance.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 The great ioy of them that beleene in Christ.
3 Their office which preach the Gospel. 8 The fruites that follow thereof.

The desert and the wildernesse shall reioyce: and the waste ground shall be glad and flourish as the rose.

2 It shall flourish abundantly, and shall greatly reioyce also and ioy, the glory of Lebanon shall be given vnto it: the beautie of Carmel, and of Sharon. They shall see the glory of the Lord, and the excellencie of our God.

3 Strengthen the weake hands, and comfort the feeble knees.

4 Say vnto them that are fearefull, Bee you strong, feare not: beholde, your God cometh with vengeance: euen God with a recompense, hee will come and saue you.

5 Then shall the eyes of the blinde bee lightened, and the eares of the deafe be opened.

1 Saneherib sendeth Rabshakeh to besiege Ierusalem. 15 He blasphemies against God.

N^DW^a in the foureteenth yere of King Hezekiah, Saneherib king of Asshur came vp against all the strong cities of Iudah, and tooke them.

2 And the king of Asshur sent Rabshakeh from Lachish toward Ierusalem vnto King Hezekiah with a great hoste, and hee stood by the conduit of the hyper poole: in the path of the fullers field.

3 Then came forth vnto him Elakim the Church to bee afflicted, but at the length would send deliuerance.

b When he had abolished superstition and idolatry, and restored religion, yet God would exercise his Church to trie their faith, and patience.

c For he was now restored to his office, as Isaiah had prophesied, Chap. 22. 30. d This declareth that there were few godly to be found in Kings house, when he was driven to send this wicked man in such a weighty matter. e Sanheribs chief captaine. f He speaketh this in the person of Hezekiah, whose high places and whole altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and sayd to Judah and to Jerusalem, Ye shall worship before this wit & eloquence, altar. g Wherein this one ly confidence was in the Lord, g Sanherib desired to pull the godly king from one vaine confidence to another, to wit, from trust in the Egyptians whose power was weake and would deceive them, to yelde himselfe to the Assyrians, and to not to hope for any helpe of God. Or turne backe. h He reprocheth to Hezekiah his small power, which is not able to resist one of Sanheribs least captaines. i Thus the wicked to deceive vs, will pretend the Name of the Lord, but we must try the spirits, whether they be of God or no. k They were afraid lest by his words he should have stirred the people against the king, and also pretended to come to some appointment with him. l Ebr. the water of their feet. m The Ebrew word signifieth blessing: whereby this wicked captaine would have persuaded the people, that their condition should bee better vnder Sanherib, then vnder Hezekiah.

sonne of Iſſiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancelour, and Iſaiah the sonne of Iſaiah the recorder.

4 And Rabshakeh sayd vnto them, Tell you Hezekiah, I say you, Thus sayeth the great King, the king of Assyria, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest?

5 I say, Surely I have eloquence, but counsell and strength are for the warre: on whom then dost thou trust, that thou rebellest against me?

6 Loe, thou trustest in this broken steele of reede, on Egypt, whereupon if a man leane, it will goe into his hand and pearce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt vnto all that trust in him.

7 But if thou say vnto mee, We trust in the Lord our God: Is not that hee whose high places and whole altars Hezekiah tooke downe, and sayd to Judah and to Jerusalem, Ye shall worship before this wit & eloquence, altar?

8 Now therefore giue hostages to my lord the king of Assyria, and I will giue thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders vpon them.

9 For how canst thou despise any captaine of the least of my lords seruants? and put thy trust on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen?

10 And am I now come by without the Lord to this land to destroy it? The Lord said vnto mee, Goe vp against this land and destroy it.

11 Then said Eliakim, and Shebna, and Iſaiah vnto Rabshakeh, Speake, I pray thee, to thy seruants, in the Aramites language (for we vnderstand it) and talke not with vs in the Jewes tongue, in the audience of the people that are on the wall.

12 Then said Rabshakeh, Hath my master sent mee to thy master, and to thee to speake these words, and not to the men that sit on the wall, that they may eat their owne dung, and drinke their owne piss with you?

13 So Rabshakeh stood and cried with a loud voice in the Jewes language, and said, Heare the words of the great King, of the king of Assyria.

14 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliver you.

15 Neither let Hezekiah make you to trust in the Lord, saying, The Lord will surely deliver vs: this city shall not be giuen ouer into the hand of the king of Assyria.

16 Hearken not to Hezekiah: for thus saith the King of Assyria, Make appointment with mee, & come out to mee, that every man may eat of his owne vine, and every man of his owne fig tree, and drinke every man the water of his owne well.

17 Will I come & bring you to a land like your owne land, even a land of wheate and wine, a land of bread and vineyards?

18 Let Hezekiah deceive you, saying, The Lord will deliver vs. Hath any of the gods of the nations deliuered his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria?

19 Where is the god of Hamath, and of Arpad? where is the god of Sepharuaim? or how haue they deliuered Samaria out of mine hand?

20 Who is he among all the gods of these lands, that hath deliuered their countrey out of mine hand, that the Lord should deliver Jerusalem out of mine hand?

21 Then they kept silence, and answered him not a word: for the Kings commandment was, saying, Answer him not.

22 Then came Eliakim the sonne of Iſaiah the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancelour, and Iſaiah the sonne of Iſaiah the recorder, vnto Hezekiah with rent clothes, and tolde him the wordes of Rabshakeh.

23 Hezekiah asked the counsell of Iſaiah, who promised him the victory. 10 The blasphemie of Sanherib. 16 Hezekiahs prayer. 36 The armie of Sanherib is slaine of the Angel. 38 And he himselfe of his owne sonnes.

CHAP. XXXVII

24 When the King Hezekiah heard this, he rent his clothes, & put on sackcloth, and came into the house of the Lord.

25 And hee sent Eliakim the steward of the house, and Shebna the chancelour, with the Elders of the Priests clothed in sackcloth, vnto Iſaiah the Prophet, the sonne of Amos.

26 And they said vnto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of tribulation, and of rebuke and blasphemie: for the children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.

27 If so be the Lord thy God hath heard the wordes of Rabshakeh whom the king of Assyria his master hath sent to rattle on the living God, and to reproch him with wordes which the Lord thy God hath heard, then lift thou vp thy prayer for the remnant that are left.

28 So the seruants of the King Hezekiah came to Iſaiah.

29 And Iſaiah said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Bee not afraid of the words that thou hast heard, wherewith the seruants of the king of Assyria haue blasphemed me.

30 Behold, I will send a blast vpon him,

3 Then came Isaiah the Prophet vnto King Vezekiah, and sayd vnto him, What sayde these men? and from whence came they to thee? And Vezekiah said, They are come from a farre countrey vnto mee, from Babel.

4 Then said he, What haue they seene in thine house? And Vezekiah answered, All that is in mine house haue they seene: there is nothing among my treasures that I haue not shewed them.

5 And Isaiah said to Vezekiah, Deare the word of the Lord of hosts.

6 Behold, the dayes come, that all that is in thine house, and which thy fathers haue layd vp in store vntill this day, shall be carried to Babel: nothing shall be left, saith the Lord.

7 And of thy sonnes, that shall proceede out of thee, and which thou shalt beget, shall they take away, and they shall be eunuches in the palace of the king of Babel.

9 Behold, the former things are come to passe, and new things doe I declare: before they come forth, I tell you of them.

10 Sing vnto the Lord a new song, and his prayse from the end of the earth: ye that goe downe to the sea, and all that is therein: the yles and the inhabitants thereof.

11 Let the wilderness and the cities thereof lift vp their voice, the townes that Kedar doeth inhabite: let the inhabitants of the rockes sing: let them shoute from the top of the mountaines.

12 Let them giue glory vnto the Lord, and declare his praise in the playdes.

13 The Lord shall goe forth as a gyant: he shall stirre vp his courage like a man of warre, he shall shoute and crye, and shall preuaile against his enemies.

14 I haue a long time holden my peace: I haue been still and refrained my selfe: now will I crye like a trauieling woman: I will destroy and deuoure at once.

15 I will make waste mountaines and hilles, and dry vp all their herbes, and I will make the floods playdes, and I will drye vp the pooles.

16 And I will bring the blinde by a way that they knew not, and leade them by paths that they haue not known: I will make darknesse light before them, and crooked things straight. These things will I doe vnto them, and not forsake them.

17 They shall be turned backe: they shall be greatly ashamed, that trust in grauen images, and say to the molten images, Dee are our gods.

18 Heare, yee deafe: and ye blinde, regard that ye may see.

19 Who is blinde but my seruant? or the zeale of the Lord, and his power in the conseruation of his Church. f I will haue to execute my vengeance, which I haue so long deferred, as a woman that desireth to be deliuered, when she is in trauielle. g That is, my poore people which are in perplexity and care. h To wit, Israel, which should haue most light, because of my Law.

f He will not hurt the weake and feeble, but support & comfort them.

g Meaning, the weck of a lampe, or candle, which is almost out, but he will cherish it and snuffe it, that it may shine brighter.

h Although he fauor the weake, yet will he not spare the wicked, but will iudge them according to truth and equitie.

n As him by whom the promise made to all nations in Abraham, shall be fulfilled.

o I will not suffer my glory to be diminished: which I should doe, if I were not faithfull in performing the same, & the idolaters thereby would extol their idoles about me.

z Because they will not acknowledge this benefit of the Lord, who is ready to deliuer them, he suffereth them to be spoiled of their enemies through their owne fault and incredulity.

a There shall be none to succour them, or to will the enemy to restore that which he hath spoiled.

deafe as my messenger, that I sent? who is blinde as the perfect, and blinde as the Lords seruant?

20 Seeing many things, but thou kepest them not: opening the eares, but he heareth not?

21 The Lord is willing for his righteousness sake, that he may magnifie the Law, and exalt it.

22 But this people is robbed and spoiled, and shall be all liued in dungeons, and they shall bee hid in prison houses: they shall be for a pray, and none shall deliuer: a spoyle, and none shall say, Restore.

23 Who among you shall hearken to this, and take heed, and heare for afterwards?

24 Who gaue Iacob for a spoyle, and Israel to the robbers? Did not the Lord, because we haue sinned against him? for they would not walke in his wayes, neither be obedient vnto his Law.

25 Therefore hee hath powred vpon him his fierce wrath, and the strength of battell: and it set him on fire round about, and hee knew not, and it burned him vp, yet he considered not.

b Meaning Gods wrath.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 The Lord comforteth his people. Hee promisseth deliuerance to the Iewes. 11 There is no God but one alone.

At now thus saith the Lord, that created thee, O Iacob: and he that formed thee, O Israel, feare not: for I haue redeemed thee: I haue called thee by thy name, Thou art mine.

2 When thou passest through the waters, I will bee with thee, and through the floods, that they doe not overflow thee. When thou walkest through the very fire, thou shalt not bee burnt, neither shall the flame kindle vpon thee.

3 For I am the Lord thy God, the Holy one of Israel, thy Saviour: I gaue Egypt for thy ransome, Ethiopia & Seba for thee.

4 Because thou wast precious in my sight, and thou wast honourable, and I loued thee, therefore wil I giue a man for thee, and people for thy sake.

5 Feare not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy seede from the East, and gather thee from the West.

6 I will say to the North, Giue: and to the South, Keepe not backe: bring my sons from farre, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 Euery one shall be called by my name for I created him for my glory, formed him and made him.

d I turned Saneheribs power against these countreys, and made them to suffer affliction which thou shouldest haue done, and so were as the payment of thy ransome, Chap. 37. 9. e I will not spare any man rather than thou shouldest perish: for God more esteemeth one of his faithful, then all the wicked in the world. f He prophesieth of their deliuerance from the captivity of Babylon, and so of the calling of the vniuersall Church, alluding to that which is written, Deut. 30. 3. g Meaning, that he could not be vniuersall of them, except he would neglect his own name & glory.

they shall haue eyes, and the deafe, and they shall haue eares.

9 Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this & shew vs former things? let them bring forth their witness, that they may be iustified: but let them heare, and say, It is truth.

10 You are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my seruant, whom I haue chosen: therefore ye shall know and beleue me, and ye shall understand that I am: before mee there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

11 I, euen I am the Lord, and beside mee there is no Saviour.

12 I haue declared, and I haue saved, and I haue shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore you are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God.

14 Thus saith the Lord your Redeemer, the Holy one of Israel, For your sake I haue sent to Babel, and brought it downe: they are all fugitiues, and the Caldeans cry in the ships.

15 I am the Lord your Holy one, the creator of Israel, your King.

16 Thus saith the Lord which maketh a way in the sea, and a path in the mightie waters.

17 When hee bringeth out the chariot and horse, the armie and the power lie together, and shall not rise: they are extinct, and quenched as towne.

18 Remember ye not the former things, neither regard the things of old.

19 Behold, I doe a new thing: now shall it come forth: shall you not know it? I will euen make a way in the desert and floods in the wilderness.

20 The wilde beastes shall honour me, the dragons & the ostriches, because I gaue water in the desert, and floods in the wilderness to giue drinke to my people, euen to mine elect.

5 One shall say, I am the Lords: another shall be called by the name of Iakob: and another shall subscribe with his hand vnto the Lord, and name himselfe by the name of Israel.

13 The carpenter stretcheth out a line: he fashioneth it with a red thread, he planeth it, and he putteth it with the compasse, and maketh it after the figure of a man, and according to the beautie of a man, that it may remaine in ^dan house.

21 Remember these (O Iakob and Israel) for thou art my seruant: I haue for-

1 The destruction of Babylon and of their idoles, 3 He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of his works.

Bell is bowed downe: a Nebo is fallen: their idoles were vpon the beastes, and vpon the cattrell: they which did beare you, were laden with a wearie burden.

2 They are bowed downe, and fallen together: for they could not ridde them of the burden, and their soule is gone into captiuitie.

4 Therefore vnto old age, I the same, even I will beare you: vntill the hoare haire: I haue made you I will also beare you, and I will cary you, and I will deliuer you.

5 O to whom will ye make me like, or make mee equall, or compare mee, that I should be like him.

for they must be caried of others, but God himselfe carieth his, as Deut. 32. 11. f Seeing I haue begotten you, I will nourish and preserue you for euer. g The people of God, seeing their owne calamitie, and the flourishing state of the Babylonians, should be tempted to thinke that their God was not so mightie as the idoles of their enemies: therefore he describeth the original of al the idoles, to make them to be abhorred of all men, shewing that the most that can be spoken in their commendation, is but to prooue them vile. Baruch 6. 25, 6 They draw gold out of the bagge, and weigh siluer in the balance, and hure a goldsmith to make a god of it, and they bow downe and worship it.

7 They beare it vpon the shoulders: they cary him and set him in his place: so doeth he stand, and cannot remoue from his place. Though one cry vnto him, yet can he not answere, nor deliuer him out of his tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed: bring it againe to minde, O you transgressors.

9 Remember the former things of olde: for I am God, and there is none other God, and there is nothing like me.

10 Which declare the last thing from the beginning: and from of old, the things that were not done, saying, My counsell shall stand, and I will do whatsoeuer I will.

11 I call a bird from the East, and the man of my counsell from farre, as I haue spoken so will I bring it to passe: I haue purposed it, and will do it.

12 Heare mee, ye stubborne hearted, that are farre from iustice.

13 I bring neere my iustice: it shall not be farre off, and my saluation shall not tary: for I will giue saluation in Zion, and my glorie vnto Israel.

CHAP. XLVII.

The destruction of Babylon and the causes, wherefore.

Come downe and sit in the dust, O bregin, daughter Babel, sit on the ground: there is no throne. O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more bee called tender and delicate.

2 Take the millstones, and grinde meale: loose their lockes: make bare the feete: vncouer the legges, and passe through the floods.

3 Thy fitchinesse shall be discovered, and thy shame shall be seene: I will take vengeance, and I will not meete thee as a man.

4 Our redeemer the Lord of hostes is his name, the holy one of Israel.

5 Sit still, and get thee into darkenesse: O daughter of the Chaldeans, for thou shalt no more bee called, The lady of kingdoms.

6 I was wroth with my people: I haue polluted mine inheritance, and giuen them into thine hand: thou diddest shew them no mercy, but thou diddest lay thy very heauy yoke vpon the ancient.

7 And thou saydest, I shall be a Lady for euer, so that thou diddest not let thy minde to these things, neither didst thou remember the latter end thereof.

8 Therefore now heare, thou that art giuen to pleasures, and dwellest carelesse, she saith in her heart, I am and none else: that the Lord I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the losse of children.

9 But these two things shall come to thee suddenly on one day, the losse of children, and widowhood, they shall come vpon thee.

h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that hee punished the Israelites, because he would utterly cast them off, and therefore instead of pining their miserie, shou diddest increase it.

thee

h Become wise, meaning, that all idolaters are without wit or sense, like mad men.

i That is, Cyrus which shall come as swift as a bird, and fight against Babylon.

k Him by whom I haue appointed to execute that, which I haue determined.

l Which by your incredulitie would let the performance of my promise.

m He sheweth that mans incredulitie cannot abolish the promise of God, Rom. 3. 3.

a Which hath liued in wealth and wantones and hast not yet bene ouercome by anyemie.

b Thy gouernment shall be taken from thee.

c Thou shalt be brought to most vile leuitude: for to turne the mill was the office of slaues.

d The things wherein she stretcheth her greatest pride, shall be made vile, even from the head to the foote.

e I will vse no humanitie nor pitie toward thee.

f The Israelites shall confesse, that the Lord doeth this for his Churches sake.

g For very shame, and hide thy selfe.

h They abused Gods iudgements, thinking that hee punished the Israelites, because he would utterly cast them off, and therefore instead of pining their miserie, shou diddest increase it.

i So that thy punishment shall be so great as is possible to be imagined. k Thou didst thinke that thine own wisdom, & policie would haue saved thee. l He derideth their vaine confidence, that put their trust in any thing but in God, condemning also such vaine sciences, which serue to no vse, but to delude & people, & to bring them from depending onely on God. m They shall utterly perish, and no part of them remaine. n They shall flee euery one to that place which hee thought by his speculations to be most sure: but that shall deceiue them.

thee in their perfection, for the multitude of thy diuinations, & for the great abundance of thine inchanters.

10 For thou hast trusted in thy wickednesse: thou hast said, None seeth mee. Thy wisdom & thy knowledge, they haue caused thee to rebel, and thou hast said in thine heart, I am, and none else.

11 Therefore shall euill come vpon thee, and thou shalt not know the morning thereof: destruction shall fall vpon thee, which thou shalt not be able to put away: destruction shall come vpon thee suddenly, yet thou be aware.

12 Stand now among thine inchanters, and in the multitude of thy soothsayers (with whome thou hast wearied thy selfe from thy youth) if so be thou mayest haue profit, or if so be thou mayest haue strength.

13 Thou art wearied in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the Astrologers, the starr-gazers, and Prognouicators stand by, and saue thee from these things, that shall come vpon thee.

14 Behold, they shall bee as stubble: the fire shall burne them: they shall not deliuer their own liues from the power of the flame: there shall bee no coals to warme at, nor light to sit by.

15 Thus shall they serue thee with whom thou hast wearied thee, even thy merchants from thy youth: euery one shall wander to his owne quarter: none shall saue thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The hypocrisie of the Iewes is reprobued. 11 The Lord alone will be worshipped. 20 Of their deliuerance out of Babylon.

a He detesteth their hypocrisie which vaunted themselves to be Israelites, and were not so in deede. b Meaning, the fountaine and stocke. c They make a shew, as though they would haue none other God. d Hee sheweth that they could not accuse him in anything, forasmuch as he had performed whatsoever he had promised. e I haue done for thee more then I promised, that thy stubbornnes and impudencie might haue bene ouercome. f How thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon. g Will yee not acknowledge this my benefite, and declare it vnto others?

Heare ye this, O house of Iacob, which are called by the name of Israel, & are come out of the waters of Iudah: which sweare by the name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Israel, but not in trueth, nor in righteousness.

2 For they are called of the holy citie, and stay themselves vpon the God of Israel, whose name is the Lord of hosts.

3 I haue declared the former things of olde, and they went out of my mouth, and I shewed them: I did them suddenly, and they came to passe.

4 Because I knew, that thou art obstinate, and thy necke is an yron sinew, and thy brow brass,

5 Therefore I haue declared to thee of olde: before it came to passe, I shewed it thee, lest thou shouldest say, Mine idole hath done them, and my carued image, and my molten image hath commanded them.

6 Thou hast heard, behold all this, and will not ye declare it? I haue shewed thee new things, even now, & hid things, which thou knewest not.

7 They are created now, and not of old, and euen before this thou heardest them not.

8 How thou shouldest be deliuered out of Babylon. g Will yee not acknowledge this my benefite, and declare it vnto others?

lest thou shouldest say, Beholde, I knew them.

8 Yet thou heardest them not, neither diddest know them, neither yet was thine eare opened of olde: for I knew that thou wouldest grievously transgresse: therefore haue I called thee a transgressor from the womb.

9 For my names sake will I deferre my wrath, and for my praise will I reframe it from thee, that I cut thee not off.

10 Behold, I haue sined thee, but not as silver: I haue chosen thee in the furnace of affliction.

11 For mine owne sake, for mine owne sake will I doe it: for how should my Name bee polluted? surely I will not giue my glory vnto another.

12 Heare mee, O Iacob, and Israel my called, I am, I am the first, and I am the last.

13 Surely mine hand hath laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand hath spanned the heauens, when I call them, they stand by together.

14 All you, assemble your selues, & heare: which among them hath declared these things? The Lord hath loued him: he will doe his will in Babel, and his arme shall be against the Chaldeans.

15 I, euen I haue spoken it, and I haue called him, I haue brought him, and his way shall prosper.

16 Come neere vnto me: heare ye this: I haue not spoken it in secret from the beginning: from the time that the thing was, I was there, and now the Lord God and his spirit hath sent me.

17 Thus saith the Lord thy Redeemer, the holy one of Israel, I am the Lord thy God, which teach thee to profit, and lead thee by the way, that thou shouldest goe.

18 Oh that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments: then had thy prosperitie bene as the flood, and thy righteousness as the waues of the Sea.

19 Thy seed also had bin as the sand, and the fruit of thy body like the grauel thereof: his name should not haue bene cut off, nor destroyed before me.

20 Go ye out of Babel: flee ye from the Chaldeans, with a voyce of ioy: tell & declare this: shew it forth to the end of the earth: say ye. The Lord hath redeemed his servant Iacob.

21 And they were not thirstie: hee led them through the wilderness: he caused the waters to flowe out of the rocke for them: for he claue the rocke, and the water gushed out.

22 There is no peace, saith the Lord, vnto the wicked.

What things shall doe thee good? That is, the prosperous state of Israel y After that hee had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy that shall come of their deliuerance. z He sheweth that it shall be as easie as easie to deliuer them, as hee did their Fathers out of Egypt. a Thus hee speaketh, that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap. 57. 21.

h Shewing that mans arrogancie is the cause why God doeth not declare all things at once, lest they should attribute this knowledge to their owne wisdom.

i From the time that I brought thee out of Egypt, for that deliuerance was as the birth of the Church.

k As it was my free mercy that I did chuse thee: so is it my free mercy that must saue thee.

l For I had respect to thy weakenes, & infirmity, for in sinners there is some purenesse, but in vs there is nothing but dross.

m I tooke thee out of the furnace where thou shouldest haue bene consumed.

n God ioyneth the saluation of his with his own honour: so that they cannot perish, but his glory should be diminished, as Deut. 32. 27.

o Reade Chap. 42. 8.

p Reade Chap. 41. 4.

q To obey me and to do whatsoever I command them.

r Meaning Cyrus, whom hee had chosen to destroy Babylon.

s Since the time that I declared my selfe to your fathers.

t Thus the Prophet speaketh for himselfe, and to assure them of these things.

u What things shall doe thee good? That is, the prosperous state of Israel y After that hee had forewarned them of their captiuitie, and of the cause thereof, he sheweth them the great ioy that shall come of their deliuerance.

z He sheweth that it shall be as easie as easie to deliuer them, as hee did their Fathers out of Egypt.

a Thus hee speaketh, that the wicked hypocrites should not abuse Gods promise, in whom was neither faith nor repentance, as Chap. 57. 21.

C H A P. XLIX.

¹ The Lord exhorteth all nations to beleue his promises. ⁶ Christ is the saluation of all that beleue, and will deliuer them from the tyranny of their enemies.

^a This is spoken in the person of Christ, to assure the faithfull that these promises should come to passe: for they were all made in him, and in him should be performed.

^b This is meant of the time that Christ should be manifested to the world, as Psal. 2. 7.

^c By the sword and shaft, he signifieth the vertue and efficacie of Christes doctrine.

^d God hath taken me to his protection and defence: This chiefly is meant of Christ, and may also be applied to the ministers of his word.

^e By Israel, is meant Christ, and all the bodie of the faithfull, as the members and their head.

^f Thus Christ in his members complaineth that his labour and preaching take none effect, yet he is contented that his doings are approoued of God.

^g Though the Iewes refuse my doctrine yet God will approue my ministry. ^h To declare my Gospel to the Gentiles, Chap. 42. 6. Actes 13. 47. Luke 2. 32. ⁱ Meaning, the Iewes, whom tyrants kept in bondage. ^k The benefice of their deliuerance shall bee so great, that great and small shall acknowledge it, and reuerence God for it. ^l Thus hee speaketh of his Church, when he would shew his mercie toward it, 2. Cor. 6. 2. ^m Meaning Christ alone. ⁿ Signifying, that before Christ renew the earth by his word, there is nothing but confusion and disorder. ^o To them that are in the prison of sinne and death. ^p Being in Christes protection, they shall be safe against all dangers, and free from the feare of the enemies. ^q Meaning, that there should be nothing in their way from Babylon, that should hinder or hurt them: but this is accomplished spiritually.

^H Care ye me, O yles, and hearken, ye people from farre. The Lord hath called me from the ^b wombe, and made mention of my name from my mothers belly.

² And hee hath made my mouth like a sharpe sword: vnder the shadow of his hand hath he ^d hid me, and made me a cholen shaft, and hid me in his quiver,

³ And said vnto me, thou art my seruant ^e Israel, for I will be glorious in thee.

⁴ And I said, I haue ^f laboured in vaine: I haue spent my strength in vaine, and for nothing: but my iudgement is with the Lord, and my worke with my God.

⁵ And now sayth the Lord that formed me from the wombe to bee his seruant, that I may bring Iacob againe to him (though Iacob bee not gathered, yet shall I be glorious in the eyes of the Lord: and my God shall be my strength.)

⁶ And hee said, It is a small thing that thou shouldest be my seruant, to raise vp the tribes of Iacob, and to restore the desolations of Israel: I will also giue ^h thee for a light of the Gentiles, that thou mayest bee my saluation vnto the end of the world.

⁸ Thus saith the Lord, In an acceptable time haue I heard thee, and in a day of saluation haue I helped thee: and I wil preserue thee, and will giue ^m thee for a covenant of the people, that thou mayest raise vp the ⁿ earth, and obtaine the inheritance of the desolate heritages:

¹⁰ They shall not be hungry, neither shall they be thirstie, neither shall the heate smite them, nor the sunne, for he that hath compassion ^q on them, shall leade them: euen to the springs of waters shall he diue them.

¹¹ And I will make all ray mountaines, as a way, and my paths shall be exalted.

¹² Behold, these shall come from farre: and loe, these from the North, and from the West, and these from the land of ^r Sinim.

¹³ Reioyce, O ^s heauens: and be ioyfull, O earth: burst forth into prayle, O mountaines: for God hath comforted his people, and will haue mercie vpon his afflicted.

¹⁴ But ^t in said, the Lord hath forsaken me, and my Lord hath forgotten me.

¹⁵ Can a woman forget her child, & not haue compassion on the sonne of her wombe? though they should forget, yet will I not forget thee.

¹⁶ Behold, I haue grauen thee vpon the palme of mine ^u hands: thy ^v walles are euer in my sight.

¹⁷ Thy builders make ^w haste: thy destroyers and they that made thee waste, are departed from thee.

¹⁹ For thy desolations, and thy waste places, and thy land destroyed, shall surely be now narrow for them that shall dwell in it, and they that did deuoure thee shall be farre away.

²⁰ The children of thy barrennesse shall say againe in thine eares, The place is strait for me: giue place to mee that I may dwell

²⁴ Shall the pray bee ^a taken from the mighty? or the iust captiuitie deliuered?

²⁶ And will feede them that spoyle thee, with ^c their owne flesh, and they shall bee drunken with their owne blood, as with him all honour. ^d He maketh this as an obiection, as though the Caldeans were strong and had them in iust possession. ^e This is the answer to their obiection, that none is stronger then the Lord, neither hath a more iust title vnto them. ^f I will cause them to destroy one another, as Iudg. 7. 2. 2. Chron. 20. 22. Chap. 19. 2.

^r Meaning, the South countrey, so that Christ shall deliuer his from all the parts of the world.

^s Reade Chap.

44. 23.

^t He obiectioneth what the faithfull might say in their long affliction, and answereth thereunto to comfort them, with a most proper similitude and full of consolation.

^u Because I would not forget thee.

^x Meaning, the good order of policie and discipline.

^y I haue a continuall care to build thee vp againe, and to destroy thine enemies.

^z He sheweth what are the ornaments of the Church: to haue many children, which are assembled by the word of God, and gouerned by his Spirit.

^a He sheweth that Christ will not onely gather this great number of the Iewes but also of the Gentiles.

^b Meaning, that Kings shall bee conuerted to the Gospel, and be-flow their power and authoritie for the preferuation of the Church.

^c Being ioyned with the Church, they shall humble themselves to Christ their head, and giue sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I the Lord am thy Saviour and thy redeemer, the Mighty one of Iakob.

CHAP. L.

1 The Iewes forsaken for a time. 2 Yet the power of God is not diminished. 3 Christs obedience and victory.

a Meaning, ^f he had not forsaken her, but through her owne occasion, as Hosea 2.2. b Which should declare that I haue cut her off: meaning, that they could shew none.

c Signifying, that hee solde them not for any debt or pouerty, but that they sold themselves to sinnes to buy their owne lusts and pleasures. d He came by his prophets and ministers, but they would not beleue their doctrine and conuert.

e Am I not as able to helpe you, as I haue holpen your fathers of olde, when I dried vp the red sea, and killed the fish in the riuers, and also afterward in Iorden?

f As I did in Egypt in token of my displeasure, Exod. 10. 21. g The Prophet doeth represent here the person and charge of them that are iustly called to the ministry of Gods word.

h To him that is oppressed by affliction and miserie. i As they that are taught and made meet by him. k I did not shrink from God for any persecution or calamitie. Where: y hee sheweth that the true ministers of God can looke for no other recompence of the wicked but after this sort, and also what is their comfort.

l Shewing that it is a rare thing that any should obey a right Gods true ministers, though they labour to bring them from hell to heaven. m You haue sought consolation by your owne deuises, and haue refused the light and consolation which God hath offered: therefore yee shall remaine in sorrow and not bee comforted.

Thus sayth the Lord, Where is that bill of your mothers diuorcement, whom I haue cast off? or who is the creditor to whom I solde you? Behold, for your iniquities are yee solde, and because of your transgressions is your mother forsaken.

2 Therefore came I, and there was no man: I called, and none answered: is mine hand shortened, that it cannot helpe? or haue I no power to deliuer? Behold, at my rebuke I drie vp the sea: I make the floods desert: their fish rotterth for want of water, and dieth for thirst.

3 I clothe the heauens with darkenesse, and make a sacke their couering.

4 The Lord God hath giuen mee: a tongue of the learned, that I should know to minister a word in time to him that is wearie: hee will raise mee vp in the morning: in the morning hee will waken mine eare to heare: as the learned.

5 The Lord God hath opened mine eare, and I was not rebellious: neither turned I backe.

6 I gaue my backe vnto the smiters, and my cheekes to the nippers: I hid not my face from shame and spitting.

7 For the Lord God will helpe me, therefore shall I not bee confounded: therefore haue I let my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed.

8 He is nere that iustifieth me: who wil contend with mee? Let vs stand together: who is mine aduersarie? let him come nere to mee.

9 Behold, the Lord God will helpe me: who is hee that can condemne me? loe, they shall ware old as a garment: the moth shall eate them vp.

10 Who is among you that feareth the Lord? let him heare the voyce of his seruant: he that walketh in darkenesse, and hath no light, let him trust in the name of the Lord, and stay vpon his God.

11 Behold, all you kindle a fire, and are compassed about with sparkes: walke in the light of your fire, and in the sparkes that yee haue kindled. This shall yee haue of mine hand: ye shall lie downe in sorrow.

CHAP. LI.

1 To trust in God alone by Abrahams example. 7 Not to feare men. 17 The great affliction of Ierusalem, 22 and her deliuerance.

Hear me, yee that follow after righteousness, and ye that seeke the Lord: looke vnto the rocke, whence ye are hewen, and to the hole of the pit whence ye are digged.

2 Consider Abraham your father, and Sara that bare you: for I called him alone, and blessed him, and increased him.

3 Surely the Lord shall comfort Zion: he shall comfort all her desolations, and hee shall make her desert like Eden, & her wilderness like the garden of the Lord: toy and gladnesse shall be found therein: praise, and the voyce of singing.

4 Hearken yee vnto me, my people: and giue eare vnto mee, O my people: for a Law shall proceed from mee, and I will bring forth my iudgement for the light of the people.

5 My righteousness is nere: my saluation goeth forth, and mine armes shall iudge the people: the yles shall waite for mee, and shall trust vnto mine arme.

6 Lift vp your eyes to the heauens, and looke vpon the earth beneath, for the heauens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall ware olde like a garment, and they that dwell therein, shall perith in like maner: but my saluation shall bee for euer, and my righteousness shall not be abolished.

7 Hearken vnto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my Law. Feare ye not the reproch of men, neither be ye afraid of their rebukes.

8 For the moth shall eate them by like a garment, and the worme shall eate them like wooll: but my righteousness shall bee for euer, and my saluation from generation to generation.

9 Rise vp, rise vp, and put on strength, O arme of the Lord: rise vp, as in the old time in the generations of y^e world. Art not thou the same, that hath cut Rahab, and wounded the dragon?

10 Art not thou the same which hath dried the sea, euen the waters of the great deepe, making the depth of the Sea a way for the redeemed to passe ouer?

11 Therefore the redeemed of the Lord shall returne, and come with toy vnto Zion, and euerslaing toy shall be vpon their head: they shall obtayne toy and gladnesse: and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

12 Ieuen I am he that comfort you. Who art thou, that thou shouldst feare a mortall man, and the sonne of man, which shall bee made as grasse?

13 And forgettest the Lord thy maker, that hath spread out the heauens, and layed the foundations of the earth: and hast feared continually all the day, because of the rage of the oppressour, which is ready to destroy? Where is now the rage of the oppressour?

14 The captiue hasteneth to be loosed, and that he should not die in the pit, nor that his bread should faile.

15 And I am the Lord thy God that destroyed a He comforteth the Church, that they should not be discouraged for their small number.

there shall no more come into thee, the vn-

C H A P. LIIII.

1 Moe of the Gentiles shall beleue the Gospel then of the Iewes. 7 God leaueh bin for a time, to whom afterward he sheweth mercie.
 a After that he hath declared the death of Christ, hee speaketh to that diddest not trouble with child: for the Church because it should feele the fruit of the same, and calleth her barren, because that in the captivity she was as a widow without hope to haue any children. b The Church in this her affliction & captivity shall bring forth moe children then when she was at liberty: or this may be spoke by admiration considering the great number should come of her. Her deliuerance vnder Cyrus was as her childhood, and therefore this was accomplished when she came to her age, which was vnder the Gospel.

2 He is despised and reiected of men: he is a man full of sorowes, and hath experience of infirmities, wee hid as it were our faces from him: hee was despised, and wee esteemed him not.

3 Surely hee hath borne our infirmities, and caried our sorowes: yet we did iudge him as a plagued: and smitten of God, and humbled.

4 But hee was wounded for our transgressions, he was broken for our iniquities: the chastiment of our peace was vpon him, and with his stripes we are healed.

5 All we like sheepe haue gone astray, we haue turned euery one to his owne way, and the Lord hath layd vpon him the iniquity of vs all.

6 He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet did he not open his mouth: he is brought as a sheepe to the slaughter, and as a sheepe before her shearer is dumbe, so he openeth not his mouth.

7 Hee was taken out from prison, and from iudgment: and who shall declare his age? for hee was cut out of the land of the liuing: for the transgression of my people was he plagued.

8 And he made his graue with the wicked, and with the rich in his death, though hee had done no wickednes, neither was any deceit in his mouth.

9 Yet the Lord would breake him, and make him subject to infirmities: when he shall make his soule an offering for sin, he shall see his seed and shall prolong his dayes, and the will of the Lord shall prosper in his hand.

10 He shall see of the trouble of his soule and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous seruant iustifie many: for he shall beare their iniquities.

11 Therefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because he hath powred out his soule vnto death, & he was counted with the transgressours, and he bare the sinne of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

12 Wherefore will I giue him a portion with the great, and he shall diuide the spoyle with the strong, because he hath powred out his soule vnto death, & he was counted with the transgressours, and he bare the sinne of many, and prayed for the trespassers.

13 Christ by offering vp himselfe shall giue life to his Church, and so cause them to liue with him for ever.

14 That is, the fruit and effect of his labour, which is the saluation of his Church.

15 Christ shall iustifie by faith thorow his word, whereas Moses could not iustifie by the Law.

16 Because he humbled himselfe, therefore hee shall be exalted to glory, Phil. 2. 7, 8.

wife, sayth the Lord.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tents, and let them spread out the curtaines of thine habitations: spare not, stretch out thy cordes, and make fast thy stakes.

3 For thou shalt increase on the right hand and on the left, and thy seed shall possess the Gentiles and dwell in the desolate cities.

4 Feare not: for thou shalt not be ashamed, neither shalt thou bee confounded: for thou shalt not be put to shame: yea, thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproch of thy widowhood any more.

5 For he that made thee, is thine husband, (whose name is the Lord of hostes) and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel, shall be called the God of the whole world.

6 For the Lord hath called thee being as a woman forsaken, and afflicted in spirit, and as a young wife when thou wast refused, saith thy God.

7 For a little while haue I forsaken thee, but with great compassion will I gather thee.

8 For a moment in mine anger I hid my face from thee for a little season, but with everlasting mercy haue I had compassion on thee, sayth the Lord thy Redeemer.

9 For this is vnto mee as the waters of Noah: for as I haue sworne that the waters of Noah should no more goe ouer the earth, so haue I sworne that I would not be angry with thee, nor rebuke thee.

10 For the mountaines shall remoue, and the hills shall fall downe: but my mercy shall not depart from thee, neither shall the covenant of my peace fall away, sayth the Lord, that hath compassion on thee.

11 Thou afflicted and tossed with tempest that hast no comfort, behold, I will lay thy stones with the carbuncle, and lay thy foundation with sapphires.

12 And I will make thy windowes of emeraudes, and thy gates shining stones, and all thy borders of pleasant stones.

13 And all thy children shall be caught of the Lord, and much peace shall be to thy children.

14 In righteousness shalt thou bee established, & be safe from oppression: for thou shalt not feare it: and from feare, for it shall not come neere thee.

15 Behold, the enemy shall gather himselfe, but without me: whosoever shall gather himselfe in thee, against thee, shall fall.

16 Behold, I haue created the smith that bloweth the coales in the fire, and him that bringeth forth an instrument for his worke, and I haue created the destroyer to destroy.

17 But all the weapons that are made against thee, shall not prosper: and euery tongue that shall rise against thee in iudgement, thou shalt condemne. This is the heritage of the Lords seruants, but for as much as God giueth power: for seeing that all are his creatures, hee must needs gouerne and guide them.

1 An exhortation to come to Christ. 8 Gods counsels are not as mans. 12 The joy of the faithful.

a Christ by proposing his graces and gifts to his Church, exempteth the hypocrites which are full with their imagined works, and the epicures which are full with their worldly lusts, and so thirst not after these waters.

b Signifying, that Gods benedictions cannot be bought for money.

c By waters, wine, milke and bread he meaneth all things necessary to the spirituall life, as these are necessary to this corporall life.

d He reprooueth their ingratitude which refuse those things that God offereth willingly, and in the meane time spare neither cost nor labour to obtaine those which are not profitable.

e You shall be fed abundantly.

f The same covenant which I confirmed and confirmed to David, that it should be eternall.

g Meaning, Christ, of whom David was a figure.

h To wit, the Gentiles, which before thou diddest not receive to be thy people.

i When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his word.

k Hereby hee sheweth that repentance must be ioyned with faith, and how wee cannot call vpon God aright, except the fruits of our faith appeare.

l Although you are not soon reconciled one to another, and iudge me by your selues, yet I am mosteasie to be reconciled, yea, I offer my mercies to you.

m If these small things haue their effect, as daily experience sheweth, much more shall my promise which I haue made and confirmed bring to passe the things which I haue spoken for your deliuerance.

n Reade Chap. 44. 23. and 49. 13.

1 And euery one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters, and ye that haue no siluer, come, buy, and eate: come, I say, buy wine and milke without siluer and without money.

2 Wherefore doe ye lay out siluer and not for bread? and your labour without being satisfied? hearken diligently vnto mee, and eate that which is good, and let your soule delight in fatnesse.

3 Encline your eares, & come vnto mee: heare, and your soule shall liue, and I will make an euertlasting Couenant with you, euen the sure mercies of David.

4 Beholde, I gaue him for a witnesse to the people, for a prince and a master vnto the people.

5 Beholde, thou shalt call a nation that thou knowest not, and a nation that knew not thee, shall runne vnto thee, because of the Lord thy God, and the Holy one of Israel: for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seeke ye the Lord while hee may be found, call ye vpon him while he is neere.

7 Let the wicked forsake his wayes, and the vnrightheous his own imaginations, and returne vnto the Lord, and he wil haue mercy vpon him: and to our God, for he is very ready to forgive.

8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your wayes my wayes, sayeth the Lord.

9 For as the heauens are higher then the earth, so are my wayes higher then your wayes, and my thoughts about your thoughts.

10 Surely as the raine commeth downe and the snow from heauen, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it to bring forth and bud, that it may giue seed to the sower, and bread vnto him that eateth,

11 So shall my word be, that goeth out of my mouth: It shall not returne vnto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I will, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

12 Therefore ye shall go out with joy, and be ledde forth with peace: the mountaines and the hilles shall breake forth before you into joy, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

13 For thornes, there shall growe firre and myrtle, and the Gentiles, which before thou diddest not receive to be thy people.

14 When he offereth himselfe by the preaching of his word.

15 Hereby hee sheweth that repentance must be ioyned with faith, and how wee cannot call vpon God aright, except the fruits of our faith appeare.

trēs: for nettles shall growe the myrtle tree, and it shall be to the Lord for a name, and for an euertlasting signe that shall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

1 An exhortation to iudgement and iustice. 10 Against shepheards that denoure their flocke.

1 Thus sayeth the Lord, Keepe iudgement and doe iustice: for my saluation is at hand to come, and my righteousness to be reuealed.

2 Blessed is the man that doth this, and the sonne of man which layeth holde on it: he that keepeth the Sabbath and polluteth it not, and keepeth his hand from doing any euill.

3 And let not the sonne of the stranger, which is ioyned to the Lord, speake and say, The Lord hath surely separate mee from his people: neither let the Eunuch say, Behold, I am a drie tree.

4 For thus sayeth the Lord vnto the Eunuchs that keepe my Sabbaths, and chuse the thing that pleaseth mee, and take holde of my couenant,

5 Euen vnto them will I giue in mine house and within my walles, a place and a name, better then of the sonnes and of the daughters: I will giue them an euertlasting name, that shall not be put out.

6 Also the strangers that cleaue vnto the Lord, to serue him, & to loue the Name of the Lord, and to be his seruants: euery one that keepeth the Sabbath, and polluteth it not and embraceth my couenant,

7 Them will I bring also to mine holy mountaine, and make them ioyfull in mine house of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted vpon mine altar: for mine house shall be called an house of prayer for all people.

8 The Lord God sayth, which gathereth the scattered of Israel, Yet will I gather to them, those that are to be gathered to them.

9 All ye beasts of the field come to deuoure, euen all ye beasts of the forest.

10 Their watchmen are all blind: they haue no knowledge: they are all dumbe dogs: they cannot barked: they lie and sleepe and delight in sleeping.

11 And these greedy dogs can neuer haue enough: and these shepheards cannot understand: for they all looke to their owne way, euery one for his aduantage, and for his owne purpose.

12 Come, I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

13 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

17 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

18 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

19 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

20 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

21 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

22 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

23 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

24 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

25 I will bring wine, and we will fill our selues with strong drinke, and to morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant.

To set forth his glory.

a God sheweth what hee requireth of them after that hee hath deliuered them, to wit, the works of charity, whereby true faith is declared.

b Which I will declare toward you, and powre into your hearts by my spirit.

c Vnder the Sabbath he comprehendeth the whole seruice of God and true religion.

d Let none think himselfe vnmeet to receive the graces of the Lord: for if Lord will take away all impediments, & will forsake none which will keepe his true religion

e Meaning, in his Church.

f They shall be called after my people, and be of the same religion: yea, vnder

Christ the dignity of the faith shall be greater then the Iews were at that time.

g Hereby hee meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, to whom the faithfull offer cōtinual thanksgiving, yea, themselves and all that they haue as a liuely and acceptable sacrifice.

h Not onely for the Iewes, but for all others, Matth. 23. 13

i Meaning the enemies of the Church, as the Babylonians, Assyrians, &c. Thus hee speaketh to feare the hypocrites, and to assure the faithful, that when this commeth, they may know it was told them before.

h Hee sheweth that this affliction shall come through the fault of the gouernours, prophets, & pastors, whose ignorance, negligence, auarice, and obstinacy prouoked Gods wrath against them.

i We are well yet, & to morrow shall be better: therefore let vs not feare the plagues, before they come: thus the wicked contemne the admonitions and exhortations, which were made them in the Name of God.

CHAP. LVII.

1. God taketh away the good, that hee should not see the horrible plagues, to come. 3. Of the wicked idolaters, 9. And their vaine confidence.

The righteous perisheth, and no man considereth it in heart: and mercifull men are taken away, and no man understandeth that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come.

2. Peace shall come: they shall rest in their beds, every one that walketh before him.

3. But you: witches children, come hither, the seede of the adulterer, and of the whore.

5. Inflamed with idols vnder every green tree, and sacrificing the children in the valleys vnder the tops of the rocks?

6. Thy portion is in the smooth stones of the river: they, they are thy lot: enen to them hast thou poured a drinke offering: thou hast offered a sacrifice, Should I delight in that?

7. Thou hast made thy bed upon a very high mountaine: thou wentest by thither, euen thither wentest thou to offer sacrifice.

8. Behinde the doores also and postes hast thou set by thy remembrance: for thou hast discovered thy selfe to another then mee, and wentest by, and diddest enlarge thy bed, and make a covenant betweene thee and them, and loudest their bed in every place where thou sawest it.

9. Thou wentest to the king with oyle, and didst increase thine oymments, and send thy messengers farre off, and didst humble thy selfe vnto hell.

10. Thou weariedst thy selfe in thy manifold iourneys: yet saydest thou not, There is no hope: thou hast found life by thine hand, therefore thou wast not grieved.

11. And whom diddest thou reuerence of feare, seeing thou hast lyed vnto me, & hast not remembered mee, neither set thy minde thereon? is it not because I holde my peace, and that of long time? therefore thou fearest not me.

12. I wil declare thy righteousness and thy workes, and they shall not profit thee.

13. When thou cryest, let them that thou hast found, they made an idole of it. In the sacrifices which you offering before these idoles, thought you did serue God. To wit, thine altars in an open place like an impudent harlot, that careth not for the sight of her husband. In stead of setting vp the word of God in the open places on the posts and doores to haue it in remembrance, Deut. 6. 9. and 27. 1. thou hast set vp signes and markes of thine idolatrie in every place. That is, didst increase thine idolatrie more and more. Thou diddest seeke the fauour of the Assyrians by gifts & presents, to helpe thee against the Egyptians: and when they failed, thou soughtest to the Babylonians and more and more didst torment thy selfe. Although thou sawest all thy labours to bee in vaine, yet wouldest thou neuer acknowledge thy fault, and leaue off. He derideth their vnprofitable diligence which thought to haue made al sure, & yet were deceived. Broken promise with me. Meaning, that the wicked abuse Gods lenity, and grow to further wickednesse. That is, thy naughtyne, idolatries and impieties, which the wicked call Gods seruice: thus he derideth their obstinacie.

hast gathered together, Deliuere thee: but shee q Meaning the wound shall take them all away: vanity shall, Assyrians and pull them away: but he that trusteth in me, other, whose shall inherite the land, and shall possesse mine helpe they looked for.

14. And he shall say, Cast by, cast by: prepare the way: take out the stumbling blocks out of the way of my people.

15. For thus saith he, that is high and ex-celent, hee that inhabiteth the eternitie, my power a-whole Name is the holy One. I dwell in the gainst fraile man hie and holy place: with him also that is of a whose life is but contrite and humble spirit, to reuiue the spirit of the humble, & to giue life to them that are of a contrite heart.

16. For I will not contend for ever, neither will I be alwayes wroth: for the spirit should faile before me: and I haue made the breath.

17. For his wicked countenance I am angry with him, and haue smitten him: I hid me and was angry, yet hee went away, and turned after the way of his owne heart.

18. I haue keene his wayes, & will heale him: I will leade him also, and restore comfort vnto him, and to those that lament him.

19. I create the fruit of the lippes to bee peace: peace vnto them that are farre off, and to them that are neere, sayth the Lord: for I will heale him.

20. But the wicked are like the raging sea, that can not rest, whose waters cast by mire and dirt.

21. There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.

science doth euer torment them, and therefore they can neuer haue rest. Reade Chap. 48. 22.

CHAP. LVIII.

1. The office of Gods ministers. 2. The works of the hypocrites. 6. The fast of the faithfull. 13. Of the true Sabbath.

Cry aloud, spare not: lift up thy voyce like a trumpet, and shew my people their transgression, & to the house of Iacob their finnes.

2. Yet they seeke mee daily, and will know my wayes, euen as a nation that did righteously, and had not forsaken the statutes of their God: they aske of me the ordinances of iustice: they will draw neere vnto God, saying,

3. Wherefore haue we fasted, and thou seest it not? we haue punished our selues, and thou regardest it not. Behold in the day of your fast you wil seeke your wil, and require all your debts.

4. Behold, ye fast to strife and debate, and to limite with the fist of wickednesse: ye shall not fast as ye doe to day, to make your voyce to be heard aboue.

5. Is it such a fast that I haue chosen, that a man should afflict his soule for a day, and to bow downe his head as a bulrush, and to lie downe in sackcloth and ashes? wilt thou call this a fasting, or an acceptable day to the Lord?

6. Is not this the fasting that I haue chosen, that they faile not religion. So long as ye vse contention and oppression, your fasting and prayers shall not be heard, chosen.

f That you leaue off all your ex-tortions.

7 Is it not to deale thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poore that wander, vnto thine house? when thou seest the naked, that thou couer him, and hide not thy selfe from thine owne flesh.

8 Then shall thy light breake forth as the morning, and thine heales shall growe speedily: thy righteousnesse shall goe before thee, and the glory of the Lord shall embrace thee.

9 Then shalt thou call, and the Lord shall answer: thou shalt cry, and he shall say, Here I am: if thou take away from the middest of thee the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and wicked speaking:

10 If thou putte out thy soule to the hungry, and refresh the troubled soule: then shall thy light spring out in the darkenesse, and thy darknesse shall be as the noone day.

11 And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satiffie thy soule in drought, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters faile not.

12 And they shall bee of thee, that shall build the olde waste places: thou shalt raise vp the foundations for many generations, and thou shalt bee called the repayer of the breach, and the restorer of the paths to dwell in.

13 If thou turne away thy foote from the Sabbath, from doing thy will on mine holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight to congregate it, as glorious to the Lord, & shalt honour him, not doing thine owne wayes, nor seeking thine owne will, nor speaking a vaine word,

14 Then shalt thou delight in the Lord, and I will cause thee to mount vpon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Iacob thy father: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

3 The wicked perish through their own iniquities.
4 The confession of sinnes, 16 God alone will preserue his Church though all men faile.

Behold, the Lords hand is not shortned, Behold it cannot saue: neither is his eare heavy, that it cannot heare.

2 But your iniquities haue separated betweene you and your God, and your sinnes haue hid his face from you, that hee will not heare.

3 For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquitie: your lippes haue spoken lyes, and your tongue hath murmured iniquitie.

4 As man calleth for iustice: no man contendeth for trueth: they trust in vanity, and speake vaine things: they conceiue mischief, and bring forth iniquity.

5 They hatch cockatrice egges, and weave the spiders webbe: he that eateth of their egges, dieth, and that which is trod vpon, breaketh out into a serpent.

6 Their webbes shall bee no garment, neither shall they couer themselves with their labours: for their works are works of iniquitie, and the worke of crueltie is in their hands.

7 Their feet run to euill, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are wicked thoughts: desolation & destruction is in their paths.

8 The way of peace they know not, and there is none equitie in their goings: they haue made them crooked paths: whosoever goeth therein, shall not know peace.

9 Therefore is iudgement farre from vs, neither doeth iustice come neere vnto vs: we waite for light, but loe it is darknes: for brightnesse, but we walke in darknesse.

10 We grope for the wall like the blind, and we grope as one without eyes: we stumble at the noone day as in the twilight: we are in solitarie places, as dead men.

11 We roare all like beares, and mourne like doves: wee looke for equitie, but there is none: for health, but it is farre from vs.

12 For our trespasses are many before thee, and our sinnes testifie against vs: for our trespasses are with vs, and we know our iniquities.

13 In trespassing and lying against the Lord, and we haue departed away from our God, and haue spoken of cruelty and rebellion, conceiuing and uttering out of the heart false matters.

14 Therefore iudgement is turned backward, and iustice standeth farre off: for trueth is fallen in the street, and equitie cannot enter.

15 Pea, trueth faileth, and he that refraineth from euil, maketh himselfe a pray: and when the Lord saw it, it displeased him, that there was no iudgement.

16 And when hee saw that there was no man, he wondered that none would offer himselfe. Therefore his arme did claue it, and his righteousness he did sustaine it.

17 For he put on righteousness as an habergeon, and an helmet of saluation vpon his head, and he put on the garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeale as a cloke.

18 As to make recompense, as to requite the furie of the aduersaries with a recompense to his enemies: hee will fully repay the Islands.

19 So shall they feare the Name of the Lord from the West, and his glory from the rising of the sunne: for the enemy shall come like a flood: but the Spirit of the Lord shall chase him away.

20 And the Redeemer shall come vnto Zion, and vnto them that turne from iniquity in Iacob, saith the Lord.

21 And I will make this my Covenant with them, saith the Lord, My Spirit shall be vpon thee, and my wordes, which I haue put in thy mouth, shall not de-

3 The Gentiles shall come to the knowledge of the Gospel. 8 They shall come to the Church in abundance. 16 They shall have abundance, though they suffer for a time.

A Rise, O Ierusalem, bee bright, for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee.

2 For behold, darknesse shall cover the earth, and grosse darknesse the people: but the Lord shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be shene upon thee.

3 And the Gentiles shall walke in thy light, and Kings at the brightness of thy rising up.

4 Lift up thine eyes round about, and behold: all these are gathered, and come to thee: thy sonnes shall come from farre, and thy daughters shall bee nourished at thy side.

5 Then thou shalt see & shine: thine heart shall be enlarged, and enlarged, because the multitude of the sea shall be converted unto thee, and the riches of the Gentiles shall come unto thee.

6 The multitude of camels shall cover thee: and the dromedaries of Midian and of Ephab: all they of Sheba shall come: they shall bring gold and incense, and shew forth the praises of the Lord.

7 All the sheepe of Kedar shall be gathered unto thee: the rammes of Rabath shall serve thee: they shall come up to be accepted upon mine altar: and I will beautifie the house of my glory.

8 What are these that flie like a cloude, and as the doves to their windowes?

9 Surely the vles shall wait for me, and the ships of Tarshish, as at the beginning, that they may bring thy sonnes from farre, and their silver and their golde with them, unto the Name of the Lord thy God, and to the Holy one of Israel, because he hath glorified thee.

10 And the sons of strangers shall build up thy walles, and their Kings shall minister unto thee: for in my wrath I smote thee, but in my mercy I had compassion on thee.

11 Therefore thy gates shall be open continually: neither day nor night shall they be shut: that men may bring unto thee the riches of the Gentiles, and that their kings may be brought.

12 Because the altar was a figure of Christ, Hebr. 13. 10. he sheweth that nothing can be acceptable to him: which is not offered to him by this altar, who was both the offering and the altar it selfe. i. Shewing what great number shall come to the Church, and with what great diligence and zeale.

k The Gentiles that are now enemies, shall become friends, and fetters forth of the Church. l Meaning, Cyrus and his successors, but chiefly this is accomplished in them that serve Christ, being converted by his Gospel.

12 For the nation and the kingdom, that will not serve thee, shall perish: and those nations shall be utterly destroyed.

13 The glory of Lebanon shall come unto thee, the fere tree, the elme and the bore tree together, to beautifie the place of my Sanctuary: for I will glorifie the place of my seate.

14 The sonnes also of them that afflicted thee, shall come and bow unto thee: and all they that despised thee, shall fall downe at the soles of thy feet: and they shall call thee, The city of the Lord, Zion of the Holy one of Israel.

15 Whereas thou hast bene forsaken and hated, so that no man went by thee, I will make thee an eternall glory, and a joy from generation to generation.

16 Thou shalt also sucke the milke of the Gentiles, and shalt sucke the breasts of kings: and thou shalt know, that I the Lord am thy Saviour, and thy Redeemer, the Mighty one of Iacob.

17 For brass will I bring gold, and for yron will I bring silver, and for wood brass, and for stones yron. I will also make thy government peace, and thine exactours righteousness.

18 Violence shall no more be heard of in thy land, neither desolation, nor destruction, within thy borders: but thou shalt call saluation thy walles, and praise thy gates.

19 Thou shalt haue no more Sunne to shine by day, neither shall the brightness of the Moone shine unto thee: for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and thy God, thy glory.

20 Thy Sunne shall neuer goe down, neither shall thy moone be hid: for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and the dayes of thy sorrow shall be ended.

1 The great desire that the Prophets haue had for Christes coming. 6 The diligence of the Pastors to preach a The Prophet saith that he will neuer cease to declare vnto the people the good tidings of their deliuerance.

b Til they haue full deliuerance: and this the Prophet speaketh to encourage all other ministers to the setting forth of Gods mercies toward his Church. c Thou shalt haue a more excellent fame then thou hast had hitherto. d He shall esteeme thee as deare and precious, as a king doth his crowne.

FOR Zions sake I will not holde my tongue, and for Ierusalem sake I wil not rest, vntill the righteounesse thereof breake forth as the light, and saluacion thereof as a burning lampe.

2 And the Gentiles shall see thy righteounesse, & all kings thy glory: and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name.

3 Thou shalt also be a crowne of glory in the hand of the Lord, & a royal diademe in the hand of thy God.

4 It shall no more be said vnto thee, For- saken, neither shall it be said any more to thy land, Desolate, but thou shalt bee called // Vephti-bah, and thy land // Beulah: for the Lord delighteth in thee, and thy land shall haue an husband.

5 For as a young man marrieth a virgin, so shall thy sonnes & marrie thee: and as a bridegroom is glad of the bride, so shall thy God reioyce ouer thee.

6 I haue set watchmen vpon thy wals, O Ierusalem, which all the day and all the night continually shall not cease: yee that are mindfull of the Lord, keepe not silence,

7 And giue him no rest, till hee repaire, and vntill he be set by Ierusalem the praise of the world.

8 The Lord hath sworn by his right hand and by his strong arme, Surely I will no more giue thy come to be meate for thine enemies, and surely the sonnes of the strangers shall not drinke thy wine, for the which thou hast laboured.

9 But they that haue gathered it, shall eat it, and praise the Lord, and the gatherers thereof shall drinke it in the courts of my Sanctuary.

10 Goe thowow, goe thowow the gates: prepare you the way for the people: cast vp, cast vp the way, and gather out the stones, and set vp a standard for the people.

11 Behold, the Lord hath proclaimed vnto the ends of the world: tell the daughter Zion, Behold, thy Sautour cometh: behold, his wages with him, & his worke is before him.

12 And they shall call them the holy people, The redeemed of the Lord, & thou shalt be named, A city sought out, & not forsaken.

The world shall praise him. 1 Signifying the great number that should come to the Church, and what meane he would prepare for the restitution of the same, as chap. 57. 14. m Yee Prophets and ministers shew people of this their deliuerance which was chiefly meant of our saluation by Christ, Zec. 9. 9. WHO is this that cometh from Bozrah, with red garments from Bozrah: he is glorious in his apparell, and wal- keth in his great strength. I speake in righteounesse, and am mightie to saue.

2 Therefore is thine apparell red, and thy garments like him that treadeth in the winepresse?

3 I haue troden the winepresse alone, and of all people there was none with mee: for them in Bozrah, the chiefe city of the Idumeans: for these were their greatest enemies, and vnder the title of circumcision, and the kindred of Abraham, claimed to themselves the chiefe religion, and hated the true worshippers, Psal. 137. 7. b God answered them that asked this question, Who is this? &c. and saith, Yee see now performed in deede the vengeance which my Prophets threatened. c Another question to the which the Lord answereth.

f I will so astonish them, and make them to giddy, that they shall not know which way to goe.

g The Prophet speaketh this to moue the people to remember Gods benefits in times past, that they may be confirmed in their troubles.

h For I did chuse them to be mine, that they should be holy, and not deceive mine expectation.

i He bare their afflictions and griefes as though they had bene his owne.

k Which was a witnesse of Gods presence: and this may be referred to Christ, to whom belongeth the office of saluation.

called to remembrance Gods benefits, which he had bestowed vpon their fathers in times past. m Meaning, Moses. n That is, in Moses, that hee might well gouerne the people: some referre this giuing of the Spirit to the people. o Peaceably and gently, as an horse is led to his pasture. p Having declared Gods benefits shewed to their forefathers, hee turneth himselfe to God by prayer, desiring them to continue the same graces toward them. q Thy great affection which thou barest toward vs. r Meaning, from the whole body of the Church. s Though Abraham would refuse vs to be his children, yet thou wilt not refuse to be our Father.

I will tread them in mine anger, and tread them under foot in my wrath, and their blood shall be sprinkled vpon my garments, and I will staine all my raiment.

4 For the day of vengeance is in mine heart, and the yeere of my redeemed is come.

5 And I looked, and there was none to helpe, & I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore mine owne arme helped me, and my wrath it selfe sustained me.

6 Therefore I will tread downe the people in my wrath, and make them drunken in mine indignation, and will bring downe their strength to the earth.

7 I will remember the mercies of the Lord, & the praises of the Lord according vnto all that the Lord hath giuen vs, and for the great goodnesse toward the house of Israel, which he hath giuen them according to his tender loue, and according to his great mercies.

8 For he saith, Surely they are my people, children that will not lie: so he was their Saviour.

9 In all their troubles he was troubled, and the Angel of his presence saued them: in his loue and in his mercie hee redeemed them, and he bare them and caried them alwayes continually.

10 But they rebelled, and vexed his holy Spirit: therefore was hee turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 Then hee remembered the old time of Moses and his people, saying, Where is hee that brought them vp out of the sea with the shepheard of his sheepe? where is he that put his holy Spirit within him?

12 He led them by the right hand of Moses with his owne glorious arme, diuiding the water before them, to make himselfe an euermourning Name.

13 He led them through the deepe as an horse in the wilderness, that they should not stumble.

14 As the beast goeth downe into the valley, the Spirit of the Lord gaue them rest: so diddest thou leade thy people, to make thy selfe a glorious Name.

15 I looke downe from heauen, and behold, from the dwelling place of thine holiness, and of thy glory. Where is thy zeale and thy strength, the multitude of thy mercies, and of thy compassions? they are restrained from me.

16 Doubtes thou art our father: though Abraham be ignorant of vs, and Israel know vs not, yet thou, O Lord, art our Father, and our Redeemer: thy Name is for euer.

17 O Lord, why hast thou made vs to erre from thy wayes? and hardened our heart from thy feare? Returne for thy seruants sake, and for the tribe of thine inheritance.

18 The people of thine holiness haue possessed it but a little while: for our adversaries haue troden downe thy Sanctuarie.

19 We haue bene as they, ouer whom thou neuer barest rule, and vpon whom thy name was not called.

u Meaning, for the covenants sake made to Abraham, Isaac and Iacob his seruants. x That is, in respect of the promise which is perpetual: albeit they had now possessed the land of Canaan a thousand and foure hundred yeres: and thus they lament, to moue God rather to remember his covenant, then to punish their sinnes.

CHAP. LXXIIII.

1 The Prophet prayeth for the sinnes of the people.

6 Mans righteousnesse is like a filthy cloth.

O that thou wouldst breake the heauens, and come down, and that the mountaines might melt at thy presence!

2 As the melting fire burned, as the fire caused the waters to boyle, (that thou mightest declare thy Name to thy adversaries) the people did tremble at thy presence.

3 When thou diddest terrible things, which were looked not for, thou camest downe, and the mountaines melted at thy presence.

4 For since the beginning of the world they haue not heard nor understood with the eare, neither hath the eye seene another God beside thee, which doth so to him that waiteth for him.

5 Thou diddest meet him that reioyced in thee, and did iustly: they remembered thee in thy wayes: behold, thou art angry, for we haue sinned: yet in them is continuance, and we shall be saued.

6 But we haue all bene as an uncleane thing, and all our righteousnesse is as filthy clouts, and wee doe all fade like a leafe, and our iniquities like the winde haue taken vs away.

7 And there is none that callith vpon thy Name, neither that stirreth vp himselfe to take hold of thee: for thou hast hid thy face from vs, and hast consumed vs because of our iniquities.

8 But now, O Lord, thou art our father: though we are the clay, and thou art our potter, and we all are the worke of thine hands.

9 Bee not angry, O Lord, about meane sure, neither remember iniquitie for euer, loe, we beseech thee, behold, we are all thy people.

Lord. g Thou wilt haue pitie vpon vs. h We are iustly punished and brought in to captivity, because we haue prouoked thee to anger, and though we would excuse our selues, yet our righteousness and best vertues are before thee as vile clouts, or, (as some reade) like the menstruous clothes of a woman. i Albeit, O Lord, by thy iust iudgement thou maiest utterly destroy vs, as the potter may his pot, yet we appeale to thy mercies, whereby it hath pleased thee to adopt vs to be thy children. k For so the flesh iudgeth when God doeth not immediatly send succour.

10 ¹ Thine holy cities lie waste: Zion is a wilderness, and Jerusalem a desert.

11 The house of our Sanctuary and of our glory, where our fathers praised thee, is burnt by wick fire, and all our pleasant things are wasted.

CHAP. LXV.

1 The vocation of the Gentiles and the reuersion of the Iewes. 13 The ioy of the elect, and the punishment of the wicked.

I haue bene sought of them that asked me not: I was found of them that sought mee not: I sayde, Beholde mee, beholde mee, vnto a nation that called not vpon my Name.

2 I haue spread out mine hands all the day vnto a rebellious people, which walked in a way that was not good, euen after their owne imaginations:

3 A people that prouoked me euer vnto my face: that sacrificeth in gardens, and burneth incense vpon bricks.

4 Which remaine among the granes, and lodge in the deserts, which eat swines flesh, and the byotch of things polluted are in their vessels.

5 Which say, Stand apart, come not neere to me: for I am holier then thou: these are a smoke in my wrath, and a fire that burneth all the day.

6 Behold, it is written before me: I will not keepe silence, but will render it and recompense it into their bosome.

7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers shall bee together (sayeth the Lord) which haue burnt incense vpon the mountaines, and blasphemed mee vpon the hill: therefore will I measure their olde worke in their bosome.

8 Thus sayeth the Lord, As wine is found in the cluster, and one saith, Destroy it not, for a blessing is in it, so wil I do for my seruants sakes, that I may not destroy them whole.

9 But I will bring a seed out of Iacob, and out of Iudah, that shall inherit my mountaine: and mine elect shall inherit it, and my seruants shall dwell there.

10 And Sharon shall bee a shepfold, and the valley of Achor shall be a resting place for the cattell of my people that haue sought me.

g Which was contrary to Gods commandement, Leuit. 11. 7. deut. 14. 8. h Hee sheweth that hypocrisie is euer ioynd with pride and contempt of others. i. Their punishment shall neuer haue ende. k So that the remembrance thereof cannot be forgotten. l Shall be both punished together: and this declareth how the children are punished for their fathers faults: to wit, when the same faults or like are found in them. m That is, it is profitable: meaning, that God will not destroy the faithfull branches of his vineyard, when he destroyeth the rotten stocks, that is, the hypocrites. n Which was a plentiful place in Iudea, to feed sheepe as Achor was for cattell.

11 But ye are they that haue forsaken the Lord, and forgotten mine holy Mountaine, and haue prepared a table for the multitude, and furnish the drink offerings vnto the number.

12 Therefore will I number you to the sword, and all you shall bow downe to the slaughter, because I called, and ye did not answer: I spake and ye heard not, but did euill in my sight, and did chuse that thing which I would not.

13 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Beholde, my seruants shall eate, and ye shall bee hungry: beholde, my seruants shall drinke, and ye shall be thirstie: beholde, my seruants shall reioyce, and ye shall be ashamed.

14 Beholde, my seruants shall sing for ioy of heart, and ye shall cry for sorrow of heart, and shall howle for vexation of minde.

15 And ye shall leaue your name as a curse vnto my chosen: for the Lord God shall slay you, and call his seruants by another name.

16 He that shall blesse in the earth, shall blesse himselfe in the true God, and hee that sweareth in the earth, shall sweare by the true God: for the former troubles are forgotten, and shall surely hide themselves from mine eyes.

17 For Ioe, I will create a new heauens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembred nor come into minde.

18 But bee you glad and reioyce for euer in the things that I shall create: for behold, I will create Jerusalem as a reioyng, and her people as a ioy.

19 And I will reioyce in Jerusalem, and ioy in my people, and the voyce of weeping shall bee no more heard in her, nor the voyce of crying.

20 There shall be no more there a childe of yeeres, nor an olde man that hath not filled his dayes: for hee that shall be an hundred yeeres old, shall die as a yong man: but the sinner bring an hundred yeeres olde, shall be accursed.

21 And they shall build houses and inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them.

22 They shall not build, and another inhabit: they shall not plant, and another eat: for as the dayes of the tree are the dayes of my people, and mine elect shall enioy in old age the worke of their hands.

23 They shall not labour in vaine, nor bring forth in feare, for they are the seede of the blessed of the Lord, and their budde

1 God dwelleth not in Temples made with hands, 3 Hee despiseth sacrifices done without mercy and faith, 5 God comforteth them that are troubled for his sake, 19 The vocation of the Gentiles, 23 The perpetual Sabbath, 24 The punishment of the wicked in everlasting.

Ad. 7. 48, 49.

a My maiestie is so great, that it filleth both heauen and earth, and therefore cannot be included in a Temple like an idole: condemning hereby their vaine confidence, which trusted in the Temple and sacrifices. b Seeing that both the Temple and the things therein with the sacrifices, were made and done by his appointment, he sheweth that he hath no need thereof, and that he can be without them, Psal. 50. 10. c To him that is humble and pure in heart, which receiveth my doctrine with reverence and feare, d Because the Jewes thought themselves holy by offering of their sacrifices, and in the meane season had neither faith nor repentance, God sheweth that he doth no lesse detest these ceremonies, then he doth the sacrifices of the heathen, who offered men, dogs & swine to their idoles, which things were expressly forbidden in the Law. e I will discover their wickednesse and hypocrisie, herewith they thinke to blinde mine eyes, to all the world. f He encourageth the faithfull by promising to destroy their enemies which pretended to be as brethren, but were hypocrites, & hated them that feared God. g The enemies that shortly heare a more terrible voyce, even fire and slaughter, seeing they would not heare the gentle voyce of the Prophets which called them to repentance. h Meaning, that the restauration of the Church should be so sudden and contrary to all mens opinions, as when a woman is deliuered before she looke for it, and that without paine in travell.

Thus sayeth the Lord, * The heauen is my throne, and the earth is my footstole: where is that house that ye will build unto me? and where is that place of my rest?

2 For all these things hath mine hand made, and all these things haue bene, saith the Lord: and to him will I looke, even to him that is pure, and of a contrite spirit, and trembleth at my word.

3 Hee that killeth a bullocke, is as if hee slew a man: he that sacrificeth a sheepe, as if he cut off a dogs necke: he that offereth an oblation, as if he offered swines blood: hee that remembereth incense, as if hee blessed an idole: yea, they haue chosen their owne wayes: and their soule delighteth in their abominations.

4 Therefore will I chase out their delusions, and I will bring their feare upon them, because I called, and none would answer: I spake, and they would not heare: but they did euill in my sight, and chose the things, which I would not.

5 Hear the word of the Lord, all ye that tremble at his word, Your brethren that hated you, and cast you out for my Names sake, said, Let the Lord be glorified: but hee shall appeare to your ioy, and they shall be ashamed.

6 A voyce soundeth from the cite, even a voyce from the Temple, the voyce of the Lord, that recompenseth his enemies fully.

7 Before hee trauailed, hee brought forth: and before her paine came, shee was deliuered of a man child.

8 Who hath heard such a thing? who hath seene such things? Shall the earth bee brought forth in one day? or shall a nation be borne at once? for as some as Zion trauailed, shee brought forth her children.

9 Shall I cause to trauell, & not bring forth? shall I cause to bring forth and shall be barren, saith the Lord.

10 Reioyce ye with Jerusalem, and bee glad with her, all ye that loue her: reioyce for ioy with her, all ye that mourne for her.

11 What ye may sucke, and be satisfied with the breasts of her consolation: that ye may milke out, and be delighted with the brightness of her glory.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I will extend peace ouer her like a flood, and the glory of the Gentiles like a flowing streame: then shall sucke, ye shall be borne upon her sides, and be ioyfull upon her knees.

13 As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you, and ye shall be comforted in Jerusalem.

14 And when ye see this, your heart shall reioyce, and your bones shall flourish like an herbe: and the hand of the Lord shall be known among his servants, and his indignation against his enemies.

15 For behold, the Lord will come with fire, and his chariots like a whirle winde, that he may recompense his anger with wrath, and his indignation with the flame of fire.

16 For the Lord will iudge with fire, and with his sword all flesh, and the slain of the Lord shall be many.

17 They that sanctifie themselves, and purifie themselves in the gardens behinde one tree in the middes eating swines flesh, and such abominations, euen the mouse, shall be consumed together, saith the Lord.

18 For I will visit their workes, and their imaginations: for it shall come that I will gather all nations and tongues, and they shall come, and see my glory.

19 And I will set a signe among them, and will send those that escape of them, vnto the nations of Carthage, ¹ Pull, and ² Lud, and to them that draw the bow, to ³ Tubal, and ⁴ Javan, Iles a farre off, that haue not heard my fame, neither haue seene my glory, and they shall declare my glory among the Gentiles.

20 And they shall bring all your brethren for an offering vnto the Lord out of all i This shall passe the capacite of man to see such a multitude, that shall come vp at once, neare it, vnder the preaching of the Gospel, wherof, they that came vp out of Babylon, were a figure. k Declaring hereby, that as by his power and providence woman traueileth, and is deliuered: so hath he power to bring forth his Church at his time appointed. l That yemay reioyce for all the benefits that God bestoweth vpon his Church, m I will giue her felicitie and prosperitie in great abundance. n Read Chap. 60. 16. o Ye shall be cherished as her dearly beloued children. p Ye shall haue new strength and new beauty. q This vengeance God began to execute at the destruction of Babylon, and hath euer continued it against the enemies of his Church, and will doe till the last day, which shall be the accomplishment thereof.

r Meaning, the hypocrites. s Wherby are meant them that did maliciously transgresse the Law, by eating beasts forbidden, euen to the mouse which nature abhorreth. t The Gentiles shall bee partakers of that glory which before I shewed to the Jewes. u I will marke these that I chuse, that they perish not with the rest of the infidels, whereby he alludeth to the marking of the postes of his people whom he preserved, Exod. 12. 7 x I will scatter the rest of the Jewes which escape destruction, into diuers nations. y That is, Cilicia. z Meaning, Affrica. a To wit, Lydia, or Asia minor. b Signifying the Parthians. c Italy. d Grecia. e Meaning, the Apostles, Disciples, and others, which hee did first chuse of the Jewes to preach vnto the Gentiles. f That is, the Gentiles which by faith shall bee made the children of Abraham as you are.

22 For as the new heavens, and the new earth which I will make, shall remaine before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seed and your name continue.

23 And from moneth to moneth, & from Sabbath to Sabbath, shall all flesh come to worship before me, saith the Lord.

godly, so doeth he shew what horrible calamitie shall come to the wicked, that are out of the Church. l Meaning, a continuall torment of conscience, which shall euer gnaw them, and neuer suffer them to be at rest, Marke 9. 44. m This is, the iust recompense for the wicked, which contemning God and his word, shall be by Gods iust iudgement abhorred of all his creatures.

k As he hath declared the felicie that shall be within the Church for the comfort of the Jeremiah.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Jeremiah borne in the citie of Anathoth in the countrey of Benjamin, was the sonne of Hilkiah, whom some thinke to be he that found out the booke of the Law, and gave it to Iosiah. This Prophet had excellent giftes of God, and most evident revelations of prophesie, so that by the commandement of the Lord he began very yong to prophesie, that is, in the thirtieth yeere of Iosiah, and continued eightene yeeres vnder the said King, and three moneths vnder Jehoahaz, and vnder Jehoikim eleuen yeeres, and three moneths vnder Jehoiachin, and vnder Zedekiah eleuen yeeres: vnto the time that they were caryed away into Babylon. So that this time amounteth to aboue fortie yeeres, beside the time that he prophesied after the captiuitie. In this booke he declareth with teares and lamentation, the destruction of Ierusalem, and the captiuitie of the people for their idolatrie, couetousnesse, subtiltie, crueltie, excesse, rebellion and contempt of Gods word: and for the consolation of the Church, revealeth the iust time of their deliuerance. And here chiefly are to be considered three things. First the rebellion of the wicked, which waxe more stubborne and obstinate, when the Prophets doe admonish them most plainly of their destruction. Next how the Prophets and ministers of God ought not to be discouraged in their vocation, though they be persecuted and rigorously handled of the wicked for Gods cause. And thirdly though God shew his iust iudgement against the wicked, yet will he, euer shew himselfe a preserver of his Church, and when all meanes seeme to mans iudgement to be abolished, then will he declare himselfe victorious in preserving his.

CHAP. I.

1 In what time Ieremiah prophesied. 6 He acknowledgeth his imperfection, and is strengthened of the Lord. 11 The Lord sheweth him the destruction of Ierusalem. 17 He commandeth him to preach his word without feare.

a That is, the sermons and prophesies. b Which is thought to be he that found the booke of the Law vnder king Iosiah, 2 Kings 22. 8. c This was a citie about three miles distant from Ierusalem, and belonged to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, Iosua 21. 18.

d This is spoken to confirme his vocation and office: forasmuch as he did not presume of himselfe to preach and prophesie, but was called thereunto by God. e Meaning, the nephew of Iosiah: for Jehoahaz was his father, who reigned but three moneths, & therefore is not mentioned, no more is Ioachim that reigned no longer.

h words of Ieremiah the son of Hilkiah one of the Priests that were at Anathoth in the land of Benjamin. 2 To whom the word of the Lord came in the dayes of Iosiah the son of Amon king of Iudah in the thirtieth yeere of his reigne: 3 And also in the dayes of Jehoakim, the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, vnto the end of the eleventh yeere of Zedekiah.

the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, even vnto the carying away of Ierusalem captiue in the first moneth.

4 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Before I formed thee in the wombe, I knew thee, and before thou camest out of the wombe, I sanctified thee, and ordered thee to be a Prophet vnto the nations.

6 Then said I, Oh, Lord God, behold, I cannot speake for I am a child.

7 But the Lord saide vnto me, Say not, I am a child: for thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoeuer I command thee, shalt thou speake.

8 Be not afraid of their faces: for I am with thee to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

9 Then the Lord stretched out his hand as Isa. 49. 1. Galat. 1. 15. h For Ieremiah did not onely prophesie against the Iewes, but also against the Egyptians, Babylonians, Moabites and other nations. i Considering the great iudgements of God, which according to his threatnings should come vpon the world, he was moued with a certaine compassion on the one side to pittie them that should thus perish, and on the other side by the infirmities of mans nature, knowing how hard a thing it was to enterprise such a charge, as Isa. 6. 11. Exod. 3. 11. and 4. 1.

reth, that Gods vengeance is prepared against them which dare not

C H A P. II.

2 God rehearseth his benefits done vnto the Iewes 8 Against the Priests and false Prophets. 12 The Iewes are destroyed, because they forsake God.

Whereouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

and he touched my mouth, and the Lord said vnto mee, Behold, I haue put my words in thy mouth.

10 Behold, this day haue I set thee ouer the nations and ouer the kingdomes, to plucke vp, and to roote out, and to destroy and throw downe, to build and to plant.

11 After this the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, Jeremiah, what seest thou?
And I sayde, I see a rod of an almond tree.

12 Then sayde the Lord vnto me, Thou hast seene aright: for I will hasten my word to performe it.

13 Again the word of the Lord came vnto mee the second time, saying, What seest thou? And I sayd, I see a seething pot looking out of the North.

14 Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, Out of the North shall a plague be spread vpon al
the inhabitants of the land.

15 For loe, I will call all the families of the kingdomes of the North, sayeth the Lord, and they shall come, and euery one shall set his throne in the entring of the gates of Ierusalem, and on all the walles thereof round about, and in all the cities of Judah.

16 And I will declare vnto them my iudgements touching all the wickednesse of them that haue forsaken mee, and haue burnt incense vnto other gods, and worshipped the woodkes of their owne hands.

17 Thou therefore truste vp thy loynes, and arile, and speake vnto them all that I commande thee; bee not afraid of their faces, lest I destroy thee before them.

18 For I, behold, I this day haue made thee a defended citie, and an yron pillar, and walles of brass against the whole land, against the kings of Iudah, and against the princes thereof, against the Priests thereof, and against the people of the land.

19 For they shall fight against thee: but they shall not preuaile against thee: for I

Lord.

the loue of thy marriage, when thou wentest after mee in the wilderness in a land that was not sowne.

3 Israel was as a thing hallowed vnto house of Israel.

haue your fathers found in me, that they are gone farre from me, and haue walked after vanitie, and are become vaine?

6 For they said not, Where is the Lord gypt: that led vs thow to the wilderness, tho-that no man passed thow, and where no man dwelt?

commodities of the same: but when ye en-heritage an abomination.

8 The Priests said not, Where is the Lord: and they that should minister the Law, knew me not: the pastors also offended against me, and the Prophets, prophesied in Baal, and went after things that did not profit.

saith the Lord, and I will plead with your childrens children.

hold thy wayes in the valley, and know, what thou hast done: thou art like a swift dromedarie, that runneth by his wayes:

24 And as a wilde affe, vnto the wil-dernes, that snuffeth vp the winde by occasion at her pleasure: who can turne her desperately, No, for I haue loued strangers,

Lord.

30 I haue smitten your children in batne, they receiued no correction: your owne sword hath deuoured your prophets like a destroying lyon.

31 O generation, take heed to the word of the Lord: haue I bene as a wildernesse vnto Israel? or a land of darkenesse?
Wherefore sayeth my people then, Allee are lords, wee will come no more vnto thee?

32 Can a maid forget her ornament, or a bride her attire? yet my people haue forgotten me, dayes without number.

33 Why dost thou prepare thy way, to seeke amittie? euen therefore wilt I teach thee that thy wayes are wickednesse.

34 Also in thy wings is found the blood of the soules of the poore innocents: I haue not found it in holes, but vpon all these places.

35 Yet thou sayest, Because I am guilt-lesse, surely his wrath shall turne from me, behold, I will enter with thee into iudge-ment, because thou sayest, I haue not sinned.

36 Why runnest thou about so much to change thy wayes? for thou shalt bee confounded of Egypt: as thou art confounded of Asshur.

37 For thou shalt goe south from thence, and thine hands vpon thine head, because the Lord hath reiected thy confidence, and thou shalt not prosper thereby.

f Haue I not giuen them abundance of all things? But will trust in your own power and policie. n With strangers, x The Prophets and the faithful are slaine in euery corner of your country.
y For the Assyrians had taken away the ten tribes out of Israel, and destroyed Iuda, euen vnto Ierusalem, and the Egyptians slew Iosiah, and vexed the Iewes in sundry sort. z In signe of lamentation, as 2 Sam. 13. 19.

C H A P. III.

God calleth his people to repentance. 14 He promiseth the restitution of his Church. 20 He repro-ueth Iudah and Israel, comparing them to a woman disobedient to her husband.

They say, If a man put away his wife, and shee goe from him, and become another mans, shall hee returne againe

n As a thiefe wil not acknowledge his fault, till he be taken with the deede, and readie to be punished: so they will not confesse

their idolatrie, till the plagues
due to the same light vpon them.

o Meaning, that idolaters spoyle
God of his honour, and whereas he hath taught to call him the father of all flesh, they attribute this title to their idols.

p Thou thought-est that thy gods of blockes and stones could haue holpen thee, because they were many in number and present in euery place: but now let vs see whether either the multitude or their presence

can deliuer thee
from my plagues,
Chap. 11. 13.

q As though I did you iniurie
in punishing you

seeing that your faults are so eui-

dent. r That is, you haue killed your Prophets that exhorted you to repentance, as Zechariah, Isaiah, &c.

t But will it is written,

Deut. 24. 4.

b If he take such one to wife againe.

c That is, with idoles, and with them whom thou hast put thy confidence in.

d And I will not cast thee off, but receiue thee according to my mercie.

e Which dwelleth in tents, and waiteth for them that passe by, to spoyle them.

f As God threatened by his Law, Deut. 28. 34.

g Thou wouldest neuer be ashamed of thine acts and repent: and this impudencie is common to idolaters, which will not gine off, though they be neuer so manifestly conuicted.

h He sheweth that the wicked in their miseries will cry vnto God, & vse outward prayer, as the godly doe, but because they turne not from their euill, they are not heard, Isa. 58. 3, 4.

i Meaning, the ten tribes.

k And gaue her vnto the hands of the Assyrians.

l The Ebrew word may either signifie lightnes and wantonnes, or noise & bruit.

m Iudah fained for a time that she did returne, as vnder Iosiah and other good Kings, but shee was neuer truly touched or wholly reformed, as appeared when occasion was offered by any wicked prince.

n Israel hath not declared her selfe so wicked as Iudah, which yet hath had more admonitions and examples to call her to repentance. o Whereas the Israelites were now kept in captiuitie by the Assyrians, to whom he promisseth mercie, if they will repent. p There was no way, which thou diddest not haue to seeke after the idoles, and to troc a pilgrimage.

gaine vnto her: shall not this land be polluted? but thou hast played the harlot with many louers: yet turne againe to me, saith the Lord.

2 Lift vp thine eyes vnto the hie places, and behold, where thou hast not played the harlot: thou hast sit waiting for them in the wayes, as the Arabian in the wilderness: and thou hast polluted the land with thy whores domes, and with thy malice.

3 Therefore the whores haue bene restrained, and the latter raine came not, and thou hadst a whores forehead: thou wouldest not be ashamed.

4 Didst thou not stil cry vnto me, Thou art my Father, and the guide of my youth?

5 Will he keepe his anger for euer? wil he reserve it to the end? thus hast thou spoken, but thou doest euill, euen more and more.

6 The Lord sayd also vnto mee, in the dayes of Iosiah the King, hast thou seene what this rebell Israel hath done? for she hath gone vp vpon euery high mountaine, and vnder euery greene tree, and there played the harlot.

7 And I sayd, when shee had done all this, Turne thou vnto mee: but shee returned not, as her rebellious sister Iudah saw.

8 When I saw, how that by alloccasions rebellious Israel had played the harlot, I cast her away, and gaue her a bill of diuorcement: yet her rebellious sister Iudah was not afraid, but she went also, and played the harlot.

9 So that for the lightnes of her whores dome shee hath euen defiled the land: for she hath committed fornication with stones and itockes.

10 Neuerthelesse for all this, her rebellious sister Iudah hath not returned vnto me with her whole heart, but fainedly, saith the Lord.

11 And the Lord sayd vnto me, The rebellious Israel hath iustified her selfe more then the rebellious Iudah.

12 Goe and cry these words toward the North, and say, Thou disobedient Israel, returne, saith the Lord, and I wil not let my wrath fall vpon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lord, and I will not alway keepe mine anger.

13 But know thine iniquitie, for thou hast rebelled against the Lord thy God, and hast scattered thy wayes to the strange gods vnder euery greene tree, but yee would not obey my voyce, saith the Lord.

14 O yee disobedient children, turne againe, saith the Lord, for I am your Lord, and I will take you one of a city, and two of a tribe, and will bring you to Zion.

15 And I wil giue you pastors according to mine heart, which shall feede you with knowledge and vnderstanding.

16 Moreover, when yee be increased, and multiplied in the land, in those dayes, sayth the Lord, they shall say no more, The Ark of the covenant of the Lord: for it shall come no more to minde, neither shall they remember it, neither shall they visit it, for that shall be no more done.

17 At that time they shall call Ierusalem, The throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered vnto it, euen to the name of the Lord in Ierusalem: and thenceforth they shall follow no more the hardnesse of their wicked heart.

18 In those dayes the house of Iudah shall walke with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the North, into the land that I haue giuen for an inheritance vnto your fathers.

19 But I said, How did I take thee for children, and giue thee a pleasant land, euen the glorious heritage of the armie of the heathen, and sayd, Thou shalt call mee, saying, My father, and shalt not turne from mee.

20 But as a woman rebelleth against her husband: so haue ye rebelled against me, O house of Israel, sayth the Lord.

21 A voyce was heard vpon the high places, weeping and supplications of the children of Israel: for they haue peruerterd their way, and forgotten the Lord their God.

22 O yee disobedient children, returne and I will heale your rebellions. Behold, we come vnto thee, for thou art the Lord our God.

23 Truly, the hope of the hills is but vaine, nor the multitude of mountaines: but in the Lord our God is the health of Israel.

24 For confusion hath deuoured our fathers labour, from our youth, their sheepe and their bullockes, their sonnes and their daughters.

25 Wee lie downe in our confusion, and our shame couereth vs: for wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, wee and our fathers from our youth, euen vnto this day, and haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord our God.

troublenesse, and the nations shall be blessed in him, and shall glory in him.

3 For thus saith the Lord to the men of Iudah, and to Ierusalem,

4 Breake vp your fallow ground, and sow not among the thornes: be circumcised to the Lord, and take away the foreskinnes of your hearts, yee men of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem, lest my wrath come forth like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your inventions.

5 Declare in Iudah, and shew forth in Ierusalem, and say, Blow the trumpet in the land: cry, and gather together, and say, Assemble your selues, and let vs goe into strong cities.

6 Set vp the standard in Zion: prepare to flee, and stay not: for I will bring a plague from the North, and a great destruction.

7 The Lion is come vp from his denne, and the destroyer of the Gentiles is departed, and gone forth of his place to lay thy land waste, and thy cities shall be destroyed without an inhabitant.

8 Therefore gird you with sackcloth: lament and howle: for the fierce wrath of the Lord is not turned backe from vs.

9 And in that day, sayeth the Lord, the heart of the King shall perish, and the heart of the Princes, and the Priests shal be astonied, and the Prophets shal wonder.

10 Then sayd I, Ah Lord God, surely thou hast deceived this people, and Ierusalem, saying, Ye shall haue peace, and the sword pearleth vnto the heart.

11 At that time that it be said to this people and to Ierusalem, A drie winde in the high places of the wilderness commeth toward the daughter of my people, but neither to saue nor to cleanse.

12 A mightie winde shall come vnto me from those places, and now will I also giue sentence vpon them.

13 Beholde, hee shall come vp as the cloudes, and his charrets shall bee as a tempest: his horses are lighter then eagles. Alas vnto vs, for we are destroyed.

14 O Ierusalem, wash thine heart from wickednesse, that thou mayest be lauded: how long shall thy wicked thoughts remaine within thee?

15 For a voyce declareth from Dan, and publisheth affliction from mount Ephraim.

16 Make mention of the heathen, and publish in Ierusalem, Behold, the skoutes come from a farre countrey, and cry out against the cities of Iudah.

17 They haue compassed her about as the watchmen of the field, because it hath prouoked me to wrath, sayeth the Lord.

18 Thy wayes and thine inventions haue procured thee these things, such is thy wickednesse: therefore it shall be bitter, therefore it shall pearce vnto thine heart.

19 O my belly, my belly, I am pained, euen at the very heart: my heart is troubled within mee: I cannot be still: for my soule hath heard the sound of the trumpet, and the alarme of the battell.

20 Destruction vpon destruction is cryed, for the whole land is wasted: suddenly are my tents destroyed, and my curtaines in a moment.

21 How long shall I see the standard, and heare the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my people is foolish: they haue not knowne mee: they are foolish children and haue none vnderstanding: they are wise to doe euil, but to doe well they haue no knowledge.

23 I haue looked vpon the earth, and loe, it was without forme and voyde: and to the heauens, and they had no light.

24 I beheld the mountaines, and loe, they trembled, and all the hills shooke.

25 I beheld, and loe, there was no man, and all the birds of the heauen were departed.

26 I beheld, and loe, the fruitfull place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken downe at the presence of the Lord, and by his fierce wrath.

27 For thus hath the Lord sayd, The whole land shall be desolate: yet will I not make a full end.

28 Therefore shall the earth mourne, and the heauens above shall be darkened, because I haue pronounced it: I haue thought it, and will not repent, neither will I turne backe from it.

29 The whole city shall flee, for the noise of the horsemen and bowmen: they shall goe into thickets, and climbe vp vpon the rocks: euerie cite shall bee forsaken, and not a man dwell therein.

30 And when thou shalt bee destroyed, what wilt thou doe? Though thou clothest thy selfe with scarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of golde, though thou paintest thy face with colours, yet shalt thou not escape: for thou shalt be as filthy as thy selfe in vaine: for thy louers will abhorre thee, and seeke thy life.

31 For I haue heard a noyse as of a woman trauieling, or as one labouring of her first childe, euen the voyce of the daughter of Zion that ligheth and stretcheth out her hands: y woe is me now: for my soule fainteth because of the murderers.

As the Prophets were moued to pitie the destruction of their people, so they declared it to the people to moue them to repentance, Isa. 2. 4. chap. 9. 1.

CHAP. V.

2 Come to and fro by the streets of Ierusalem, and behold now, and know and enquire in the open places thereof, if q He sheweth that the true ministers are lively touched with the calamities of the Church, so that all the parts of their body feeble the griefe of their heart, albeit with zeale to Gods glory they pronounce his iudgements against the people.

r Meaning, the cities which were as easily cast downe as a tent.
s Their wisdom and policie tend to their owne destruction, & pulled them from God.
t By these maner of speeches hee sheweth the horrible destruction that should come vpon the land, & also condemne the obstinacy of the people, who repent not at the feare of these terrible tidings, seeing that the insensible creatures are moued therewith, as if the order of nature should be changed, Isa. 1. 3. 10. and 24. 23. ezek. 32. 7. ioe. 2. 3. 1. and 3. 15.
u But for his mercies sake he will reserue himselfe a residue to be his Church, and to praise him in earth, Isa. 2. 9.

ye can finde a man, or if there be any that excuseth iudgement, and ſeeketh the truth, and I will ſpare it.

2 For though they ſay, The Lord lieth, yet doe they ſwear falſely.

3 O Lord, are not thine eyes vpon the truth? thou haſt ſtricken them, but they haue not ſorrowed: thou haſt conſumed them, but they haue refuſed to receiue correction:
they haue made their faces harder then a ſtone, and haue refuſed to returne.

4 Therefore I ſaide, Surely they are poore, they are fooliſh, for they know not the way of the Lord nor the iudgement of their God.

5 I will get me vnto the great men, and will ſpeake vnto them: for they haue knowne the way of the Lord, and the iudgement of their God, but theſe haue altogether broken the yoke, and buſt the bonds.

6 Wherefore a Lion out of the foreſt ſhal ſlay them, and a Wolfe of the wildernes ſhal deſtroy them: a Leopard ſhal watch ouer their cities: every one that goeth out thence ſhall be torne in pieces, becauſe their treſpaſſes are many, and their rebellions are increaſed.

7 How ſhould I ſpare theſe for this? thy children haue forſaken mee, and ſworne by them that are no gods: though I fed them to the full, yet they committed adultery, and aſſembled themſelues by companies in the harlots houſes.

8 They roſe vp in the morning like fed horses: for every man neighed after his neighbours wife.

9 Shall I not viſit for theſe things, ſaith the Lord? Shall not my ſoule be auenged on ſuch a nation as this?

10 Clime vp vpon their wals, and deſtroy them, but make not a full end, take away their battlements, for they are not the Lords.

11 For the houſe of Iſrael, and the houſe of Iudah haue grievouſly treſpaſſed againſt me, ſaith the Lord.

12 They haue denied the Lord, and ſaid, It is not hee, neither ſhall the plague come vpon vs, neither ſhall we ſee ſword nor famine.

13 And the Prophets ſhall be as winde, and the word is not in them: thus ſhall it come vnto them.

14 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord God of hoſts, Becauſe ye ſpeake ſuch words, behold, I will put my ſword into thy mouth, like a fire, and this people ſhall be as wood, and it ſhall deuoure them.

15 Lo, I will bring a nation vpon you from ſarre, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, which is a mighty nation, and an ancient nation, a nation whole language thou knoweſt not, neither underſtandeſt what they ſay.

16 Whole quiter is as an open ſepul-chre: they are all very ſtrong.

17 And they ſhall eat thine harneſt and thy bread: they ſhall deuour thy ſonnes and thy daughters: they ſhall eate vp thy ſhepe and thy bullockes: they ſhall eate thy vines and thy fig trees: they ſhall deſtroy with the ſword thy fenced cities, wherein thou didſt truſt.

18 Neuertheleſſe at thoſe dayes ſaith the Lord, I will not make a full end of you.

19 And when ye ſhall ſay, Wherefore doth the Lord our God doe theſe things vnto vs?
then ſhalt thou anſwere them, Like as ye haue forſaken mee, & ſerued ſtrange gods in your land, ſo ſhal ye ſerne ſtrangers in a land that is not yours.

20 Declare this in the houſe of Iſaakob, and publiſh it in Iudah, ſaying,

21 Heare now this, O fooliſh people, and without vnderſtanding, which haue eyes and ſee not, which haue eares and heare not.

22 Feare ye not me, ſaith the Lord: for will ye not be afrayed at my preſence, which haue placed the ſand for the bounds of the ſea by the perpetuall decree, that it cannot paſſe it, and though the waues thereof rage, yet can they not preuaile, though they roare, yet can they not paſſe over it?

23 But this people hath an unfaithfull and rebellious heart: they are departed and gone.

24 For they ſay not in their heart, Let vs now feare the Lord our God, that giueth raine both early and late in due ſeaſon: he reſerueth vnto vs the appointed weekes of the harueſt.

25 Yet your iniquities haue turned away theſe things, and your finnes haue hindered good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked perſons, that lay waite as bee that ſetteth inares: they haue made a pit to catch men.

27 As a cage is full of birds, ſo are theſe houſes full of deceit: thereby they are become great and wares rich.

28 They are waxen fat and ſhining: they doe ouerpaſſe the deeds of the wicked: they execute no iudgement, no not the iudge-ment of the fatherleſſe, yet they prosper, though they execute no iudgement for the poore.

29 Shall I not viſit for theſe things, ſaith
the Lord: or ſhal not my ſoule be auenged on ſuch a nation as this?

30 An horrible and filthy thing is committed in the land.

31 The prophets prophelle lies, and the priests receiue gifts in their hands, and my people delight therein. What will ye then doe in the end thereof?

p Prophets which should warne you of the dangers which were at hand.

2 I haue compared the daughter of Zion to a beautifull and daintie woman.

3 The pastors with their flocks shall come vnto her: they shall pitch their tents round about by her, and euery one shall feede in his place.

4 Prepare warre against her: arise and let vs goe vp toward the South: woe vnto vs: for the day declineth, and the shadowes of the euening are stretched out.

5 Arise, and let vs goe vp by night, and destroy her palaces.

6 For thus hath the Lord of hostes sayd, Hew downe wood, and cast a mount against Jerusalem: this citie must be visited: all oppression is in the mids of it.

7 As the fountaine casteth out her waters, so she casteth out her malice, & cruelty and spoile is continually heard in her before me with sorow and strokes.

8 Be thou instructed, O Jerusalem, lest my soule depart from thee, lest I make thee desolate as a land that none inhabiteth.

9 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, They shall gather as a vine, the residue of Israel: turne backe thine hand as the grape gatherer into the baskets.

10 Vnto whom shall I speake, and admonish, that they may heare? Behold, their eares are vncircumcised, and they cannot hearken, behold, the word of the Lord is vnto them as a reproch: they haue no delight in it.

11 Therefore I am full of the wrath of the Lord: I am weary with holding it: I will powze it out vpon the children in the street, and likewise vpon the assembly of the yong men: for the hul band shall euen be taken with the wife, & the aged with him that is full of dayes.

12 And their houses with their lands, and wiues also shall bee turned vnto strangers: for I will stretch out mine hand vpon the inhabitants of the land, sayth the Lord.

13 For from the least of them euen vnto the greatest of them, euery one is giuen vnto couetousnesse: and from the prophet euen vnto the priest, they all deale falsly.

14 They haue healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweet wordes, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

15 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not ashamed, no neither could they haue any shame: therefore they shall fall among the slain: when I shall visite them, they shalbe cast downe, saith the Lord.

16 Thus sayth the Lord, Stand in the wayes, and behold, and aske for the old way which is the good way, and walke therein, and ye shal find rest for your soules: but they said, We will not walke therein.

17 Also I set watchmen ouer you, which sayd, Take heed to the sound of the trumpet:

but they said, We will not take heed.

18 Heare therefore, ye Gentiles, and thou congregation know, what is among them.

19 Heare, O earth, behold, I will cause a plague to come vpon this people, euen the fruit of their owne imaginations: because they haue not taken heed vnto my wordes, nor to my Law, but cast it off.

20 To what purpose bringest thou mee incense from Sheba, and sweete Calamus from a farre countrey? your burnt offerings are not pleasant, nor your sacrifices sweete vnto me.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will lay stumbling blocks before this people, and the fathers and the sonnes together shall fall vpon them: the neighbour and his friend shall perish.

22 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, a people commeth from the North country, and a great nation shall arise from the sides of the earth.

23 With bowe and shield shall they bee weaponed: they are cruell, and will haue no compassion: their voice roareth like the sea, and they ride vpon horses well appointed, like men of warre against thee, O daughter Zion.

24 We haue heard their fame, and our hands waxe feeble: sorow is come vpon vs, as the sorow of a woman in trauaile.

25 Goe not forth into the field, nor walke by the way: for the sword of the enemy and feare is on every side.

26 O daughter of my people, gird thee with sackcloth, and wallow thy selfe in the ashes: make lamentation and bitter mourning as for thine onely sonne: for the destroyer shall suddenly come vpon vs.

27 I haue set thee for a defence and for trefse among my people, that thou mayest know and try their wayes.

28 They are all rebellious traitors, walking craftily: they are brass, and yron: they all are destroyers.

29 The bellowes are burnt: the lead is consumed in the fire: the founder melteth in vaine: for the wicked are not taken away.

30 They shall call them reprobate silver, because the Lord hath reiected them.

CHAP. VII.

2 Jeremiah is commanded to shew vnto the people the word of God, which trusteth in the outward seruice of the temple. 13 The euils that shall come to the Iewes for the despising of their Prophets. 21 Sacrifices doeth not the Lord chiefly require of the Iewes, but that they should obey his word.

The words that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Stand in the gate of the Lords house and crie this word there, and say, Heare the word of the Lord, all ye of Iudah, that enter in at these gates to worship the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Amend your wayes and your workes, and I will let you dwell in this place, q God taketh all the world to witnesse, and the insensible creatures, of the ingratitude of the Iewes.

a Beleeue not the false prophets, which say, for the Temples sake and the sacrifices there, the Lord will preferue you, and so nourish you in your sin, and vaine confidence.

b God sheweth on what condition he made this promise to this Temple: that they should be an holy people vnto him, as hee would be a faithfull God to them.

c As the eues hid in holes and denues, thinke themselues safe, so when you are in my Temple, you thinke to be couered with the holinesse thereof, and that I cannot see your wickednesse, Mat. 21. 13.

d Because they depended so much on the Temple, which was for his promise that hee would bee present, and defend them where the Arke was: he fendeth them to Gods iudgements against Shilo, where the Arke had remained about 300. yeeres and after was taken, the Priests slaine, and the people miserably discomfited, 1. Sam. 4. 11. chap. 26. 6.

e That is, I neuer ceased to warne you as Isa 65. 2. Pro. 1.

23. f He sheweth what is the only remedy to redresse our faults: to suffer God to leade vs into the way, and to obey his calling, Isa 66. 4.

g I will send you into captiuitie as I haue done Ephraim, that is, the ten tribes. h To assure them that God had determined with himselfe to punish their wickednesse, he sheweth that the prayer of the godly can nothing auail them, while they remaine in their obstinacie against God, and will not vse the meanes that hee vsesh to call them to repentance, Chap. 11. 14. & 14. 11. i That is, They sacrifice to the Sunne, Moone, and Starres, which they called the Queene of heauen, Chap. 44. 17. 2. king. 23. 5.

4 Trust not in lying words, saying, The Temple of the Lord, the Temple of the Lord: this is the Temple of the Lord.

5 For if you amende and redresse your wayes and your workes: if you execute iudgment betweene a man and his neighbour.

6 And oppresse not the stranger the fatherlesse and the widowe, and shed no innocent blood in this place, neither walke after other gods to your destruction,

7 Then will I let you dwell in this place in the land that I gaue vnto your fathers, for euer and euer.

8 Behold, you trust in lying words, that cannot profit.

9 Will you steale, murder, and commit adulterie, and sweare falsely, and burne incense vnto Baal, and walke after other gods whom ye know not,

10 And come and stand before me in this house, wherenpon my Name is called, and say, We are deliuered, though we haue done all these abominations?

11 Is this house become a denne of theues, wherenpon my Name is called before your eyes? Beholde, euen I see it, saith the Lord

12 But goe ye now vnto my place which was in Shilo, where I let my Name at the beginning, and behold what I did to it for the wickednesse of my people Israel.

13 Therefore now because ye haue done all these workes, saith the Lord (and I rose vp early and spake vnto you: but when I spake, ye would not heare me, neither when I called, would ye answere)

14 Therefore will I doe vnto this house, wherenpon my Name is called, wherein also ye trust, euen vnto the place that I gaue to you and to your fathers, as I haue done vnto Shilo.

15 And I will cast you out of my sight, as I haue cast out all your brethren, euen the whole seed of Ephraim.

16 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift up cry or prayer for them, neither intreate mee, for I will not heare thee.

17 Shalt thou not what they doe in the cities of Iudah and in the streetes of Ierusalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough to make cakes to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto other gods, that they may prouoke me vnto anger.

19 Doe they prouoke me to anger, saith the Lord, and not themselves to the confusion of their owne faces?

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, mine anger and my wrath shall be powred vpon this place, vpon man and vpon beast, and vpon the tree of the field, and vpon the fruit of the ground, & it shall burne and not be quenched.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Put your burnt offerings vnto your sacrifices, and eate the flesh.

22 For I spake not vnto your fathers, nor commanded them, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices.

23 But this thing commanded I them, saying, Obey my voyce, and I will be your God, and ye shall be my people: and walke ye in all the wayes which I haue commanded you, that it may be well with you.

24 But they would not obey, nor incline their eare, but went after the counsels and the stubburnesse of their wicked heart, and went backward and not forward.

25 Since the day that your fathers came vp out of the land of Egypt, vnto this day, I haue enen sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early euery day, and sending them.

26 Yet would they not heare me, nor incline thine eare, but heardned their neck, and did worse then their fathers.

27 Therefore shalt thou spake all these words vnto them, but they will not heare thee: thou shalt also cry vnto them, but they will not answere thee.

28 But thou shalt say vnto them, This is a nation that heareth not the voyce of the Lord their God, nor receiveth discipline: trueth is perished, and is cleane gone out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thine haire, O Ierusalem, and cast it away, and take vp a complaint on the high places: for the Lord hath reiected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.

30 For the children of Iudah haue done euill in my sight, sayeth the Lord: they haue set their abominations in the house, wherenpon my Name is called, to pollute it.

31 And they haue built the high place of Topheth, which is in the valley of Ben-hinnom to burne their sonnes, and their daughters in the fire, which I commanded them not, neither came it in mine heart.

32 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that it shall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter: for they shall bury in Topheth, till there be no place.

33 And the carkeises of this people shall be meate for the foules of the heauen and for the beasts of the earth, and none shall fray them away.

34 Then will I cause to cease from the cities of Iudah and from the streetes of Ierusalem, the voyce of mirth and the voyce of gladnesse, the voyce of the bride-

k Shewing that it was not his chiefe purpose and intent that they should offer sacrifices, but that they should regard, wherefore they were ordained: to wit, to be ioyned to the word, as seales & confirmations of remission of sins in Christ: for without word they were vaine and vnprofitable. l Which was aboute fourteene hundred yeeres. m Reade vers. 13. n Whereby he sheweth that the Pastours ought not to leave their focke in their obstinacie: for the Lord will vse the meanes of his seruants to make the wicked more faulty, and to proue his. o In signe of mourning, as Iob. 1. 20. micah. 1. 16. p Against whom he had iust occasion to powre out his wrath. q Of Topheth reade 2. 1 The destruction of the Iewes. 4 The Lord maneth the people to amendment. 10 He reprehendeth the lying doctrine, and the couctousnesse of the Prophets and Priests.

At that time sayth the Lord, they shall bring out the bones of the Kings of Iudah, and the bones of their Princes, and the bones of the Priests, & the bones of the Prophets, & the bones of the inhabitants of Ierusalem out of their graues.

a The enemy for greedinesse of gaine shall rife your graues, and lay you before those idoles, which in your life you worshipped, to see if they can helpe you.

b Because of the afflictions that they shall feele through Gods iudgements. c Is there no hope that they will returne.

2 And they shall spread them before the Sonne and the Moone, and all the hoste of heauen, whom they haue loued, and whom they haue serued, & whom they haue followed and whom they haue sought, and whom they haue worshipped: they shall not be gathered nor be buried, but shalbe as dounge vpon the earth.

3 And death shalbe desired rather then life, of all the residue that remaineth of this wicked family, which remaine in all the places where I haue scattered them, sayth the Lord of hostes.

4 Thou shalt say vnto them also, Thus saith the Lord, Shall they fall & not arise? shall he turne away and not turne againe?

5 Wherefore is this people of Ierusalem turned backe by a perpetuall rebellion? they gaue themselves to deceit, and would not returne.

d They are full of hypocrisie, and euery one foloweth his own fantasie without any consideration. e He accuseth them in that that they are more ignorant of Gods iudgements, then these birds are of their appointed seasons, to discern the colde and heate, as Ila 1.3.

f The Law doth not profit you, neither needed it to haue beene written forought that you haue learned by it. g They that seeme wise may be ashamed of their ignorance, for all wisdom consisteth in Gods word. Ima 5.6.11. chap. 5.31. & 6.13.

h Reade Chap. 6.14.

6 I hearkened and heard, but none spake aright: no man repented him of his wickednesse, saying, What haue I done? euery one turned to their race, as the houle rusheth into the battell.

7 Euen the stork in the aire knoweth her appointed times, and the Turtle, and the crane, and the swallow obserue the time of their comming, but my people knoweth not the iudgement of the Lord.

8 Now doe ye say, Wee are wise, and the Law of the Lord is with vs: Loe, certainly in vaine made hee it, the pen of the Scribes is in vaine.

9 The wise men are ashamed: they are afraid and taken: loe, they haue rejected the word of the Lord, and what wisdom is in them?

10 Therefore wil I giue their wiues vnto others, and their fields to them that shall possesse them: * for euery one from the least euen to the greatest is giuen to couctousnesse, and from the Prophet euen vnto the Priest, euery one dealeth falsely.

11 For they haue healed the hurt of the daughter of my people with sweete words, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.

12 Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay they were not ashamed, neither could they haue any shame: therefore shall they fall among the staine, when I shall visite them, they shall be cast downe, saith the Lord.

13 I wil surely consume them, saith the Lord: there shalbe no grapes on the vine, nor figges on the fig tree, and the leafe shal fade, and the things that I haue giuen them shall depart from them.

14 Why doe we stay? assemble your selues, and let vs enter into the strong cities, and let vs be quiet there: for the Lord our God hath put vs to silence, and giuen vs water with gall to drinke, because we haue sinned against the Lord.

15 Wee looked for peace, but no good came, and for a time of health, and behold troubles.

16 The neying of his horses was heard from Dan, the whole land trembled at the noyse of the neying of his strong horses: for they are come, and haue deuoured the land with all that is in it, the cite and those that dwell therein.

17 Behold, I wil send serpents, and cockatrices among you, which will not be charmed: and they shall sting you, saith the Lord.

18 I would haue comforted my selfe against sorow, but mine heart is heauy in mee.

19 Behold, the voyce of the crie of the daughter of my people for feare of them of a farre countrey. Is not the Lord in Zion? is not her King in her? Why haue they per- uoked me to anger with their grauen images, and with the vanities of a strange god?

20 The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not holpen.

21 I am sore vexed for the hurt of the daughter of my people: I am heauy, and astonishment hath taken me.

22 Is there no balme at Gilead? is there no Physician there? Why then is not the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

q The Prophet speaketh this. r Meaning, that no mans help or meanes could saue them: for in Gilead was precious balme, Chap. 46.11. or else deriding the vaine confidence of the people, who looked for helpe at their Priests, who should haue bene the Physicians of their soules, and dwelt at Gilead, Hol. 6.8.

CHAP. IX.

1 The complaint of the Prophet for the malice of the people. 24 In the knowledge of God ought wee only to reioyce. 26 The uncircumcision of the heart.

O that mine head were full of water, and mine eyes a fountaine of teares, that I might weepe day and night for the staine of the daughter of my people,

2 Oh that I had in the wilderness a cottage of wayfaring men, that I might leaue my people and goe from them: for they be all adulterers and an assembly of rebels,

3 And they bend their tongues like their bowes for lies: but they haue no corage for the truth vpon the earth: for they proceede from euill to worse, and they haue not knownen me, saith the Lord,

4 Let euery one take heed of his neighbour, and trust you not in any brother: for euery brother wil vse deceit, and euery friend wil deale deceitfully.

a The Prophet sheweth the great compassion that he had toward this people, seeing that hee could neuer sufficiently lament the destruction that he saw to hang ouer them. Which is a speciall note to discern the true pastors from the hirelings: Reade Chap. 4.19. b He sheweth that this were more quietnesse, and greater safetie for him to dwell among the wilde beastes, then among his wicked people, saue that God hath enioyned him this charge. c Vtterly turned from God, d To belie and slander their neighbours. e Meaning, that all were corrupt, and none could find an honest man.

i He speaketh in the person of the people, who when the enemy cometh, will runne about to hide themselves, and acknowledge that it is Gods hand.

m Reade Chap. 8. 14.
n Seeing you can not lament your own sins, call for these foolish women, whom of a superstition you haue to lament for the dead, that they by their fained teares may prouoke you to some sorrow.
o As though they were weary of vs because of our iniquities, Leuit. 18. 28 & 30. 22.
p He derideth the superstition of the women, which made an arte of mourning, and taught to weepe with fained teares.
q Signifying, that there is no meanes to deliuer the wicked from Gods iudgements: but when they thinke to be most sure, and most farre off, then are they soonest taken.

5 And every one will deceiue his friend, and wil not speake the truth: for they haue taught their conignes to speake lies, and take great paines to doe wickedly.
6 Eterne habitation is in the minds of deceiuers: because of their deceit they refuse to know vs, saith the Lord.
7 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts, Behold, I will melt them, and trie them: for what should I els doe for the daughter of my people?
8 Their tongue is as an arrow shot out, and speaketh deceit: one speaketh peaceably to his neighbour with his mouth, but in his heart he layeth wait for him.
9 Shall I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soule beauen-geed on such a nation as this?
10 Upon the mountaines will I take vp a weeping and a lamentation, and vpon the faire places of the wilderness a mourning, because they are burnt vp, so that none can passe through them: neither can men heare the voyce of the flocke: both the soule of the aspe, and beast are fled away, and gone.
11 And I will make Ierusalem an heape, and a den of dragons, and I will make the cities of Iudah waste, without an inhabitant.
12 Who is wise to vnderstand this? and to whom the mouth of the Lord hath spoken, euen he shall declare it. Why doeth the land perish, and is burnt vp like a wilderness, that none passeth throught?
13 And the Lord saith, Because they haue forsaken my Law, which I set before them, and haue not obeyed my voyce, neither walked thereafter.
14 But haue walked after the stubbornnesse of their own heart, and after Baalims, which their fathers taught them.
15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, Behold, I will feede this people with wormewood, and giue them waters of gall to drinke:
16 I will scatter them also among the heathen, whom neither they nor their fathers haue known, and I will send a sword after them, till I haue consumed them.
17 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Take heede, and call for the mourning women, that they may come, and send for skilfull women, that they may come.
18 And let them make haste, and let them take vp a lamentation for vs, that our eyes may cast out teares, and our eye lids gush out of water.
19 For a lamentable noyse is heard out of Zion, how are we destroyed, and venterly confounded, for we haue forsaken the land, and our dwellings haue cast vs out.
20 Therefore heare the word of the Lord, O ye women, and let your eares regard the words of his mouth, and teach your daughters to mourne, and every one her neighbour to lament.
21 For death is come vp into our windows, and is entred into our palaces, to destroy the children without, and the young men in the streets.
22 Speake, Thus saith the Lord, The carkeises of men shall lie euen as the young upon the field, and as the handfull after the mow, and none shall gather them.

23 Thus saith the Lord, Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, nor the strong man glory in his strength: neither the rich man glory in his riches.
24 But let him that glorieth, glory in this, that he vnderstandeth and knoweth me: for I am the Lord which shew mercie, iudgement, and righteousness in the earth: for in these things I delight, saith the Lord.
25 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will visit all them which are circumsised, with the vncircumsised:
26 Egypt, and Iudah, and Edom, and the children of Ammon, and Moab, and all the utmost corners of them that dwell in the wilderness: for all these nations are vncircumsised; and all the house of Israel are vncircumsised in the heart.

Aske our saluation: his iudgement, which he executeth continually against the wicked: and his iustice, whereby he defendeth and maintaineth the faithfull. Meaning both Iewes and Gentiles, as in the next verse he sheweth the cause, reade Chap. 4. 4.

3 For the customes of the people are vaine: for one cutteth a tree out of the forest (which is the worke of the hands of the car-penter) with the axe.

4 And another decketh it with silver, and with golde: they fasten it with nayles and hammers, that it fall not.

5 The idoles stand vp as the palme tree, but speake not: they are vaine because they cannot goe: feare them not, for they cannot doe euill, neither can they doe good.

6 There is none like vnto thee, O Lord: thou art great, and thy name is great in power.

7 Who would not feare thee, O King of nations: for to thee appertaineth the domination: for among all the wisemen of the Gentiles, & in all their kingdomes there is none like thee.

8 But altogether they dote, and are foolish: for the stocke is a doctrine of vanitie.

den, Deut. 12. 30. c The Prophets vse thus plainly and simply to set forth the vile absurditie of the idolaters, that men might learne to be ashamed of that, wherunto their corrupt nature is most subiect, reade Isa. 44. 12. d Hee teacheth the people to lift vp their eyes to God, who hath all power, and therefore ought onely to be feared: and herein hee sheweth them not onely the euill that they ought to eschew, but the good which they ought to follow, Reue. 15. 4. e Because the people thought that to haue images, was a meane to serue God, and to bring them to the knowledge of him, hee sheweth that nothing more displeaseth God, nor bringeth man into greater errors and ignorance of God: and therefore he calleth them the doctrine of vanitie, the worke of errors, Verse 15. and Hab. 2. 18. calleth them the teachers of lies: contrary to that wicked opinion, that they are the bookes of the lay people.

f Whereas they found the best golde, shewing that they thought nothing too deare for their idols: some reade Ophir, as 1 King. 9. 28.

g This declarerh that all that hath bin in this chapter spoken of idols, was to arme the Iewes when they should be in Caldea among the idolaters, and now with one sentence he instructeth them both how to protest their owne religion against idolaters, and how to answer them to their shame which should exhort them to idolatry, and therefore he writeth this sentence in the Caldeans tongue for a memoriall, whereas all the rest of his writing is Hebrew.

h The more that man thinketh to do any thing wel by his owne wisdom, and not as God instructeth him, the more doth he prouue himselfe to be a vile beast. i By these words portion and rod, he signifieth their inheritance: meaning, that God should be all sufficient for them, and that their felicitie consisted in him alone, & therefore they ought to renounce all other helps and succours, as of idoles, &c.

Deut. 32. 9. Psal. 135. k The Prophet willett the Iewes to prepare themselves to this captiuitie, shewing that it was now at hand, that they should feele the things whereof he had told them. l It is my iust plague, and therefore I will take it patiently: whereby he teacheth the people how to behaue themselves toward God. m He sheweth how Ierusalem shall lament. n The gouernours and ministers. o Reade Chap. 4. 15. p Hoespeaketh this, because that Nebuchad-nezzar purposed to haue made waite against the Moabites and Ammonites, but hearing of Zedekiahs rebellion, he turned his power to goe against Ierusalem, Ezek. 3. 1. 2. therefore the Prophet saith, that this was the Lords direction.

9 Silver plates are brought from Tarshish, and gold from Ophir, for the worke of the workeman, and the hands of the founder: the blue siller, and the purple is their clothing: all these things are made by cunning men.

10 But the Lord is the God of truth: he is the liuing God, and an euerlasting King: at his anger the earth shall tremble, and the nations cannot abide his wrath.

11 (Thus shall you say vnto them, The gods that haue not made the heauens and the earth shall perish from the earth, and from vnder these heauens.)

12 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

13 Hee giueth by his voyce the multitude of waters in the heauen, and hee causeth the cloudes to ascend from the ends of the earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

14 Every man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euery founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood, and there is no breath therein.

15 They are vanity, and the worke of error: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.

16 The portion of Iacob is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Ierusalem is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hosts is his Name.

17 Gather vp thy wares out of the land, O thou that dwellest in the strong place.

18 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, at this time I will throw as with a sling the inhabitants of the land, and will trouble them, and they shall finde it so.

19 Alot is me for my destruction, and my greivous plague: but I thought, Per it is my sorrow, and I will beare it.

21 For the Pastours are become beasts, and haue not sought the Lord: therefore haue they none vnderstanding: and all the flockes of their pastures are scattered.

22 Behold, the noise of the brunt is come, and a great commotion out of the North countrey to make the cities of Iudah desolate, and a denne of dragons.

23 O Lord, I know, that the way of man is not in himselfe, neither is it in man to walke and to direct his steps.

24 O Lord correct me, but with iudgement, not in thine anger, lest thou bring me to nothing.

25 Pour out thy wrath vpon the heathen that know thee not, and vpon the families that call not on thy Name: for they haue eaten vp Iacob, and deuoured him, and consumed him, and haue made his habitation desolate.

Isaiah calleth in measure, Chap. 37. 8. measuring his rods by their infirmities, 1 Cor. 10. 13. for heere by iudgement is meant not onely the punishment, but also the mercifull moderation of the same, as Chap. 30. 1. 1. Forasmuch as God cannot onely be knownen and glorified by his mercy, that hee vseth toward his Church, but also by his iustice in punishing his enemies: hee prayeth that his glory may fully appeare both in the one and the other, Psal. 79. 6.

CHAP. XL

3 A curse of them that obey not the word of Gods covenant. 10 The people of Iudah following the steps of their fathers, worship strange gods. 15 The Lord forbiddeth Jeremiah to pray for them.

The worde that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Heare ye the wordes of this covenant, and speake vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

3 And say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Cursed bee the man that obeyeth not the wordes of this covenant,

4 Which I commanded vnto your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the yron furnace, saying, Obey my voyce, and doe according to all these things, which I command you: so shall ye be my people, and I will be your God,

5 That I may confirme the oath that I haue sworn vnto your fathers, to giue them a land which floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day. Then answered I, and said, So be it, O Lord.

6 Then the Lord said vnto mee, Cry all these wordes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, saying, Heare ye the wordes of this covenant, and doe them.

7 For I haue protested vnto your fathers, when I brought them vp out of the land of Egypt vnto this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voyce.

8 Nevertheless they would not obey, nor encline their eare: but euery one walked in the stubbornnesse of his wicked heart: therefore I will bring vpon them all the wordes of this covenant, which I commanded them to doe, but they did it not.

9 And the Lord said vnto me, A conspiracy is found among the men of Iudah, and among the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

10 They are turned backe to the iniquities of their forefathers, which refused to heare my wordes: and they went after other gods to serue them: thus the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah haue broken my covenant which I made with their fathers.

a He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods mercies, who freely chose them, made a covenant of eternal felicitie with them, and how he euer performed it on his behalfe, and how they euer shewed themselves rebellious and ingrate toward him, and brake it on their part, and so are subiect to the curse of the Law, Deut. 27. 26.

holde, I will bring a plague vpon them, which they shall not be able to escape, and

them.

12 Then shall the cities of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem goe, and cry vnto the gods vnto whom they offer incense, but they shall not be able to helpe them in time of their trouble.

13 For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Iudah, & according to the number of the streetes of Ierusalem haue ye set vp altars of confusion, euen altars to burne incense vnto Baal.

14 Therefore thou shalt not pray for this people, neither lift vp a cry or prayer for them: for when they cry vnto mee in their tion with many: and the holy flesh goeth a-

16 The Lord called thy name, A greene olive tree, faire and of goodly fruite: but with noyse and great tumult hee hath set fire vpon it, and the branches of it are broken.

17 For the Lord of hostes that planted thee, hath pronounced a plague against thee for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and of the house of Iudah, which they haue done against themselves to prouoke me to anger in offering incense vnto Baal.

18 And the Lord hath taught me, and I know it, euen then thou shewest me their practises.

19 But I was like a lambe, or bullocke, that is brought to the slaughter, and I knew not that they had deuised thus against mee, saying, Let vs destroy the tree with the fruit thereof, and cut him out of the land of the liuing, that his name may be no more in memoire.

20 But, O Lord of hostes, that iudgeth righteously, and triest the reins & the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

21 The Lord therefore speaketh thus of the men of Anathoth, (that seek thy life, and say, Prophesie not in the name of the Lord, that thou die not by our hands.)

22 Thus therefore saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will visite them: he yong men shall die by the sword: their sonnes & their daughters shall die by famine.

23 And none of them shall remaine: for I will bring a plague vpon the men of Anathoth, euen the yere of their visitation.

keeth against pastors & preachers, as seduce the people. 14 The Lord threatneth destruction vnto the nations that troubled Iudah.

O Lord, if I dispute with thee, thou art righteous: yet let me talke with thee of thy iudgements: wherefore doth the way of the wicked prosper: why are all they in wealth that rebelliously transgresse?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they haue taken root: they grow, & bring forth fruit:
thou art nere in their mouth, and far from their reignes.

3 But thou, Lord, knowest me: thou hast sme me, and tryed my heart toward thee:
pull them out like sheepe for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.

4 How long shall the land mourne, and the herbes of euery field wither, for the wis-kednes of them that dwell therein: the beasts are consumed & the birds, because they faile, we will not see our last end.

5 If thou hast run with the footmen, and they haue wearied thee, then how canst thou watch thy selfe with horses: and if thou thoughtest thy selfe safe in a peaceable land, what wilt thou doe in the swelling of Iordan?

6 For euen thy brethren, and the house of thy father, euen they haue dealt vnfaithfully with thee, and they haue cried one against the other, but beleene them not, though they spake faire to thee.

7 I haue forsaken mine house: I haue left mine heritage: I haue giuen the dearly beloued of my soule into the hands of her enemies.

8 Mine heritage is vnto me as a lion in the forest: it crieth out against me, therefore haue I hated it.

9 Shall mine heritage be vnto me as a bird of diuers colours: are not the birds about her, saying, Come, assemble all the beasts of the field, come to eate her?

10 Many pastors haue destituted my vineyard, and troden my portion vnder foote: of my pleasant portion they haue made a desolate wilderness.

11 They haue layd it waste, and it being waste, mourneth vnto mee: and the whole land lyeth waste, because no man setteth flattered themselves as though God would ouer be merciful, and not utterly destroy them: therefore they hardened themselves in sin, till at length the beasts and insensible creatures felt the punishment of their stubburne rebellion against God.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destruction of the Iewes is prefigured. 11 Why Israel was receiued to be the people of God, and why they were forsaken. 15 Hee exhorteth them to repentance.

Thus saith the Lord vnto me, Goe, and buy thee a linnen girdle, and put it vpon thy loynes, and put it not in water.

2 So I bought the girdle according to the commandment of the Lord, and put it vpon my loynes.

3 And the word of the Lord came vnto me the second time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast bought which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, go toward Perath, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, and hid it by Perath, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many dayes the Lord sayd vnto me, Arise, go toward Perath and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 Then went I to Perath, and digged, and toke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, & behold, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this maner will I destroy the pride of Iudah, and the great pride of Ierusalem.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my word, & walke after the stubbornnesse of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, & to worship them: therefore they shall be as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the gyrdle cleaueth to the loynes of a man, so haue I yed to mee the whole house of Israel, and the whole house of Iudah, sayeth the Lord, that they might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glory, but they would not heare.

12 Therefore thou shalt say vnto them this word, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Every bottle shall be filled with wine, and they shall lay vnto thee, Doe we not know, that euery bottle shall be filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & the Priestes, and the Prophets, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalem with drunkennesse.

14 And I will dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord, I will not spare, I will not pity nor haue compassion, but destroy them.

15 Heare and glue eare, be not proud: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Give glory to the Lord your God, because he bringeth darknesse, and of euer your feete stumble in the darke mountaines, and while ye looke for light, bee turne it into the shadow of death, and make it as darknesse.

17 But if ye will not heare this, my soule shall weepe in secret for your pride, and mine eye shall weepe and droppe downe teares, because the Lords flocke is carried away captiue.

18 Say vnto the King & to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe: for the crowne of your glory shall come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of the South shall be shut vp, and no man shall open them: all Iudah shall be carried away captiue: it shall be wholly carried away captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes, and behold them that come from the North: where is the flocke that was giuen thee, euen the beautiful flocke?

21 What wilt thou say, when he shall visite thee? (for thou hast taught them to bee captaines and as chiefe ouer thee) shall not sorrow take thee as a woman in travail?

22 And if thou say in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me: for the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts discovered, and thine heeles made bare.

23 Can the blacke Doe change his skin? or the leopard his spots? then may ye also doe good, that are accustomed to doe euill.

24 Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that is taken away with the South winde.

25 This is thy portion, and the part of thy measures from mee, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me, and trusted in lies.

The word of the Lord came also vnto me, saying,

3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, & concerning their fathers that beget them in this land,

4 They shall die of deaths and diseases: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried, but they shall be as dung vpon the earth, and they shall bee consumed by the sword & by famine, and their carcases shall be meate for the fowles of the heauen, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Enter not into the house of mourning, neither goe to lament, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace from this people, saith the Lord, euen mercy and compassion.

6 Both the great and the small shall die in this land: they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them.

7 They shall not stretch out the hands for them in the mourning to comfort them for the dead, neither shall they giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.

Therefore hath the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs: for what is our iniquity, and what is our sinne that we haue committed against the Lord our God?

cause your Fathers haue forsaken me, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, and worshipped them and haue forsaken me, and haue not kept my Law,

12 (And ye haue done worse then your will not heare me.)

13 Therefore will I driue you out of this land into a land that ye know not, neither you nor your fathers, and there shall ye serue

you no grace.

14 Behold therefore, saith the Lord, the dayes come, that it shall no more bee said,
The Lord liueth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt,

15 But, the Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israel from the land of the North, and from all the lands where he had scattered them, & I will bring them againe in-hill, and out of the caues of the rocks.

17 For mine eyes are vpon all their wayes:
they are are not hid from my face, neither is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.

iquitie and their sinne double, because they haue defiled my land, and haue filled mine inheritance with their filthy carions, & their abominations.

tion: the Gentiles shall come vnto thee from 1 The forwardnesse of the Iewes, 5 Cursed be those that put their confidence in man, 9 Mans heart is wicked, 10 God is the searcher of the heart, 13 The living waters are forsaken, 21 The right keeping of the Sabbath commanded.

and grauen vpon the table of their heart,
and vpon the hornes of yon altars.

2 They remember their altars as their children, with their groues by the greene trees vpon the high hills.

3 O my mountaine in the field, I will give thy substance, and all thy treasures to be spoiled, for the sin of thy high places throughout all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, and in thee shalt be a rest from thine heritage that I gaue thee, and I will cause thee to serue thine enemies in the land, which thou knowest not: for yet haue kindled a fire in mine anger, which shall burne for ever.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arme, and with draweth his heart from the Lord.

6 For ye shall be like the heath in the wil-dernes, & shall not see when any good cometh, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wildernes, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is,

8 For he shall bee as a tree that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her rootes by the river, & shall not see when the brake cometh: but her lease shall be greene, and shall not care for the yeere of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit.

9 The heart is deceitfull and wicked aboue all things, who can know it?

10 The Lord search the heart, and try the reins, euen to giue euery man according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his workes.

11 As the partrich gathereth the yong, which she hath not brought forth: so he that gathereth riches, and not by right, shall leaue them in the midde of his dayes, and at his end shall bee a fool.

12 As a glorious throne exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sanctuary.

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shall bee written in the earth, because they haue forsaken the Lord, the fountaine of living waters.

thou art my praise.

cause thou deferrest the time of thy vengeance.

p I am assured of my vocation, and therefore know that the thing which thou speakest by me, shall come to passe, & that I speake not of any worldly affection.

q Howsoever the wicked deale rigorously with me, yet let me finde comfort in thee.

s Whereas thy doctrine may be best understood both of hie and low.

t By naming the Sabbath day, he comprehendeth the thing, that is thereby signified: for if they transgressed in the ceremony, they must needs be culpable of the rest, read Exodus 20. 8. and by the breaking of this one commandment, he maketh them transgressors of the whole Law, forasmuch as the first and second Table are contained herein.

Chap. 33. 4.

16 But I have not thrust in my selfe for a pastour after thee, neither have I desired the day of misery, thou knowest: that which came out of my lips, was right before thee.

17 Be not it terrible unto me, thou art mine hope in the day of adversity.

18 Let them be confounded that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring upon them the day of adversity, and destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said unto me, Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Judah come in, and by the which they goe out, and in all the gates of Jerusalem.

20 And say unto them, Heare the word of the Lord, ye kings of Judah, and all Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, take heed to your selves, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jerusalem.

22 Neither carry forth burdens out of your houses in the Sabbath day, neither doe ye any worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their necks stiffe, and would not heare, nor receive correction.

24 Nevertheless, if ye will heare me, saith the Lord, and beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye doe no worke therein.

25 Then shall the Kings and the princes enter in at the gates of this citie, and shall sit upon the throne of David, and shall ride upon chariots, and upon horses, both they and their princes, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem: and this citie shall remaine for ever.

26 And they shall come from the cities of Judah, and from about Jerusalem, & from the land of Benjamin, and from the plaine, and from the mountaines, and from the South, which shall bring burnt offerings and sacrifices, and meate offerings, and incense, & shall bring sacrifice of praise into the house of the Lord.

27 But if ye will not heare me to sanctifie the Sabbath day, and not to beare a burden, nor to goe through the gates of Jerusalem in the Sabbath day, then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall consume the palaces of Jerusalem, and it shall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroy the doers of his word. 18 The conspiracy of the Jews against Jeremiah. 19 His prayer against his adversaries.

The word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord saying,

2 Arise and goe downe into the potters house, and there shall I shew thee my words.

3 When I went downe to the potters house, and beheld, he wrought a worke on the wheel.

4 And the vessel that he made of a clay, was broken in the hands of the potter: so he returned and made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 When the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

6 O house of Israel, I cannot I doe with you as this potter doth the clay: behold, as the clay is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, O house of Israel.

7 I will speake suddenly against a nation, or against a kingdom to plucke it by, and to rote it out, and to destroy it.

8 But if the nation, against whom I have pronounced, turne from their wickednesse, I will repent of the plague that I thought to bring upon them.

9 And I will speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom to build it, and to plant it.

10 But if it doe euill in my sight, and beare not my voyce, I will repent of the good that I thought to doe for them.

11 Speake thou now therefore unto the men of Judah, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: because you therefore euerie one from his euill way, and make your wayes and your workes good.

12 But they said desperately, Surely, we will walke after our owne imaginations, and doe euery man after the stubbnesse of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathen, who hath heard such things? the virgine of Israel hath done very filthy.

14 Will a man forsake the snow of Lebanon, which cometh from the rocke of the feld: or shall the cold flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people haue forgotten me, and haue burnt incense to vanity, & their prophets haue caused them to stumble in their wayes from the ancient wayes, to walke in the pathes and way that is not troden,

16 To make their land desolate and a perpetual destruction, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and wagge his head,

17 I will scatter them with an East wind before the enemy: I will shew them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some device against Jeremiah: for the Lawe shall not perish from the Priest, nor counsell from the wise, nor the word from the Prophet: come, and let vs suite helpe and succour at strangers, and leaue God, which was present with them. e That is, the way of truth, which God had taught by his Law, read Chap. 6. 16. f I will shew mine anger, and not my fauour toward them. g This argument the wicked haue euer vied against the seruants of God, the Church cannot erre: we are the Church, & therefore whoeuer speaketh against vs, they ought to die. 1. King. 22. 24. chapter 14. and 20. 1. malac. 2. 4. and thus the false Church persecuteth the true Church, which standeth not in outward pompe, and in multitude, but is knowen by the graces of the holy Ghost.

h Let vs slander him, and accufe him: for we shal be beleued, him with the tongue, and let vs not giue heed to any of his words.

19 Hearken vnto me, O Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shall euill be recompensed for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remember that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore I deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them droppe away by the force of the sword, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widowes: and let their husbands bee put to death, and let their yong men bee slaine by the sword in the battell.

22 Let the crye bee heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an host suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feete.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsell against me tendeth to death: forgiue not their iniquitie, neither put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: Deale thus with them in the time of thine anger.

CHAP. XIX.

He prophesieth the destruction of Ierusalem for the contempt and despising of the word of God.

Thus said the Lord, God, and buy an earthen bottell of a potter, & take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priests,

2 And goe forth vnto the valley of Ben-hinnom, which is by the entrie of the East gate: and thou shalt preach there the words, that I shall tell thee,

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the word of the Lord, O Kings of Iudah, and inhabitants of Ierusalem. Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his eares shall tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken mee, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whom neither they nor their fathers haue knownen, nor the Kings of Iudah (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue built the high places of Baal, to burne their sonnes with fire for burnt offerings vnto Baal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, neither came it into my minde)

6 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shall no more bee called Copheth, nor the valley of Ben-hinnom, but the valley of slaughter.

7 And I will bring the counsell of Iudah and Ierusalem to nought in this place, and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of them that seeke their liues: and their karkasses will I giue to be meat for the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the field.

8 And I will make this citie desolate, and an hissing, so that euery one that passeth thereby, shall be astonished and hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

9 And I will feede them with the flesh of their sonnes, and with the flesh of their daughters, and euery one shall eat the flesh of his friend in the siege and straitnesse, wherewith their enemies that seeke their liues shall hold them strait.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottell in the sight of the men that goe with thee,

11 And shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Euen so will I breake this people and this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessell, that cannot be made whole againe, and they shall bury them in Copheth, till there be no place to bury.

12 Thus will I doe vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I will make this citie like Copheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalem, and the houses of the kings of Iudah, shall be defiled as the place of Copheth, because of all the houses vpon whose roofes they haue burnt incense vnto all the host of heauen, and haue poyzed out drinke offerings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiah from Copheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophete, and he stood in the court of the Lords house, and layd to all the people,

15 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues that I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and would not heare my words.

CHAP. XX.

2 Ieremiah is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the word of God. 3 He prophesieth the captinitie of Babylon. 7 He complaineth that he is a mocking stocke for the word of God. 9 He is compelled by the spirit to preach the word.

When Balthur, the sonne of Immer, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in the house of the Lord, heard that Ieremiah prophesied these things,

2 Then Balthur smote Ieremiah the Prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the high gate of Benjamin which was by the house of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Balthur brought Ieremiah out of the stocks. Then sayd Ieremiah vnto him, The Lord hath not called thy name Balthur, but Magor missabib.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will make thee to bee a terror to thy selfe, and to all thy friendes, and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and thine eyes shall behold it, and I will giue all Iudah into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall cary them captiue into Babel, and shall slay them with the sword.

5 Moreover, I will deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof, and all the precious things thereof, and all the treasures of the kings of Iudah will I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shall spoyle them, and take them away and cary them to Babel.

6 And thou Balthur, and all that dwell in thine house, shall goe into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt die, and shalt be buried there, thou and all thy friends, to whom thou hast prophesied lies.

e This visible signe was to confirme them touching the assurance of this plague which the Lord threatened by his Prophet.

f He noteth the great rage of the idolaters, which left no place free from their abominations, inso-much as they polluted their owne houses therewith, as we see yet among the Papists. g Read deut. 22.8.

a Thus we see that the thing which neither the king, nor the princes, nor the people durst enterprize against the Prophet of God, this Priest as a chiefe instrument of Satan first attempted, read Chap. 18. 18.

Or, seate round about.

b Which haue suffered themselves to be abused by thy false propheties.

i Seeing the obstinate malice of the aduersaries, which grew dayly more & more, the Prophet being moued with Gods Spirit, without any carnall affection prayeth for their destruction, because he knew that it should end to Gods glory, and profit of his Church.

Or, gate of the Sunne.

a By kings here and in other places are meant counsellors, and gouernors of the people: which he called the ancients, verse 1. b Reade of this phrase. 1. Sam. 3. 11.

c Whereby is declared, that whosoever is not commanded by Gods word touching his seruice, is against his word.

d Reade Chap. 7. 31. & 2. king. 23. 10. & 30. 33.

Chap 18. 16. and 49. 13. & 50. 13.

Deut. 28. 53. lament. 4. 10.

c Herein appeareth the impatiencie which oftentimes overcommeth the seruants of God when they see not their labours to profit, & also feeble their owne weakenesse, reade Chap. 15. 18.

d Thou diddest thrust me forth to this worke against my will. e Hee sheweth that he did his office in that he reprooued the people of their vices, and threatened them with Gods iudgements: but because he was derided and persecuted for this, he was discouraged and thought to haue ceased to preach, saue that Gods spirit did force him thereunto.

f Thus the enemies conferred together to know what they had heard him say, that they might accuse him thereof, reade Isa. 29. 21.

g Here he sheweth how his faith did strue against temptation, and sought to the Lord for strength.

h How the children of God are overcome in this battell of the flesh and the spirit, and into what inconueniences they fall till God raise them vp againe, read Iob 3. 1. & chap 15. 10. i Alluding to the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, Gen. 19. 25. k Meaning, that the fruit thereof might neuer come to profite.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceived me, and I am deceived: thou art stronger then I, and hast prevailed: I am in derision dayly, euery one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cried out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the word of the Lord was made a reproch vnto me, and in derision dayly.

9 Then I said, I will not make mention of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his word was in mine heart as a burning fire shut vp in my bones, and I was weary with forbearing, and I could not stay.

10 For I had heard the rayling of many, and feare on every side. I Declare, said they, and wee will declare it: all my familiars watched for my halting, saying, It may bee that hee is deceived: so we shall preuaile against him, and we shall execute our vengeance vpon him.

11 But the Lord is with me like a mighty giant: therefore my persecuters shall bee ouerthrowen, and shall not preuaile, and shall bee greatly confounded: for they haue done vnwisely, and their euilllasting shame shall neuer be forgotten.

12 But, O Lord of hosts, that triest the righteous, and seekest the reines, and the heart, let me see thy vengeance on them: for vnto thee haue I opened my cause.

13 Sing vnto the Lord, praise ye the Lord, for hee hath deliuered the soule of the poore from the hand of the wicked.

14 Cursed be the day wherein I was borne: and let not the day wherein my mother bare me, be blessed.

15 Cursed be the man that shewed my father, saying, A man child is borne vnto thee, and comforted him.

16 And let that man bee as the cities, which the Lord hath ouerturned and repented not: and let him heare the cry in the morning, and the shouting at noone tide.

17 Because hee hath not slaine mee, euen from the wombe, or that my mother might haue beene my graue, or her wombe a perpetual conception.

18 Now is it, that I came forth of the wombe, to see labour and sorrow, that my dayes should be consumed with shame?

CHAP. XXI.

He propheseth that Zedekiah shall be taken, and the citie burned.

The word which came vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, when king Zedekiah sent vnto him Balthur, the sonne of Balchiah, and Zephaniah, the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, saying,

2 Enquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for as did Hezekiah when he sent to Isaiah, 1. King 19. 1. Isa. 37. 3. but because the Prophet might pray vnto God to take this present plague away, as Pharaoh sought vnto Moses, Exod. 9. 28.

us (for Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so bee that the Lord will deale with vs according to all his wonderful workes, that he may returne vpon vs.

3 Then sayd Ieremiah, Thus shall you say to Zedekiah.

4 Thus sayeth the Lord God of Israel, Behold, I will turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the king of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the wailes, and I will assemble them into the middes of this citie.

5 And I my selfe will fight against you with an outstretched hand, & with a mighty arme, euen in anger and in wrath, and in great indignation.

6 And I will smite the inhabitants of this citie, both man and beast: they shall die of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, sayth the Lord, I will deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and such as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sword and from the famine, into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seeke their liues, and hee shall smite them with the edge of the sword: he shall not spare them, neither haue pity nor compassion.

8 And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I set before you the way of life, and the way of death.

9 He that abideth in this citie, shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shall liue, and his life shall be vnto him for a praye.

10 For I haue set my face against this citie, for euill, and not for good, saith the Lord: it shall be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

11 And say vnto the house of the king of Iudah, Heare ye the word of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath goe out like fire, and burne, that none can quench it, because of the wickednesse of your workes.

13 Behold, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, & crocke of the platne, saith the Lord, which say, Why shall we come downe against vs? or who shall enter into our habitations?

14 But I will visit you according to the fruit of your workes, saith the Lord, and I will kindle a fire in the forest thereof, and it shall deuoure round about.

CHAP. XXII.

He exhorteth the king to iudgement and righteousness. 9 Why Ierusalem is brought into captivity. 11 The death of Shallum the sonne of Iosiah is prophesied.

Thus sayd the Lord. Goe downe to the house of the king of Iudah, and speake there this thing,

2 And say, Heare the word of the Lord,

h Whom some thinke to be Iehoiachin, & that Iosiah was his grandfather: but as seemeth, this was Iehoiakim, as verse 18.

i By bribes and extortion.

k Meaning Iosiah, who was not giuen to ambition, and superstitie, but was content with mediocritie, and did onely delight in setting forth Gods glory, and to doe iustice to all,

D. King of Iudah, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, thou and thy seruants, and thy people that enter in by these gates.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, * Execute ye iudgement and * righteousnesse, and deliuer the oppressed from the hand of the oppressor, and were not the stranger, the fatherlesse, nor the widow: doe no violence, nor shed innocent blood in this place.

4 For if ye doe this thing, then shall the Kings sitting vpon the throne of Dauid enter in by the gates of this house, * and ride vpon charrets, and vpon horses, both hee and his seruants and his people.

5 But if ye will not heare these words, I sweare by my selfe, saith the Lord, that this house shall be waste.

6 For thus hath the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudah, Thou art * Gilead vnto mee, and the head of Lebanon, yet surely I will make thee a wilderness, and as cities not inhabited.

7 And I will * prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shall cut downe thy chiefe * cedar trees, and cast them in the fire.

8 And many nations shall passe by this cite, and they shall say euery man to his neighbour, * Therefore hath the Lord done thus vnto this great cite:

9 Then shall they answer, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of the Lord their God, and worshipped other gods, and serued them.

10 * Escape not for the dead, and be not moued for them, but weepe for him: that goeth out: for hee shall returne no more, nor see his native countrey.

11 For thus sayth the Lord, as touching * Shallum the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which went out of this place, * Hee shall not returne thither.

12 But hee shall die in the place, whither they haue led him captiue, and shall see this land no more.

13 * Go vnto him that buildeth his house by vnrightrousnes, and his chambers without equite: he vseth his neighbour without wages, and giueth him not for his worke.

14 He saith, I will build me a wide house and large chambers: so hee will make himselfe large windows, and sieling with cedar, and paint them with vermillion.

15 Shalt thou reigne, because thou closeth thy selfe in cedar? did not thy * Father eate and drinke and prosper, when he executed iudgement and iustice?

16 When hee iudged the cause of the afflicted and the poore, he prospered: was not this because he knew me, saith the Lord?

17 But thine eyes and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnes, and for to shed innocent blood, and for oppression, and for destruction, euen to doe this.

18 Therefore thus sayth the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, They shall not lament him, saying, Ah, my brother, or Ah, sister: neither shall they mourne for him, saying, Ah lord, or Ah, his glory.

19 He shall be buried as an asse is * buried, euen drawen and cast forth without the gates of Ierusalem.

20 * Goe vp to * Lebanon, and cry: shout in * Bashan, and cry by the passages: for all thy louers are destroyed.

21 I spake vnto thee when thou wast in prosperity: but thou saidst, I will not heare, this hath bene thy manner from thy youth, that thou wouldest not obey my voice.

22 The winde shall seede all thy pastors, * and thy louers shall goe into captivity: and then shalt thou be ashamed and confounded of all thy wickednesse.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanon, and makest thy nest in the * cedars, how beautiful shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauel?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though * Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, were the signet of my right hand, yet would I plucke thee thence.

25 And I will giue thee into the hand of them that seeke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, euen into the hand of Nebuchad-rizzar King of Babel, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 And I will cause them to carry thee away, and thy mother that bare thee into another countrey where ye were not borne, and there shall ye die.

27 But to the land wherunto they desire to returne, they shall not returne thither.

28 Is not this man Coniah as a despised and broken idole? or as a vessel, wherein is no pleasure? wherefore are they carried away, he and his seed, and cast out into a land that they know not?

29 O * earth, earth, earth, heare the word of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, * Write this * man destitute of children, a man that shall not prosper in his dayes: for there shall be no or Ieconiah, man of his seed that shall prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudah.

people. We haue scattered my flocke, & thrust them out, and haue not visited them: behold, I will visite you for the wickednesse of your workes, saith the Lord.

3 And I will gather the remnant of my sheepe out of all countreys, whither I had driuen them, and will bring them againe to their folds, and they shall grow and increase.

4 And I will set vp shepherds ouer them, which shall feede them, and they shall dread no more nor be afraid, neither shall any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

5 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will raise vnto Dauid a righteous branch, and a King shall reigne, and prosper, and shall execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.

6 In his dayes Iudah shall be saved, and Israel shall dwell safely, and this is the name whereby they shall call him, The Lord our righteousnesse.

7 Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that they shall no more say, The Lord lieth, which brought vp the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt.

8 But, The Lord lieth, which brought vp and led the seed of the house of Israel out of the North countrey, & from all countreys where I had scattered them, and they shall dwell in their owne land.

9 Mine heart breaketh within mee, because of the prophets, all my bones shake, I am like a drunken man (and like a man whom wine hath overcome) for the presence of the Lord, and for his holy word.

10 For the land is full of adulterers, and because of othes the land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wilderness are dried vp, and their conuise is euill, and their force is not right.

11 For both the Prophet & the priest do wickedly: and their wickednesse haue I found in mine house, saith the Lord.

12 Therefore their way shall be vnto them as slippery wayes in the darknes: they shall be driuen forth and fall therein: for I will bring a plague vpon them, euen the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

13 And I haue seene foolishnes in the prophets of Samaria, that prophesied in Baal, and caused my people Israel to erre.

14 I haue seene also in the Prophets of Ierusalem sitchinesse: they commit adulterie and walke in lies: they strengthen also the hands of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednesse: they are all vnto me as Sodoin, & the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrah.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts concerning the Prophets, Behold, I will feede them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from the Prophets of Ierusalem is wickednesse gone forth into all the land.

16 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Heare not the words of the prophets that prophesie vnto you and teach you vanity: they speake the vision of their owne heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

17 They say still vnto them that despise mee, The Lord hath said, We shall haue peace, and they say vnto euery one that walke after the stubburnesse of his owne heart, No euill shall come vpon you.

18 For who hath stood in the counsel of the Lord, that hee hath perceiued and heard his word? Who hath marked his word and heard it?

19 Behold, the tempest of the Lord goeth forth in his wrath, and a violent whirlewind shall fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.

20 The anger of the Lord shall not returne vntill he haue executed, and till he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter dayes ye shall vnderstand it plainly.

21 I haue not sent these Prophets, saith the Lord, yet they ran: I haue not spoken to them, and yet they prophesied.

22 But if they had stood in my counsel, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they should haue turned them from their euill way, and from the wickednesse of their inuentions.

23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off?

24 Can any hide himself in secret places, that I shall not see him, saith the Lord? Doe not I fill heauen and earth, saith the Lord?

25 I haue heard what the prophets said, that prophesie lies in my name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.

26 How long? Do the prophets delight to prophesie lies, euen prophesying the deceit of their owne heart?

27 Thinke they to cause my people to forget my name by their dreames, which they tell euery man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotten my name for Baal?

28 The Prophet that hath a dreame, let him tell a dreame, & he that hath my word, let him speake my word faithfully: what is the chaffe to the wheate, saith the Lord?

29 Is not my word euen like a fire, saith the Lord? and like an hammer that breaketh the stone?

30 Therefore behold, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, that steal my word euery one from his neighbour.

31 Beholde, I will come against the prophets, saith the Lord, which haue sweet tongues, and say, He saith.

32 Behold, I wil come against them that prophesie false dreames, saith the Lord, and doe tell them, and cause my people to erre by their lies and by their flatteries, and I sent them not, nor commanded them: therefore they bring no profit vnto this people, saith the Lord.

33 And when this people, or the prophet, or a Priest shall aske thee saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then be applyed to the same purpose that it was spoken, Eze. 3. 17. 1. Cor. 2. 13. and 4. 2. 2. Tim. 2. 15. 1. Pet. 4. 10. 11. z Which set forth in my Name that which I haue not commaunded. a To wit, the Lord. b The Prophets called their threatnings, Gods burden, which the sinners were not able to sustaine, therefore the wicked in deriding the word, would aske of the Prophets, What was the burden? As though they would say, You seeke nothing else but to lay burdens on our shoulders: and thus they reiected the word of God as a grieuous burden.

p Thus they did deride Ieremiah as though the word of God were not reuelled vnto him: so also spake Zedekiah to Michah, 1. King. 22. 24. q Both that God hath sent me, and that my words shall be true.

x Let the false prophet declare that it is his own fantasie, and not slander my word as though it were a cloake to couer his lies.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The vision of the basket of figs 5 signifieth that part of the people should be brought againe from captiuitie. 8 And that Zedekiah and the rest of the people should be caried away.

The Lord shewed mee, and behold, two baskets of figges were set before the Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had very good figges, euen like the figs that are first ripe: and the other basket had very naughty figs, which could not be eaten, they were so euill.

3 Then said the Lord vnto mee, What seest thou Ieremias? And I said, Figs: the good figs very good, and the naughty very naughty, which can not bee eaten, they are so euill.

4 Again, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel, Like these good figs, so wil I know them, that are caried away captiue of Iudah, to be good, whom I haue sent out of this place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I will set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I will bring them againe to this land, and I wil build them, and not destroy them, and I will plant them, and not roote them out.

7 And I will giue them an heart to know me, that I am the Lord, and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: for they shall returne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 And as the naughty figges which cannot bee eaten, they are so euill (surely thus saith the Lord) so will I giue Zedekiah the king of Iudah and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem that remaine in this land, and them that dwell in the land of Egypt:

9 I will euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reppoch, and for a prouerbe, for a common talke, and for a curse in all places, where I shall cast them.

10 And I will send the sword, the famine and the pestilence among them, till they bee consumed out of the land that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Hee prophesieth that they shall be in captiuitie seventy yeeres. 12 And that after the seventy yeeres the Babylonians should be destroyed. 15 The destruction of all nations is prophesied.

The word that came to Ieremias, concerning all the people of Iudah in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, that was in the first yeere of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel:

2 The which Ieremias the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, and to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirteenth yeere of Josiah the sonne of Amon the king of Iudah, euen vnto this day (that is the three and twentieth yeere) the word of the Lord hath come vnto me, and I haue spoken vnto you rising early and speaking, but ye would not heare.

4 And the Lord hath sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophets, rising early and sending them, but ye would not heare, nor incline your eares to obey.

5 They said, Turne againe now euery one from his euill way, and from the wickednes of your inuentions, and ye shal dwell in the land that the Lord hath giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euere and euere.

6 And goe not after other gods to serue them and to worship them, and prouoke mee not to anger with the works of your hands, and I will not punish you.

7 Neuertheless ye would not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to anger with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my words,

9 Behold, I will send, and take to me all those vices, the families of the North, saith the Lord, which then reigned, and Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babel my ned to wit, from I seruant, and will bring them against this idolatry, and the land, and against the inhabitants thereof, vaine confidence, and against all these nations round about, and will destroy them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continuall desolation.

12 And when the seuentie yeeres are accomplished, I will visit the king of Babel and that nation, sayth the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and will make it a perpetuall desolation,

13 And I will bring vpon that land all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all that is written in this booke, which Jeremiah hath prophesied against all nations.

14 For many nations and great kings shall euen serue themselves of them: thus will I recompense them according to their deeds, and according to the workes of their owne hands.

16 And they shall drinke and be mooued, and be mad, because of the sword that I will send among them.

17 Then tooke I the cup at the Lords hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whom the Lord had sent me:

18 Euen Ierusalem, and the cities of Iudah, and the kings thereof, and the Princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, as appeareth this day:

Drinke and be drunken, and spew and fall, and rise no more, because of the sword, which I will send among you.

28 But if they refuse to take the cup at thine hand to drinke, then tel them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Vee shall certainly drinke.

31 The sound shall come to the endes of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the nations, and will enter into iudgement with all flesh, & he will giue them that are wicked, to the sword, sayth the Lord.

32 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, a plague shall goe forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlewind shall be raised vpon from the coast of the earth, every man from his euill way, that I may repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednesse of their workes.

4 And thou shalt say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord, If yee will not heare me to walke in my lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the words of my seruants the Prophets, whom I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending them, and will not obey them,

6 Then will I make this House like Shiloh, and will make this citie a curle to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the House of the Lord.

8 Now when Jeremiah had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, then the Priests and the Prophets, and all the people tooke him, and sayd, Thou shalt die the death.

9 Altho hast thou prophesied in the Name of the Lord, saying, This house shall be like Shiloh, and this citie shall be desolate without an inhabitant: and all the people were gathered against Jeremiah in the House of the Lord.

10 And when the Princes of Iudah heard of these things, they came vp from the kings house into the House of the Lord, and sate downe in the entry of the new gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priests and the Prophets vnto the princes, and to all the people, saying, This man is worthy to die: for he hath prophesied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Jeremiah vnto all the princes, and to all the people, saying, The Lord hath sent me to prophesie against this House and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amend your wayes and your workes, and heare the voyce of the Lord your God, that the Lord may repent him of the plague, that he hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, behold, I am in your hands:
doe with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But know ye for certaine, that if ye put mee to death, ye shall surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truerth the Lord hath sent mee vnto you to speake all these words in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priests, and to the Prophets,
This man is not worthy to die: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 Then arose vp certaine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assembly of the people, saying,

18 Michah the Moreshite * prophesied in the dayes of Hezekiah King of Iudah, and spake to all the people of Iudah, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Zion shall be plowed like a fildes, and Jerusalem shall bee an heape, and the mountaine of the House shall be as the high places of the forrest.

19 Did Hezekiah King of Iudah and all Iudah put him to death? did hee not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the plague, that hee had pronounced against them? thus might wee procure great euill against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophesied in the Name of the Lord, one Uriah the sonne of Shemaiah, of Kiriath-ia-rem, who prophesied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the words of Jeremiah.

21 Now when Jehoiakim the King with all his men of power, and all the Princes heard his wordes, the King sought to slay him. But when Uriah heard it, hee was afraid, and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Then Jehoiakim the King sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and certaine with him into Egypt.

23 And they set Uriah out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Jehoiakim the king, who slew him with the sword, and cast his dead body into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan was with Jeremiah, that they should not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

m As in the first, Hezekiahs example is to bee followed, so in this other, Jehoiakims act is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household. n Which declareth that nothing could haue appeased their fury, if God had not moued this noble man to stand valiantly in his defence.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Jeremiah at the commandement of the Lord sendeth bonds to the king of Iudah, and to the other kings that were neere, whereby they are monished to be subiects to Nebuchad-nezzar. 9 Hee warneth
the people and the kings and rulers, that they beleene

1 In the beginning of the reigne of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bonds and pokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

3 And send them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the Ammonites, and to the king of Tyzus, and to the king of Zidon, by the hand of the messengers, which come to Jerusalem vnto Zedekiah the king of Iudah.

4 And command them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Thus shall you say vnto your masters,

6 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hand of Nebuchad nezzar the King of Babel my seruant, and the beasts of the field haue I also giuen him to serue him.

7 And all nations shall serue him, and his sonne and his sonnes sonne, vntill the very time of his land come also: then many nations and great kings shall serue themselves of him.

8 And the nation and kingdome which will not serue the same Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and that will not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation will I visite, saith the Lord, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntill I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

9 Therefore heare not your prophets nor your soothsayers, nor your dreamers, nor your enchanters, nor your sozcerers, which say vnto you thus, We shall not serue the king of Babel.

10 For they prophesie a lie vnto you to cause you to goe farre from your land, and that I should cast you out, and you should perish.

11 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him, those will I let remaine still in their owne land, saith the Lord, and they shall occupie it, and dwell therein.

12 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiah King of Iudah, according to all their words, saying, But your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

13 Why will yedie, thou and thy people by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spoken against the nation, that will not serue the king of Babel?

14 Therefore heare not the words of the prophets, that speake vnto you, saying, We shall not serue the king of Babel: for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

15 For I haue not sent them, saith the Lord, yet they prophesie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, both you, and the Prophets that prophesie vnto you.

16 ¶ Also I spake to the Priests, and to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Weare not the words of your Prophets that prophesie vnto you, saying, Behold the vessels of the House of the Lord shall now shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophesie a lie vnto you.

17 Heare them not, but serue the King of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore should this citie be desolate?

18 But if they bee Prophets, and if the word of the Lord be with them, let them intreate the Lord of hostes, that the vessels which are left in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem goe not to Babel.

19 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bales, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie,

20 Which Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel tooke not, when he caried away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehotakim king of Iudah from Ierusalem to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudah and Ierusalem.

21 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, concerning the vessels that remaine in the House of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Iudah, and at Ierusalem.

22 They shall be brought to Babel, and there they shall be vntill the day that I visite them, saith the Lord: then will I bring them by, and restore them vnto this place.

1 The false prophesie of Hananiah. 12 Jeremiah reprooueth Hananiah, and prophesieth.

AND that same yeere, in the beginning of the reign of Zedekiah king of Iudah, in the fourth yeere, and the fifth moneth, Hananiah the sonne of Azur the Prophet, which was of Gibeon, spake to me in the house of the Lord, in the presence of the Priests, and of all the people and said,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the king of Babel.

3 ¶ Within two yeeres space I will bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords house, that Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel tooke away from this place, and caried them into Babel.

4 And I will bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Iehotakim King of Iudah, with all them that were caried away captiue of Iudah, and went into Babel, saith the Lord: for I will breake the yoke of the king of Babel.

5 Then the Prophet Jeremiah said vnto the prophet Hananiah in the presence of the Priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the Lord,

6 Euen the Prophet Jeremiah said, So be it: the Lord so doe, the Lord confirme the words which thou hast prophesied, to restore the vessels of the Lords house, and all that is caried captiue from Babel, into this place.

7 But heare thou now the word that I will speake in thine eares, and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophets that haue bene before me and before thee in time past, prophesied against many countreys, and against great kingdomes, of warre, and of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophesieth of peace, when the word of the Prophet shall come to passe, then shall the Prophet bee knownen that the Lord hath truly sent him.

11 And Vananias spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, When will I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, from the necke of all nations which are in the land of Chanaan: and the Prophet Jeremiah went his way.

12 Then the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah the Prophet, (after that Vananias the prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Jeremiah) saying,

13 Goe, and tell Vananias, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood, but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, I haue put a yoke of yron vpon the necke of all these nations, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel: for they shall serue him, and I haue giuen him the beasts of the field also.

15 Then said the Prophet Jeremiah vnto the Prophet Vananias, Heare now Vananias, the Lord hath not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will cast thee from off the earth: this yere thou shalt die, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Vananias the prophet died the same yere in the seuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Jeremiah writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 He propheseth their returne after seuentie yeres. 16 He propheseth the destruction of the king and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem. 21 He sheweth the prophets that seduce the people. 32 The death of Sennacherib is prophesied.

Now these are the wordes of the booke that Jeremiah the Prophet sent from Ierusalem vnto the residue of the Elders which were carryed away captiues, and to the Priestes and to the Prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchad-nezzar had carryed away captiue from Ierusalem to Babel.

2 (After that Ieconiah the king, and the Queen, and the Eunuchs, the Princes of Iudah, and of Ierusalem, and the workmen and cunning men were departed from Ierusalem)

3 By the hand of Elasah the sonne of Shaphan, and Gemariah the sonne of Hiskiah (whom Zedekiah King of Iudah sent vnto Babel to Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel) saying,

4 Thus hath the Lord of hostes the God of Israel spoken vnto all that are carryed away captiues, whom I haue caused to be carryed away captiues from Ierusalem vnto Babel:

5 Build you houses to dwell in, & plant you gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

6 Take you wives, and beget sonnes and daughters: and take wives for your sonnes, and geue your daughters to husbandes, that they may beare sonnes and daughters, that yet may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seeke the welfare of the citie, whether I haue caused you to be carryed away captiues, and pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall you haue peace.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Let not your prophets and your soothsayers that be among you, deceiue you, neither giue eare to your dreames, which your dreamers say.

9 For they prophesie you a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, sayeth the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeres be accomplished at Babel, I will visit you, and performe my good promise toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I haue thought towards you, saith the Lord, even the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shall yee say vnto mee, and yee shall say and pray vnto me, and I will heare you.

13 And yee shall seeke me and finde mee, because yee shall seeke mee with all your heart.

14 And I will be found of you, saith the Lord, and I will turne away your captivity, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places, whither I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and will bring you againe vnto the place, whence I caused you to be carryed away captiue.

15 Because yee haue said, The Lord hath raised vs up a prophet in Babel,

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the king, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, and of all the people that dwell in this city, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will send vpon them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figges, that cannot be eaten, they are so naughty.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence: and I will make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, and a curse, and astonishment and an hissing, and a reproch among all the nations whither I haue cast them.

19 Because they haue not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruants the Prophets, rising vp early, and sending them, but yee would not heare, saith the Lord.

20 I beare yee therefore the word of the Lord, all yee of the captiuitie, whom I haue sent from Ierusalem to Babel.

e The Prophet speaketh not this for the affliction that he bare to the tyrant, but that they should pray for the common rest and quietnesse, that their troubles might not be increased, and that they might with more patience and lesse griefe waite for the time of their deliuerance which God had appointed most certaine: for else not onely the Israelites, but all the worldes, yea, and the inferiour creatures should reioyce when these tyrants should be destroyed, as Iai. 14. 4.

f When your oppression shall bee great, and your afflictions cause you to repent your disobedience, and also when the seuentie yeres of your captiuitie shall be expired 2 Chro. 36. 22. Ezra 1. 1. chap. 25. 12.

22 And all they of the captivity of Judah that are in Babel, shall take by this curse against them, & say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiah and like Ahab, whom the King of Babel burnt in the fire.

23 Because they have committed a villenie in Israel, and have committed adulterie with their neighbours wives, and have spoken lying words in my name, which I have not commanded them, even I know it, and testify it, saith the Lord.

24 Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiah the Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, saying, Because thou hast sent letters in thy name unto all the people that are at Jerusalem, and to Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying,

26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for Jehoiada the Priest, that yet should be officers in the house of the Lord, for every man that caneth and maketh himselfe a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stocks.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproved Jeremiah of Anathoth, which prophesieth unto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent unto us in Babel, saying, This captivie is long: build houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

29 And Zephaniah the Priest read this letter in the eares of Jeremiah the Prophet.

30 Then came the word of the Lord unto Jeremiah, saying,

31 Send to all them of the captivity, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiah the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiah hath prophesied unto you and I sent him not, and he caused you to trust in a lie, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will visit Shemaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed: hee shall not have a man to dwell among this people, neither shall he behold the good that I will doe for my people, saith the Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

1 The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies. 18 And comforteth the Church.

The worde that came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israel, saying, Write thee all the words that I have spoken unto thee, in a booke.

3 For loe, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will bring againe the captivitie of my people Israel and Judah, saith the Lord: for I will restore them unto the land that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possess it.

4 Again, these are the words that the Lord spake concerning Israel, and concerning Judah.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We have heard a terrible voyce of feare, and not of peace.

6 Demand now and behold, if man travaile with child. Wherefore doe I behold every man with his hands on his loynes as a woman in travaile, and all faces are turned into a paleness?

7 Alas, for this day is great: none hath bene like it: it is even the time of Iacob's trouble, yet shall he be delivered from it.

8 For in that day, saith the Lord of hosts, I will breake his yoke from off thy necke, and breake thy bonds, and strangers shall no more serve themselves of him.

9 But they shall serve the Lord their God, and David their King, whom I will raise up unto them.

10 Therefore feare not, O my servant Iacob, saith the Lord, neither be afraid, O Israel: for loe, I will deliver thee from a farre countrey, and thy seede from the land of their captivitie, and Iacob shall turne againe, and shall be in rest and prosperitie, and none shall make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to save thee: though I utterly destroy all the nations where I have scattered thee, yet wil I not utterly destroy thee, but I wil correct thee by iudgement, and not utterly cut thee off.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and thy wound is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medicines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy lovers have forgotten thee: they seeke thee not: for I have stricken thee with the wound of an enemy, and with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorrow is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I have done these things unto thee.

16 Therefore all they that denoure thee, shall bee denoured, and all thine enemies every one shall goe into captivitie: and they that spoyle thee shall bee spoiled, and all they that robbe thee, will I give to bee robbed.

17 For I will restore health unto thee, and I will heale thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The castaway, saying, This is Zion, whom no man seeketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will bring againe the captivitie of Iacob's tents, and have compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shall bee builded upon her owne heape, and the palace shall remaine after the manner thereof.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me of old, say they: Dea, I haue loued thee with an eueralsting loue, therefore with mercy I haue drawn thee.

4 Again, I will build thee, & thou shalt be builded, O virgin Israel: thou shalt fill be adorned with thy tabernacles, and shalt go forth in the daunce of them that be thy fill.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaynes of Samaria, and the planters that plant them shall make them common.

6 For the dayes shall come, that the watchmen vpon the mount of Ephraim shall cry, Arise, and let vs goe vnto Zion to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnesse for Iacob, & shout for ioy among the chiefe of the Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lord, save thy people, & thy remnant of Israel.

8 Beholde, I will bring them from the North countrey, and gather them from the east of the world, with the blinde and the lame among them, with the woman with child, and he that is deliuered out of the hand of his captiuitie.

9 Because the Israelites, which were y^e tribes, neuer returned to Samaria, therefore this must be spiritually vnderstood vnder the kingdome of Christ, which was the reformation of the true Israel. h That is, shall eat the fruit thereof, as Leu. 19. 23. deu. 20. 6. i The ministers of the word. k They shall exhort all to the embracing of the Gospel, as Isai. 2. 3. l He sheweth what shall be the concord and loue of all vnder the Gospel, where none shall be refused for their infirmities: and every one shall exhort one another to embrace it.

Iame among them, with the woman with child, and he that is deliuered out of the hand of his captiuitie, shall bring him hither.

9 They shall come weeping, and with mercy will I bring them againe: I will leade them by the riuers of water in a straight way, whereto they shall not stumble: for I am a father to the fatherles, and a mercifull father to the mercifull.

10 I will beare the word of the Lord, O ye Gentiles, and declare in the plea a sacrifice off, and say, We that scattered Israel, will gather him, and will keepe him as a shepheard doth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iacob, and reformed him from the hand of his captiuitie, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shall come and reioyce in the height of Zion, & shall run to the bountifullnesse of the Lord, even for the wheate and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of sheepe and bullockes: and their founte shall be as a watered garden, and they shall haue no more sorrowes.

13 Then shall the virgin reioyce in the daunce, and the young men, and the old men together: for I will turne their mourning into ioy, and will comfort them, and giue them ioy for their sorrowes.

14 And I will multiply theoule of the spirits with my seruants, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodness, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Lord, A voyce was heard on hie, a mourning & bitter weeping, Rachel weeping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voyces from weeping, and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shall be rewarded, saith the Lord, and they shall come againe from the land of the enemy.

17 And here is hope in their ende, saith the Lord, that thy children shall come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected mee, and I was chastised as an vntamed calfe: I conuert thou me, and I shall be conuerted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 Surely, after that I conuerted, I repented: and after that I was instructed, I like to the Beniamites or Israelites: that is, vnto the destruction of my youth.

20 As Ephraim my deare sonne or pleasure child, yet since I spake vnto him, I still way, in so much remembered him: therefore my bowels are as they cannot be troubled for him, I will surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee by signes: make thee heapes: rise againe to seeke for her children, shee should haue found none remaining.

d Because their deliuerance from Babylon was a figure of their deliuerance from sinne, he sheweth how this should be procured, to wit, by Iesus Christ, whom a woman should conceive and beare in her wombe. Which is a strange thing in earth, because he should be borne of a virgin without man: or, he maye either, he maye either, which was like a barren woman, in her captivity: should be fruitful, as she that is ioynd in marriage, and whom God blest with children. ¶ Having understood this vision of the Messiah to come, in who the two houses of Israel and Iudah should be ioyned, I reioyced, to wit, I will multiplie and enrich them with people and cattell. ¶ The wicked vie this prayer, when they did murmur against Gods iudgements pronounced by the Prophets, saying, that their fathers had committed the fault, and that the children were punished. Ezek 18. 3. b. Though the cause which was grounded on Zeph's manifestation of forgiveness to his Church of their owne sinnes, was blessed of God, he was so, as to be desired with iugard God for remission, it shall not seeme fiers, as by the influence of his grace, we shall be ioyned

Let thine heart toward the path & way, that thou hast walked : turne againe, O Virgine of Israel : turne againe to these conciles.

22 How long wilt thou grieve thyselfe ? how rebellious daughter ! for the Lord hath created a new thing in the earthe A WOMAN shall compass a man,

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Yet shall they say watching in the land of Judah ; and in the cities thereof, when I shall bring against their countrey, The Lord bleste thee, O habitation of iustice and holy mountaine.

24 And Judah shall dwell in it, and all the cities thereof together, the bulwarkesmen and they that goe forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue sated the hungry soule, and I haue replenished every sorrowfull soule.

26 Therefore I awaked, and beheld, and my sleepe was sweete unto me.

27 Behold, she dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will sow the house of Israel, and the house of Judah, with the seede of man, and with the seede of beast.

28 And like as I have watched upon them, to plucke vs, and to roote out, and to throw downe, and to destroy, and to plague them so wil I watch ouer them, to build and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shall the floure more, wheate shall increase, vines shall flourish, figges shall be full, and olive trees shall be laden with oil.

30 But euery one shall sit by his owne vineyard, and euery man shall eat of the towere grape, his tree shall be set on edge.

31 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new couenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah, a Not according to the couenante that I made with their fathers, when I tookethem by the hand to bring them out of egiptland of Egypt, the which my couenante they brake although I was ifan husband vnder them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shall be the couenante that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will put my Law in their inward parts , and write it in their hearts, and will be their God, and they shalbe my people.

34 And they shall teach alwaye euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Know the Lord, for they that know mee from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord : for I will forgive iniquities, and free captiuitie made to the fathurs, and enslave ment, yee shall be all ones, and Christ saue that this is called new, because of the Chrut, and the abundant graces of the holy Ghost giuen under the Gospel.

35 Thus saith the Lord, which smeth the Sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of the Moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, when the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hosts.
 36 If these ordinances depart out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shall the seed of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for ever.
 37 Thus saith the Lord, if the heauens can be measured, or the foundations of the earth be searched out beneath, then will I cast off all the seed of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.
 38 Behold, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that the city shall be built to the Lord from the tower of Hamanai, vnto the gate of the corner.
 39 And the line of the measure shall goe forth in his presence vpon the hill Sion, and shall compass about to Mount.
 40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields vnto the Brooke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the hedgegate toward the East, shall be holy vnto the Lord, neither shall it be plucked vp nor destroyed any more for ever.

 CHAP. XXXII.
 Ieremias is cast into prison, because he prophesied that they should be taken of the king of Babylon.
 1 He sheweth that the people should come out of their bondage from: 2 The people of God are his servants, and he is their Lord.
 3 We word that came vnto Ieremias from the Lord, in the tenth yeere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yeere of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon.
 4 Then the king of Babels host besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremias the Prophet was shut up in the court of the prison, which was in the King of Iudahs house.
 5 For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore dost thou prophesie and say, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue thee into the hands of the king of Babel, and he shall take thee:
 6 And Zedekiah the king of Iudah shall not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shall surely be deliuered into the hands of the king of Babel, and his speech shall be mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall behold his face.
 7 And he shall leaue Zedekiah to Babel, and there shall he be, vntill I will say, saith the Lord: though yee fight with the Calde-ans, ye shall not preuaile.
 8 And Ieremias said, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
 9 Behold, Hamanai, the sonne of Shalum thine vncle, shall come vnto thee, and say, Sit vp vnto thee my friende that is in Anatoth: for the staffe by which thou appertai-neth vnto thee, is to die.

to me in the court of the prison, according to the word of the Lord, and said vnto me, Buy my field, I pray thee, that is in Anathoth, which is in the countrey of Benjamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: buy it for thee.
Then I knew that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel, mine vnckles sonne, that was in Anathoth, and weighed him the silver, even seven shekels, and ten pieces of silver.

10 And I writ it in the booke, and signed it, and tooke witnesses, and weighed him the silver in the balances.

11 So I tooke the booke of the possession being sealed according to the Law, and consigned it with the booke that was open.

12 And I gaue the booke of the possession vnto Baruch the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Naaftiah, in the sight of Hanameel mine vnckles sonne, and in the presence of the witnesses, written in the booke of the possession, before all the Jewes that sat in the court of the prison.

13 And I charged Baruch before them,
saying,

14 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel. Take the writings, even this booke of the possession, both that is sealed, and this booke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that they may continue a long time.

15 For the Lord of hosts the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyards shalbe possessed againe in this land.

16 Nowe when I had deliuered the booke of the possession vnto Baruch, the sonne of Neriah, I prayed vnto the Lord,
saying,

17 Oh Lord God, behold, thou hast made the heauen and the earth by thy great power and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee.

18 Thou shewest mercy vnto thousands, and recompenset the iniquity of the fathers into the bolom of their children after them, O God the great and mightie, whose Name is the Lord of hosts,

19 Great in counsell, & mighty in worke,
(for thine eyes are open vpon all the wayes of the sonnes of men, to giue to every one according to his wayes, and according to the fruit of his worke.)

20 Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, and in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee
a Name, as appeareth this day.

21 And hast brought thy people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signes and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terror.

22 And hast given them this land, which thou diddest sweare to thy Fathers to giue them, even a land that floweth with milke and honey.

23 And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, neither walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to doe, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

24 Behold, the mount, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hands of the Caldeans, that fight against it, by meanes of the sword, and of the pestilence, and of the famine, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, & behold, thou hast seen it.

25 And thou hast said vnto me, O Lord God, Buy vnto thee the field for silver, and take witnesses: for the citie shall be giuen, into the hand of the Caldeans.

26 Then came the word of the Lord vnto
Jeremiah, saying,

27 Behold, I am the Lord God of all flesh: is there any thing too hard for me?

28 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel, & he shall take it.

29 And the Caldeans shall come & fight against this citie, and set fire on this citie, and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose roofoes they haue offered incense vnto Baal, and potored drink offerings vnto other gods,
to prouoke me vnto anger.

30 For the children of Israel, and the children of Iudah haue surely done euill before mee from their youth: for the children of Israel haue surely prouoked mee to anger with the workes of their handes, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene vnto mee as a prouocation of mine anger, and of my wrath, from the day that they built it, even vnto this day, that I should remooue it out of my sight.

32 Because of all the euill of the children of Israel, & of the children of Iudah, which they haue done to prouoke mee to anger, even they, their Kings, their Princes, their Priestles, and their Prophets, and the men of Iudah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

33 And they haue turned vnto mee the backe and not the face: though I taught them rising vp early and instructing them, yet they were not obedient to receive doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house, (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it,

35 And they built the high places of Ba-al, which are in the valley of Benhinnom, to cause their sonnes, and their daughters to passe throught the fire vnto Molech, which I commanded them not, neither came it into my minde, that they should doe such abomination to cause Iudah to sinne.

36 And now therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israel spoken concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence,

37 Behold, I will gather them out of all countreies, wherein I haue scattered them in mine anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I will bring them againe vnto this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 The Prophet is monished of the Lord to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lord promised. 8 God forgiveth sinnes for his owne glory. 15 Of the birth of Christ. 20 The Kingdome of Christ in the Church shall neuer be ended.

Moreover, the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah the second time (while hee was yet shut vp in the court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it; the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great & mighty things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israel, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudah, which are destroyed by the sword, and by the sword.

5 They come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fill themselves with the dead bodies of men, whom I haue slaine in mine anger and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this citie, because of all their wickednesse.

6 Behold, I will giue it health and amendement: for I will cure them, and will reueale vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

7 And I will cause the captiuitie of Iudah, and the captiuitie of Israel to returne, and will build them as at the first.

8 And I will cleanse them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shall be to me a name, a prayse, and an honour before all the nations of the earth, which shall heare all the good that I doe vnto them: and they shall feare, and tremble for all the goodnesse, and for all the wealth that I shew vnto this citie.

10 Thus sayeth the Lord, Againe there shall be heard in this place (which ye say shall be desolate, without man, and without beast, even in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, that are desolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beast)

11 The voice of ioy and the voice of gladnesse, the voyce of the bridegroom, and the voyce of the bride, the voyce of them that shall say, Blessed be the Lord of hostes, because the Lord is good: for his mercie endureth for euer, and of them that offer the sacrifice of prayse in the house of the Lord, for I will cause to returne the captiuitie of the land, as at the first, saith the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Againe in this place, which is desolate without man, and without beast, and in all the cities thereof, there shall be dwelling for shepherds to rest their flocks.

13 In the cities of the mountaines, in the cities in the plaine, & in the cities of the South, and in the land of Benjamin, and about Ierusalem, and in the cities of Iudah shall the sheepe passe againe, vnder the hand of him that telleth them, saith the Lord.

14 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will performe that good thing, which I haue promised vnto the house of Israel, and to the house of Iudah.

15 In those dayes, and at that time will I cause the Branch of righteousnesse to grow vp vnto Dauid, and he shall beare the ingement, and righteousnesse in the land.

16 In those dayes shall Iudah be saved, and Ierusalem shall dwell safely, and he that shall call her, is the Lord our Righteousnesse.

17 For thus saith the Lord, Dauid shall neuer want a man to sit vpon the throne of the house of Israel.

18 Neither shall the Priests and Leuites want a man before mee to offer burnt offerings, and to offer meate offerings, and to doe sacrifice continually.

19 And the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah, saying,

20 Thus sayeth the Lord, If you can breake my couenant of the day, and my couenant of the night, that there should not be day, and night in their season,

21 Then may my couenant be broken with Dauid my seruant, that hee should not haue a sonne to reigne vpon his throne, and with the Leuites, and Priests my ministers.

22 As the army of heauen cannot be numbered, neither the sand of the Sea measured: so will I multiplie the seed of Dauid my seruant, and the Leuites, that minister vnto mee.

23 Moreover, the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, saying,

24 Considerest thou not what this people haue spoken, saying, The two families, h Whereby hee sheweth that the Church, wherein is remission of sinnes, is Gods honour & glory, to that wholeouer is enemie to it, labourith to dishonour God.

lies, which the Lord hath chosen, he hath even cast them off: thus they have despised my people, that they should be no more a nation before them.

25 Thus saith the Lord, If my covenant be not with day and night, and if I have not appointed the order of heaven and earth,

26 Then will I cast away the seed of Jacob and David my servant, and not take of his seed to be rulers over the seed of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: for I will cause their captivity to returne, and haue compassion on them.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 He threateth that the cistie and the king Zedekiah shall be giuen into the hands of the king of Babel: 2 He rebuketh their cruelty toward their seruants.

The word which came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord (when Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, and all his hoste, and all the Kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities thereof) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, Goe, and speake to Zedekiah King of Iudah, and tell him, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will giue this citie into the hand of the king of Babel, and he shall burne it with fire.

3 And thou shalt not escape out of his hand, but shalt surely be taken, & deliuered into his hand, and thine eyes shall behold the face of the king of Babel, and he shall speake with thee mouth to mouth, and thou shalt go to Babel.

4 Yet heare the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Iudah: Thus saith the Lord of thee, thou shalt not die by the sword.

5 But thou shalt die in peace: and according to the burning for thy fathers the former kings which were before thee, so shall they burne odours for thee, and they shall lament thee, saying, Oh, Lord: for I haue pronounced the word, saith the Lord.

6 Then Jeremiah the Prophet spake all these words vnto Zedekiah King of Iudah in Ierusalem;

7 (When the king of Babels host fought against Ierusalem, and against all the cities of Iudah that were left, even against Lachish, and against Azekah: for these strong cities remained of the cities of Iudah.)

8 This is the word that came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord, after that the King Zedekiah had made a covenant with all the people which were at Ierusalem, to proclaim liberty vnto them,

9 That every man should let his seruant goe free, and every man his handmaide, which was an Hebrew, or an Chetewell, and that none should serue himselfe of them; to wit, of a Iew his brother.

10 Now when all the princes, and all the people which had agreed to the covenant, heard that every one should let his seruant goe free, and every one his handmaide, and that none should serue themselves of them any more, they obeyed and let them goe.

11 But afterward they repented, and caused the seruants and the handmaidens, whom they had let goe free, to returne, and held them in subiection as seruants & handmaidens.

12 Therefore the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord saying,

13 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, I made a covenant with your fathers, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of seruants, saying,

14 At the terme of seven yeeres let ye goe every man his brother an Chetew which hath bene sold vnto thee: and when he hath serued thee six yeeres, thou shalt let him goe free from thee: but your fathers obeyed me not, neither enclined their eares.

15 And ye were now turned, and had done right in my sight, in proclaiming libertie euerie man to his neighbour, and ye had made a covenant before me in the house, where vpon my Name is called.

16 But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euery man his seruant, and euery man his handmaide, whom ye had let at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and hold them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and as handmaidens.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Bee haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming freedom euerie man to his brother, and euery man to his neighbour: behold, I proclaim a libertie for you saith the Lord: to the pestilence, and to the famine, and I will make you a terror to all the Kingdomes of the earth.

18 And I will giue those men that haue broken my covenant, and haue not kept the words of the covenant, which they had made before me, when they cut the calf in twaine, and passed betwene the parts thereof.

19 The princes of Iudah and the princes of Ierusalem, the Eunuches, & the Priests, and all the people of the land, which passed betwene the parts of the calf.

20 I will euē giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of them that seke their life: and their dead bodies shall be for meate vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beasts of the earth.

21 And Zedekiah king of Iudah, and his princes will I giue into y hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that seke their life: and into the hand of the King of Babels host, which are gone vp from you.

22 Behold, I will command, sayth the Lord, and cause them to returne to this citie, and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burne it with fire: and I will make the cities of Iudah desolate without an inhabitant.

CHAP. XXXV.

He proposeth the obedience of the Rechabites, and thereby confoundeth the pride of the Iewes.

The word which came vnto Jeremiah from the Lord in the dayes of Jehoiakim the sonne of Josiah king of Iudah, saying,

1 Ebr. returned.

2 Or, bondage. Deut. 15. 1, 12.

f Meaning, in the Temple, to declare that it was a most solemne and strait covenant made in the Name of the Lord.

g That is, I giue the sword liberty to destroy you.

h As touching this manner of solemne covenant which the ancient vsed by passing betwene the two parts of a beast to signifie that the transgression of the same covenant should be to diuided in pieces, read, Gen. 15. 10

i To fight against the Egyptians, as Chap. 37. 11.

a Who commonly of Ieremiah was called Nebuchad-nezzar, and of others Nebuchadnezzar.

c The Iewes shall lament for thee their Lord and King

d When the enemy was at hand, and they saw themselves in danger, they would seeme holily, and so began some kind of reformation: but soone after they vttered their hypocrisy.

c That is, a Prophet.

d Or, doore.

e The Prophet saith not, The Lord saith thus; for then they ought to haue obeyed: but he tendeth to another end: that is, to declare their obedience to man, seeing the Iewes would not obey God himselfe.

f Whom Iehou the king of Israel fauoured for his zeale, 2. King. 10. 15.

g Te ching them hereby to see all occasion of intemperance, ambition, and auarice, and that they might know that they were strangers in the earth, and be ready to depart at all occasions.

h Which was now for the space of three hundred years: from Iehou to Iehoiakim.

i Which declareth that they were not so bound to their vow that it could not be broken for any necessitie: for where they were commanded to dwell in tents, they dwell now at Ierusalem for feare of the warres.

j Whom I haue chosen to be my children, seeing these which were the children of an heathen man, obeyed the commandement of their Father. k I haue most diligently exhorted and warned you both by my selfe, and my Prophets. Chap. 18. 11. and 25. 5.

2 So vnto the house of the Rechabites, and speake vnto them, and bring them into the house of the Lord, into one of the chambers, and giue them wine to drinke.

3 Then toke I Iazaniab, the sonne of Jeremiah the sonne of Zabazianiab, and his brethren, and all their sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites,

4 And I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Ianan, the sonne of Igballiab: a man of God, which was by the chamber of the Princes, which was aboue the chamber of Iazaniab the sonne of Shallum, the keeper of the treasure.

5 And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, pots full of wine, & cups, and said vnto them, Drinke wine.

6 But they said, We will drinke no wine: for Jonadab the sonne of Rechab our father commanded vs, saying, Ye shall drinke no wine, neither you nor your sonnes for euer.

7 Neither shall you build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor haue any, but all your dayes ye shall dwell in tents, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

8 Thus haue we obeyed the voyce of Jonadab the sonne of Rechab our Father in al that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our dayes, neither we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

9 Neither build we houses for vs to dwell in, neither haue we vineyard, nor field, nor seed.
